Essex Defeats McGregor.

In an exhibition game at the Essex Fair Grounds, on Sunday last, the Essex Maple Leafs defeated McGregor Flying Frenchmen by a score of 1 to 0.

Both teams played good ball, but neither team hit very well. Butzer and Fleming did a very good job of tying up the McGregor batsmen, Butzer allowing no hits and Fleming two. Miller and Jessop monopolized the hitting for Essex, the former getting three and Jessop two.

Essex batted well except for two errors, both made by R. Ross. Bondy, of McGregor, and Addison, of Essex, each made spectacular fielding plays. The lone run of the game was unearned. R. Ross struck out but reached first on the catcher's error, advanced to second on a sacrifice by I. Ross and went to third on a single by A. Miller; Jessop struck out, but again McGregor's catcher erred, and Ross scored.

William G. Hensman, one of the real old timers of this district, passed away at his home, on Talbot street, in town, on Friday, after being confined to his bed only a short while. Death was due to a heart condition.

Deceased was born in Gosfield North Township, on September 5th, 1862, a son of the late David Hensman and Maria Deahurst. He had farmed on the Colchester North-Maidstone Town-line, 1 mile west of Essex, for 28 years, until retiring, and moving into Essex about 25 years ago.

Surviving are his widow, the former Ida Phillips, and a daughter, Mrs. Otto Hallberg, of Detroit; also a brother, Ephraim, of the Hopwood Sideroad, and two sisters, Letticy (Mrs. Albert Williams) and Amy (Mrs. Wm. Mcdonald) both of Detroit. Another sister, Alice (Mrs. Thos. Pollard) is deceased.

Funeral services were held from sex, on Sunday, in charge of Rev.

C. W. D. Cosens, assisted by officials of Enterprise Lodge, I.O.O.F., of which deceased was a member, at the grave.
Interment was in North Ridge cemetery.

ed the services were Mrs. Oscar Dale, struction in seamanship, military drill and general Naval procedure.

During this period a series of aptitude tests will be taken by the recruit to

All Navy Wedding at St. Stephens.

At an impressive doubling ceremony at St. Stephens' Church, the first all-navy wedding to be solemnized in the Church, Wren Evelyn Vollans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Vollans, of R. R. No. 1, Windsor, was united in marriage to L.S. Leonard Dunford, son of Mrs. T. W. Dunford of Sarnia, and the late Mr. Dunford, the Rev. Joseph Tully officiating.

The bride, who wore her uniform, was attended by Miss Jean O'Leane, lovely in an orchid flowered two-piece suit, with a tiny white and black flowered hat, and pink roses, Johnny Burr, of Sarnia, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man.

During the signing of the register,
Mrs. Harry Pettipiece sang "O Promise Me." Mrs. Clyde O'Neill played the wedding music.

A reception for about 25 guests followed, at the Manor, where the bride's table was laid with a crystal bowl of mauve and white stock, flanked by burning white tapers in crystal candelabra.

Mrs. Vollans chose for her daughter's wedding a navy blue dress trimmed with white and navy accessories.
She wore white carnations. Mrs. Dun-ford wore a mauve dress, with honey beige accessories and white carnations.
Both Wren and L.S. Dunford left Sunday to resume their duties on the East Coast.

7 Minesweepers Thanked for Aid Near Bordeaux.

With No. 35 Minesweeper Flotilla in the Bay of Biscay: Seven Canadian Bance minesweepers of this flotilla played a double role in the bombardment of the German-held approaches to the French Port of Bordeaux recently.

They swept the approach channel and bombardment area for a big French naval task force and followed up with the anti-U-boat patrol outside the firing area.

During the two-day bombardment of the flotilla commanded by Cmdr. Herman MacKay of Halifax, and Picton, N.S., whose flagship was the Thunder, was the only non-French ship working with the task force. Sweeping with the Thunder were Kanara, Minas, Cause, Carpent, Veracille and Bryfield.

The job of the sweepers was to clear a 20-mile approach to the channel at the mouth of the Gironde River, the only outlet from the Port of Bordeaux. The channel was heavily mined with Allied and enemy mines after two days' shelling we reached the rendezvous and for six tense, exciting hours swept right under the muzzle of German 15-inch shore batteries.

The sweepers were only three and a half miles from shore and the setting sun silhouetted us, making perfect targets for the German gunners. At any minute we expected to be blown out of the water, but for some reason a shot was fired.

Long after darkness the sweeping job was finished and as the powerful French warships moved in to shake the shores with their broadsides, we moved to the second phase of our duty—mining the U-boats. During this phase we laid a minefield and during the next two days from which to watch the mine of the task force to the German strongpoints.

This was one of the toughest and most important assignments Canadian minesweepers have had since 1918. The crew of each ship was well and truly exhausted after the French task force came this message.

Thank you for the important part you and your crew played in the successful job. Lloyd Linton, son of Cmdr. and Mrs. John Linton, is on the crew.

Value of Milk in Poultry Feeding.

The feeding of either skim milk or buttermilk is not always appreciated for what it is worth in relation to poultry feeding states R. F. Cheney, Head Poultryman, Dominion Experimental Station, Kentville, N.S. The farmer who has surplus milk available should consider its possibilities in cutting down his feed costs and the maintaining of a healthier, more productive flock. Milk used in poultry feeding will improve the quality of the product.

Most hatcherymen consider their birds are not receiving a satisfactory ration unless the mash fed contains milk powder or milk is available for the birds to drink.

In the brooding stage milk, usually sour, can be given in crockeryware or glass atomizers, or as the chicks get older they may be given a moist mash spread over the dry mash once daily, feeding only what the chicks will clean up readily. If it is desirable to market young cockerels, a fattening mash may be mixed with milk and fed in this manner along with the regular feeding program, thus assuring a better conditioned bird.

On range, milk may be given to drink but care should be taken that the protein content of the growing mash is reduced so that the birds will not be forced into too early production due to an over supply of protein in the feeding program.

There is no better way of balance the feeding program of the laying pen than by supplying one or two callons of milk daily per 100 birds, in addition to their regular laying mash.

In the presentation of birds for market milk is a valuable aid in getting the birds into the best possible condition so that they will dress up in the top grades. The fattening mash should be moistened with milk to a sloppy condition that will pour. Feed this mixture to the birds twice daily, giving them all they will clean up. Feed the birds well, but always have them looking for more.

War's Unremembered Benefits

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.
It seems a common belief among Canadians, or at least a belief commonly expressed, that this war has stood for nothing but suffering and loss — a completely debit item in the bookkeeping of human life.

This must be a discouraging view to people whose sons have given their lives, to those who have suffered lifelong handicap, or to those whose whole personal world has collapsed in the flame of war. This confused and disillusioned thinking can only lead us back to days of empty and time-worn phrases that boasted of being too proud to fight, or of not raising our sons to be soldiers, or of peace in our time, as though we alone, or our time, had any special significance in history's pageant.

No one would want to defend this or any war — except on the basis that war may sometimes be a necessity — but there are things that are worse. Slavery is worse. The hectoring of whole peoples, such as has occurred in this war, is worse. The blasphemy of a political creed that would justify any horror committed in the name of the state; but that is worse than war.

But that is not the whole argument. There are a few things that might stand on the credit side, not as a justification of war but as a cross-entry against its horrors.

This time the war has made it clear to the gangster nations, and the would-be gangsters, that the wages of sin is death. The deterrent of fear has been made personal enough and definite enough that the gangster may be slow to try again. That much is gain.

And we have learned certain things that also represent a gain; That eternal vigilance is the price of safety, that isolation and self-sufficiency are senseless words in a world that has been narrowed to a day's flight east or west.

This war has awakened in the major nations — Britain and Russia, and particularly the United States — a new understanding of their interrelated interests, a new conviction that they must stand together and refuse to be deluded by saucy and cynical peoples who would play one against the other for their own ends.

But most of all the war has served us by giving us a wider and more generous understanding. There have always been starving people in this world, but they have not been our particular interest or business. War has taught us that starving and troubled people can have a terrible significance that our safety and the safety of the world are involved in theirs.

So this war has taught us more pointedly and more quickly than anything else could have done the essential interrelation of all national interests. Perhaps it has taught us also that we must stop feeling superior to others because their skin has a different shade or because their pronouncements amuse us, or because their mannerisms annoy.

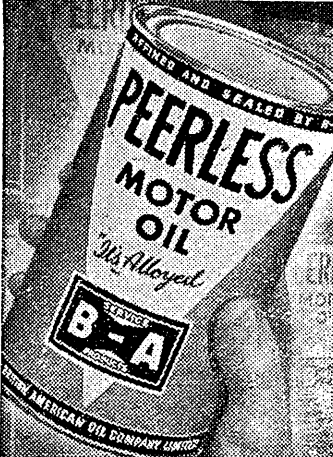

This war, above all other things has narrowed our world and has made distant outposts familiar ground; it has created a personal and understanding approach to people's and situations that once were strange and unwelcome and forbidding. Of course war is a desperate remedy, but in our thinking we should remember that if it can bring a new understanding and neighbourliness, it isn't all loss. These are the bases for lasting peace. — Liberty Magazine.

Survey of Potato Supply Situation.

Before the end of April the potato supply situation in Eastern Canada will be reviewed and if it remains as satisfactory at the beginning of the month the export of potatoes without permits will probably be continued, according to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Effective April 6th regulations requiring permits for export to the United States of table stock were suspended until the end of the month. Announcement of the suspension stated that the supply situation was such that it was felt that "shipments can be allowed to move freely during the remainder of the month without endangering Canadian consumer requirements." Further surveys will be made to determine if the suspension may be continued beyond April 30th.

The acreage intentions of Canadian farmers will not be known until early in May but the recommended acreage for wheat calls for a reduction of nearly two million acres.

An Urgent Message from GEORGE DREW

JUNE 4th is Election Day for the members of our armed forces overseas from Ontario, as it is here at home. The arrangements which have been made provide ample time for the overseas vote to be taken. Special Returning Officers are already overseas.

Something more, however, must be done if our voters overseas are to know why an Ontario election was forced upon us at this time.

I appeal to each one of you who read this message to write NOW by airmail. Give our men and women overseas all the information you can and be sure to tell them the correct name of the Provincial Riding in which they are entitled to vote, and the name of the candidate. This is of the utmost importance because so many of them have never voted before and the difference between the names and boundaries of Provincial and Dominion Ridings make it doubly necessary that you be sure to give them the exact name of the Riding in which they are entitled to cast their ballot on June 4th.

If you are in doubt as to any details please call the Progressive Conservative Office in your locality and get the necessary information without delay.

Be sure to send this air mail today.

Yours sincerely,

The election date June 4th.

MOTHER'S DAY

Victory Year after 5½ years of war — and it's Mother who has sacrificed most in this war.

We, at home, must remember, Mother, on this Mother's Day, with the finest and choicest gift — FLOWERS. For it's flowers that breathe the finest thoughts of love to one who so richly deserves the very best.

Mother's cup of happiness should be filled with joy, as she receives flowers from those she misses the most — from her brave sons and daughters holding the battlelines.

To all loving mothers — Dad and the family at home, will remember her with messages of FLOWERS.

THE ESSEX FREE PRESS, ESSEX, ONTARIO.

FRIDAY, MAY 4, 1945.

Essex Town Council.

Tuesday, April 24th. Council met in regular session, in the Council chamber, as per adjournment, with Mayor Francotte, Reeve Doyle and Councillors Chase, Shaw, Hines, Cascadden and Hutchinson present.

On motion of Messrs. Shaw and Hines, minutes were adopted as read. Ern Wilson addressed Council re condition of sidewalk on Wilson avenue. He stated the walk was in very bad condition in a number of different places.

This matter was, on motion of Messrs. Chase and Hutchinson, left with the Commissioner, E. Hines with power to act.

John Baldwin appeared before Council requesting permission to tether his cows on the Fair Grounds.

Mr. Baldwin's request was granted, provided he keeps his cows at the westerly end of the grounds and always tethered, not to graze at large. Mr. Cascadden reported that during the ball game on Sunday, automobiles raced around the track, leaving ruts, which would be hard to work out.

Chief Harrison stated he would be at the next home game and warn drivers against this practice.

Mr. Cascadden reported that the County Judge had requested that water be turned on at the Bungalow

School, and that two tables, one about 6 feet long and the other about 8 feet long, be ready for next sitting of Division Court, on May 1st.

This request was left in the hands of Mr. Shaw to have the tables made. Bylaw No. 1105, amending Bylaw No. 980, to allow angle parking in front of Ashton's Dairy, was read and passed.

Moved by Elmer Hines, seconded by A. G. Cascadden, that the Clerk of the Town of Essex insert in the Essex Free Press, in four consecutive issues, commencing the 27th day of April 1945, a notice that the Town of Essex intends to pass a bylaw at its regular meeting at 8 o'clock in the afternoon, on the 28th day of May, 1945, to provide for the stopping up, sale and conveying to Harry Hutchinson, of the Town of Essex, of all of Scott street, in the Town of Essex, and that the Town Council will at such meeting hear any person who claims that his lands will be prejudicially affected by such bylaw and who applies to be heard.—Car.

Mr. Geddes explained to Council procedure necessary to increase the salary of the members of the Public Utilities Commission, from $50 to $75. The Clerk also read a request from the Rotary Club, for permission to sponsor a Navy League Tea Day in town, on May 19th.—Granted.

The Mayor was given authority to proclaim Thursday, May 24th, as a Civic Holiday.

Mayor Francotte reported that following the last special meeting, he had personally taken it upon himself to find out if motor in the 2-ton and 2 1/2-ton Dodge trucks were not the identical motor and had found out that they were, the difference in cost being in the different rear axle and two more leaves in the spring. Accordingly, with approval of firemen, he had ordered the two ton truck at a saving of $145, or at a cost of $1,594 instead of $1,757.

On motion of Messrs. Hines and Shaw, the following accounts were passed: Receiver General, tax, $66.44; K. E. Brett, salary, $91.66; Wm. Kenney, 12 month's salary, $40; Essex Free Press, account 1945, $111.92; account pay, 1944, $149.68; Essex Farmers, Ltd., sidewalk, $18; treasurer Essex Baseball Club, grant, $50; B. Simon, fire pro., $3.98; Union Gas Co., town hall, $11.70; Bell Tel. Co., phone, $13.16; J. T. Wing & Co., fire pro., $4.50; Essex Hydro, street lights, $197.84; J. Kennedy, salary, B. of W., $8; Geo. Weller, account, $3.90; Ern Wilson, account, $125.34; J. Kennedy, B. of W., $1; R. McNaughton, gravel, $144; H. Harrison, salary, $126.40; 3 trips $9; W. F. Beaman, salary, $135; F. Eldridge, 12 month's salary, $225; B. Devan, labor, $20; Thos. Whitson, labor, $43.25; Ed. Kennedy, labor, $43.25; Al. Chase, drains, $10; J. Kennedy, labor, $8.25; Wm. Kennedy, catch basins, $32; Ern Rupert, drains, $7.25; Geo. Wilkinson, flag, $5.50; Garret Johnston, erecting signs, $1.50.

As this was the regular meeting night for the Utilities Commission, the Clerk was advised to tell Mr. Bricker they could have the use of the Bungalow School on that date.

The Clerk also read a request from the Rotary Club, for permission to sponsor a Navy League Tea Day in town, on May 19th.—Granted.

SHUR-GAIN

16 per cent. Growing Mash has Quality

And is designed to give your chicks exactly what they need to develop into strong, healthy pullets.

Start feeding SHUR-GAIN Growing Mash to your chicks when they are six to eight weeks of age. At that age they are sufficiently developed so that a low-cost, balanced growing ration can be used.

It is low in cost because in making this feed by our Feed Service Mills, transportation charges are cut to the minimum and middlemen's profits are eliminated.

SHUR-GAIN is a balanced growing mash, because it has exactly the right proportions of proteins, vitamins and minerals to maintain even, steady growth, and keeps your pullets active with no excess fat, and will build bones, flesh and feathers.

It is fresh, too. Growing chicks like it on that account and they will eat more of it. It is made up as needed by you and for that reason it never goes stale in the storage bins.

More flock owners than ever before are using SHUR-GAIN 16% Growing Mash. You can get it at the mill shown below. This mash is ready to help you make more profit from your chicks so that they'll start laying early next fall and lay steadily all through the winter.

A Statement by:

MR. KENNETH BETZNER
President Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

"It is said no matter how busy farmers are they can always find time to do a little more. That saying is very true today, when the farmer is facing the problem of planting another crop which he hopefully anticipates will yield a bountiful harvest to be used as in the past to augment the total war effort of Canada.

Knowing farmers, I feel sure that just as they optimistically, and with faith, plant their crops, they will, with equal optimism and faith, be ready to support the EIGHTH VICTORY LOAN and will welcome and assist the canvassers in doing this job well. They feel with everyone else that this loan will surely be THE Victory Loan."

BUY AN EXTRA BOND.

Stanley Johnston. Lunch was served near midnight. On Monday evening the members of Trinity Anglican Church gathered in the Orange Hall for a social time, with the bride as guest of honour. She wore an occasional chair and a set of flat silverware, as well as many other lovely gifts. The presentations were made by Mrs. F. Birch, while Rev. J. H. Whealen read the address.

Red Cross Bazaar a Success.

The bazaar and tea sponsored by the Right O'Clock Auxiliary, the Cottam Red Cross was well attended and most successful, beyond all expectation of those in charge. The proceeds netted $150.00, which is entirely being turned over to the Red Cross work. The members of the Auxiliary wish to thank all those who in any way contributed and helped to make the bazaar and tea such a success.

On Tuesday evening the Auxiliary enjoyed a social evening. The Belle River road and Downtown group entertained the Uptown group at dinner at Scott's restaurant. The next meeting will be held at the home of Verna Knight, on Tuesday evening, May 15th. Once on Relief — Now Pays Income Tax.

Five years ago Oliver Watt wasn't much good to himself or anyone else. He was the only blind man in the township and his neighbours thought that when a man was blind, the only thing for him to do was to get what relief he could from the Municipal authorities, and cause as little trouble as possible. Oliver had no other ideas about himself, but he got a new slant on things one day when another blind man called on him. This was an official of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and Oliver learned from him that he and his friends were all wrong. Oliver was a husky chap. He had no education to speak of, but his hands were good and his intelligence was average.

The other night Oliver was sitting with a friend of his in the corner of the bowling alley. "As near as I can make it," said the friend, "you'll have to pay $4.36." The two had taken time out from the league game in which they had been engaged, in order to check up on Oliver Watt's income tax.

Oliver had gone a long way. A home teacher from The Canadian National Institute for the Blind had taught him how to make use of his strong hands. She had tried to teach him Braille, but Oliver wasn't very good at that. He had learned how to make baskets and leather belts, but more important than anything else, he had discovered that it was possible for men handicapped like himself to work and earn a living.

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind brought him into the city, found a boarding house for him, put him through a period of training in the Institute's factory, found him a job running a drill press in a war plant, signed him on with the league of blind bowlers, put him in the income tax paying class, turned him into a citizen of his own.

Oliver Watt is not his name, but there is no fiction in the rest of the story. The story is typical of hundreds to be found on the files of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind. It is essential that the C.N.I.B. show which to carry on its great work for it deals with the lives of Canadians. It is easy enough to raise the few dollars required to keep blind men and women in poor clothes, cheap boots and inadequate rooms, but it takes more money to give blind people a real chance, and it is that chance which the money which is now being sought in this community will provide. Every dollar subscribed to Institute means an improvement in the living conditions and the mental and moral outlook of some blind person.

St. Paul's Church Burns Mortgage.

An event of importance in the life of St. Paul's Church took place Wednesday evening, when the members of the congregation and their friends met for the purpose of celebrating the discharge of the mortgage on the Parish Hall.

The rector, the Rev. J. H. Whelan, was chairman for the evening, and read letters of congratulation from His Grace, the Archbishop of Huron, the Rev. R. C. Pitts and the Rev. J. H.
Poisson.

A program, under the direction of Mrs. P. E. Shipn and Mrs. Nightingale, was presented, consisting of piano solos by Isabel Simpson, Melba Billing, and Jack Nightingale; vocal solos by Mrs. Manningham; comic skits by Mrs.
F. V. Martin; folk dance by senior members of the Junior W. A., Doris the early history of the parish.

The rector then introduced the successive presidents of the Guild holding office since the building of the Parish Hall in the persons of Mrs. Del Slote, Mrs. W. D. Benton, Mrs. G. I.
Geddes, Mrs. F. B. Geddes, Mrs. H. C.

thanks to all the women of the congregation whose uniting efforts have been largely responsible for the liquidation of this debt. The names of those who were on the original bond of the mortgage for the congregation were read and a moment's silence was observed for those who have now passed to Higher service.

J. A. Nightingale, people's warden, presented the mortgage, which was burned by F. B. Geddes, after which the audience sang heartily "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow." The

had been in apparent good health and so his untimely death was a distinct Woodslee; three brothers, Vincent, of deceased had died from a heart attack.

His body was removed to the J. A.
Hicks & Son Funeral Home in Essex, from where funeral services were held on Tuesday morning, with burial taking place in Heavenly Rest cemetery.

Pfc. John E. Srigley Killed in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Srigley, of 29 Wald street, Pontiac, Mich., have received a letter announcing the death, in Germany, from wounds, on April 16th, of their son, PFC. John E.
Srigley.

John enlisted in the army specialized training program and went to Madison, Wis., March 7th, 1944, after he graduated from the Pontiac High school in February.

After induction at Fort Sheridan, Ill., he was sent to Fort Riley, Kan., where he trained. He went overseas early this year.

Pte. Srigley, 19, specialized in radio operations and was assigned to an armoured car. He was in a cavalry reconnaissance squadron, in Patton's 3rd army. He had crossed both the Moselle and the Rhine in the advance made by Patton's men.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Bruce and Roger, and three grandparents. He had been active in scouting and achieved the rank of first class Scout. He was later a member of DeMolay and their acting chaplain, a member of the high school band, and at the time of his induction was president of the youth fellowship of Central Methodist church.

Before leaving for service, John was employed at the Community National bank.

One of his letters from Germany told of being billeted in a farmhouse.
In a recent letter he referred to the German children and said: "It sure is hard to hate these little kids, but tomorrow or the next day we will be trying to kill their big brothers and their fathers and they will be trying to kill us."

John is the grandson of Joseph Srigley, of Woodslee. A memorial service will be held May 20th at 3 p.m. at the Central Methodist Church in Pontiac.

Peace Declared.

After 5 years 8 months and 16 days of war the like of which the world had never seen or dreamed of a war which claimed 40 million casualties killed, wounded and prisoners on both sides, Germany, under Fuehrer Donitz, signed terms of unconditional surrender, on Monday, at Reims, France, and again in Berlin, on Wednesday.

V-E Day in Essex.

V-E Day ceremonies were held in the town park, from about 9:45 till 11 a.m., on Tuesday morning, under auspices of the Essex Ministerial Association.

Shortly after Prime Minister Churchill and President Truman had simultaneously declared the surrender of Germany, at 9 o'clock, whistles and church bells were sounded and the townfolk gathered in the town park for a pre-arranged service of thanksgiving.

The children from the Public, Separate and High Schools marched down Talbot street, in a body, accompanied by the Essex Salvation Army band, and later the Associated Boys' Band of South Essex. A large number of members of the local Legion also marched to the park.

A touch of humour was added to the parade by S. Damm, who had an effigy of Hitler boiling in a large iron kettle, set in the back end of his pickup truck.

One of the highlights of the program was a short talk by F/O Bill Linton, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Linton, home on leave after serving over two years with the R.C.A.F. in India.
In the evening St. Paul's Anglican church was filled to capacity by townfolk at an interdenominational prayer and thanksgiving service.

Circus Returns to Windsor.

For the third consecutive year Garden Bros. Circus, a Canadian organization, is coming to the Windsor Arena for a full week, starting on Monday,
May 14th, with two performances daily.

Sponsored by Police.
This year the circus is sponsored by the Windsor Police Association for the benefit of their various activities and every policeman is now selling tickets.

Better Than Ever.

Mervick R. Nutting, business manager of Garden Bros. Circus, announces that the circus acts are all contracted and that the performances will be better balanced and even more entertaining than in previous years. The running time of the circus will be about two hours and 15 minutes during which time 22 acts or numbers are presented. The only act returning this year that has appeared in Windsor in previous visits is Will Hill's Elephants, the balance of the performers are coming for the first time.

Though Garden Bros. and their executive staff are all Canadians, the acts which make up the circus are all contracted from the United States, as there are only half a dozen circus acts that are Canadian and these few spend most of their time in American cities or centres where play dates are more numerous and profitable.

Including the musicians over 50 people take part in the presentation

Money for Farmers Raising Broilers.

Due to the shortage of meats there is little doubt that all kinds of poultry will be in greater demand and the broiler, particularly the broiler of the heavy breeds, will be in greater demand.

Considered more or less of a luxury, the demand for broilers is in the top grades, and proper care in feeding and raising is not only essential, but becoming of great importance in determining the margin of profit, says W. T. Scott, head poultryman, Hamilton Experimental Station, Harrow, Ont.

Buyers of broilers are inclined to be discriminating, consequently an effort should be made to cater to their taste by placing the product on the market in its most attractive form. As a side to the general farmer or his wife may find raising a few hundred broilers an attractive prospect.

Under fairly active conditions, the two pound broiler of the right type can be raised on about six to seven pounds of feed in ten weeks and the total cost of production. The margin of profit will depend on the price paid for the chick, skill in feeding and finishing and the rate of mortality.

Broilers can be successfully reared to the market stage in either pens or battery cages, but providing the weather permits, the method that generally appeals to the farmer on account of its saving in labour and equipment is to allow about two weeks in the nursery brooder, about three weeks in cool grass range and two weeks confined to pens for finishing on a good ration of feed.

Reliable, ready-mixed, warming and feeding machines are available. For the farmer who prefers to use his own feed, good advice will be found in the usual starter and developer dry feed, each about eight weeks followed by two weeks finishing on a mixture of two pounds of corn meal, 20 pounds of cracker and ten pounds of ground wheat, with one pound of soyabean meal and one pound of fish meal.

Use of Sulfa Drugs May Be Dangerous.

Livestock owners who have heard of some of the benefits from the use of sulfa drugs in treating livestock ailments have been reminded by the veterinary authorities that there is also a dangerous side to the use of these drugs. Through their improper use, the following are some of the results: degeneration of liver cells, damage to kidney tubes, depletion of bone marrow, necrosis of muscles, and in some instances hemorrhages. The authorities point out that these are not common occurrences but they may result when sulfa drugs are used by persons who do not know their proper application and limitations. The only safe way is when the drugs are used under the direction of a veterinary officer.

Care of Horses' Feet.

Modern stabling conditions on many farms have helped to ruin the feet of valuable farm horses, say veterinary authorities as the result of a recent study of diseases of horses. Among the suggestions they make on foot care, the point is stressed that horses' feet require moisture for health. If a horse is stabled in water at regular intervals for two or three hours. Also if the bottoms of the feet are not examined and cleaned regularly, barnyard bacteria may cause a serious disease known as thrush, which eventually can become malignant. The hooves of horses should not be trimmed evenly all the way round, but should be made to conform to the animal's stance, otherwise important muscles and tendons may be injured.

The skillful feeder will give just sufficient to satisfy the birds thoroughly, and he should be careful to remove what is left over at each feeding.

In order to ensure a better appearance and keeping conditions, the crop and intestines should be thoroughly emptied by starving for at least 24 hours before killing. Water should be supplied during this period.

Proper Way to Cut Potatoes For Seed.

What is the best way to cut potatoes when it comes time to plant them? They should not be cut into too many pieces, nor planted in too large chunks.

The proper way to cut potatoes for seed is to divide them into blocky seed pieces weighing from an ounce and a half to two ounces each and with each piece containing two eyes. The tuber's seed end, which contains the most eyes, should be split.

The number of seed pieces which should be cut from any potato depends on its variety and on its size. For example, a six to eight ounce tuber should make four seed pieces. A five-ounce tuber can be cut into three pieces — two from the seed end and the other, the stem end of the tuber.

Farm Ammunition.

When farmers require ammunition for the protection of crops and live stock, they are required to take the arms to the nearest ration office, where a permit will be given. This permit must be presented to the retailer from whom the purchase of ammunition is made.

Stop Disease Spread.

To prevent the spread of disease among livestock, veterinary authorities are urging that stock trucks be kept out of live stock areas and that newly purchased animals from unknown sources be isolated for several weeks to give latent diseases an opportunity to manifest themselves.

Rats and Live Stock.

The principal disease transmitted from rats to men are bubonic plague, typhus fever, spirochetal jaundice (Weil's disease), rat-bite fever, food poisoning, tularemia, rabies, trichinosis, and various parasites, including intestinal protozoa and tapeworm. As regards farm animals, veterinarians are finding that diseases among rats are plentiful. Close attention is being given the rat in connection with these diseases, including white scour in calves, mastitis, ringworm, contagious abortion, tuberculosis, abortion in mares, joint ill in foals, and other illnesses.

Tea, Coffee Drinkers.

An interesting feature with regard to the use of tea and coffee in the United States, Canada, and Britain is the high consumption of tea in Britain relative to coffee both in the present and pre-war times, compared with the reverse situation in the United States. Canada consumed about equal quantities of both beverages before the war but the consumption of coffee increased during the war period at the expense of tea. Before the war, coffee was consumed in about equal quantities in the United States and Britain, but in Canada consumption was somewhat lower. In all three countries, supplies declined during the war, but Britain now consumes the most coffee and Canada the least. Combined Food Board Report.

Effect of War on Sugar Consumption.

In the pre-war period, the United Kingdom was the largest consumer of sugar on a per-capita basis, and Canada was the smallest, according to the second report of a special joint committee of the Combined Food Board, reporting on food consumption levels in the United States, Canada and the United Kingdom. In 1944 the United States is expected to have the largest per capita consumption of sugars and syrups, and the United Kingdom the least. As all three countries are dependent upon outside sources for a substantial portion of their sugar supply, some decline in consumption is to be expected during wartime. Reductions of about 10 per cent in the United States and Canada, and of approximately 30 per cent in the United Kingdom have occurred since the pre-war period. Sugar was rationed at an early date in all three countries, and the level of consumption has remained fairly constant since rationing became effective. Relatively small increases in consumption are expected in all three countries in 1944, as compared with 1943. Preliminary estimates for 1944 of food supplies entering into civilian consumption per year per head of population place the figures as follows: Sugars and syrups, United States, 94.9 lb.; Canada, 80.9 lb.; Britain, 75.6 lb. Pre-war figures were: United States, 106.7 lb.; Canada, 103.3 lb.; Britain, 109.7 lb.

How to Dose Sheep With Phenothiazine.

The majority of losses from diseases in sheep in Canada are caused by worm parasites which live in the stomach and intestines of these animals. Twenty-six kinds of worms have been found in sheep in Canada, but research has shown that only a very few of these are responsible for nearly all the losses. The common parasitic diseases of sheep are stomach-worm disease or Summer Anaemia; nodular disease; and Fall Scours (Black Scour). The system for preventing worm diseases, developed by research in Canada, relies on the destruction of most of the pasture infection by the long winter.

In Canada, east of Manitoba, a large dose of phenothiazine (one ounce per 100 lbs. of sheep) is given all adult sheep some time between the beginning of December and one day before the flock goes to pasture in the spring. In this respect, a special note for 1945 points out that the earliness of the season might result in flocks going out to grass before they are dosed. However, if they are held in a small field or enclosure until May, then dosed and sent out to another pasture, the results will be satisfactory. They must not be allowed to graze on the small field during the remainder of the season, or a harmful number of parasites will be picked up and the preventive system will fail.

Dosing with phenothiazine before going to pasture prevents the occurrence of nodular disease in young stock during the following season in the majority of cases, and also prevents outbreaks of stomach worm disease. The next precaution is to watch for signs of stomach worms in the summer months, in case leak has occurred. If signs are found, the flock should be treated with a blue-stone and nicotine drench or a small dose (1.3 ounce per 100 lb. weight of sheep), or capsules of tetrachlorethylene. Again in early fall, a watch should be kept for signs of diarrhoea or black scours. If the animals are affected, they should be

BY-LAW NO. 1628.

A BY-LAW to provide for drainage work in the Township of Maldstone, in the County of Essex, and for borrowing the sum of Eighteen Hundred and Fifty-One Dollars and Twenty-three Cents.

Provisionally adopted the 11th day of June, A.D. 1945.

Whereas, R. W. Hyland and Frank Hicks, whose lands have been assessed for the original construction of the Hyland and Seymour drain, served written notice on the Municipal Council of the Township of Maldstone to repair the Hyland and Seymour drain forthwith, otherwise they would hold the Municipality liable for damages.

And whereas, thereupon, the said Council has procured an examination to be made by C. B. Allison, O.L.S., being a person competent for such purpose, of the said area proposed to be drained, and the means suggested for drainage thereof, and of other lands and roads liable to assessment under this Act, and has also procured plans, specifications and estimates of the drainage work to be made by the said Council, and in consequence of such examination, the said Council has decided to make the said drainage work by every road and lot made by this by-law enacted to be assessed, and the report of said C. B. Allison, and the plans and specifications attached hereto, and now being submitted for your consideration the following report:

I found the said drain partly filled with brush and debris, and very much in need of repair, and do therefore recommend that the said Hyland and Seymour drain be repaired, deepened, widened and otherwise improved throughout its entire length according to the plans and specifications attached hereto, and the estimates below, be taxed against the lots and parts of lots and roads as set forth in the accompanying "Schedule of Assessment."

My estimate of the value of necessary repairs at this time is as follows: Excavation—Stake 0 to stake 10, 120 rods of drain, at $2.50 per rod, $300.00; Stake 10 to stake 20, 120 rods of drain, at $2.50 per rod, $300.00; Stake 20 to stake 30, 120 rods of drain, at $2.50 per rod, $300.00; Stake 30 to stake 40, 120 rods of drain, at $2.50 per rod, $300.00; Stake 40 to stake 50, 120 rods of drain, at $2.50 per rod, $300.00; Stake 50 to stake 60, 120 rods of drain, at $2.50 per rod, $300.00; Stake 60 to stake 70, 120 rods of drain, at $2.50 per rod, $300.00; Stake 70 to stake 80, 120 rods of drain, at $2.50 per rod, $300.00; Stake 80 to stake 90, 120 rods of drain, at $2.50 per rod, $300.00; Stake 90 to stake 100, 120 rods of drain, at $2.50 per rod, $300.00; Total for excavation, $3,000.00.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

Scouting in Poland.
Already Boy Scouts and training camps for Scout leaders have been organized in liberated Poland. Poland before the war was one of the leading Scouting countries of the world. The handbooks now being used were presented as a gift from the Boy Scouts of Canada.

Earn 10,000 Badges.
Boy Scouts in Ontario, according to the recent annual report of the Provincial Council, earned 10,155 proficiency badges during 1944, an increase of 250 over the previous year. Most popular badges earned were the Handyman, fireman, cyclist, and artist. Wolf Cubs were awarded 11,209 badges in 1944, an increase of 141 over 1943.

New Boy Scout President.
Arthur Herbert Richardson, Provincial Forester for Ontario, has been elected President of the Provincial Council of the Boy Scouts Association in Ontario. Mr. Richardson, who succeeds W. J. Cairns, secretary of the Ottawa Board of Trade, has been identified with Scouting since 1923, when he first lectured on trees at the Ontario Gilwell Course. He instituted the Boy Scout Forestry Demonstration camps in 1929, and from that time until the outbreak of war several million trees have been planted by Boy Scouts under the supervision of the Forestry Department of the Provincial Government.

Canada's Best Position After Five Years of War.

At a recent meeting Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada and General Chairman of the National War Finance Committee, presented a vivid picture of Canada's debt position after five years of war. The picture may be titled "5, 4, 3, 2, 1."

Here are the facts he gave:
At the end of 1944: Direct Domestic funded debt was 5 times pre-war; direct funded debt, domestic and foreign, was only (because some foreign debt was paid off), 4 times pre-war; all direct and CNR funded debt was only (because some foreign and CNR debt was paid off), 3 times pre-war; BUT: Net interest charges on this debt were only (because average interest rate on debt was 2.6% then as compared with 3.6% pre war, and because part of debt was incurred to acquire revenue-producing assets) 2 times pre-war; AND: These net interest charges were about 3.2% of the national income, same as at the start of the war (as compared with 3.5% 20 years ago), 1 times pre-war.

National War Services Issues Relief Permits.

Permits allowing the shipment of new and used goods for overseas relief purposes are now going forward to individual war charity funds. W. Harold McPhillips, prices and supply representative for the Western Ontario region, announced following information from Ottawa. This means that war charity funds registered with the Department of National War Services and operating in the allied relief field are being authorized. By an order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board the purchase and collection of goods by these groups was recently made subject to permit by the Department of National War Services. Permits of the organizations requesting substantial quantities of goods cover the period to June 30th, 1945. Prior to that date their programs will be re-examined in the light of supplies available at that time. Because of supply conditions, both at home and abroad, it has been impossible to provide all the items requested by more than 200 organizations applying for permits under the recent Prices Board ruling, according to Western Ontario regional office announcement.

NOTICE!

TAKE NOTICE that the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the Town of Essex intends to pass a bylaw at its regular meeting at 8 p.m., on the 28th day of May, 1945, to provide for the stopping up and conveying to Harry Hutchinson of the Town of Essex, of all of Scott street, in the Town of Essex.

Blockade

On the day after Man-o-War celebrated his 21st birthday, his son, Blockade, won the Maryland Hunt Cup. In doing so, he lowered the great Troublemaker's record for the course by more than seven seconds. Curiously, Blockade's only trouble was with the fence where Troublemaker had his fatal fall.

Over the Top!

Blockade, famous steeplechaser, was a product of the Blue Grass country around Winchester, Kentucky, famous for champion horses. Here in Canada, the name Winchester is famous for the delicious taste and aroma of cigarettes which are blended — and "blended right" — from the world's outstanding tobaccos — Virginia, Burley, Turkish. Try this balanced blend today. Ten to one it will go over the top with you as with thousands of others!

United Church Notes.

The Victory Service held in Woodslee United Church, on Monday evening, was attended by such numbers that the building was taxed to capacity. Rain did not keep the people away; they came from every part of the community and liked it.

The service throughout was reverent and solemn. The pastor Rev. Seeviour, was in charge. The choir with Miss Weaver in charge of the music, rendered the anthem, "The King of Glory."

Dr. S. Millen and T. Wharf spoke briefly and the minister called the people to a solemn dedication of themselves to the building of a better world — a warless world, so that all who paid the supreme sacrifice will not have died in vain.

Sunday will be Mother's Day, as well as Victory Sunday, and we call upon all our people to worship with us.

There will be a special program in the Sunday School, to which all children and parents are invited. Make this day one long to be remembered. Service will be held at Roscomb, beginning sharp at 9:15 a.m., and Woodslee, at 11:10 a.m. Sunday School, Woodslee, 10 a.m. Children will be instructed in the Junior Church department in the regular church services.

Read this if you like Sugar

The Sugar Ration Is Cut Again

As we predicted, Canada's sugar ration has again been reduced. The Canadian sugar supply is in proportion to the total available for the United Nations. Thus, when the cut was made in the United States' sugar ration, it was a foregone conclusion that Canada's ration would also be cut.

THIS IS THE FOURTH CUT ALREADY THIS YEAR!

There is one thing that can be done to help this situation

In the rich garden land of Kent County and Southwestern Ontario enough beets can be grown to produce over 100,000,000 pounds of granulated sugar in 1945.

The Farmers Are Willing

All that is needed is enough additional experienced farm labor to help them do the job.

In 1940 there were 3,000 experienced sugar-beet workers in Southwestern Ontario. Many of these are now employed in factories. Factories are laying off men and women. The great Ford works in Detroit already have laid off many thousands. Many kinds of war production have stopped. War workers are again looking to peace-time occupation. Sugar-beet work is a profitable farm job.

$14.00 and $3.00 per acre

$14.00 an acre is being paid for blocking and thinning; $3.00 for second hoeing, thus giving skilled workers a chance to lay up a good stake in the next few weeks.

National Selective Service is now registering beet workers in industry with a view to giving them leave of absence for the spring beet work so

in relieving the world shortage of sugar.

is the ideal time for planting sugar beets in this area.

FARMERS

should see their Fieldmen, if labour is not already arranged.

More material will be given out at the June meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Stanley Welsh. Arrangements for transportation to the District Annual, to be held in Rowland, on Wednesday, May 16th, were completed. The sum of $5 was donated to the Canadian Institute for the Blind. The contest was won by Mrs. Fitter, of Windsor. Mrs. R. Bryden and Mrs. Wilson moved a vote of thanks to the hostess and committee in charge. The prayer for our armed forces was read by Mrs. Churchill.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, with Mrs. Fred Little at the piano. In honour of Mother's Day, a special cake was served, along with other dainty refreshments, and a social hour was enjoyed. The officers for the coming year are: President, Mrs. J. W. Simpson; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Little; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Chas. Simpkins; District Director, Mrs. J. Kerr; auditors, Mrs. Cowan and Mrs. P. Pomeroy. Interdenominational.

The fourth Interdenominational Fireside, held in the United Church, Essex, last Sunday evening, provided an hour of happy fellowship for over a hundred young people from Essex Town and outside points as far away as Ruscomb.

Welcome was extended by Max Gulliver to all present, then Gloria Andrew took charge of the singing. We were divided into four groups, according to birthdays, which happy arrangement prepared us for group singing and rounds and also helped us to make new friends. Following the theme of the evening, "Discipleship," the Bennett sisters sang very beautifully "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee," and brief mention was made to Washington Gladden, the author of these verses.

Alvin Loucks climaxed the hour with a challenging chat on the same theme. Watch for announcements about the next Fireside, scheduled for June 3rd.

—Miss Ann McCloskey spent the week-end in Toronto with her sister Bridget, who is in St. Michael's Hospital after undergoing a very serious operation on her ear. When Theresa McCloskey, who is stationed at Halifax, spent last week in Toronto, and will spend the rest of her furlough at her home in town.

Walls-Lucas Nuptials.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Scott Elmstead, on Saturday, April 28th, when at 6 p.m. Miss Laverta May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lucas, was united in marriage to Clifford E. Walls, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walls.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a beautiful long-sleeved white tulle gown with a long trailing veil, held by a tiara of white crocheted lilies. She carried a bouquet of red roses. Miss Virginia Turner, of Windsor, cousin of the bride, as maid of honour, chose a pink gown and also carried a bouquet of red roses. Earl S. Walls assisted his brother as best man. Rev. J. H. Edwards officiated. A reception followed for the immediate families.

Peaceful be thy sleep dear mother. It is sweet to breathe thy name. In life I loved you dearly. In death I do the same.

Oh I think of you, dear mother. And my heart is sad with pain. Oh, this would be a heaven. Could I hear your voice again.

You are gone, but not forgotten. Never shall your memory fade. Sweetest thoughts shall ever linger. Around the grave where you are laid.

Fondly remembered by her loving daughter, Louise Haggins.

—In loving memory of Carlyle Moscop, who passed away 6 years ago, May 11th, 1939.

This month brings back the memories. Of a loved one gone to rest. And those who think of him today. Are those who loved him best.

—Sadly missed by mother and sisters.

—In loving memory of a dear mother, Mary C. Weyburn, who passed away 46 years ago, May 13th, 1899.

Time speeds on, forty-six years have passed. Since death its gloomy shadow cast. Within our home, where all seemed bright.

And took from us a shining light. We miss that light and ever will. Her vacant chair there is none to fill. Down here we mourn, but not in vain. For up in heaven we'll meet again.

—Sadly missed by her daughters, Amy and Alberta.

United Church Notes.

The Victory Service held in Woodslee United Church, on Monday evening, was attended by such numbers that the building was taxed to capacity. Rain did not keep the people away, they came from every part of the community and liked it.

The service throughout was reverent and solemn. The pastor Rev. Sceviour, was in charge. The choir with Miss Weaver in charge of the music, rendered the anthem, "The King of Glory." Dr. S. Millen and T. Wharf spoke briefly and the minister called the people to a solemn dedication of themselves to the building of a better world — a warless world, so that all who paid the supreme sacrifice will not have died in vain.

Sunday will be Mother's Day, as well as Victory Sunday, and we call upon all our people to worship with us. There will be a special program in the Sunday School, to which all children and parents are invited. Make this day one long to be remembered. Wear a white flower if your mother has passed on, and a red one if she is still with you. All mothers attending Mother's Day Services, both at Ruscomb and Woodslee, will be given a souvenir card.

Service will be held at Ruscomb, beginning sharp at 9:45 a.m., and Woodslee at 11:10 a.m. Sunday School, Woodslee, 10 a.m. Children will be instructed in the Junior Church department in the regular church service.

Are Proud of The Men From These Communities on Active Service.

Wherever a group of the Town of Essex and Colchester North people gather these days the chief topic of conversation is the latest news of the local Boys on Active Service. It's the doings of our men that brings the war home to us . . . that makes us realize that this is our War. We read their letters and follow their doings with keen interest. We are proud of them.

LET'S GIVE THEM REASON TO BE PROUD OF THE TOWN OF ESSEX AND COLCHESTER NORTH

Wonder if men from these communities boast about the Town of Essex and Colchester North. We hope they are proud of the part we here, in the Town of Essex and Colchester North, are playing in the home front war effort.

Let's make sure about this. Let's put our objective for the 8th Victory Loan over in a way that will make these communities talked about. Let's make the Town of Essex and Colchester North Victory Bond sales good news for the men over there.

The Sugar Ration Is Cut Again

As we predicted, Canada's sugar ration has again been reduced. The Canadian sugar supply is in proportion to the total available for the United Nations. Thus, when the cut was made in the United States' sugar ration, it was a foregone conclusion that Canada's ration would also be cut.

THIS IS THE FOURTH CUT ALREADY THIS YEAR!

There is one thing that can be done to help this situation

In the rich garden land of Kent County and Southwestern Ontario enough beets can be grown to produce over 100,000,000 pounds of granulated sugar in 1945.

The Farmers Are Willing

All that is needed is enough additional experienced farm labor to help them do the job.

In 1940 there were 3,000 experienced sugar-beet workers in Southwestern Ontario. Many of these are now employed in factories. Factories are laying off men and women. The great Ford works in Detroit already have laid off many thousands. Many kinds of war production have stopped. War workers are again looking to peace-time occupation. Sugar-beet work is a profitable farm job.

$14.00 and $3.00 per acre

$14.00 an acre is being paid for blocking and thinning; $3.00 for second hoeing, thus giving skilled workers a chance to lay up a good stake in the next few weeks.

National Selective Service is now registering beet workers in industry with a view to giving them leave of absence for the spring beet work so

in relieving the world shortage of sugar.

is the ideal time for planting sugar beets in this area.

FARMERS

should see their Fieldmen, if labour is not already arranged.

MAIDSTONE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Little are happy to announce the birth of a baby brother for David, on May 2nd, at Hopewell Hospital, Leamington. Both mother and son are getting along fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Phillips, Miss Ruth Neurt and Harry Battersby motored to Chatham on Sunday last.

Mrs. J. Laurence opened her home to members of the Maidstone Women's Institute for the May meeting. There were about twenty members present. The members are making splendid progress with the sewing. Many finished articles were turned in at the meeting for the bazaar, which is planned for the fall. More material will be given out at the June meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Stanley Welsh. Arrangements for transportation to the District Annual, to be held in Roseland, on Wednesday, May 16th, were completed. The sum of $5 was donated to the Canadian Institute for the Blind. The contest was won by Mrs. Pitter, of Windsor. Mrs. R. Bryden and Mrs. Wilson moved a vote of thanks to the hostess and committee in charge. The prayer for our armed forces was read by Mrs. Churchill. The meeting closed with the National Anthem, with Mrs. Fred Little at the piano. In honour of Mother's Day, a special cake was served, along with other dainty refreshments, and a social hour was enjoyed. The officers for the coming year are: President, Mrs. J. W. Simpson; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Little; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Chas. Simpkins; District Director, Mrs. J. Kerr; auditors, Mrs. Cowan and Mrs. P. Pomeroy. Convener of standing committees: Agriculture and Canadian Industries, Mrs. W. Taylor; Citizen ship, Mrs. Stanley Welsh; Historical Research, Mrs. Garnet Wilson; Home Economics, Mrs. C. Stallworth; Social Welfare, Mrs. T. Spencer; Publicity, Mrs. R. Bryden; War Work, Mrs. Keith Howard; pianist, Mrs. Little; assistant pianist, Mrs. Howard.

Interdenominational.

The fourth Interdenominational Fireside, held in the United Church, Essex, last Sunday evening, provided an hour of happy fellowship for over a hundred young people from Essex Town and outside points as far away as Ruscomb. Welcome was extended by Max Gulliver to all present, then Gloria Andrew took charge of the singing. We were divided into four groups, according to birthdays, which happy arrangement prepared us for group singing and rounds and also helped us to make new friends. Following the theme of the evening, "Discipleship," the Bennett sisters sang very beautifully "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee," and brief mention was made to Washington Gladden, the author of these verses. Alvin Loucks climaxed the hour with a challenging chat on the same theme. Watch for announcements about the next Fireside, scheduled for June 3rd.

—Miss Ann McCloskey spent the week-end in Toronto with her sister Bridget, who is in St. Michael's Hospital after undergoing a very serious operation on her ear. Wren Theresa McCloskey, who is stationed at Halifax, spent last week in Toronto, and will spend the rest of her furlough at her home in town.

Walls-Lucas Nuptials.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Scott Elmstead, on Saturday, April 28th, when at 6 p.m. Miss Laura May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lucas, was united in marriage to Clifford E. Walls, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walls.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a beautiful long-sleeved white taffeta gown with a long trailing veil, held by a tiara of white crocheted lilies. She carried a bouquet of red roses. Miss Virginia Turner, of Windsor, cousin of the bride, as maid of honour, chose a pink gown and also carried a bouquet of red roses, while in her hair she wore pink flowers. Earl S. Walls assisted his brother as best man. Rev. J. H. Edwards officiated. Reception followed for the immediate families.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES.

Following in the wake of the end of hostilities in Europe, it is expected in well-informed quarters on Parliament Hill that some wartime conditions may be changed in tune with the new circumstances, but others may be forthcoming in different directions. Thus it is indicated that for some time it has been known in Ottawa that the Canadian Army's demobilization programs of "first-in-first-out" would not likely be applied to home defence personnel in the same way as it did to general servicemen. Then again, preparations in fitting Canadian ships for duty in tropical waters, involving living conditions equal in comfort to ships of the Royal Navy or the United States Navy, are a sharp reminder of the part to be played by Canada in the war against Japan. It is said that some Australian representatives are somewhat resentful about Canada's attitude in the Pacific war since President Roosevelt's announcement that only volunteers would be used by this country in the theatre of war. In other words, the end of hostilities in Europe would mean a change in wartime conditions, but there will be others in different directions, with the two aforementioned instances stressing in Ottawa the fact that the relaxation of some may be balanced by strengthening of others in the other.

As to the Victory Loan campaign, it has been noted in Ottawa that political campaigns over the air would have to wait until the end of the loan drive, May 12th, so that it has caused considerable surprise that such political broadcasts have been allowed to go on the air before the conclusion of the Victory Loan. However, information in the capital has revealed that there was no particular reason for this change of plans except that it had been found by the authorities that it was impossible to await the close of the loan drive before such political talks commenced if the allotted time was to be spaced advantageously. As for a meeting between the officials of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and party representatives in Ottawa, there was an agreement about the allotment of free time among the political parties on the Canadian networks during the forthcoming Dominion and Ontario elections in accord with the "white paper" issued some months ago by the C.B.C. at that time. It was said that in order that a political party shall have free time for broadcasts in a federal campaign, the party must have a list of members' names in the field in at least three provinces across this country and it must have a national policy. Therefore, on this basis, 11 1/2 hours of free time has been allowed the national networks for this purpose, with the Liberals getting 5 1/2 hours, Progressives, Conservatives, 2 1/2 hours, C.P., 2 1/2 hours, and Social Credit as well as Labor. Progressives one hour each with these political broadcasts starting on May 14th instead of after the Victory Loan campaign had ended for the reason mentioned previously.

There has been a startling flood of requests in Canada's capital and this has caused much comment backstage along Parliament Hill. The Canadian Congress of Labour, a most powerful and influential organization, has laid into the hands of the Federal Cabinet a brief calling for certain changes in labor regulations, war control over wages, in the personnel of the National War Labor Board, Federal assistance to the provinces on education, immigration policies for the future, etc. The Canadian Legion in Ottawa has been very emphatic about the Government's provisions for housing, especially for war veterans and their dependents, demanding immediate action. War controls seem to be unnecessary in some directions due to the change of war fortune in the eyes of many Canadians who have not been backward about their views in this, the eyes of many Canadians who have not been backward about their views in this, though any drastic or wholesale changes in such controls will not come suddenly at this time according to the best information available along Parliament Hill at this time, particularly when it is reported that in some respects supplies are worse now than ever before, such as some foods, rubber tires, coal, lumber, etc. Finally, there are many who would like to see the famous "Baby Bonus" measure deferred for a little time to allow further inquiry since it is feared by these people that this scheme of paying practically subsidies to certain families at the expense of others at the whole population may prove ultimately to be an extremely heavy drain on the national treasury in peacetime when financial questions must be answered and expenditures must be curbed in a more limited nature than in abnormal times. These and other requests reaching Parliament Hill lately have provided much comment behind the scenes in the capital in the midst of discussions about coming peace elections and so forth.

It may appear as a perfectly "innocent" item but it might be mentioned that, in the experience of this veteran observer, the refusal of the Prime Minister to accept the demand of Dr. Arthur Beauchamp to retire from his post as Clerk of Canada's House of Commons in Ottawa has a hint of the belief that the new Parliament to be elected after June 11th may contain numerous political groups and new members. In other words, Dr. Beauchamp has been recognized by all as Canada's outstanding expert on Parliamentary procedure which he has handled as an authority since 1925, so that Premier King's refusal to accept his wish to retire until after the first session of the next Parliament contains a suggestion that there may be much confusion in the next Parliament in the number of political parties or groups as well as new members and this means that Dr. Beauchamp's knowledge and experience may be indispensable under such circumstances in this nation's best interests, though Dr. Beauchamp, who is close to 70 years, is known to desire retirement immediately, if possible.

Notwithstanding a widely distributed report from Ottawa that the rationing of meat policy in Canada would be the responsibility of the Chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Donald Gordon, yet it must be stressed that information in the capital reveals that this is wrong since this was a matter of Government policy or Federal Cabinet decision rather than that of the Chairman of the said Board. Incidentally, it is disclosed in Ottawa that Canada would ship to Britain as much meat and meat products this year as in 1941 when a new precedent was set in these quantities of shipping, Pays to Clean Fruit Vegetable Storage.

Cleanliness in the fruit or vegetable storage room or warehouse always pays well for the trouble and expense involved. It not only facilitates orderliness and better organization but also assists in maintaining quality and adds to the life of the building, says W. R. Phillips, Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

The reason for this is that moulds and other organisms growing on any vegetation generate taint-producing odours, or may spread to timbers or other wooden parts of the building. Frequently fresh fruits and vegetables take on objectionable flavours through exposure to odours from mould organisms. Much money is often spent each year replacing timbers weakened by organisms growing under damp, unsanitary conditions. Much of this damage takes place when the storage is not in use.

In the spring fruit and vegetable storages become practically empty. Frequently there are damaged packages, loose produce and other odds and ends left in the room. If cleaned out immediately much unnecessary damage may be avoided. Particles may have to be scraped from the walls and floor. All removable lumber such as dunnage, racks and retaining boards should be taken out.

Give a thorough washing to the ceiling, walls and floor of the storage. If good drainage is available use a hose. A wire brush is helpful in cleaning off badly moulded or stained areas. A bright light on an extension cord will prove helpful in doing this job.

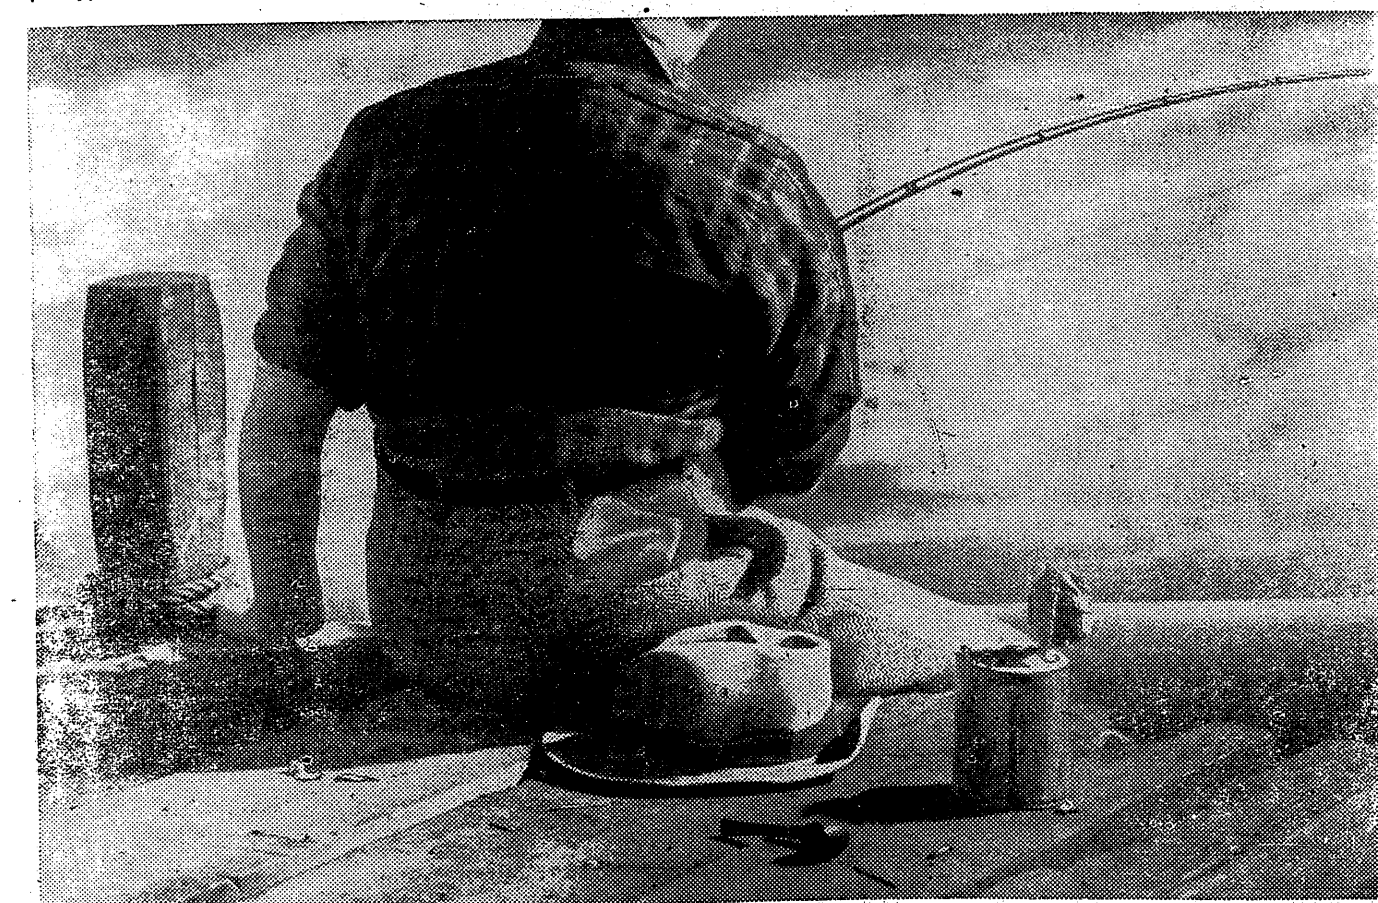

Having the doors open and allowing as much fresh air as possible to circulate through the storage will assist in drying the interior as well as clearing out the musty odours.

When the storage is reasonably fresh and dry a fungicide should be applied. Several of the fungicides may be applied in a wash or spray. A good fungicide kills the harmful organisms without damaging the storage or occupants.

The dunnage or other removal lumber can be cleaned and washed out doors. Exposure to wind and sun will help kill moulds. Then spray with a fungicide and return to the storage. After the use of some fungicide considerable operation or further washing may be needed. A sprinkling of chloride of lime may be helpful in maintaining freshness until the storage is used. Frequent ventilation of bright, warm days is also a good practice for maintaining dry, fresh conditions.

If cleanliness and sanitary practices are adopted in the off season, as well as during the storage period, it will be found that maintenance costs will be reduced. It will also make up for more efficient storage operations resulting in a superior product and more profits.

THE CANADIAN WAY OF LIFE.

A Chance to Go Fishin'....!

YES, and the right to go fishin'... the right to enjoy the simple, pleasant things of life! Picnics by the river—week-end trips in the old family jalopy—these are some of the things that your boy is fighting for today! And he won't be able to enjoy those things, unless we at home fight for him against inflation—unless we make sure when he gets back his dollar will be worth a dollar.

To protect his dollar, we must realize NOW the dangers of careless, unnecessary buying! We must buy only what we need—never buy two where one will do! We must not evade rationing or price control, or deal with black markets. If we break the rules, our country—the country he's fighting for—will start on that spiral of prices known as inflation!

Remember! Every time ONE of us breaks ONE of these rules, we're lowering the value of our soldier's dollar. We're helping to shoot prices sky-high... and sky-high prices mean inflation. The value of every dollar in Canada goes down, and when the men overseas come back their dollar might buy only a quarter's worth of goods!

We can prevent inflation! We can give our fighting man his "right to go fishin'", if we make sure his dollar will be worth a dollar, when he comes home. We can't give back to him his lost years, or his lost youth. But if we keep up the fight against inflation, he can look forward to pleasant, satisfying living—the Canadian way of life!

Published by THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO) to reveal the dangers of inflation.

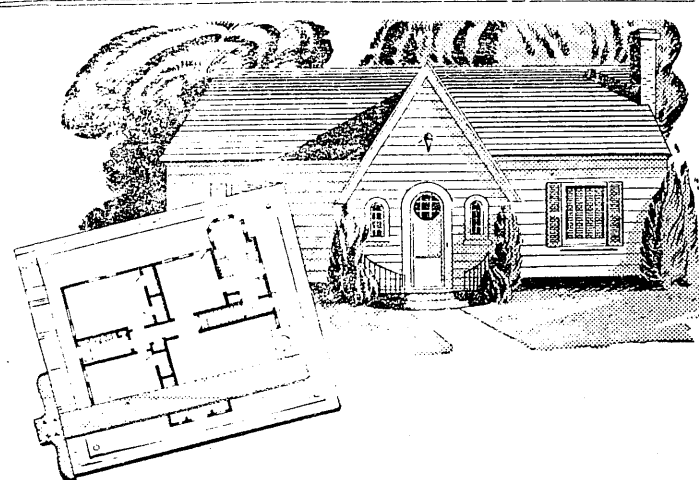

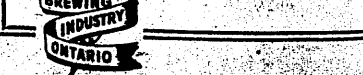

Make this Pledge Today!

I pledge myself to do my part in fighting inflation:

By observing rationing and avoiding black markets in any shape or form.

By respecting price controls and other anti-inflation measures, and refraining from careless and unnecessary buying. I will not buy two where one will do, nor will I buy a "new" where an "old" will do.

By buying Victory Bonds and War Savings Stamps, supporting taxation, and abiding by all such measures which will lower the cost of living and help keep prices at a normal level.

"P" Coupons.

The first "P" coupon good for the purchase of preserves or canning sugar will become valid on June 21st, according to an announcement by War-time Prices and Trade Board officials.

The announcement has been made to allay fears of the housewife that sufficient coupons would not be forthcoming. Each orange preserves coupon and each yellow "P" coupon is good for one-half pound of sugar or the regular preserves ration. This year consumers are allowed 10 pounds additional sugar for canning purposes.

Metal Containers.

To prevent a possible shortage of metal containers which must be canned during the next five months, the War-time Prices and Trade Board has announced an order temporarily prohibiting the packing in metal containers of a number of food products and restricting the number of cans available for certain others. The restrictions, which parallel those instituted last July, do not affect the overall quotas of metal for the year and automatically expire on September 30th.

The New World Threat.

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.

Though Hitler is undoubtedly cast for the villain's role in this second World War, politically he was just a relatively insignificant puppet who got somewhat out of hand. There probably would have been no Hitler and no National Socialism had there not been powerful forces in Germany that saw both these as a means toward their own devious ends.

The Junkers had a part in it, for they have always been the spark plug of Germany's fighting machine. But behind them was a still more virile and predatory force; the heavy industry of Germany, fattened on war and unready to lose its hold on the whole expanding sphere of German influence.

These forces — the Junkers, the great industrialists, and the politicians — played together, with little thought of the German people except as a weapon for renewed war.

Germany has always been a shroud user of fear — other people's fear. Already we are being asked to remember the disastrous results that followed the inflation in Germany in the wake of the last war.

Any careful student can satisfy himself that, to a very considerable extent, this inflation was self-induced. The Weimar Republic, of which so much was hoped, deliberately refused to balance its budget in order to put a poor mouth on Germany's economic situation as a means of influencing the reparations demands; during the nine-month occupation of the Ruhr by the French the German government adopted a policy of passive resistance and paid the wages of hundreds of thousands of idle German workers simply by printing banknotes.

But no one seemed to care. With cheerful unconcern, the heavy industry magnates saw inflation squeeze out small investors in their industries. Embittered people aren't too careful in assessing causes. They nurse their grudges and await the turn of events. The turn of events brought better things for Germany. With the assistance of the Allies, the German government of 1924 had a surplus of several million dollars. This was not used for reparations payments, or for relieving the condition of the German people. It was turned over to the heavy industries to compensate them, it was said, for their losses in the Ruhr.

When Hitler appeared, to set a spark to smoldering bitterness and to establish National Socialism that promised so much more to people who had so little, the industrialists were not slow to see his value to them. There is every evidence that the industrialists helped Hitler to power. If he got somewhat out of hand and was sometimes ruthless with his old-time friends, there was no evidence that the heavy industries suffered. They had rightly realized that they were a fundamental part of any German plan.

From our knowledge of the German mentality it is not unreasonable to assume that the same mechanism might be tried again. This is what Germany would have us believe. They know we are fearful of a repetition of inflation in Germany that might involve the world.

They expect us to fight inflation; this time that is what Germany wants. For all the destruction of Germany, her industries are not destroyed. There are enormous resources hidden abroad. That is the making of a new world threat, if we are as blind as we were a generation ago. — Liberty Magazine.

FAMILY ALLOWANCES

AND INCOME TAX

THE following announcement will help to clarify the relationship between Family Allowances and Income Tax credits for dependent children. Family Allowances are payable from July 1st, 1945, and the registration of children is now taking place.

The Family Allowances Act was designed to help equalize opportunities for all children, and when the Act was passed, Parliament approved the principle that there should be no duplication of benefits by way of Family Allowances and Income Tax credits for the same child. An amendment to the Income War Tax Act will be made to deal with this duplication. In the meantime, however, the Government proposes, for the last six months of 1945 during which Family Allowances are payable, to remove duplication by adjusting the income tax credits received for children.

It is natural that parents in the low income groups will be expected to receive maximum benefits from Family Allowances. Partial benefits will be received, however, by parents with incomes up to $3,000.

The table below shows the effect of the adjustments which the Government has decided to make. For convenience and simplicity the benefits received by each income group are shown as a per cent of the Family Allowances received. The table shows:

TABLE SHOWING EFFECT OF ADJUSTMENT FOR 1945

AMOUNT OF TAXABLE INCOME		Not over $1200		100%	Percent of Family Allowances received in the year 1945.

NOTE:—This table applies to married persons and others having the status of married persons for income tax purposes. For the relatively small number of single persons supporting children and not having married status for income tax purposes, and for members of the Armed Forces, special tables can be obtained from the Regional Director of Family Allowances in each provincial capital.

Family Allowances will be paid in full

In all cases, those who apply for and are eligible to receive Family Allowances will receive them in full, month by month. See scale below:

SCALE OF MONTHLY ALLOWANCES FOR THE FIRST FOUR CHILDREN

For each child
Under 6	From 6 to 9 (inclusive)	$5.00
From 6 to 9 (inclusive)	From 10 to 12 (inclusive)	6.00
From 10 to 12 (inclusive)	From 13 to 15 (inclusive)	7.00
From 13 to 15 (inclusive)		8.00

Where there are more than four children under 16 in the family, the monthly allowance for each child after the fourth will be reduced in accordance with the provisions of the Family Allowances Act.

As far as is possible, to take care of the adjustments necessary to avoid duplication of benefits, current income tax deductions at the source will be adjusted to take into account the new situation when Family Allowance payments commence. This will avoid placing an awkward burden on the taxpayers at the end of the year.

FAMILY ALLOWANCES ARE NOT TAXABLE

Special attention is drawn to the fact that the income ranges used in the table above refer to taxable income, and any amounts received as Family Allowances should not therefore be included in calculating income for this purpose because Family Allowances are not taxable. Family Allowances are also additional to dependents' allowances for servicemen's families and military pensions.

For children registered after July 1st, 1945, Family Allowances will be paid as from the month following the month when registration is made. Family Allowances are not paid retroactively.

Plant May Remain Idle Despite Sugar Shortage.

Assurance by N. S. S. that Experienced Sugar Beet Labour will be Available only hope for its Operation, Says Company President.

Despite a critical world shortage of sugar, the Chatham beet-sugar plant, the largest in the Empire, is likely to remain closed in 1945 for the third year in a row, it was revealed this week by W. J. McGregor, president of Canada and Dominion Sugar Company, Limited.

"The only hope that the plant can be operated," said Mr. McGregor, "is that National Selective Service within the next few days assures the six thousand beet growers of this area that they will have enough labour to block and thin and hoe the crop. Otherwise the sugar-beet land will lie fallow or go into other crops less urgently needed."

This plant, it was added, in 1942, processed 245,000 tons of beets and produced 60,000,000 pounds of sugar. This is more than half enough sugar for the household ration for all Ontario. On present indications, only the Wallaceburg plant will be operated.

"We have been preparing to operate both plants," Mr. McGregor added, "and every effort has been made so far to procure enough acreage to produce the required number of beets. The real problem is experienced beet labour. Military and industrial drains have reduced the number seriously and while it is early to expect men back from overseas service, we are still hoping that many of the people now in war plants will be released in time to do some real good on this most critical shortage."

Undoubtedly there are many hundreds of experienced beet workers in the war plants who would be willing to come back to the land if they are made available for beet work, farmers will plant thousands of acres more sugar beets thus producing the raw material for millions of pounds more sugar."

"Detroit, which was clamoring for permission to take Canadian workers from Windsor, now is experiencing a real setback in production at Willow Run plant. It was announced some time ago that there is no further production of training planes in Canada. It can be expected that Canadian war plants will shortly have many thousands of surplus workers. But to help the farm situation, especially sugar beets, the workers should be available before June 1st."

According to the foods division of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board imported Vinifera or table type grapes cannot be sold at retail in excess of .38c a pound plus the cost of transportation from the distributing centre. The price allowed to retailers importing direct is slightly lower. The revised order replaces an informal agreement which has been in effect for some time, and its result will be lower prices in those cases where importers have exceeded agreed price levels.

Proclamation!

TOWN OF ESSEX

In accordance with a resolution, passed by the Council of the Town of Essex, I hereby proclaim

Thursday, May 24th

A CIVIC HOLIDAY

And beg all merchants and citizens to observe it as such.

S. FRANCOTTIE Mayor.

Cecil Gulliver Safe.

Mrs. Cecil Gulliver and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gulliver received official word, on Monday, that the latter's son, Cecil, was safe in England. Cecil has been a prisoner of war in Germany since Dieppe, a battle in which his brother, Lawrence, was killed.

Maddams-Flewelling Nuptials.

At a quiet but lovely ceremony, Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Maidstone United Church, Ellen Flewelling of Calgary, Alta., was united in marriage to R. B. Maddams, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Edna Maddams, of Maidstone, with Rev. P. James officiating.

Entering the church on the arm of the groom's grandfather, C. E. Mad-dams, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore her mother's floor-length wedding gown of ivory silk and long silk net veil, and carried red roses.
Her only attendant was the groom's sister, Ruth Maddams, who chose a floor-length dress of powder blue sheer.

She wore a headdress and short veil of pink, and carried pink roses and sweet peas. Thomas Howe was best man. Miss Jean Myrtle played the wedding music and Mr. Murray sang during the signing of the register.

The church altar was banked with spring flowers and baskets of lilacs and tulips. A reception followed at the home of the groom's parents.

The bride's table was covered with a hand-made lace cloth and centred with a three-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. C.
Schwartz, of Detroit, and Mrs. S. Eldridge, of Essex, assisted in serving.

Among the guests were the bride's aunt, Mrs. Davison, of St. Thomas, and the groom's aunt, Mrs. Henning, of Toronto. The groom recently received his discharge from the R.C.A.F., in which he served four years, one and a half being overseas duty.

After a short trip Mr. and Mrs. Mad-dams will reside in Riverside.

Nurse Graduate Honoured.

A very interesting and unique social event took place at the home of Mrs.
George Kendrick recently, the occasion being a reception for forty guests, following the graduation of her daughter Ruby from Grace Hospital, Windsor.
Ruby, with other nurses, had been much feted by the Junior and Intermediate nurses, 1944 class, Women's Assiliary to the Hospital, and by Brigadier Alice M. Brett, and gifts were presented to each grad.

On two Sundays church services were attended by the nurses, in a body.
Attired in a two-piece powder blue crepe, and wearing a corsage of roses, Mrs. Kendrick made a charming hostess. Her home was tastefully decorated with baskets and vases of spring flowers.

Earl Reeb nephew of Mrs. Kendrick was master of ceremonies, and in a capable manner congratulated Ruby on the culmination of many years of study and work, and proposed a toast to her future success in her chosen vocation, assuring her she would always remember "this day," considering, as it did, V-E Day.

Raymond Reeb, another nephew, responded for Ruby, in a few well-chosen words. A. Inkster read an original humorous bit of poetry on the life of Ruby up to the present.

Wearing sweet pea corsages, Mrs.
Orville McDowell and Mrs. Earl Reeb poured tea at a prettily appointed table with lace cloth, flowers and candelabra, and white candles of the hospital colours — red, blue and yellow.

Four nurses-in-training served a most delicious lunch, while assisted with this were Mrs. John Reeb, Mrs.
Alex McDowell, Mrs. Hilliard Neice, and Mrs. Douglas Reeb.

Ruby, looking very professional in her white uniform, with corsage of roses, enjoyed the opening of her numerous and costly gifts, for which she expressed her sincere appreciation.

James Hedrick Passes.

James H. Hedrick, a resident of the Town of Essex from 1919 to 1940, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Andrew Moir, 266 Bruce avenue, Windsor, early Tuesday morning. He underwent a major operation a couple of years ago, but appeared in very good health when he attended the spring meeting of the ex-Warden's Association in town about a month ago.

Deceased was born in the Township of Rochester, a son of the late Conrad and Electa Hedrick, 31 years ago.
He farmed all his life until moving into Essex in 1919, when he went into the real estate and insurance business with H. C. Piper, from which he retired when appointed Inspector of Corn Borer Control for Essex County, by the County Council, in 1926, a position he held until 1940. He was always interested in Municipal work, being first elected Reeve of Rochester Township in 1908, and in 1910 was elected Warden of the county. After moving to Essex he represented that municipality at County Council for three years, as well as being a councillor. He was an ardent lawn bowler, a member of Essex United Church and Central Lodge A. F. & A. M.

He is survived by four sons, Wilfred of Woodlee; Clifford, of Blenheim; Roy, of Essex, and Charles, of Detroit;
five daughters, Mrs. Andrew Moir, Mrs.
P. D. McCallum, Mrs. John Imrie and Mrs. Robert Imrie, all of Windsor, and Mrs. C. E. Burgess, of Tilbury; two sisters, Mrs. Annie McCauley, Windsor, and Mrs. Rachel Whitaker, Sylvan Lake; 17 grandchildren and three great grandchildren. A grandson, Edward Hedrick, was killed in Italy last December.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Hicks & Son Funeral Home, on Thursday, at 2.30 p.m. Burial will be in Ruscomb Cemetery.

South Essex Liberals Convene

South Essex Liberals in joint convention, in the Town Hall, Essex, on Friday evening, chose both a Federal and a Provincial candidate for the coming elections. Murray Clark, M.P., for Essex South since 1935, was the unanimous choice to again contest the Federal seat, while F/O Morgan Brown, of Leamington, at present overseas, was likewise a unanimous choice to contest the seat in the Provincial Legislature. There was no balloting as no others were named.

With N. A. Marra, Mayor of Amherstburg, in the chair, Charles G.
Fletcher, ex-M.L.A., for Essex South, proposed the name of F/O Morgan
Brown. He told his audience that F/O Brown's acceptance, if he was the choice of the convention, had not been confirmed, but he considered that the party could not select a better candidate.

He was well thought of in his home town of Leamington, and was a graduate of Queen's University in Commerce and Finance. Although overseas, he could be home in a few days. The nomination was seconded by B. H. Furlong, K.C., of Essex.

Asking for nominations for a Federal candidate, Ernest Baldwin, of Colchester, proposed Murray Clark, whose name was quickly seconded by Fred Pettapiece, reeve of Anderton, who stated he thought Murray had done a remarkable job the past ten years.

Murray Clark M.P.
Mr. Clark said he was accepting the nomination in spite of the fact that he had advised his executive a year ago last January that he would not run again and continued to hold that intention up till just a few days ago.
He still did not have full consent of his family, but with the assurance he would have full Liberal backing for the next month, he had consented.
"Are you all with me?" he asked the crowd of over 300, and they replied with a roar of approval "Yes."

The speaker stated he had served the riding for ten years at Ottawa, ten difficult years, first in 1935, conditions were bad, especially for the farmers, prices for farm products being very low. Then in 1939 Canada declared war. "We, at home, have made no sacrifices. True, we have put up with many difficulties," he said, "but it has been our boys and girls in the Armed Forces, and their mothers who have really made the sacrifices."

We have a big job on our hands, with election day only a month away, reminding his backers that Mr. Conklin, his Progressive-Conservative opponent, had been working for 14 or 15 months "to lick me." I myself also have been doing some work, but it wasn't politically. I have been looking after the affairs of my riding in Ottawa. I personally was responsible for fixing a market last season in the Eastern Atlantic States, for Essex County potatoes, which netted the farmers of the county at least $100,000.
Potatoes at that time were selling in Toronto at $1.25 per bag, which would possibly have dropped to 50c a bag had the thousands of bags marketed in the States, at $2 per bag, been thrown onto the Toronto market. He then told his listeners of a delegation of peach growers visiting the capitol in regard to the price of peaches, as set by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. The committee had met with the "powers that be" asking for 10c a lb., but the best price they could get was 8c a lb., in fact three of the delegation left and came home. He then went to bat and finally got a price of

FRIDAY, MAY 18, 1945.

Essex Town Council.

Monday, May 7th Council met in special session, at the call of the Mayor, in the Council Chamber, at 8 p.m., with Mayor Francotte, Reeve Doyle and Councillors Chase, Cascadden, Shaw and Hutchinson present.

Mayor Francotte stated he had called the meeting to request Council's approval of town again taking over the collection of garbage. He had had ratepayers protest to him of town getting out of paying for the garbage collection and still leaving the amount allowed for the collection in the budget. He had taken it upon himself to advertise in last week's Free Press that starting May 7th, Council would again pay the garbage collector.

Mr. Eldridge asked why he had excluded the merchants when they pay business taxes.

Mr. Eldridge, who was present, said he had been collecting the past three weeks from 165 homes and business places and was quite satisfied to continue collecting the garbage and being paid by the people themselves. He had heard of very few complaints.

Mr. Eldridge, on being asked, stated that he always collected from the homes on Wednesday and Thursday of each week and from the stores, on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Here Charles Madel addressed Council re plans for "V-E" Day, inviting the Mayor and Council to the service to be held in the town park on Tuesday (V-E Day) morning or in case of rain, in the town hall.

After further discussion on garbage collection, during which Mr. Eldridge stated that the town dump ground was getting in very bad condition and would soon need levelling down, he stated he would look after the collection of garbage, including the stores, for $125 per month, but could not see his way clear to accept $100 per month.

The members figured that $125 was too high and asked Mr. Eldridge to try it for a month at $100 salary. Council to see merchants and warn them that their garbage must be in good shape, preferably in containers.

Mr. Eldridge said that he was wondering now that method of collecting was again changed to where Council was going to pay cost, how he would be able to collect for the three weeks he had worked on his own.

Following a short discussion, it was moved by Messrs. Cascadden and Shaw, and carried, that Council pay Mr. Eldridge at $100 per month to collect garbage, salary to commence as of April 15th. Mr. Eldridge not to collect privately for collection of past three weeks.

Mr. Eldridge agreed to give it a trial.

Mr. Cascadden asked why the Hydro cheque re purchase of town lot on Center street, had not been deposited and lot decided over to the Commission.

At request of Mayor, this matter was laid over till regular meeting, on May 28th.

Boy Scouts in the United States have collected 9,808,249 pounds, or 4,904 tons of tin cans. This is exclusive of other scrap metal collected.

To Control Garden Cutworm.

Success in the production of garden vegetable crops depends a good deal upon protection from the early attacks of cutworms. As soon as the soil warms up and weed growth commences, cutworms become active. A week before the first garden crops are planted, the soil surface, if caked, should be broken up and a poisoned bait made of bran, 25 lbs., Paris green, 1 lb., and 3 gallons of water should be broadcast at the rate of 15-20 lb. of the dry material per acre. Select a warm evening and spread the bait before darkness comes on. Do not spread the bait on a cold day.

For city gardens, use the bait at the rate of one teaspoonful of Paris green to one quart of bran, and moisten with water. Transplants may be protected by dipping them in a mixture of 3 ounces of lead arsenate to a gallon of water before setting the transplants in the soil. For small gardens, tin cans with both ends cut out and placed over the plants, and pushed well down in the soil, will give protection. The cans may be removed before the plants get too large to slip through. The cans can then be strung on a wire and hung up for next season.

Backyard Cutworms.

In small backyard gardens, plants transplanted may be protected from cutworms by placing around the stem of each plant a stout paper collar with the lower edge buried in the soil. An old tin can with the top and bottom removed is ideal for this purpose.

Lest Darkness Cover Earth.

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.

A few weeks ago Prime Minister Churchill, viewing the sites of the German weapons that were to have destroyed Britain, remarked, with rather less than his usual measure of confidence, "We are just in time."

There is nothing of exaggeration in this statement. A few weeks more and London might have been a memory, and all England with it. For even courage has its limitations. Sometimes it can only teach people how to die.

The story can now be pieced together. It begins with the feverish preparations of German scientists to produce a weapon that could reach from Europe to America.

But for a few factors that Germany could neither determine nor foresee, who can say that it could not have been done? First, the heroic defense of Britain and the defeat of the Luftwaffe. And, second, that unparalleled stroke that led a force of 700 Lancasters to that very research laboratory in Peenemunden in Pomerania, where the secret weapon was being prepared.

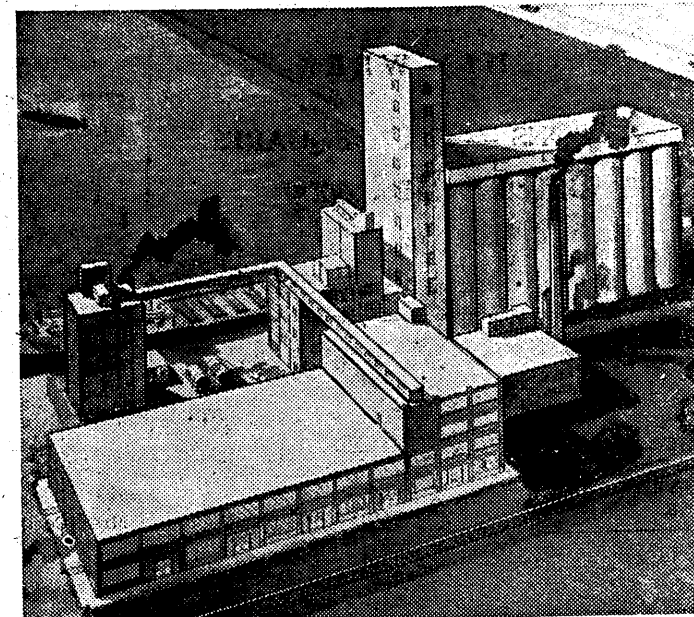

That day alone may have cost Germany the war, for it cost her many of her first-flight scientists. Even so, the V-2 was ready when D-Day dawned on the world. All that was needed to make world defenses before them. It was as he toured the sites of the almost-ready batteries that were to achieve that end that Churchill said, "We are just in time." Long-range guns buried far beneath the earth were to blanket England with six-inch shells, ten to the minute, disrupting her security services so that the V-1 and V-2 might complete the destruction.

That is an old story now. It has lost its fabulous, fairy-tale quality. We know that it is possible. All that Germany needed, to win, was time. She moved a little too fast for her technicians to keep pace. She underestimated the quality of her foes. These were her failures. The one lesson she will undoubtedly learn is to be prepared — next time — against any eventuality. The lesson we of the peaceful nations will find it hard to learn. We are too anxious to believe in a Germany that has been made reluctant, too eager to beat our own swords into ploughshares, as we did a generation ago. That road leads to the twilight of our world.

There is a mounting ferocity in war that we cannot gainsay. It is partially an improved technique in mass killing. It is partially a change in our thinking. It is many months since we made the claim that military objectives are our only targets. Britain and America alike have learned a new ruthlessness. Saturation bombing was not a German method. It was our own, a technique of destruction of which Germany only dreamed.

So we match wits for survival. Are we, then, to become a people always on the edge of fear? Are we to see in our soaring cities only a temptation to violence? Must we find a life underground? Are we to subordinate our humanities to the all-important struggle for survival? There may be no atheists in foxholes, but there are no impersonal altruists either. The old pseudo-gentlemanly rules of war go by the board when armies are numbered not in hundreds but in millions. This time peace must be secure. We must see either that war-loving nations like Germany and Japan are robbed of any possible power to make war, or we must prepare ourselves to accept the logical and inevitable alternative — recurring wars fought with an ever-increasing ferocity, ever-decreasing humanity, until the quality that was in us becomes the quality of the Nazi beast, and darkness covers our earth.—Liberty Magazine.

Fear of punishment never made a man truly honest. Moral courage is requisite to meet the wrong and to proclaim the right.—Mary Baker Eddy

ONTARIO FARMERS CAN DO THE SAME

Just across Lake Erie, in an area about sixty-five miles deep and 175 miles wide, U. S. farmers cashed in on an average of over thirteen million bushels of soybeans per year, for the last three years. Over a period of less than ten years, these next door neighbours of ours discovered the value of planting soybeans: 1. soybean demand is constantly increasing; 2. they fit to advantage in crop rotation planning; 3. they provide attractive profits; 4. they require minimum labour; 5. soybeans are a cash crop.

Only 682,000 bushels of soybeans were harvested in Canada, in 1944. Victory Mills require three million bushels of soybeans and will pay top prices. Profit from the experience of our U. S. neighbours . . . plant soybeans.

Working in the Dark.

Before the Canadian National Institute for the Blind was established 27 years ago, it is doubtful if there was a single blind woman in regular employment in Canada. Now in the apron and dress factory of the Institute in Toronto there are 44 blind girls and women regularly employed. Five of the stenographers in the head office are without sight. The nine home teachers of the Institute in Ontario are totally or partially blind. There are two girls without sight employed in government offices in Ottawa as stenographers, and there are others in private offices. Several blind women operate concession stands or small industrial cafeterias. These girls and women earn their own living. They would not be employed if it were not for The Canadian National Institute for the Blind. It is an organization which means all the difference between happy life and dull existence in the lives of hundreds of women and men without sight. It needs your help. The opportunity to give it is during the campaign now being held in this district.

First to Enter Germany. First Canadian soldier to enter Germany is reported by war correspondents to be Capt. Clark Gothard, of Brantford, Ontario. Capt. Gothard is keenly interested in the Boy Scouts and at the time of his enlistment was Scoutmaster of the 5th Brantford Troop.

"Courage"
True courage and courtesy go hand in hand. The bravest men are the most forgiving and the most anxious to avoid quarrels.—Thackeray.

That courage is poorly housed which dwells numbers — the lion never counts the herd that is about him, nor weighs how many flocks he has to scatter.—Hill.

Who, then, is the invincible man? He whom nothing that is outside the sphere of his moral purpose can dismay.—Epictetus.

Sales of Poultry to Hotels and Restaurants.

Effective June 1st, wholesale dealers selling dressed poultry to restaurants, hotels and other eating places must sell at or below the ceiling for sales to retailers unless they have a special permit from the administrator of meat and meat products, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. The new order makes no change in the regulations governing dressed poultry sales by retailers or primary producers who are allowed a 10 per cent markup. Wholesale dealers are forbidden to take the markup unless they have a permit to do so.

Moral courage is a virtue of higher cast and noble origin than physical. It springs from a consciousness of virtue, and renders a man, in the pursuit of defense of right, superior to the fear of reproach, opposition or contempt.—G. S. Goodrich.

Old Live Stock Cures.

When one reads of the queer superstitious remedies prescribed for ailing live stock in days gone by, the great advance of modern scientific research and veterinary skill is all the more appreciated. One cure for a "haunted" horse was "take the left-hand glove of a woman afflicted with rheumatism in the right arm, steep the glove in fresh water, and allow the animal to drink thereof." Another interesting cure for a horse with a sprained leg was "Take a stone from under a waterspout, put the horse's leg upon the stone and say 'I place myself upon a hard stone, I have an ailment of my leg bone which causes me much pain. Be this pain black or white, grey or red, in less than three days it shall be dead!'"

1932 - The Liberals joined John Bracken's farmer government.

1940 - All the other political parties, including the C.C.F. and Social Creditors, threw in their fortunes with a great leader forming a wartime Coalition Manitoba government.

Rural Scene

AFTER THE WAR!

We're waiting for the green light. When telephone men and materials are back again, we'll resume our rural expansion program where we left off.

First job of all will be to supply service to families on our waiting list. Then will come such major projects as extending facilities into new areas; replacing "veteran" equipment; raising standards of service. Simply to relieve present crowding on rural lines will mean running more than 3,000 miles of wire from present pole lines. Then we'll need extensions to the pole lines themselves — some 2,500 miles of them — to reach additional communities. Wherever we find one family per half mile of main road wanting telephones, we plan to construct pole lines to serve them.

It all means PEOPLE AT WORK

work which must be done, if telephone service is to keep pace with rural needs. It is work which calls for the efforts of line men, service men, operators, office workers. To get it done, we'll need not only every present Bell employee, plus all those now away on military service, but many more workers besides.

AFTER FINAL VICTORY, WE'LL STILL BE

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kane and daughter Mary M., went to Detroit on Sunday for the wake and funeral of Frank's sister Loretta, Mrs. Edward Brandell, who passed away on Saturday. They remained over until Tuesday for the funeral, held from the Brandell home to St. Rita's church. Deceased was born here, the daughter of Bernard Kane and the late Mrs. Kane, but has resided in Detroit for about thirty years. Besides her father and brother, deceased is survived by her husband and four daughters, Miss Rita, a graduate of Hotel Dieu; Shirley, Jean and Frances, and a son Sgt. Billy of the U. S. Army Air Corps now fighting in the Southwest Pacific.

Mrs. Mary Bachmeier who was visiting her son Joe at Pointe Pelee, is visiting with her granddaughter, Mrs. Walter Grabish for a few weeks.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Moreau (Eileen Sexton) on the birth of a son, Michael Joseph, a brother for Jackie and Jerry, at Metropolitan Hospital, on May 13th.

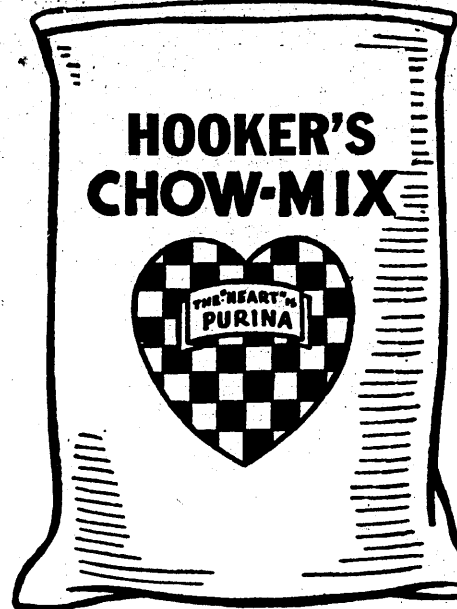

Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Brien entertained at a wedding reception for 200 guests on Saturday evening, at Bellevue Hotel, in honour of their daughter, Ellen Gertrude, whose marriage to Harry McRae, took place at Sacred Heart Church at 11 that morning. The happy young couple received many beautiful gifts.

Weather permitting, the Shamrocks hope to open their season against the Border Cities' Colored Giants, on Sunday at 3 p.m., on our diamond. Postponed twice the opening ceremonies hope to go under way shortly before game time. Be on hand to give the boys a merry send-off.

A local soldier who has "made good" and fought in three major engagements in three different countries and who spent V-E Day in German territory, was approached and asked if he wanted to sign up to fight the Japs and he replied: "I do not like to make a hog of myself, so why not send some of those deferred boys over to see what this war is about." A right smart answer.

MAIDSTONE

A very enjoyable evening was spent in Maidstone United Church hall, when Mrs. Leah Robinson entertained at a graduation reception in honour of her daughter, Agnes Velma, following Grace Hospital Graduating Exercises, in Walkerville Collegiate, May 7th, 1945. Mrs. Robinson and Agnes welcomed the guests in the hall, gaily decorated in pastel shades of green

Assisting in serving the guests were nurses in uniform — Mrs. Dorothy Howard, Misses Eleanor Neice, Alma Rhoads, Beverly Gould, Patricia Stevens, Donna Grover, Jeffery, Shirley Cox and Flora Duncan. —IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of dear mother and grandmother, Sarah Frances Hiler, who passed away May 20th, 1944.

In our hearts your memory lingers. Always tender, fond and true. There is not a day dear mother that we do not think of you.

No one knows the silent heartaches. Only those who have lost can tell. The grief we bear in silence.

For the one we loved so well.

—Fondly remembered by Gloria and Kay Wilson.

—IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Lawrence Farough, who passed away three years ago, May 18th, 1942.

Remembrance is a golden chain. Death tries to break but all in vain. To have, to love and then to part. Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.

The years may wipe out many things. But this they wipe out never: The memory of those happy days, When we were all together.

—Sadly missed by his daughters, son, and their families.

—IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mrs. F. Hiler (Fanny) who passed into rest May 20th, 1944.

It is sweet to know we will meet again. We are parting as no more. And that the one we loved is not dead. But just gone on before.

—Lovingly remembered by brother Ern and family, of Detroit; Harry and family, brother George and sister Anna.

—King, and that he should represent Canada at the peace conference.

—Charles G. Fletcher.

Mr. Fletcher, as the last Liberal member at Toronto, gave a short talk on Provincial Politics. He stated that when the Hepburn Government took over Ontario Legislature from the Henry regime the finances of the province were in bad shape, whereas, when Drew formed his government there was a large surplus, due to the sound financing of the Liberal Government.

Mr. Drew is taking great credit for reducing tax on real estate by taking over a big share of the cost of education, but he is using surpluses built up in wartime.

—The slate of officers, as read by Charles Huffman, chairman of the Nominating Committee, were elected as follows: President, N. A. Mares; 1st vice-president, Andrew Cromarty; 2nd vice-president, Doug Stevenson; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. Jack Coghlin; 4th vice-president, Wallace Bellaire; secretary-treasurer, C. G. Fletcher. John Montgomery, the outgoing president, had served in that capacity for the past 13 years.

Textiles Labelling.

After May 15th all types of men's, women's and children's clothing, regardless of the date of their manufacture must be labelled with the manufacturer's Prices Board license number, the line number and size, according to a new order extending quality controls. The label, which provides the Board with the necessary information for investigating any cases of suspected degradation, must always be attached to the garment when it reaches the customer. On the sale of clothes which have been customed tailored or made to measure by a tailor or home dressmaker, only the Board license number need be shown on the label. Sales slips must be issued for retail sales if the customer requests them.

AS THE WAR CLOUDS LIFT...

Germany has collapsed. It is as if we had been in a tug-of-war, with life itself as the prize.
Now suddenly, the line seems loose in our hands. We must brace ourselves lest the pent up force of our own power send us plunging backward into disorder.

Joy is natural to us at this time; but let us be glad wisely. Much remains to be done. Much sacrifice must yet be endured if we are to establish on this world that peace and order which is, and has been, our real goal.

Thankful we should be. Proud we may well be of the courageous fidelity of our fighting men and the women who have backed them up;
and of the proven quality of our technical minds and industrial workers.

Let us face the future with confident determination that Canada's new war-developed abilities shall be applied to assure better living for all our people. As Hydro has expanded to power the mighty war industries of Ontario, so in building for peace your Hydro stands ready to do its full part in providing a dependable low-cost electrical service to homes, industries and farms.

Luck of Old Horseshoes.

An explanation of the common belief in the luck of old horseshoes. "St.
Dunstan was a skilled furrier. One day, while at work at his forge, the devil entered in disguise, and requested Dunstan to shoe his 'single hoof'.
The Saint, although he recognised his malign customers, acceded, but caused him so much pain during the operation that Satan begged of him to desist.
This St. Dunstan did, but only after he had made the Evil One promise that neither he nor any of the lesser evil spirits, his servants, would ever molest the inmates of a house where the horseshoe be displayed.

A Letter Written on V-E Day.

The following letter was received by Dr. and Mrs. S. F. Millen from their son, Capt. (Dr.) Don Millen, of the R. C. A. M. G. Don has been, since invasion Day, doing emergency surgical work in advance Field Hospital Units, and tells his parents, in another letter, written on May 7th, that he had just tended to a soldier who, he told him, was the last Canadian casualty in combat duty, and what a tough break, for he had to amputate both arms of the unfortunate lad, who also had a fractured skull as well as other injuries. He told his parents that he was sure this brave lad would pull through. Don also performed the emergency operations on Capt. Tilson, of Windsor, who has been awarded the V.C. according to Tuesday's papers.

Somewhere in Germany, May 8th, 1945.

Dear Mother and Dad:

Well, it's all over, and we have plenty, plenty to be thankful for. I imagine you will all be having a real celebration and I am sure England will be very happy. The war ends with me being more proud of the British Empire than at any time in my life. Where in the world could any country produce men to surpass Winston Churchill, Montgomery and Alexander. The Royal family have been wonderful throughout the whole war and I now understand the value of a good King and Queen. Of all the countries that I have been in, I believe the English civilian, the hardest, deprived of everything almost in the way of food and clothes, many families only partly remain — blitzes, V 1's, V 2's and practically never a complaint. What a race of people!

We celebrated today as usual, by a move but this time 40 miles closer to home, and it was really just a pleasure ride. The O. C. of the F. D. S. has acquired a nice new little German private car, and he invited me to ride with him. It was good to be in a car again. I wish you could see this main highway, simply crowded with ex-prisoners and refugees, going in both directions, many, Russians, heading in the direction of Berlin. The clothes are all scrounged and what a variety. I am certain it has never been equalled and travelling on foot, horses, wagons, bicycles, motorcycles and scrounged cars. They mostly loot their food as they go along, and quite a number are drunk. It is a sight never to be forgotten. Many are heading hundreds of miles and some likely thousands to their homes. Our unit is really finished and we have temporarily moved into a building which has one-half occupied by German nuns. They are really a funny bunch. The infantry have had some time the last few days. I am going down to No. 88 British General Hospital at 9 o'clock to try and hear the King's speech. The only question now is how long Canada, and what a reunion. Love,

Your son, DON.

John Bracken — The Farmer

On the 11th of December, 1942, John Bracken stood in the Auditorium in Winnipeg before a great concourse of people. John Bracken — the Farmer — was accepting the leadership of a great resurgent people's party. In ringing tones he was speaking of "The People's Charter". And the soul-searching sincerity of this man of the soil, with his vision of Canada, of Canadians and the "world of plenty that lies within our grasp" was deeply moving.

Picture the background of this man — this moment. John Bracken, the farm boy, on his father's farm in Ontario; milking, haying, carrying in the wood, plowing ... then young Bracken, honours student at the Ontario Agricultural College going to Manitoba as representative of the Department of Agriculture ... on to Saskatchewan as Superintendent of Fairs and Farmers' Institutes and Secretary of the Provincial Livestock Association ... then, later, John Bracken, author, writing books about farms, farming, farmers ...

And now years later, in Winnipeg, John Bracken, the farmer, is speaking of "the right of farmers and other primary producers to a fair share of the nation's income." Notice the simplicity of the language he uses, clear, concise — sincere.

"During the last decade," he is saying, "farm income fell to such a low average as to become of very great concern in our Canadian economy. It is the responsibility of the nation to see that this great inequity shall not be perpetuated."

Then, suddenly his voice rises, becomes even clearer, more incisive. "I may say quite frankly that if it had not been for that plank in your platform which provides for a square deal for agriculture, I would not be here."

Two years later, in Alliston, Ontario, — again the same simplicity, the moving sincerity.

"I am an agrarian," said John Bracken, "and I am a Canadian ... who seeks to correct the major social injustice of our day — the unfairly small share of the national income that goes to farmers and farm women and farm workers." Then, with a statesman's enlargement of vision, he added, "When the injustice to the farmer is removed, the economy of Canada as a whole will be strengthened."

No one could be less parochial in his outlook — more deeply concerned with national welfare than John Bracken, the farmer who embarked twenty years ago on a career so successful as to be without precedent in contemporary political history within the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Cut in Ration Allowance of Sugar.

The cut in sugar rations announced early this month applies to candy, soft drink and jam manufacturers, as well as wineries, bakeries, hotels, restaurants and other quota users. The ration administration points out. According to officials there seems to be a misunderstanding that consumers are the only persons affected by the cut in rations totalling five pounds to the end of the year. There is no change in the 10 pound sugar for canning available to consumers.

Mrs. A. Bruner Laid to Rest.

Funeral services were held in the Leamington United Church, on Friday May 11th, for Mrs. Amos Bruner, who died on Wednesday previous, after an illness of six years, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roy W. Lee, on No. 3 Highway. Mrs. Bruner was in her 76th year.

Born in Mersea Township, she was the daughter of the late John M. Reid and Mary Jane Seftington. In 1894 she was married to Amos Bruner, of Gosfield South, who died 25 years ago.

Mrs. Bruner was a member of the Leamington United Church, the Women's Association, the Eveready Bible Class, and the Ruthven Rebekah Lodge No. 178, who participated in the services. She was also a life member of the W.M.S.

Surviving are four children, Howard of the 4th Concession and Garnet residing on the old family homestead; Mrs. Roy W. Lee, of Gosfield South, and Mrs. Reuben Latam, of Wyoming; two step-children, Mrs. Russell Rogers, of Gosfield South, and Frederick E. of Mersea township. Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Orville Atkin and Mrs. Grace Calder, of Windsor. Interment was in Ruthven cemetery.

Fuller, of Union; and three grandsons, Robert, Jack and Donald Fuller. Jack and Donald are with the Canadian Expeditionary Force on the Western Front. Also surviving are two brothers, Arthur, of Cleburne, Texas, and Marshall, manager of the Imperial Tobacco Co. of Canada, Ltd., Leamington. Two other brothers, Mark and Cameron, predeceased him.

Plane Facts.

A. R. Eddie, of Lethbridge, Alta., R.C.A.F. pilot and air engineer of 15 years experience, is author of the article which follows. It appeared in the Calgary "Albertan" and attracted much attention as a useful contribution to the discussion regarding the disposal of obsolete and obsolescent war aircraft.

The destruction of obsolete aircraft in Calgary has startled the public and drawn attention to the problems of the "clean-up" which must inevitably follow such an orgy of production as this war has brought. As there will be necessary be much more destruction of equipment in the near future, it seems that a little knowledge imparted now to the public will help John Q. to sleep easier in his bed.

I hold no brief for any government department and I do not propose to judge the burning of aircraft which has taken place lately but as a pilot and air engineer of some eighteen years' experience, I can dilate on the general theme, and possibly throw some light on why certain things happen.

First, let us take the case of two famous types of aircraft which are or soon will be on their way to the knacker's yard. These are the Avro and Airtspeed Oxford.

Both were designed some ten years ago as "feeder line aircraft" to carry local traffic to and from the great air line terminals. Although they had neither the performance nor the weight-carrying ability for first line military aircraft, they were ordered in large numbers by the Air Ministry when it became necessary to expand the R.A.F. in a hurry.

At that time the prime requisite was for numbers of aircraft to fill in while the high performance types were cutting their teeth and having the bugs ironed out, and for trainers to reach pilots multiengine technique, and to train crews for the expansion scheme.

Faithful Work Horses. When the Commonwealth Air Training plan was inaugurated the R.A.F. agreed to supply the flying equipment, and large numbers of Ansons and Oxfords were shipped to Canada, where they did yeoman service in training pilots, air navigators and air engineers. The Anson was subsequently built in Canada. The Great Plan is now nearly finished and there is no further use for these faithful work horses. The question therefore arises, what to do with them.

Let us first consider what they are. Both are similar in essentials, so we will take the Anson as typical. As at present fitted, it will probably have five bucket seats, no appointments or creature comforts for passengers, but bang in the middle of the cabin is a large and obsolescent radio. The nose carries a bombight and there are bomb bays and racks in the wings. The pilot's instrument panel, barely adequate for training, is not within a mile of being fit for serious air line work. Some models have too much window for passenger comfort, some hardly any.

In order to convert this aircraft for civilian use, say for an airline and assuming that the airframe and engines are airworthy by civil flying standards, it will be necessary to remove all military equipment, which is largely obsolete, and useless except as junk, fit the cabin with seats and an insulated lining, install an adequate heating and ventilating system, rearrange and add to the pilot's instrument panels, including a whole new set for the co-pilot, install de-icers, up-to-date radio equipment. This in addition to re-doping in some other color than "training yellow" and general prettifying up.

We have now spent several thousands of dollars on this aging aircraft, and what have we got? We have a machine which on seven hundred or so horsepower will carry six or eight passengers at a rather doubtful 150 m.p.h. for some four hundred miles. The airplanes and engines have already done several hundred, perhaps thousands, of hours of the roughest kind of service-training, and the cost of their maintenance will therefore be heavy. For the same reason the two primary requisites of an air line, safety and regularity of service, will be difficult to maintain. Breakdowns will be frequent and passengers few. The morale of flying and ground crews handling such ancient equipment will be low.

As against this, take only one of the post-war models for air line work of which the details have recently been released. This aircraft, on 1,100 horsepower carries ten passengers at over 200 m.p.h. for a thousand miles. It is new, all metal, and designed for cheap and easy maintenance. Any first class airline would be proud to own it. Yet, if we insist on throwing the old stuff on the market at cut-throat prices the factories which are getting ready to convert from military to commercial needs will have to close down, and thousands of people will be thrown out of work. Where then is our much touted program of "jobs for all"?

No Good as Freighters.

Suppose we consider the old hack merely as a freighter. Even air freight must be handled comparatively cheaply, and our old warhorses is neither cheap to run nor economical to maintain. The bulk of freight traffic is in the north, but bush flying demands a high specialized type of aircraft too. Our repatriated wreck was never designed for skis or floats, the cabin door, which cannot be enlarged without seriously weakening the fuselage structure, is not big enough to admit a decent sized bale of fur, let alone the base of the bush pilot's life, a double decker bunk. And the only part of a diamond drill outfit that could be got in is the crew.

There remains the private owners field. But any private owner who can afford to run an aircraft which burns thirty or forty gallons of gas per hour can also afford one of the natty new models which will be available.

It appears then that there is no place in the skyways of the future for our old machine, so the logical thing to do is to reduce it to produce. The wings are largely glued together out of plywood. It was the very best kind of plywood, though very thin. But did you ever try to unstuck any of the jobs of an aircraft woodwork? You can bust anything except his joints. By the time you're through taking it apart you've spent hours and hours and have precious little to show for it. The only course left then is to burn it. The fuselage too may be plywood, if it's not a steel tube structure, welded up in a jig. Anyone (in peace time) want a bunch of steel tubing slightly used and in casual lengths?

The engines were very good, once. They were built at Coventry. But do you remember what happened to that unfortunate place? Jerry didn't leave long time, and then the U-boats took their toll of those that were shipped. You know that a car engine must be overhauled every few thousand miles to keep it in good shape; well these engines regularly did over a hundred thousand miles between what were loosely referred to as overhauls. The people who did these overhauls achieved as much as was humanly possible, but due to the lack of spares it became more of an inspection, cleaning, and re-assembling with the same parts. Nobody knows how many more hours some of these parts have run beyond what even the manufacturers believed at one time to be possible. Now they are to all intents and purposes worn out shells which look like engines. They are built of many kinds and grades of metals, and it may or may not be economically sound policy to recover them as scrap.

Much has been written about these aircraft which have been destroyed as "useless" having demonstrated their utility by flying to their last resting place. The foregoing will I hope, explain that.

But it is also true that an aircraft may be a wreck from some points of view, and still fly. It is nothing unusual for a time-expired machine to be delivered to a repair depot with instruments that do not work, oil lines taped up, threadbare tires, non-existent brakes, etc. But besides, there is a vast difference between what may in an emergency be used by the Air Force, and what is demanded by the Department of Transport, watching over the lives of the air travellers.

Different Here. In conclusion, the public have little to fear from the consequences of an intelligent program of destruction of old equipment. The big danger lies in the handling of usable equipment. There are many potential bargains, now especially in other flying equipment, and wherever there is an opportunity to get rich at government expense, there you will find the rogues. Moreover, this kind of transaction is easily covered and kept from the view of the general public, so J. Q. Citizen would be well advised to take his eyes off the bonfires long enough to consider the business of the buying and selling which may go on.

PUCE

(Crowded out last issue)

A joint meeting of the W. M. S. and Ladies' Association of St. Andrew's Church, Puce, was held at the home of Mrs. Albert Minieur, Thursday, 2:30 p.m., May 10th. After singing hymns 495, Mrs. J. Crozier opened with prayer. Mrs. Samuel Hamilton had the scripture reading, 46th Psalm. Mrs. Minieur had the offering prayer. Miss Catherine Bickerton very kindly invited all ladies to attend "Visit Our School Day," May 23rd, 1:30, at 4 p.m. A roll of honour will be dedicated to the boys in the Armed Forces who once attended the Puce school. The sectional meeting will be held May 30th, in the church parlours. Miss Lillian McArthur will be the speaker, and special music is being provided. A quilting bee is to be held in the church basement on Wednesday, May 16th, at 1 o'clock p.m. Ladies please attend. During the meeting readings were given by Mrs. Everett Hicks on the life of Dr. Jessie McBean, Canton, China. Mrs. A. Lefrier on the life of Dr. Margaret O'Hara, India; Mrs. J. Crozier, on the very sad life of Dr. Anne Judson. Mrs. Gordon Clickner gave the closing prayer, after which all repeated The Lord's Prayer and sang the national anthem. The June meeting will be Home Helpers with Mrs. A. Minieur in charge, to be held at the home of Mrs. J. Crozier. Mrs. Minieur served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Harry Oxford.

DON'T DO IT.

"Do not use gasoline for cleaning purposes, safe commercial substitutes are available. Remember, one gallon of gasoline is equal to 85 pounds of dynamite in destructive effect," warns a safety poster issued this month by the Industrial Accident Prevention Association.

The poster was sent out along with a memo to plant executives throughout Ontario. The memo advises, "the use of gasoline for cleaning purposes presents a distinct hazard and exposes the users of gasoline to a risk which is not justified on any account because safe commercial substitutes for cleaning purposes are available."

Can You Picture CANADA without Newspapers?

All of us should feel proud of the fine job newspapers are doing to keep all parts of the Dominion aware of the day's developments everywhere. It's a strong and free press, serving free people — one of the first things the dictators would suppress if they had the chance. And it would be hard to over-estimate the part played by Canada's 96 daily and 687 weekly papers in furthering the war effort.

We, of Greyhound Lines, are doing a job similar to that of the newspapers — linking various communities to each other and to the rest of the nation. At present, like all other transportation systems, we are taxed to capacity, but when the war is won we will have surprising improvements in bus travel for you.

The banns of marriage, were published for the first time, on Sunday, in St. Mary's Church, for Fred Ouellette and Laura Marentette.

Next Sunday morning, Trinity Sunday, at the 8:30 mass, the first Holy Communion class will receive their first communion with their parents.

Sgt. M. E. Humeau, of the R.C.A.M.C., who has spent a 22-day furlough at the home of his parents, R. R. 3, Essex, has returned to his duties at Halifax, where he is working as sanitary inspector for Military District No. 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Chapman and family moved on Thursday to their new home in Windsor. Their many friends and neighbours wish them the best of luck, and would like them to know that we will miss them.

The Shamrocks won their opening game on Sunday, against the Colored Giants, of Windsor. It was an ideal summer day, but the crowd was small. Gouin and Ewing were the home battery. Next Sunday local 195 will be the attraction and it should be a good game as this team played an exhibition game here this season. Be on hand to cheer the boys on to another victory.

Woodslee W. I. Cemetery Report.

Last year we did not have a caretaker for Jarrett cemetery, so did not send cards to the plot owners asking for financial assistance. However, we did receive the following donations: Mrs. N. Davis, $3; Mrs. A. Ackley, $2; Mrs. Chas. Balmard, $2; Silas Reeb, $2; Reeb family, $2. Total, $11.00. We paid out $4.20 for labour. This year we are glad to tell you that we have hired F. Paisley as caretaker.

We feel sure that the short time we have been without a caretaker makes everyone appreciate the work our Institute started several years ago. The committee wishes to thank all who have responded to our appeals in the past and ask your continued support this year.

St. Louis-Beahan Nuptials.

At an impressive double ring ceremony in the chapel of St. Joseph's Convent, Maidstone, the Rev. J. P. Gleeson united in marriage Miss Margaret Mary Monica Beahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Beahan, of Maidstone, and Joseph Ernest Eugene St. Louis, son of Mrs. John St. Louis, of Albert Road, Windsor, and the late Mr. St. Louis.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown, styled with a long bodice, a sweetheart neckline and a full skirt. Her floor-length veil was held in a cap and she carried a white prayer book, topped with white roses.

Miss Betty Halford, as maid of honour, wore a gold gown, styled identically to the bride's. Her headpiece was a net halo, and she carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and white sweet-peas.

Miss Rosemary and Miss Loyola Beahan, sisters of the bride, as bridesmaids, wore pastel green gowns, styled like the bride's. Their headpieces were similar to that of the maid of honour and they carried colonial bouquets of pink and tea roses, respectively.

Little Beverly Battersby as flower girl, wore white organdie, and Jack Battersby was ring bearer.

Bud Mitchell was best man and Arthur Marcotte and Homer Pensky were groomsmen. During the ceremony Mrs. Emmet McCarthy sang "Ave Maria," "Mother at Your Feet is Kneeling" and "On This Day."

A wedding breakfast for 25 guests followed at the home of the bride's parents and later a reception for 150 guests was held at the Bellevue, where the bride's table was centred with the three-tiered wedding cake in a bed of tulip and carnations.

Mrs. Beahan wore a navy blue sheer frock, with navy and white accessories and red roses for her daughter's wedding, and Mrs. St. Louis chose a navy crepe dress with matching accessories and red and white roses.

Later Mr. and Mrs. St. Louis left for Pembroke where they will take up residence.

PAQUETTE

Jimmy Shuel is on the sick list with scarlet fever.

Miss Maxine Kennedy, of Lambeth, is the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Edwards.

Neil Webster left on Friday for Toronto to take a course at the University there.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Taylor and son Jack were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Plato, at dinner, on Friday evening.

The Ladies' Guild of the Church of the Redeemer will meet at the home of Mrs. Percy Lounsbrough on Thursday afternoon, May 31st. All members are urged to attend.

Miss Norma Huggard, R.N., of Hamilton, and Pte. Edgar Huggard, of Ipperwash, spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Huggard.

Mr. and Mrs. George McNab, of Windsor, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford O'Neil on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jessop, of Paquette, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ivy Irene, to Reginald Thompson, of Dougall avenue, Windsor, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. M. Thompson, of Bentley, Alta., the wedding to take place on Saturday, June 9th, the Church of the Redeemer, Paquette.

Shamrock Chatter.

Wilf Greave's Maidstone Shamrocks in their first league game, defeated the Windsor Giants by a score of 12 to 3, behind the 8-hit pitching of Jerry Gouin. There was little doubt of the outcome of this game after the first inning, when the Rocks scored four times. Gouin had as his catcher the veteran "Daddy" Ewing, who is back with the Rocks this year. Daddy refused to let Gerry throw much stuff, and the classy right hander threw straight balls all day. Ewing, besides catching a sharp game, helped himself to a pair of hits and scored two runs.

Another highlight in this game was the fine display of short-stopping by Gouin. There is no doubt about the Rock's infield being much stronger this year. Queen proved that on Sunday, and after a few games, we look for one of the best double play combinations in O'Brien and Queen, in the county.

All in all, the Rocks look very good on defense, but we feel they could stand a lot more hitting. The coming Sunday they face Gordie Wright, Local 195 ace pitcher. Gordie has twice defeated Woodbine Lunch this season and the Lunchmen are supposed to be the powerhouse of the league, so the Shamrocks are in for a busy afternoon next Sunday. The game will be played on the Rock diamond and will be one of the outstanding games of the season, as it brings together two pitchers who can hold their own against any club in the county. It will be Gordie Wright and Jerry Gouin so come early and get a seat, and don't forget to drop two bits to the gateman. Surely it's worth that much to watch this game, and baseball equipment really takes money — so help the boys out.

Maidstone Takes Game.

Maidstone got off to a good start on Sunday, defeating the Windsor Colored Giants 12 to 3, the second straight loss for the Giants.

Eleven free passes and four errors by the Windsor team helped bring about defeat. Nevertheless Day, of the Giants led the team in hitting, with three out of four, one a double.

Marshall Jessop had an unassisted double play at first base, for Maidstone.

Baseball Notes.

Woodslee suffered their first defeat, on Sunday, losing to Leamington, by the score of 5 to 3. It was Woodslee's home game but had to be transferred to Leamington, because the home diamond was too wet. Some facts of the game: Woodslee battery—McHugh and Dunn. McHugh allowed 5 runs, 5 hits, walked 5 men and struck out 5 Leamington batters. Hillman, starting Leamington pitcher, allowed 4 hits, 3 runs, walked 3 and struck out 5 men in five innings, while the losers failed to get a hit off Bill Wagner in the 4 innings he worked and struck out 7 men. Joe Penner and Rose were the Leamington catchers.

In the Junior League Woodslee defeated Essex 7 to 3.

Second Sunday School Parade and Rally in Essex.

It was over just a year ago that a great interdenominational Sunday school parade and rally was held in the Town of Essex, under the auspices of the Baptist Church. The parade was held to honour the famous "Uncles" of "The Children's Bible Hour," leaders of the world's largest Sunday School of the air, who broadcast over a nation-wide network and are heard every Saturday morning over Station CKLW, from 11 to 12 o'clock.

The parade, at that time, was a great success, lead by a band any town would be proud of — the Essex Boys' Band — with our good Salvation Army band in the centre of the parade. Sunday schools from all parts of the county marched in order, with Boy Scouts, Cubs, Girl Guides and Brownies participating. Between 700 and 800 people took part in the afternoon spectacle.

Now the leaders of the C. B. H. are coming again next week-end, May 27th and 28th, and a greater parade than ever is being planned for Sunday afternoon, weather permitting. Already it is known that Sunday schools from Leamington, Wheatley, Tilbury, Chatham, Windsor, Kingsville and other distant points will take part, besides local Sunday schools.

Once more the Boys' Band will lead the parade, with the Salvation Army band, Scouts, Brownies, Cubs, etc., falling in line. This year each Sunday school will march behind its own banner and, to further improve the afternoon service, amplifying equipment will be installed in the United Church, loaned through the kindness of Charles Maedel. All paraders will wear C.B.H. tags, provided by the Baptist Church. Parade will start at 2.30 Sunday afternoon. If your Sunday school has not been previously notified, please consider this news notice a special invitation to come as a body to take part.

Orders Revoked.

Coincident with the announcement that 34 administrator's orders restricting the manufacture of various household appliances have been revoked, some of the warning from Board officers that goods affected will not immediately appear on the market. This is due to the fact that supplies, equipment and manpower necessary for production may not be available now nor for some time in the future. Among the goods which may now be manufactured are washing machines, vacuum cleaners, bicycles, commercial laundry and dry-cleaning equipment and commercial refrigeration equipment. Of special interest to women consumers is the announcement that synthetic materials which may be used in the production of girdles and other foundation garments.

Milking Records.

Keeping a milk production record of each cow is still worth while. It enables the farmer to feed each cow with the greatest efficiency, and it will point out skinny performers or cows that do not earn their feed.

Compete for Essex Holstein Show.

Representatives from Comber, Leamington and Harrow fairs were on hand at a meeting of the Directors of the Essex Holstein Breeders' Club held recently in connection with their fair. After considerable discussion, it was decided to hold the show at Leamington on September 25th.

It was decided that a special prize be awarded to the premier exhibitor at the show. Professor A. D. Runions of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, will be asked to judge with E. A. Innes, Brantford, as alternate. The club will make grants to the Harrow, Comber and Leamington Boys and Girls' Calf Clubs. The general feeling was expressed that this work was of particular value and deserved special attention.

Nurses Urgently Needed.

There is once again a great need for nursing personnel in Canadian Red Cross Outpost Hospitals, according to Miss F. L. McEwen, superintendent of the Field Nursing staff. The Ontario Division of Red Cross maintains 28 hospitals scattered throughout the northern section of the province. Any graduate of an accredited training school is qualified to apply, and may do so by getting in touch with Miss McEwen at 621 Jarvis street, Toronto. This is an excellent opportunity for any graduate nurse who would like further experience in the nursing field in the north west part of the province.

Save the Best Yearling Hens.

Save the best yearling hens for egg production in 1946 and also to produce more eggs in the fall of 1945 is the advice given by Canadian poultrymen by the poultry authorities of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Assurance has now been obtained that Britain will require eggs in 1946 in at least as great quantities as in 1945. The periods during which British wants shell eggs most are in the fall and in the winter and early spring. In the past six months Canada was able to make a fine contribution. A like contribution will be expected next fall and winter.

With fewer early chicks this year say the poultry authorities the prospects are not so bright. The alternative is to save and carry over yearlings into 1946. It is important that enough be carried over to make full pens, because pullets and yearlings do not go well together. Where individual producers have not enough to carry over, possibly two or more producers could arrange to put their yearlings together by purchase or otherwise. It is important that no laying birds be sent to market this year.

Plant Potatoes Early is Advice of Department.

"Plant potatoes early." That is the advice given to Ontario growers by R. E. Goodin, potato fieldman of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, as an objective to follow in their efforts to improve the demand and the market value of their product. As some late varieties require from 115 to 132 days to mature, it is important that these potatoes be planted early in order that the starch cells may develop fully and the skin set firmly before harvest. Immature potatoes bruise easily in handling, shrink more in storage and often cool darker than mature stock. Early planting will permit early harvesting, thus avoiding possible injury from early frost and allowing for the crop being dug under good conditions, which improves general appearance.

In order to speed up growth and development, potatoes intended for seed should be exposed to light by being spread out on the barn floor or in a green-sprouting room where there is not too much air circulation and the temperature is allowed to increase to 60 to 70 degrees. In ten days to two weeks time under favourable conditions, short green sprouts will develop. Green sprouted seed starts growth quickly when planted and is less subject to rotting than unsprouted seed. All tubers that do not show healthy sprouts should be discarded. As the potato crop develops best under cool, moist surroundings, planting at a depth of at least four inches is recommended. Under these circumstances there is less likelihood of the young plants being disturbed by tilage with the weeder or spike-toothed harrow.

Prevent Flies from Contaminating Food.

With the earlier than usual coming of warm weather, house flies will soon be swarming from manure and refuse piles to the house, carrying disease.

House flies breed in filth, particles of which adhere to their bodies. They deposit their eggs and the germs in it wherever they alight, on dishes, on food, and on the face of a sleeping child. Yet many people disregard this menace to the health of their families and only make half-hearted attempts to keep flies out of the home.

The farm homes most successful in preventing the entrance of house flies are those which pay attention to limiting the breeding grounds of this insect. Farmers, alert to the danger of the house fly, burn household garbage regularly and dispose of manure.

While this cleanliness reduces the number of flies on the farm, it still does not dispose of all of them. For this reason, the Dominion Department of Agriculture recommends that doors and windows should be screened and flies that find their way into the home should be promptly destroyed by fly swatters, sticky paper, poisoned fly pads and fly sprays.

1. On and after May 7th, call-ups for the Army are suspended.
2. Arrangements have been made that volunteers will be enrolled for the war in the Pacific, and there will be an opportunity for any men who wish to do so to volunteer for this service.
3. Any men ordered for medical examination who were due to report prior to May 7th, 1945, must do so and be medically examined; however, those who are found fit for the army will not be called for military service for the present.
4. Any men who have been called to report for military duty on May 7th, or on a prior date, who have not reported and are consequently delinquent, must do so and if found medically fit will be enrolled in the army.
5. Any men who have been called to report for military service on a date after May 7th, will be given transportation and sent home and will not be enrolled for Army service unless they volunteer for service in the Pacific.

If you hear a wise sentence or an apt phrase commit it to your memory. —Sir Henry Sidney.

Real Social Security or Rationed Scarcity?

To the political and economic reactionary, Social Security is something to be used as a bribe to win votes — a sop to soothe unrest. Social makeshifts of that kind are actually offered to-day as political substitutes for sound, economic planning for the post-war reconstruction of Canada.

To the State Socialist, on the other hand, Social Security is a bookish theory seeking to prove that poverty would be much more endurable if only it were much more general.

The Progressive Conservative Party is pledged to provide, without delay, a uniform and comprehensive social security programme for all Canadians, including:

- ✓Extended unemployment insurance coverage.
- ✓Adequate payments for the maintenance of unemployables.
- ✓Accident and sickness benefits.
- ✓Children's allowances.
- ✓Maternity benefits.
- ✓Widows' benefits.
- ✓Retirement pensions.
- ✓Increased old age pensions at age 65.
- ✓Increased pensions for the blind.

We are determined that Social Security shall no longer be regarded as a charity but as what it is—a social obligation and national responsibility of the very first magnitude and importance. Social Security must grow with prosperity—because the degree to which social services may be provided is determined by the size of the national income. We are pledged to maintain that income at a high prosperous level. It is against this background of plenty for all, that the Progressive Conservatives see Social Security.

Where any of these social services are administered provincially, we shall provide grants large enough to ensure adequate standards of social security for all Canadians.

Compare this positive and complete programme with the make-shift expedients of other parties. No other party can equal or even approach John Bracken's guarantee of security for all Canadians.

It's rational security—NOT rationed scarcity.

Local Team Wins Opener.

Essex won their opening game of the season, on their home diamond, on Sunday, by a score of 9 to 0. The game, originally scheduled for Stoney Point, had to be transferred to Essex because of wet grounds. Fleming, of Essex, struck out 16 men and allowed only 2 hits.

900,000 NEW JOBS.

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.

Nine hundred thousand more jobs than there were in 1939! This is certainly a dramatic enough idea to reconstruction program presented in a recent White Paper that the Mon. C. D.

Howe, Minister of Reconstruction, offered to Parliament as the preliminary budget for the reconstruction years.

With this number of new jobs, the enlarged military and naval personnel that will undoubtedly remain for a good many years to come, and with the natural drift of women workers back to more domestic occupations,

there seems little doubt that our present level of prosperity could be maintained even in the face of the many problems of reconstruction.

There is encouragement in the fact that in presenting the necessity of finding these many jobs, the government is not proposing to find them in businesses or occupations promoted under government control for the major portion of providing jobs. It does propose, however, to plan for necessary or desirable public projects that shall be able to supplement other sources of employment in localities that will feel the immediate effect of sharp curtailment of wartime exports. At the same time, the White Paper states emphatically that the postwar employment problem is not to be solved by huge expenditures on public works.

The policy of the government will be to encourage the use of capital in business and industrial operations

the harassed taxpayer—Liberty Magby low interest rates and by allowing azine.

Essex Town Council.

Monday, May 28th.
Council met in regular session, in the Council chamber, at 8 p.m., with Mayor Francotte, Reeve Doyle and Councillors Chase, Shaw, Cascarden, Skinner, Hines and Hutchinson present.

The Clerk read a letter, addressed to the Mayor and Council, from D. J. Fletcher, of Windsor, District Representative of the Retail Gasoline and Automotive Service Assn., enclosing a petition signed by 90 per cent of the Service Station operators in Essex, requesting that Essex Council pass a bylaw to close all retail gasoline outlets in town every Thursday afternoon, from 12:30 in the afternoon to 6 o'clock Friday morning following.

Mr. Fletcher was present and addressed council on the request, stating that the Government was soon going to lift the present hours of 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Sunday closing and that service station operators would again be facing long hours. He also expressed on Council that closing on Thursday afternoons, by council's agreement just never works satisfactorily and that the only fair way was to close all stations, by law. He advised that Ross Riddell, of Windsor, was the Association's collector, and that Council, according to law, had 30 days to consider and grant the petitioners' wish.

Mayor Francotte stated he was very much opposed to passing the bylaw, stating he thought one station should remain open, taking turns. Mr. Fletcher, in answering the Mayor, stated he could readily see the Mayor's viewpoint, but under the present statutes, this was impossible. If a bylaw was to be passed.

A lengthy discussion followed, but no action taken.

Minutes were read and adopted. Ed. Stokely addressed Council re future plans for his company. He stated that he had purchased the property formerly owned by Naylor Lumber Co., between the Colonial Cannery property and the Vasey property. He had two requests to ask of Council. First, his Company would like permission to close that part of Station street from the boundary already closed and decided to the Colonial Cannery, northerly even with their lot line, with Mr. Bridge's property. They owned the property on all three sides. If town would grant the request they propose to pay for this piece of land and build a covered platform to receive their pea crop and later tomatoes. Naturally his Company would pay the legal costs, but he would like Council's approval so they could go ahead with their building plans. Secondly, when the new Scratch street, which had a small gap in it. These two pieces are of great value to anyone and were evidently overlooked by the Company's Engineer. They propose fencing in their property and find they will have to have a piece of this land as their property line is, at present, in the centre of the M. C. R. spur.

As regard to first request, on motion of Messrs. Hines and Cascarden, Council unanimously voted in favour of Company going ahead with their building scheme and Mr. Geddes, Town Solicitor, who was present, was authorized to take the necessary legal steps to close the part of Station street requested. In regard to second request Mr. Stokely was advised to get in touch with Mr. Wright, who owns the adjoining property, and then come back to Council.

Bylaw No. 1106, authorizing the closing of Scott street and dealing over same to Harry Hutchinson, was passed.

Bylaw No. 1107, re accepting deed from Harry and Alice Hutchinson, of all of lot 5, plan 232, for an alley to replace Scott street as an outlet to Laird avenue, was read and passed. This land is the present driveway used by public into Mr. Hutchinson's ice and Cold Storage plant.

Bylaw 1108, authorizing the closing of Elizabeth street and part of Harvey street and dealing the land to the Board of Education, was passed.

Mayor Francotte stated that he had talked to Mr. Coombe re passing bylaw, so that municipal elections for 1946 could be held this fall, nonunification day on November 26th, with election day the first Monday in December, December 3rd.

Mr. Geddes advised this could be done and was requested to get the necessary bylaw prepared to be passed by Council.

On motion of Messrs. Shaw and Doyle, the following accounts were passed: Board of Education, B. H. S., $2,000; Essex Separate School, pt. demand, $800; Essex Library Board, part grant, $200; Treasurer County Essex, 1/2 hospital expenses, April, $77.13; K. E. Brett, salary, $91.66; H. On Saturday last Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hall received an air mail letter from their daughter, Mrs. Edna Hall, in Indo China. They were fairly well when Mr. Hall wrote, although she and her son, George, had been under the doctor's care during the winter. The whole family was returned from June 1943 and January 1945. This experience and the 10-day journey, mostly on foot back to their home, were difficult. The daughter's letter will be printed at a later date.

Mr. Hines reported on Hanton street drain—Left with Mr. Hines, with power to act.

It was reported that the shallow ditch on the easterly side of Albert street, about the middle of the block was being used as a dump and was full of tin cans and rubbish.

Mr. Hutchinson stated he would see that this spot was cleaned up.

Mr. Cascarden reported that water laid for days after every rain, on the north side of the pavement on Alice street, some hundred feet from Brien avenue, and that he thought a catch basin was the only remedy.

On motion of Messrs. Doyle and Cascarden, the Clerk was instructed to write the Division Engineer of the Ontario Department of Highways, at Chatham, requesting that the Department repair and properly drain No. 3 Highway through town.

The matter of cleaning up the remains of the stump, in Mrs. T. B. S. Tweed's yard, was referred to Mr. Skinner.

The filling up of the hole left in the town park, when the large tree was recently blown out by its roots, was left with the Board of Works.

Chief Harrison stated that parking zones for angle parking, should be marked off in front of the Essex Dairies.

W. H. Richardson Critically Ill.

We learn from Everett Richardson, as we go to press, that he had just received a long distance call from his sister Ada (Mrs. N. Davies) in Toronto, informing him that their father, W. H. Army and his wife, of Putski, N.Y., called on the former's mother, John Montgomery, and his family, of Cottam, on Friday of last week on their way through Canada to Mrs. Hadley's home in Milwaukee, Wis. Hadley has some great experiences to relate. He was a member of Patton's Army, in Germany, when taken prisoner of war, and was a prisoner only 30 days before being captured by members of Patton's army. He says that for two or three odd days of the thirty days they were marched continuously back and forth, day and night, and that they were in a building in the city. It will take years and years, it is even, before it can be built.

Trutone White

Trutone White House Paint starts white — stays white. It's made with titanium dioxide, the pigment that's even whiter than snow! It stays white because —

IT'S SELF-CLEANING!

C-I-L Trutone White is so formulated that, as time goes by, a microscopically fine white powder forms on the surface. Heavy rains wash this powder away, taking dust and dirt with it, and leaving the surface clean and white again. Because this "self-cleaning" is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not affected.

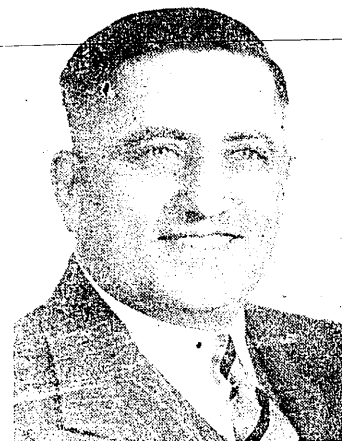

As durable as it is beautiful, C-I-L Trutone White House Paint protects against rust, rot and decay — gives lasting beauty and protection. Yet it costs less than other good paints. See your painter today — ask him what he thinks of Trutone White — $4.75 a gallon.

TWILIGHT OF THE GODS.

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.

A little more than a generation ago the world had almost come to accept the values that the German people had set upon themselves. As one of the newest comers among the great nations, Germany's history — both military and civil — combined with a sublime self-confidence seemed to assure her an outstanding place among the nations.

No one would question her achievements. In medicine, in art, in literature, and music the sons of Germany had made their outstanding place. Her scientists were pioneering new and progressive ways, and her industrialists were taking the dreams and making them real. These things should have been for the world's good, just as Magna Charta was the charter of all human progress.

But in Germany the pattern was different. On her hero worship of the gods there grew up a subservience to a class, the very click of whose heels drove the underlings to submission, obedience. Her music, her philosophy, her literature held a pagan note, and in the achievements of her doctors and scientists and industrialists there was the inescapable hint that Germany considered herself better than the rest of the world and looked at mankind with an arrogance only partially obscured by the deluding picture of gentleness, home-loving, devoted German peasants with which we have been made familiar.

Yet the picture was real enough in certain ways, for Germany has had a curious capacity for confusing herself with half-virtues. We have been told that Hitler, the unspeakable, is a devoted husband and father; that Goering has a real love for the arts. Even if true, it is only an example of this quirk of German character. Josef Kramer was a lover of children. He was also commandant of the recently captured Belsen concentration camp where the starved dead totaled more than thirty thousand. Let him be a witness. It is the same Kramer who as commandant of the Polish camp at Auschwitz had children taken from Garden Insects and Control.

Some years insects on some particular crops may be quite troublesome and cause great losses, if proper spraying or dusting is not done on time. On the other hand, if vegetable growers practised good cultural methods, the fight against insects would be much easier, says C. E. Ste. Marie, Dominion Experimental Station, L'Assomption, Que. It is important to keep the garden soil in a healthy condition by growing crops in rotation. It is also important to give the soil preparation their mother's arms and burned to death: the same Kramer who loved music, who had his own private orchestra at Auschwitz to play for him the lovely Strauss waltzes, and while he listened, men and women and children were being herded into the gas ovens at his order. It was this Kramer who told his captors, at this camp of starving horror at Belsen, that his wife and three children lived with him there so that he could steal away from his awful work and, with his wife, "romp with his children in the garden among the flowers." Kramer had no eye for contrasts. The man who could romp with his children in a flower garden could not be touched by the dreadful suffering of his own devising. He believed in God, he said, but he could not hear God's terrible wrath calling from the blood-soaked ground.

Sentimentalists, good husbands and fathers these Germans, but the followers of such cruel gods that they could turn from their children and on an order or a whim commit unbelievable brutalities without a qualm.

There is an inevitability about such wickedness. Ironically enough it is the children who are ringing down the curtain on Old Germany's brutal tragedy. Remember the Allied soldier who stepped to offer a chocolate bar to a pathetic urchin of ten, and who received a knife in his stomach for his softness? Death for the fatherland! This is the new Gottredammerung. In the roar of the guns that surround Germany she can sense the twilight of her gods. And the world can see the death throes of a nation that might have been so great, whose greatness now is only the snarling vindictiveness of a tattered corps of children—Liberty Magazine.

W. D. CONKLIN

Progressive Conservative Candidate, Dominion
ESSEX, SOUTH

WILLIAM D. CONKLIN, Kingsville, lawyer and newspaperman, is the progressive Conservative candidate in Essex South.

Son of William T. Conklin and Loretta Thornton, he was born at Kingsville, June 27th, 1911. He received his preliminary education at Kingsville public and high schools. Entering the Commerce and Finance course at the University of Toronto, he graduated from Victoria College in 1933, winning the James medal. At Columbia University, New York, he specialized in banking, business cycles, taxation and farm economics.

Returning to Toronto, Bill Conklin, as he is known to everyone, studied at Osbourne Hall while continuing graduate studies at the University, and lecturing in the University Extension Department. He was called to the Bar in 1937 and returned to Kingsville to become a partner in the law firm of Goodeve & Conklin, later forming the firm of Conklin & Karry, of which he is the senior partner.

For several years he has been co-publisher and associate editor of the Essex County Reporter. He has written a considerable number of pamphlets and articles dealing with Canadian economic and social problems, and a series of articles on the re-establishment of servicemen.

His pamphlet "Comments on the Port Hope Proposals" wielded a considerable influence at the Winnipeg Convention in December 1942, which he attended and at which he served on the Party's policy committee.

Conklin's work in community organizations has been extensive. He has been publicity chairman for Victory Loan and Red Cross drives. He is a member of the High School Board and of the Boy Scout Committee.

He has served as president of the Kingsville Progressive Conservative Association, Secretary of the Essex South Progressive Conservative Association, and as Dominion Secretary of the Young Progressive Conservatives of Canada.

In the Ontario Provincial election in 1943, Mr. Conklin came to the front as a Progressive Conservative organizer. His organizing had a great deal to do with the election of a Progressive Conservative in Essex South. His articles, too, were used by the Party throughout Ontario. During the summer of 1944, he spent three weeks in Western Canada on a speaking tour, presenting the Party's views and leading discussions in Canadian economic and social problems.

His wife is the former Ida May Clare. They have three children: Annetta, David and William Earl.

The candidate volunteered for active military service but was rejected. He is making his contributions to public affairs as the second best thing he can do in a time of national crisis.

required by deep ploughing, thorough disk and proper drainage. Cultivate the crops when needed, more particularly to keep down weeds. In order to prevent their spread, all refuse after harvest should be cleaned up and burned in the spring before starting operations. Often it is necessary to induce and help neighbours to cut down the neighbourhood crops. Slow-growing, sickly-looking plants in plantations should be pulled up and destroyed.

In spite of taking all possible precautions, vegetable growers may have to fight insects persistently. To do so effectively, effective insecticides and good equipment in the best working order should always be available. While every grower cannot be an entomologist, it would seem just common sense that people who spend time and money to grow vegetables should take the time to become acquainted with the most common insects which attack garden crops. In order to be able to fight them most successfully and economically.

When seeding or transplanting onions, cabbage or cauliflower, treat the seed or dust the roots of the plants with calomel, against maggots.

Leaf-eating insects, such as beetles, are generally controlled by spraying or dusting the plants with poisoned Bordeaux Mixture. Sucking insects, such as aphids, can be controlled by the application of a nicotine spray or dust.

Insects, such as cutworms, can be controlled by the application of a nicotine spray or dust.

Insects, such as cutworms, can be controlled by the use of a poisoned bran mash bait, spread thinly on the ground in the evening.

To harvest good carrots for the winter supply free from insect injury, seed should be sown as late as the end of June. If this is done carrots that are well developed and free from damage by the carrot rust fly will be produced.

More detailed information on the control of garden insects can be obtained from the nearest Experimental Station: the Dominion Entomological Laboratory, St. Jean, P.Q., or the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. When writing ask for special pamphlets Nos. 75 and 45, Wartime Production Series.

Newsprint Production to be Increased.

Largely the result of the response of farm workers and others to appeals that they work in woods during the winter months the production of wood-pulp has been increased in Canada. According to an announcement by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board it is now possible to confirm previous estimates that wood supplies will permit an overall increase of between five and six per cent commencing with the third quarter. There will be little change from the current supply situation of paper and paperboard, with the exception of newsprint, whose production will be increased. Much paper and paperboard is required for the needs of the Pacific War and the packaging of foods and other essentials.

Windsor Meat Sales.

To maintain a stabilized supply and distribution of meat and fowl in the Windsor area and to fulfill commitments to the United States Armed Forces, all exports of meat and live and dressed fowl from the Port of Windsor are now under permit control. Action was taken following the request of Mayor Arthur Reamue and the City Council of Windsor where recently there has been an increase in the number of buyers from Detroit, whose total reached 75,000 in one day recently. No permit will be granted for individual purchases. Commercial exports will be dealt with on their merits. In announcing the export control, the Hon. J. L. Halsey, acting prime minister, stated, "in addition to the problems of the Windsor area, the Dominion government has a commitment to supply 20 million pounds of poultry to the United States Armed Forces. The large increase in retail purchases, which has taken place in the Windsor area has had the effect of diverting necessary supplies of poultry from the United States Army."

Change in Selective Permits for Women Workers.

A change in the Selective Service job permit system as affecting women workers, is announced by Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour.

For some time Selective Service Regulations have specified that both men and women require the permission of Selective Service before approaching employers about jobs, and employers have been required to have Selective Service permission before discussing an engagement with applicants.

The change being put into effect immediately is to convert the present permit system into plan which (a) will require that separations of women from payrolls must be reported by employers and women too, and (b) when a new position is located and new engagement made the fact shall be reported.

The Labour Minister made it clear that there is no change being made at present in regard to the regulations covering men. Male applicants for employment will still require Selective Service permits before they may legally look for jobs.

The objective is to continue to have in the offices of the Employment Service complete information and particulars of vacant positions available in Canada, and also details regarding applicants (including women) available to fill them. Experience has proven that the best way to attain that objective is to have both separations from employment and placements reported.

Under the new plan a woman may either report at the Employment office when separated from a position, and obtain a permit to seek a new job, or where she wishes provided she reports when she has started in a new position or, in the alternative, a woman may locate a position and accept it. If she reports the facts within three days of being hired by an employer.

Selective Service control over advertising for women applicants will also be lifted for the present, but employers wishing to secure male workers through advertising will still require Selective Service authority to advertise.

"With the termination of hostilities in Europe," Hon. Mr. Mitchell stated, "the government is desirous of relaxing any wartime control which is not further required. Although there still real labour shortages, it is felt that as an experiment the relaxation of Selective Service control over women seeking employment may now be tried out on an experimental basis. If the relaxation in so far as women is concerned does not adversely affect the general situation and there is no reason to believe that it will — then consideration will be given to making permanent the change in the permit system covering women. We consulted the National Selective Service Advisory Board — which represents trade unions, employers, agriculture, veterans and others — and the Board favoured trying out this change in our permit system."

The Labour Minister added that the Regulations requiring women who are unemployed for seven days to maintain a live resignation at the employment office while still out of work, would continue, and seven days' notice of separation will still be necessary, where women are leaving employment.

Also, the Minister stressed, employers are still required by Selective Service, to report any employment vacancies, whether for men or women, or any impending layoffs, to the nearest Employment Office.

Good Pasture for Growing Chicks.

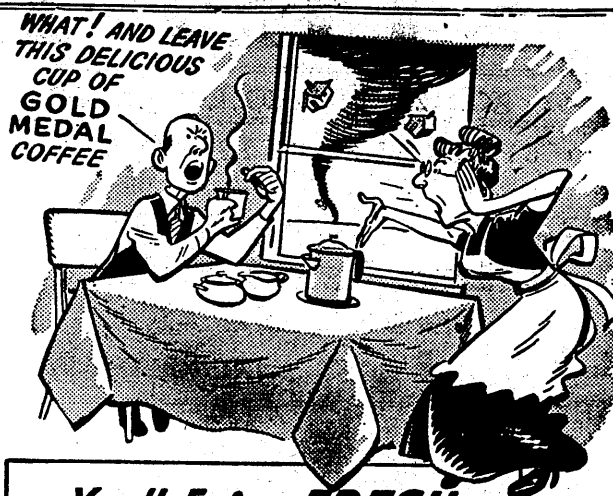

The true worth of good pasture for poultry should never be overlooked, in fact it has been rightly said that a good range is the poultry man's safest assurance of adequate nutrition, says W. T. Scott, Head Poultryman, Dominion Experimental Station, Harrow, Ontario.

The benefit that the flock will derive from free range will depend to a great extent on the kind of the pasture and the amount of care that it receives. Some grasses are more palatable than others and may be consumed in greater quantity on this account but probably due to their higher nutritional value as well as their attractive succulence clovers and alfalfa are more readily sought and enjoyed.

To some extent the nature of the pasture provided will be governed by local conditions but as far as the poultry are concerned the care and management of the range should be about the same.

Permanent range should not be used for poultry more than once in three years or it may become infested with parasites or polluted. It should not be overgrown or the birds will be deprived of the young tender shoots that form a valuable and essential part of their diet. Frequent mowing will promote the growth of the pasture and encourage wider ranging from the much-used and perhaps infested areas around the shelters, reducing the risk of infection and building up a resistance to disease. Mowing may be considered somewhat of a task but the benefits derived far outweigh the cost.

For the best assimilation of their grain ration the birds require this abundant supply of succulent roughage, rich in vitamins, proteins and minerals, and due attention to the upkeep of the range will prove to be sound economy by saving feed and by increasing the capacity of the range. One acre of good range kept in good condition should support at least 400 birds.

Security with Freedom!

Your Vote on June 11th can bring lasting security to your work, your home, your family!

Security for your WORK

Here are some of the definite, practical steps taken by the Liberal Government to give security to home and family by assuring well-paid post-war jobs for everyone:

For Veterans — The most generous plan of any United Nation to get returned men started in the type of work each of them chooses. The Liberal Government is determined that every man and woman coming home to Canada shall return to the land of greatest opportunity in the world.

For Workers — About a third of all Canadians depend on exports for their livelihood. Liberal plans provide for increasing our exports 60% in value over those of 1939.

For Farmers — Acting on the belief that all Canadians prosper when farmers do, the Liberal Government has arranged that they can improve their farms and equipment under a new loan plan and has arranged to put a floor under the prices of farm and fishery products.

To stimulate employment for all, the Liberal Government has created a special Department of Reconstruction which is now in operation and which will co-ordinate private and public enterprise.

Security for your HOME

The Liberals believe that the home is the heart of the nation. They aim to give Canadians every possible facility to build and furnish better homes! With Government assistance you can build a home in the country, town or city. This will make jobs for the building trades, and those who make building supplies — and those who manufacture household equipment and furniture.

New Homes for Canadians — The Liberal Government's new $400,000,000 National Housing Act, now on the statute books, enables hundreds of thousands of Canadians to get money at low interest and on long, generous terms to build, renovate or enlarge their own homes. Now that Germany is defeated, plans are already in operation for at least 50,000 dwellings.

Other practical, workable measures for the security of your home are the Liberal Government's laws for Unemployment Insurance and liberal Old Age Pensions.

The Liberals believe in doing what can be done, as soon as it can be done. If returned to power on June 11th, they will carry on and expand the sound, constructive work already started.

Security for your FAMILY

Family Allowances — Starting in July, parents who benefit least from income tax exemptions will receive Family Allowance cheques every month to help them get better food, clothing, shelter and education for their children so they can grow into healthy, vigorous Canadian citizens. These cheques will amount to between $200,000,000 and $250,000,000 a year. As direct spending power, this will do much to help in achieving the Liberals' objective of full employment.

Health — A National Health Plan will ensure that everybody shall be taken care of while they are sick and the best measures medical science can devise shall be employed to prevent disease.

Despite the efforts of Drew, Bruce, Bracken and other reactionaries, the Liberals are determined that human interests, the needs of men, shall be placed before "business as usual".

The Liberals have faith in Canada, a united country, and in their ability to continue to build, with your support, a more abundant life and greater opportunities for Canadians.

Help build this new order of security with freedom. Protect the social gains already made. Vote for your Liberal candidate on June 11th.

W. C. MacDonald Makes Campaign Speech.

The following is the text of a speech made by W. C. MacDonald, C.C.F. Federal candidate for East Essex, speaking at Comber on Monday, May 28th.

Mr. Martin made a big issue of the corn situation in his first election in 1935, but he isn't so anxious to discuss the corn problem now. He knows that in the past ten years his government has done nothing to help the growers and that his promises of 1935 remain unfulfilled.

In 1935 Mr. Martin wanted about the farmer's plight in having lost their markets due to heavy imports of South African corn. But when the Liberal government flooded the country with Argentine corn he was "strangely inattentive". Mr. MacDonald pointed out that in 1936 the government had, with a justifiable reason or excuse, removed the 2½ per cent tariff on corn as a favour to the Toronto Elevator Co., importers of Argentine corn. By this deal the treasury was robbed of $2,500,000, and "inasmuch as corn prices to the commercial users of corn did not drop correspondingly the importers benefitted directly to the extent of $2,600,000."

Mr. Martin has not answered this charge because he has no answer. In the same year the farmers of Essex East had to export part of their crop to the United States and paid 25¢ per bushel out of their pockets for the privilege of doing so.

Where are the storage and drying facilities promised by Mr. Martin in 1925? All the government did was to establish a testing station at Chatham in 1938 which, according to a press report at the time, Mr. Martin admitted was not the answer.

Mr. MacDonald read extracts from Hansard of 1941 in which the Minister of Agriculture admitted "that storage facilities were necessary and admitted that there must be improved shipping facilities and drying facilities." In the House of Commons Mr. Martin has "hoped" from time to time for the same things. "I say to you farmers of Essex East that your problems are not solved by 'hopes' and 'admissions' but by action. The Liberal government cannot give you these facilities because its soul is in hock to the big interests."

Why was the new soy bean processing plant not built in the soy bean growing area? Mr. MacDonald explained that Victory Mills a $2,500,000 soy bean processing plant was built at Toronto, by Canadian Breweries Ltd., a firm which is headed by E. P. Taylor, a good friend of Mr. Howe. This plant was built in 1943 and Howe arranged the building material priorities. "What business have the brewery interests in soy bean processing, except for what profits they can extort from the grower. Why was the plant not built in Essex County and thus save the farmers money in freight rates and at the same time diversify local industry? Soy bean products are just coming in to their own. They are used in food manufacturing, paint manufacture, plastics which, after the war, will be used extensively in the auto industry. This is the logical area in which to establish a soybean processing plant."

PAUL MARTIN

Canada's Secretary of State

Merits Your Vote Of Confidence

Paul Martin is now recognized as one of Canada's outstanding men. His ability, his sincerity have brought him recognition that comes to but few men. He is now the Secretary of State for Canada — and his appointment to the Cabinet won praise from all corners of the country, even from the Opposition leaders in Parliament . . . In the June 11th election, he is the choice of Labour, Farmer and "white collar" worker . . . and this is not surprising. Paul Martin is a man who gets things done . . . as the people of East Essex know . . . He is the leader in the very effective Returned Mens' Rehabilitation program . . .

He stands for and is winning better marketing conditions for farmers and better Labor representation . . . He believes in social advancement for the common man — and is an advocate of equal educational and working opportunities for all regardless of race, religion and politics. In short — he merits an overwhelming majority on June 11th.

and alfalfa have yielded slightly lower than the red clover and the cost was correspondingly higher. Barley yielding 41 bushels of grain and 1½ tons of straw cost $31.18 per acre and $23.42 per ton of digestible nutrient while a 53 bushel crop of oats cost $20.78 per acre and $25.69 per ton of digestible nutrients. Hood crops are comparatively expensive crops to grow. Corn which grows well at Ottawa, yielding 16.90 tons per acre was produced at a cost of $61.51 per acre. The high yield of this crop, however, helps to reduce the cost of digestible nutrients which were produced at a cost of $27.36 per ton. The total digestible nutrients in mangels, on the other hand, is relatively low and a 23 ton crop of mangels cost $86.55 per acre and $52.20 per ton of digestible nutrients.

It is thus clearly demonstrated that pasture is a very economical feed. In parts of Quebec and in the Maritime Provinces, where climatic conditions are more favourable for pasture production and perhaps less favourable for some of the other crops, the difference in cost in favour of pasture is even more accentuated. Fertilization, good management of the livestock, improving the sward by cultivation and seeding will usually increase production and lower costs. It pays to produce good pasture.

Institute for Blind has Big Job to Do.

There are 12,854 blind men, women and children in Canada. In Ontario there are 4,013. In a recent statement, Lieut.-Col. E. A. Baker, managing director of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind gave these figures and pointed out that the business of providing many different types of service for such a large number required a great deal of organization and a considerable sum of money.

When asked what these blind Canadians did and how the Institute helped them, Colonel Baker stated that 1,242 of them were regularly employed in the factories and offices of the Institute. In jobs found for them by the Institute's placement officers in private industry, and in concession stands and cafeterias operated by the C.N.I.B. He went on to say that, in the larger centres at least, practically all blind men and women capable of regular employment were working. There were, however, he said, a great many blind men and women not fitted for regular work and large numbers of these were put in a position to do part-time work either in their own homes or in one of the Institute's plants.

Colonel Baker declared that the public sometimes seemed to think that the Canadian National Institute for the Blind was only interested in finding employment for blind people. That was, of course, he said, one of the most important features of the Institute's work, but there were thousands of blind people in the country who needed other services and the provision of these was by no means the least of the Institute's activities. He told of the case of an elderly lady in a small Ontario town. The lady was too old to work. She had some means. She was active in mind and body and was looking forward to a very sad and uninteresting life when first called upon by an Institute representative. Now she is reading Braille, listening to "The Talking Book," weaving, knitting, doing her own housework, taking piano lessons — leading a happy and useful life. Though blind, she is, through the opportunities brought to her by the C.N.I.B., taking her place in her little town.

It was the aim of the Institute, said Colonel Baker, to bring to every blind person every type of service and give them every kind of assistance, which would compensate them, in some cases, it was simply a question of giving them a few necessary comforts. In others it was a case of teaching them, training them, reviving them. "The word 'rehabilitation' is somewhat overdone these days," said the Colonel, "but we have scored many one successes in actually rehabilitating blind people, and there is no limit to what we can do for the blind of Canada if the necessary funds are placed in our hands.

Sugar Ration Cut.

Bringing the per capita allowance of Great Britain, the United States and Canada to the same level, the sugar ration for this country has been cut for civilian consumers, Armed Forces, biscuit and breakfast cereal manufacturers, soft drink manufacturers and quota users such as restaurants and hotels. The Canadian consumer ration will be cut five pounds with the first reduction of one pound in June. A similar reduction will be made in July and August. The September allowance will be two pounds, one pound will be taken from the October and December allowances and the November ration will remain at two pounds.

The home canning allotment of 20 preserves coupons will be left intact and the two regular preserves coupons will continue to be valid each month. The interchangeable use of preserves coupons will continue to be permitted. According to ration officials this procedure has been useful in providing a fair balance between rural and urban communities. Oftentimes the rural housewife does not have commercial preserves available to the same extent as in urban communities. When this is the case the rural housewife is free to exchange her preserves coupons for a supply of sugar enabling her to increase her home canning products.

The benefit of proverbs or maxims, is that they separate those who act on principle from those who act on impulse; and they lead to promptness and decision in acting.—Tryon Edwards.

He was assigned to the U. S. S. Abele, when it was launched on July 4th, 1944.

He participated in the invasions of Eniwetok, Tinian, Saipan, Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

Earl, who was 21 years of age, received his early education in the township school and Essex High, finishing his schooling at Mt. Clemens, Mich., High in 1942, where he has an honor graduate.

Surviving, besides his parents, are five sisters, Norma (Mrs. Jack Palm-croft) and Bernice (Mrs. R. L. Baker) of Detroit; Irma (Mrs. Lloyd Hill), Helen (Mrs. Wm. Bridges), both of Essex; and Miss Doris at home and three brothers, Russell, of Maidstone Township; Paul, of Essex, and Pte. Jesse, a member of Patton's 3rd Army, in Australia.

Jackson-Thornton Wedding.

A very quiet wedding ceremony, solemnized in Napoleon, Ohio, on Saturday, May 26th, by Rev. John Heilbeck, Ethel Clair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thornton, of Essex, was united in marriage to Royce Jackson II, of Rochester, Mich. Following a honeymoon in New York City, they will reside in Rochester.

Stephen Gascoyne Passes.

Stephen Gascoyne, one of the real old timers of Cottam, passed away on Tuesday, May 26th. He had been in failing health for the past ten years. Deceased was born in Bimbrook, Ont. on October 3rd, 1863, a son of the late Robert Gascoyne and Mary Ann Hornshaw, but came to Cottam with his parents, when but a child. He was a painter and decorator by trade and never married.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Ellen Souley and Miss Mary Gascoyne, of Essex, and a brother Fred, of Detroit. Funeral services were held from the Hicks & Son Funeral Home, Essex, on Thursday afternoon, in charge of Rev. Stanley Johnston. Burial was in the family plot in Cottam Cemetery.

Goodburn-Harrison Nuptials.

A wedding of wide interest was solemnized, at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, at the Brewster Pilgrim Congregational Church, Detroit, when the Rev. Dr. Charles Goudy united in marriage Miss Betty Jean Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Harrison, of Detroit, formerly of Leamington, and William Goodburn, of the R. C. N. V. R., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Goodburn of North Ridge. Before the ceremony Miss Edith McCoy sang "I Love You Truly," and "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of white lace and marquisette, made on Princess lines, with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves, forming points on her hands, and her skirt extended out into a train. Her veil, over the face, was held to her head by a Juliet cap, studded in orange blossoms, and she carried white lily of the valley, white stephanotis and a white orchid in the centre, which was later used as a corsage.

Miss Patricia Peyriss, of Detroit, as maid of honour, wore a floor length gown of white jersey, with a shirred bodice, V shaped neckline, three-quarter length sleeves pushed up to allow for the long purple gloves and a bouffant skirt of white net. Her headpiece, a band of natural flowers, was made of purple Japanese orchids, and she carried a bouquet of the same, and white sweet peas.

Miss Eulalia Hever, Miss Frances Goodburn, sister of the groom, and Miss Barbara Queen, as bridesmaids, wore identical dresses, headpieces to the maid of honour, and carried deep purple Japanese orchids. The flower girl, Miss Patricia Brooks, wore a long white dress, short sleeves, square neckline, and a pink ribbon tied about her waist. Her headpiece was similar, of pink roses and white carnations, and she carried a little colonial bouquet of the same. Clifford Stockwell was best man, and the ushers were Marty Young and Lionel Gallipau.

Mrs. Harrison wore for her daughter's wedding a gown of pale blue crepe with a matching hat, white gloves and pink carnations, and Mrs. Goodburn was in a pale blue and white two-piece dress and wore a white hat, gloves and red shoes.

A reception for ninety guests in the church lounge followed, the bride's table being centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, flanked by burning tapers. Later, some of the guests returned to the bride's home to see her wedding gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodburn left later for New York City, the bride travelling in a tuxedo and black dressmaker suit, tuxedo hat, and black coat. She will return to the East Coast with her husband when he reports back to duty.

Tenth Blood Donor Clinic.

The 10th Blood Donor Clinic in Essex will be held in the United Church on Wednesday, June 20th. Until the war in the Far East is won, there will be wounded men and women whose lives may be saved by our blood. A large number of previous donors have been repeaters, some being present at every or nearly every opportunity. And here is another opportunity to take a vital part in standing by the brave fighting forces who have offered their lives in the defense of our freedom. The writer was in conversation very recently with a soldier who was wounded in France in the drive against Hitler's fortress. Blood plasma was administered several times and had a lot to do with saving his life. It was good then to be a donor. The soldier, too, was a donor, as were many of the service men while in England. If they give, we too should give. Many will, of course, be back again at the clinic on the 20th, but new donors are urgently needed. Be a donor.

Essex to Have Automatic Gates

M. C. R. workmen are busy at the Talbot street crossing in town, installing electric automatic gates. The gates will replace the present wig-wag and when the train enters the block, they will automatically drop down in front of the traffic and remain down until the trains are out of the block, when they will lift. This certainly should mean an end to accidents at this level crossing.

William H. Boos Passes.

William H. Boos, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Boos, passed away at his home in Clarkson, Mich., on May 29th.

Surviving are his widow, five sons and three daughters; also three brothers, Herman and Otto, of Paquette, and Joseph, of Essex, and two sisters, Lily (Mrs. Percy Roadhouse), of Paquette, and (Ida) Mrs. A. P. Thompson, of Windsor.

Celebrates 25th Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Spencer, who live on No. 3 Highway, about 2 miles north of Essex, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Friday, June 1st, having as their guests about fifty relatives and friends at a dinner held in St. Paul's Parish Hall, Essex.

Goodbrand-Dowswell Nuptials.

At one of the most interesting weddings of the season, Monday afternoon, in Essex United Church, the Rev. C. W. DeWitt Cosens united in marriage Miss Dorothy Dowswell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ambrose Dowswell, of Essex, and Harvey Benson Goodbrand, of Toronto, formerly of Windsor.

The bride was charming in a foam blue street-length frock, the butterfly sleeves and shirred peplum edged in matching Alençon lace. Pearl cluster buttons marked the bodice and her veiled hat was of matching blue grosgrain ribbon. She carried a nosegay of pastel sweet peas.

Miss Jean Goodbrand of Windsor, the bridegroom's sister who was her only attendant, wore a floral printed afternoon frock in shades of royal blue, magenta and beige, featuring softly draped neckline, and her picture hat was of black straw, and she carried a nosegay of Peerless roses.

Edwin C. Brown assisted his brother-in-law as best man.

A wedding supper followed, at the Woodland Cottage, on Lake Erie, near Kingsville. Mrs. Dowswell chose for her daughter's wedding a dove gray printed frock, with pink ruching at the neckline and sleeves, and a black straw hat with varicoloured grosgrain ribbon trimming, and wore Briarcliffe roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodbrand left later by plane for Toronto, the bride traveling in a powder blue coat featuring a beige fox collar, and a gown pink two-piece dress and hat. They will take up residence at 112 Tyndall avenue, Toronto.

Prior to the wedding the bride was honoured on several occasions, Miss Marjorie Gough gave a shower and tea at her home on Windermere Road, and Mrs. Duncan Murphy gave a shower and luncheon. Miss Marion Townsend entertained at a tea in her home on Curry avenue. On Wednesday May 22nd the Windsor Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Merchants Association gave a luncheon at the Prince Edward Hotel when a gift was presented to the bride by the organization and also from the staff of the Chamber of Commerce. At the home of Mrs. G. Kendrick Essex, on Thursday evening, May 24th, Miss Ila Quigley entertained at a shower, when thirty-six were present. The choir of Essex United Church also honoured the bride with a lovely gift. Miss Jean Goodbrand, of Windsor, gave a spinster dinner, at the Manor, on May 31st, and on Friday, June 1st, Mrs. R. L. Snider and Mrs. K. Kersey were hostesses at a luncheon and shower, at Mrs. Snider's home on Riverside Drive. A trousseau tea was given at the bride's apartment, Kensington Manor, on May 31st, when Mrs. A. A. Dowswell received with her daughter.

W. H. Richardson Passes.

After a short illness William Henry Richardson, aged 87 years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Norman Davies, Toronto, on Friday evening of last week. Deceased, however, had been in ill health for the past four or five years.

Mr. Richardson came to Essex in 1880, at the age of 21, from Tillbury, and established a hardware business here, which he conducted in the same stand for 54 years. Born in the Province of Quebec, he came to Essex County with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Richardson, as a young man.

In 1878 he married Ellen E. Laing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Laing, of Valetta, Ontario, who predeceased him in September, 1935.

A former member of the Presbyterian Church, Mr. Richardson was an honorary elder of Essex United Church. He served as treasurer of the Essex High School Board for many years. Fraternally he was a past master of Central Masonic Lodge, where he had been a member for over 50 years.

After his retirement from business, at the age of 80 years, when he sold his business and building to George R. Weller, he spent a year with his son Raymond, in Sydney, Australia, returning from there in 1937.

Surviving are two sons, Everett, of Essex, and Raymond, of Sydney, Australia; two daughters, Edna (Mrs. H. A. Bowie), of Ottawa, and Ada (Mrs. Norman Davies), of Toronto. Two other daughters, Mildred and Winifred, predeceased him.

Of 10 grandchildren, Capt. Murray Bowie, R.C.A.M.C., and Capt. Howard Richardson, R.C.O.C., are in service in Europe, and F.O. Donald Richardson, R.C.A.P., is on duty at Kingston, Ontario. Ten great grandchildren also survive him.

Funeral services, in charge of Rev. C. W. D. Cosens, and the officers of Central Masonic Lodge, were held on Sunday, at 2 p.m., at the Hicks & Son Funeral Home, with burial in Green-lawn cemetery.

Arnold-Cochrane Nuptials.

Mr. Dunk, when Helen Royce Cochrane, daughter of Bryson Cochrane and the late Mrs. Cochrane, of Malartic, became the bride of Leslie W. Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Arnold, of North Ridge.

On Thursday, May 31st, an enthusiastic group of the Maple Leaf Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Ralph Davison, for the purpose of expressing their appreciation to Mrs. Davison for her never-failing response to the activities of the Branch. We have always found her courteous, cheerful and faithful, and the Maidstone Branch should surely gain an active member. As a token of esteem a gift was presented Mrs. Davison, by Mrs. L. Wright, while Mrs. John Reeb read the address. A potluck lunch was served by the members of the Maple Leaf, and a social hour was enjoyed.

During the afternoon two contests were held, one of them entitled "True or False," given by Mrs. Alton Johnston, was both interesting and beneficial. Don't forget, ladies, our June meeting is to be held at Mrs. Frank Hicks Reeb's. Plan to come. We make it worthwhile.

Trutone White

Trutone White House Paint starts white — stays white. It's made with titanium dioxide, the pigment that's even whiter than snow! It stays white because — IT'S SELF-CLEANING!

C-I-L Trutone White is so formulated that, as time goes by, a microscopically fine white powder forms on the surface. Heavy rains wash this powder away, taking dust and dirt with it, and leaving the surface clean and white again. Because this "self-cleaning" is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not affected.

As durable as it is beautiful, C-I-L Trutone White House Paint protects against rust, rot and decay — gives lasting beauty and protection. Yet it costs no more than other good paints. See your painter today — ask him what he thinks of Trutone White — $4.75 a gallon.

Millet is Urged as Crop That Can be Sown in June.

Millet is a grain crop that can be sown at any time during the month of June, and John D. McLeod, Director of the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, advises that it will yield well in almost every type of soil here there is an abundance of moisture. He therefore advises farmers whose cropping programme has been upset by wet weather and who anticipate a shortage of oats and barley to consider sowing millet.

Many farmers, says Mr. McLeod, do not realize that some of the millets, in addition to being suitable for emergency hay crops, yield profitable quantities of seed. Two general types of millet are grown in Ontario — the hay millets which include the foxtail types and Japanese millet and the brain or proso millets. At the Ontario Agricultural College, the Common Hungarian millet has given an average yield of 39.2 bushels per acre over a twenty-nine year period, and the Siberian, the Japanese barnyard millet and the proso millets yield over 30 bushels per acre over shorter periods. Empire, a foxtail millet, produced by the Dominion Experimental Farms, is a heavy seed yielding requiring a growing season of 110 to 120 days. Crown, a proso or grain millet, also produced by the Dominion Experimental Farm, has proven the highest yielder of this group, and will mature seed in 80 to 90 days.

For satisfactory growing of millet, a fine, firm seed bed is required, and sowing at approximately 20 pounds to the acre is recommended when it is the intention to harvest a grain crop. The crop should be cut for seed when heads are from one-half to two-thirds ripe. Millet is almost equal to barley in feeding value, and when ground, the grain makes a valuable addition to other concentrates.

There is a plentiful supply of millet seed available in Ontario and farmers wishing supplies should consult their Agricultural Representative or seed dealer.

Nothing is less selfish than a desire of fame, since its only sure acquisition is by labouring for others. — Walter Savage Landor.

"Fame" Worldly fame is but a breath of wind that blows now this way, and now that, and changes name as it changes direction.—Dante.

Beauty, wealth or fame is incompetent to meet the demands of the affections, and should never weigh against the better claims of intellect, goodness and virtue.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Fame usually comes to those who are thinking about something else — very rarely to those who say to themselves, "Go to, now, let us be a celebrated individual!"—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Let us satisfy our own consciences, and trouble not ourselves by looking for fame. If we deserve it, we shall attain it; if we deserve it not we cannot force it.—Seneca.

Ration Coupon Due Dates.

Coupons now valid are butter 90 to 109, sugar 46 to 59 and preserves 33 to 66.

Butter Producers Must Register.

Whether or not they are suppliers, all producers of butter must register with the Ration Administration W. Harold McPhillips, prices and supply representative for Western Ontario, reminds residents of his region. Every registered farm producer is required to file with the local ration board monthly a statement recording his transactions in rationed foods during the past month. He must also submit all ration coupons and documents collected. The deadline for this is the 10th of each month. The coupons and documents can be forwarded in special envelopes provided for this purpose.

Poultry Parasites.

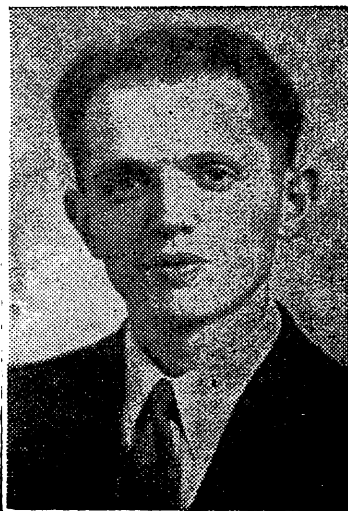

A satisfactory egg yield and a healthy situation in the poultry flock are hardly likely to prevail where unclean and unsanitary conditions are allowed. As a rule the germs and parasites responsible for outbreaks of disease and epidemics are bred and thrive in dirty surroundings. The responsibility usually can be traced to poor management, states W. T. Scott, Head Poultryman, Dominion Experimental Station, Harrow, Ont.

The common body louse and the red mite that so often make their appearance during the warm weather are a constant menace to poultry at this season. Fortunately their presence can be readily detected and they can be destroyed if prompt and effective measures are taken in time. At frequent intervals the roosts and nests should be carefully inspected as it is here that small clusters of these tiny grey or red insects may first be found. A careful examination of the birds, particularly under wings and tails, may also disclose the presence of body lice. These pests are likely to increase rapidly under careless and slovenly conditions and if the vitality of the flock should be lowered to any extent by their ravages, it may require considerable time and care to bring the birds back into laying condition.

The total extermination of red mites may be a somewhat difficult task if the premises become badly infested and a thorough clean-up and saturation will be necessary with at least two applications by brush or spray of a mixture of one pound of Pyrethrum powder and two gallons of kerosene oil. If the mites have not penetrated too far into the rear of the fixtures and partitions a cheap and effective, though more messy method, of control is a mixture of equal parts of old crank case oil and coal oil.

If body lice are detected on the birds one of the most effective and lasting measures that has been used for delousing at the Dominion Experimental Station at Harrow is an application of blue ointment, a portion about the size of a pea for each bird is smeared between the thumb and fingers and rubbed into the base of the feathers around the vent, head, and under each wing. Blue ointment may be procured at any drug store, but it is poisonous, so should be handled carefully.

A pinch of sodium fluoride or flower of sulphur scattered through the feathers while holding the bird up by the legs is another effective remedy.

Buckwheat as an Emergency Crop.

Farmers who have been unable to complete their spring seeding or who have had crops drowned out as a result of recent heavy rains, would be well advised to consider sowing buckwheat, says John D. McLeod, Director of the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. This crop, he points out, is adaptable to a wide variety of soils and will yield fair returns on areas which are low in fertility. It has the further advantage that it can be seeded at any time during the month of June; in fact, seeding is best delayed until the latter part of the month in order to have the crop blossom after the heat of summer. Silver Hill and Rough Hull are the types most commonly grown, and the usual rate of seeding is three to five pecks per acre.

As a farm crop, says Mr. McLeod, buckwheat should have a place of considerable importance among coarse grains, and should not be regarded as a last resort crop. It has a place among Ontario's grain crops, particularly this year when maximum crops of home-grown grain are essential. It is regarded as being almost interchangeable with barley as a livestock feed and may be included in the rations for all classes of live stock. In condition, buckwheat is extremely resistant to the attacks of soil insects, makes an excellent green manure crop when ploughed down, improves the physical condition of the soil, makes

A FARMER FIGHTS FOR FARMERS' RIGHTS

For the first time in Canada's history we can elect a farmer to be Premier of Canada. We have had farmer Premiers in the Provinces, but never yet has a farmer been Premier of Canada. For twenty-one straight years John Bracken was Premier of Manitoba, first as a Progressive and later as Liberal Progressive. His record there speaks for itself.

John Bracken Says:

1. The farmers and the fishermen are nearly one-third of Canada's people and we intend to see that they get 1/3 of Canada's income.
2. Present farm prices should be at least 20% higher right today.
3. Farmers should know before planting a crop what price they are going to get.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE VOTERS OF ESSEX EAST.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Over the radio, at meetings, and in the press, I have publicly challenged Hon Paul Martin to stand on the same platform with me and defend his own record, and Rt. Honourable Mr. King's record. I openly challenge him again, and I surely hope that he takes me up.

1. Why was Hon. Mr. Martin so strangely silent in the face of the 1936 corn steal of $2,600,000?
2. Why was the duty of 20c a bushel taken off Argentine corn, from September to December 31st, 1936, and 13,000,000 bushels brought in?
3. No. 3 corn, on the tracks at Chicago today costs $1.49 a bushel in Canadian money. Why has so much American corn been brought in from there in the last year, and why haven't farmers got that price right here in Essex County, when Canada is short of corn?
4. Why did Hon. James Gardiner and Hon. Paul Martin promise Mr. Charles O'Brien a price of $2.50 a bushel for soybeans a year ago last spring and then not give it? I got $1.92 and $1.95 for that crop.
5. On June 11th I ask you to remember that it is a fact that the 1,500 Communists in Essex East, mostly in East Windsor and its surrounding area, are voting in a block for Hon. Paul Martin. Why? Do you wish to vote along with the Communists?

If the farmers and villagers of Essex East decide to vote for their own interests on June 11th, Hon. Paul Martin can, and will, be defeated, because the city vote is going to split up.

Respectfully I ask you for the privilege of fighting for the farmers and the working people of Essex East. To that end your vote and influence, on June 11th, will be appreciated.

With kindest regards,

JAMES BYRNE,
Woodslee Farmer

PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE IN ESSEX EAST — ON JUNE 11th.

TAXATION FOR PROSPERITY

"The Government, by the conscious and deliberate exercise of its functions, can influence to a vital degree the conditions of (Canadian) life. . . . The important thing is that it should direct that influence toward the creation of a stable and prosperous community."

John Bracken

To this great end Progressive Conservative taxation policies are designed. We believe the power to tax must be creative, not destructive. It must help, not hinder; stimulate, not depress. Wisely and deliberately it must be used as one of many Government controls to prevent both artificial booms and economic depressions. Above all, the Progressive Conservative Party is determined that taxation shall be used beneficially as an instrument of expanding prosperity.

Taxation must be used to bridle the strong and help the weak. It must encourage and not discourage all legitimate enterprise. . . . Every useful activity which gives employment at fair wages and contributes to the sum total of Canadian prosperity must be encouraged to develop its fullest potentialities.

In order that an expanding prosperity may be progressively realized, too, idle capital, dormant accumulations of profits must be forced into productive effort. Capital must be dynamic and not dormant. We believe it is the responsibility of progressive Government to ensure that capital is made to work — creating jobs, wages, consumer demand — and prosperity! There must be equal opportunity for all.

The Progressive Conservative Party's plans for an expanding Canadian economy will not tolerate a top-heavy, burdensome bureaucracy supported by the workers and producers of this Dominion. The King Government has saddled this Dominion with a gigantic and still growing bureaucracy — and the Canadian taxpayer foots the bill. To-day, State Socialism is clamorous for absolute power, already envisions a dictatorial bureaucracy of such dimensions that Canadians would stagger helplessly under the load of their obligations to the State.

We will frame tax policies to stimulate employment, the expansion and development of industry, natural resources and international trade.

We will revise and simplify the present obsolete and unscientific tax structure and consolidate the tax collecting authorities.

We will see that the power to tax is returned to Parliament, rather than left in the hands of officials, so that the taxes borne by the people are those imposed by their elected representatives. To that end we will remove the present abuses of income tax administration by ensuring that:

- ✓ Assessments must be made promptly and accurately.
- ✓ Assessments must be final, so far as the government is concerned, except in cases of fraud.
- ✓ There must be an end to penalties and interest charges due to departmental delays.
- ✓ There must be an end to arbitrary assessments, based on the discretionary rulings of officials.
- ✓ There must be an end to the discretionary powers of officials.
- ✓ There must be a simplified procedure for appeals on assessments by every taxpayer.

We shall see that personal tax exemptions are raised to at least $1,200 for married persons and $750 for single persons, that each taxpayer shall be allowed, in addition, a personal tax exemption of $400 for each dependent, and that the rates of personal income tax in the lower tax brackets are substantially reduced.

This soundly practical Taxation Policy, we of the Progressive Conservative Party pledge to all Canadians as a forthright aid to revitalized, co-operative prosperity for all.

JUST PLAIN SENSE!

The Canadian people have made a magnificent contribution to the common victory in Europe.

The Liberal administration can say with honesty and justice:

This is the Government which has directed Canada's war effort at home and abroad.

This is the Government which during the war worked out a program of full employment and social reform.

These things are now a matter of record and of common knowledge.

On the basis of its record
the choice of Prime Minister King's party to form the next Government of Canada is a matter of just plain sense!

FULL EMPLOYMENT AT FAIR WAGES

is the Foundation of all True Progress

"The people of this nation are tired of the delay in correcting the weaknesses that have developed in our system... We must correct these obvious weaknesses in the economy we have, by rationalizing it—not by wrecking it. We must maintain the system which gives full play to individual initiative, and a fair return to all legitimate enterprise which provides employment; and the State, by just laws relating to workers, must see to it that at no time shall there fail to be provided the opportunity for a fair day's pay for a fair day's work for every one of our fellow-citizens in this Dominion who is able and willing to work."

John Bracken

We mean to see that every Canadian citizen able to work has the opportunity to work at fair pay.

- RATIONAL REFORM
- MAXIMUM PRODUCTION
THROUGH THE FULL DEVELOPMENT OF OUR NATURAL RESOURCES
- FULL EMPLOYMENT AT FAIR WAGES

These are the pledges of the Progressive Conservative Party.

For full employment embracing all Canadians of every Province,

WE WILL:

- Help individual and co-operative enterprise to increase employment by revising crippling tax systems, by removing controls and regulations which slow down the expansion of legitimate enterprise, and by improving relationships between the Government, Labour and Management;
- Establish a National Development Board responsible for plans for full production and employment, as well as the preservation of our natural resources;

- Increase our trade by establishing an Export Board, by aggressive sales-manship abroad, by continuation of mutual aid until no longer necessary and by provision of trade credits to economically backward countries;
- See that the powers of the Bank of Canada are used to supply ample credit for an expanding economy;
- Undertake a carefully planned programme of socially desirable projects, such as low-cost rural and urban housing, rural electrification, conservation and reforestation, the development of natural resources—all on a national basis.

These Progressive Conservative policies are carefully and confidently pointed at a practical national objective—the realization in our time of an age of plenty.

Only the Progressive Conservative Party, with its far-sighted policies for the co-operative development of every part of Canada to new heights of prosperity—a prosperity in which ALL Canadians shall share fairly and honorably—only this Party faces the challenge of the future with abiding confidence in the ultimate realization of the practical objectives embodied in its practical policies for full employment at fair wages.

In these closing war years, and in the peace conference Canada needs men of high calibre. We in Essex East have one in Paul Martin — a member of the Dominion Cabinet, a statesman of high repute in our own country and other lands as well.

Paul Martin's Record Speaks Volumes.....

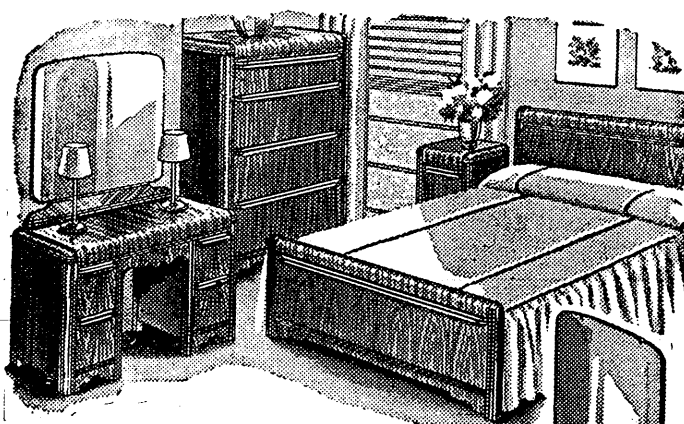

As a spokesman for labour Paul Martin was able to help bring about government policy which gave one million workers vacations with pay for the first time. . . . He was an important factor in obtaining the right of labor to Collective Bargaining. . . . Unemployment Insurance. . . . Labor Representation on Advisory and Administrative Boards of the Government and the Family Allowances Act. Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Plunkett entertained on Saturday evening last at a mixed "hard party." At midnight a lovely lunch was served by the hostess. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Trotter, of Belle River; Miss Edna Deehan, of Detroit; Miss Odella Deehan, Misses Mary and Vera Deehan, of Windsor; Arzene Drouillard, and Bill Langlois.

The banns of marriage were published for the first time, on Sunday, in St. Mary's Church, for Miss Rosemary John, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael John, and William Gould; of the R.C.A.P., of Manitoba, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lawrence Gould, of Windsor, the wedding to take place the last part of June.

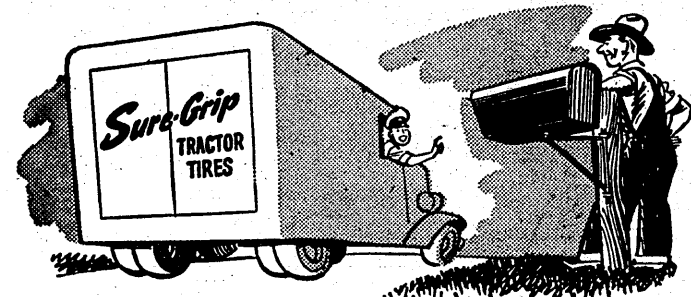

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph John and daughter, of Chatham, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip John and Patricia Lynn, of Windsor, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Michael John.

The many friends of Mrs. Mary Barratt are hoping for better health for her, since her recent illness.

John T. Brown, of Roseland, is home on a 28-day leave from Halifax, with his wife and sons.

RABIES

Under and by virtue of the authority conferred upon me by Section 13 of the Animal Contagious Diseases Act, Chapter 6, R.S.C., 1927, and the regulations relating to rabies established by Orders in Council dated August 10th, 1905, as amended May 28th, 1909, in virtue of the said Act, I do hereby declare that having had reported to me the existence of rabies in the province of Ontario, the hereinafter described territory is declared to be an infected area:

In the County of Essex, in the Province of Ontario, the City of Windsor, the municipalities of Riverside, Ojibway, LaSalle, McGregor, Tecumseh, Amherstburg, and Essex the townships of Sandwich East, Sandwich West, Sandwich South, Colchester North and Anderson and all incorporated and unincorporated municipalities wholly or partly within the boundaries of any of the said townships.

I do hereby order that all dogs within this area shall, until further notice, be effectively confined or securely tied up.

All dogs found at large may be destroyed forthwith and the owner or any person harbouring or having the charge or custody of any dog found at large within the said area shall be guilty of a violation of this Order, and shall, on conviction, be liable to a penalty as provided in the Animal Contagious Diseases Act.

Bill Murdoch Re-elected.

Bill Murdoch, Progressive-Conservative, was re-elected to the Ontario Legislature, at the Provincial elections, on Monday, having a plurality over Morgan Brown, Liberal, of 1,744. An oddity of the election was that in the majority of rural municipalities Brown polled 3,431 votes to Murdoch's 3,259, however, the four towns swamped the Liberal candidate, even his home town of Leamington giving his opponent a majority of 810.

FRIDAY, JUNE 8, 1945.

UPKEEP OF DEMOCRACY.

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.

The turn of events in Europe is likely to have a very marked, perhaps a determining, influence on the federal election here in Canada. Before this election occurs, the manpower issue that was so vital a matter in the Grey North by-election will again have become of somewhat academic interest. There will be ample reinforcements to meet the declining needs of the Canadian army in the field. It will not be a question of life and death as it was so a few months ago.

Had the federal election coincided with the hot passions that gave Grey North its dramatic interest, we would at least have been assured of a substantial response at the polls. There is no such assurance today. That may make for cooler and saner judgments, for the manpower issue wasn't the only, or even the major issue. The whole conduct of our war effort is up for review and with it the now more pressing problems of the days ahead. Will we bring a cool judgment or any judgment to the consideration of these issues?

The danger is that as our passion has blown itself out, so has our interest. The danger is not now that we are too greatly stirred to act with wisdom or to give all the actions of our government their proper perspective. The danger is the recurring one that we won't be stirred at all or, at least, not enough to do anything. It is a startling fact that only a little more than two-thirds of the accredited voters of Canada determine the future of the other 30 per cent.

There are almost two million people among Canada's six and a half million voters who did not cast a ballot in the last federal election. Presumably these careless nonvoters will expect that the vast problems of repatriation, re-employment, readjustment, re-conversion will be completely handled to assure a continued good life for them. But they won't devote their influence to these ends. There will be tens of thousands of soberly thoughtful people who will do their full part. But their influence will not stand alone.

The wild-eyed fanatic will also vote. The selfishly interested will vote. The misguided patriot will vote, so will the prejudiced, the unthinking altruist, the anti-social, and the vicious-minded.

All the undesirable voices will make themselves heard. But two million people, if the record holds — people who believe themselves good citizens, eager for the welfare of their country — will do nothing to help because their immediate emotions are not stirred.

There is an upkeep to democracy. We cannot have it without paying its price, an active personal interest. It is our personal business to decide how well we have been served by our government. It is ours to decide whether, in the light of all the circumstances, any other group of men could or would have served us better. It is ours to decide whether, in the circumstances now before us, a change would benefit us or would lessen the effectiveness of our progress back to normalcy. It is our obligation that, having in honesty made these judgments, we should defend them.

Two million of us may not delegate our responsibilities and all of us remain secure. In these days that lesson is clear. The German people, who lost interest in their government, lost their government. With it they lost their securities, and lost their liberties, and lost their honour. —Liberty Magazine.

JOBS ASSURED BEFORE DEMOBILIZATION

A Square Deal for Veterans Assured by Progressive Conservatives

The very first clause of the Progressive Conservative plans for the re-establishment of Veterans, adopted at the National Convention of December, 1942, is as follows:—

DEMOBILIZATION

In carrying out the demobilization of Canada's Armed Forces the primary consideration should be the interest of those who have served. Demobilization should be based on the principle that members of the Armed Forces should not be discharged until their economic security is assured by placement in gainful employment or by assisted training and education to that end.

Here, in this simple statement of progressive, realistic policy is the only true solution of the fundamental problem by which every ex-service man and woman is faced. It is the only assurance of a square deal for all veterans. It is the very basis of the Rehabilitation Policies of the Progressive Conservative Party. No veteran will be discharged against his will until he is assured of a decent livelihood.

"Platitudes will not fill empty stomachs," declares John Bracken, "our governments provide jobs for those who have fought, not wordy declarations about sacrifice ease the load of the widows and children whose husbands and fathers gave life itself that we might live in peace and security."

Throughout the war, Canadian service men and women have had their fill of platitudes and generalities.

Let our veterans now ask themselves this question. Does the spirit of political partisanship which the King Government has consistently manifested in time of war, offer any assurance of a square deal for veterans in time of peace? Does the iniquitous manpower policy which split Canada apart reflect the right spirit? Remember in war, as in peace, political policies infallibly indicate party principles.

It is significant that more than half of the Progressive Conservative candidates are service and ex-service men. No other party can even approach this record. These men know that no other party has such realistic and comprehensive plans for rehabilitation. They know that the Progressive Conservative Party is the service men's party.

They know that John Bracken, father of three sons on active service, understands the problems, the hopes and the fears of veterans.

They say, with John Bracken

"The cost of winning the war and the cost of re-establishing those who fought in it, is one and indivisible. In the plainest words at my command, I say to you that nothing short of full-time gainful employment for every man and woman who has worn the Canadian uniform will be acceptable. Every man and woman must be given an opportunity to earn a good living. If existing enterprise cannot do this, the State must, and will."

These service and ex-service candidates, with John Bracken, pledge themselves that, under no circumstances, will existing benefits to veterans be lessened. On the contrary, they will be increased and extended.

They, with John Bracken, pledge themselves to revise an out-moded pensions act, to humanize its administration, to eliminate red tape and inexcusable delays. Pension rates will be reviewed at once and increased to bring them in line with higher living costs.

Under a Progressive Conservative government, recorded condition of personnel on enlistment will be accepted as sufficient proof in determining disability pension. The veteran will be entitled to the benefit of the doubt.

The "first in, first out" principle will be followed on demobilization — with a job at decent pay assured to the veteran when he returns to "civvy" street.

In the words of our leader, we of the Progressive Conservative Party, "accept the challenge to demonstrate to you who fought that you shall not be handicapped in days of peace, because you responded to the nation's call in days of war."

HAVE YOU REGISTERED YOUR CHILDREN FOR

FAMILY ALLOWANCES?

1,200,000 FAMILIES have already registered for Family Allowances. Approximately 100,000 families who are entitled to register and who will benefit, have not yet registered.

Family Allowances cheques will be mailed in July.

If you want to receive your first cheque, register now. If you delay your registration any longer, it may not be possible to deal with your application in time to send you the first cheque.

If you have children under 16 and if your income is under $3,000 a year, you will benefit from Family Allowances. If you have not registered, and intend to do so, please act at once! Family Allowances Registration forms have been mailed to every family. They can be obtained at the nearest post office or by writing to the Regional Director of Family Allowances in the capital of your province.

FAMILY ALLOWANCES AND INCOME TAX

When the Family Allowances Act was passed, Parliament approved the principle that there should be no duplication of benefits by way of Family Allowances and Income Tax credits for the same child.

Family Allowances cheques will be paid in full every month. But for the last six months of 1945 an adjustment will be made to avoid duplication of benefits. The table below shows the effect of this adjustment and will enable taxpayers to determine the extent to which they will benefit from Family Allowances.

TABLE SHOWING EFFECT OF ADJUSTMENT FOR 1945

AMOUNT OF TAXABLE INCOME	Percent by which taxpayers will benefit from Family Allowances in addition to present income tax credits, for 1945.
Not over $1200	100%
Over $1200 but not over 1400	90%

2200 " " 2400	40%
2400 " " 2600	30%
2600 " " 2800	20%
2800 " " 3000	10%
3000	0%

NOTE:—This table applies to married persons and others having the status of married persons for income tax purposes. For the relatively small number of single persons supporting children and not having married status for income tax purposes, and for members of the Armed Forces, special tables can be obtained from the Regional Director of Family Allowances in each provincial capital.

The BENEFITS: The Family Allowances Act was passed to help equalize opportunities for all children. The monthly allowances will assist in providing medical, dental and nursing services, better food, better clothing and shelter.

Family Allowances are additional to dependents' allowances for servicemen's families and military pensions.

Furthermore, Family Allowances are NOT taxable. You do not add these monthly payments to your total income when computing your income tax.

In the column at left is an explanation of the relationship between Family Allowances and Income Tax deductions for children. From the table given you can determine quickly the extent to which you will benefit.

REGISTER NOW!

If you intend to apply for Family Allowances but have not already done so, please act at once—in the interests of your children. Remember, the first cheques will be mailed in July, but only to those who have registered and are eligible to receive Family Allowances.

SCALE OF MONTHLY ALLOWANCES FOR THE FIRST FOUR CHILDREN

For each child	Amount
Under 6	$5.00
From 6 to 9 (inclusive)	6.00
From 10 to 12 (inclusive)	7.00
From 13 to 15 (inclusive)	8.00

Where there are more than four children under 16 in the family, the monthly allowance for each child after the fourth will be reduced in accordance with the provisions of the Family Allowances Act.

Letter from Overseas.

The following letter was received by Mr. and Mrs. W. Ebbinghaus, of South Woodlee, from their son Don, who is in the Support Company, Carleton and York Regiment, and drives a universal carrier. He has served 14 months in Italy, going to Germany in March.

Somewhere in Holland, May 6th and 9th, 1945

Dearest Mother and Dad:

Hello mom, I wish I could be home to spend with you what I hope, is one of your happiest days.

These last few days have brought happiness to a lot of people and I'll bet the celebrations will soon be starting. But we certainly have a lot of thanks to give. If it had not been for Him it would have been a lot different. Now that this European battle is almost ended it actually seems hard to believe it. Last Tuesday we came back here to the forward positions, and there hasn't been much firing of any sort, and now there isn't any. No kidding, we hardly know how to take it. But it sure is a great feeling to be able to walk in the open without having to hit the dirt every few minutes.

Well, I imagine Mrs. Stowe will soon have Bill home, if he hasn't already landed. There has been a lot of our fellows go home. This last couple of months six sergeants from the anti-Tank Platoon have gone, leaving only one, which means multi-promotions. And it's about the same in all platoons. A guy hasn't any trouble now to get hooks if he wants them.

Well, I should be getting a leave soon, and I think I will take it in Belgium. The people I stayed with in Belgium made me promise I would come back on my first leave, and I think I would enjoy seven days with them. They were certainly wonderful to us.

We started our soft ball practice yesterday and again this afternoon. Pretty good playing ball in the front lines. I guess the next thing we will be playing against the Jerrys.

We didn't have a church service today. Our padre left us and our new one hasn't arrived yet. Last Sunday we didn't have a service either, it rained and blew so hard they called it off. But on Monday (it rained then and rained hard). But we only had to walk a mile. We had a service in a Dutch church, in a town we had liberated a short time before. It was a service for civilians as well as us. It's a big church, would hold at least a thousand people, and was packed from wall to wall, both sitting and standing. The town mayor gave a speech on their gratitude to us, and the Dutch minister and our padre gave a talk and prayers. But what I enjoyed most was the music. They really have a nice organ. All the congregation sang the hymns, each in our own language, naturally. There was a soloist, and he was good, too, and the choir sang a couple of hymns. They really had a lovely choir. None of us cared much about going in the rain that night, but we were all glad after the service that we had gone.

Dad, you can tell the boys now, that the fighting is over and I won't have a chance to get them any more souvenirs. They will have to be satisfied with what I have, which is a couple of knives I took off of a couple of Paratroopers. One is the kind you press on a gadget, give a snap and out comes the blade. The other is a dagger, it has a nice blade, but the handle is made of wood.

A few days after the Germans surrendered we left the part of the country we had been fighting in and moved into The Hague. All along the road the people were lined up on both sides of the road waving and cheering for all they were worth. We didn't go into the city the first night, but stopped in a little town, one of the carriers had trouble and had to drop out of the convoy. When they finally got going they took the wrong road and went into the city. The people had been expecting us, but when the carrier with those three fellows rode into the city they were almost mobbed. The next day, when our outfit rode in, we were practically mobbed. I'll bet we have signed as many autographs as Gable has.

Well, I hope it won't be long before I will be home to see you. Give my love to all the family.

Your loving son,

Don.

Sugar Beet Planting Continue.

Sugar beet planting is still continuing at a fast pace in southwestern Ontario, according to reports coming in from Sugar Company Field Representatives. Planting of beets, and of all crops, was delayed in early May by wet weather but now, with field conditions ideal, it is expected that sugar beet seeding will continue for two or three weeks into June. This is considered a safe and profitable practice because beets are safe from fall frosts and the longer period of seeding spreads out blocking and thinning operations to the advantage of the limited supply of labour. In fact, records for the last five years show that, by choice, 21% of all sugar beets grown were seeded after the first of June.

Most spring crops which had been planted in April were held back in growth by the cold weather because, what at first gave promise of an exceptionally warm early spring developed into a cold and backward one. Much of the spring grains which were seeded before the rains came will not survive the excessive moisture and many of the fields will have to be replanted to later crops. Wherever the field has been well worked up, sugar beets should make an excellent substitute crop to plant on these fields in the next few weeks. Sugar beet growers are reported to have averaged well over $100 an acre from their 1944 crop, much of which was planted after the first of June.

Let's Get Together, CANADIANS!

"Let us, as Canadians, resolve to put aside sectionalism and class hatred; let us renounce the politics of expedience and the fruitless game of playing off one group against another; let us require of the Government that it harmonize all the various elements of the community and fashion them into a vigorous, co-operative society for the betterment of all."

John Bracken

We believe that the one essential of all national progress is national unity. A United Canada is the firm foundation on which all the far-reaching Progressive Conservative plans for post-war reconstruction are enduringly based. We are determined to achieve that unity.

THE AGE OF PLENTY IS AT OUR DOOR—if we will but unite and co-operate to make it a reality for every one of our fellow citizens. BUT...

CANADA HAS BEEN SPLIT APART

In time of war, Canadians "reaped the whirlwind" brought about by the King Government's manpower policies—policies that for 25 years have been fostering division and disunity. Those policies now challenge every fair-minded Canadian. That challenge—now that V-E Day has come and gone—is the first to be faced if Canadians are to assure the unity and prosperity of this nation.

TO-DAY, THE QUESTION IS: Shall political expediency be perpetuated?

Shall the "biggest hoax ever perpetrated on a nation" be permitted, in time of peace, to embroil Canada in new inequities, new partisan squabbles, new divisions and disunities?

OR—do YOU agree with John Bracken who bluntly states that "to give political considerations priority over the nation's interest is intolerable and unforgivable"?

CANADA FACES THE ISSUE

To-day, Canada's heritage of national disunity is too evident, too real, to be ignored. The grave crisis of war, which proverbially unites a nation, has been used as a political instrument to accentuate and inflame differences found in every human family... fostering disunity, in this our country, to serve party purposes. The political self-seeking of the King Government's "Divide and Rule" policy has exacted a toll in sacrifice and suffering to be shared by generations to come.

UNITE—CO-OPERATE—PROSPER

Long ago, John Bracken expressed the great objective of the Progressive Conservatives. In his own words, we are setting out "to regain the unity that has been lost". Unity—Co-operation—these are the foundations of our new, progressive conception of National Prosperity in which all Canadians shall share.

WE STAND FOR—

National Unity... NOT Piecemeal Politics seeking Political Advantage through National Disunity.

Co-operation... NOT Class Hatred, Dictatorship and Bureaucratic Tyranny.

WE BELIEVE—

- Sectionalism must come to an end, subject to the recognized rights of minorities.

- Everyone, regardless of racial origin, must be regarded as a Canadian, sharing equally the rights and obligations of Canadian citizenship.

WE DEMAND—

- In War, equality of service and sacrifice.
- In Peace, equality of opportunity for all.
- One standard of citizenship.

TWO GERMAN WAR PRISONERS HOME.

L/CPL JIMMIE TWEEDALE.

PTE LLOYD BRUSH.

On Sunday evening, L/Cpl. James Tweedale, son of Mrs. Edda Tweedale, of Essex, and Pte. Lloyd Brush, son of Mrs. R. A. Brush, of New Canaan, arrived at their homes after having spent, since Dieppe, in a German prison camp. Both boys were members of the Essex Scottish. Jimmy was welcomed by a large crowd of townspeople who had gathered at the Park for the band concert. Upon being introduced by Mayor Francotte, Jimmy was given a rousing cheer and responded in a few well-chosen words.

To Hold Memorial Service.

A memorial service for the late Dennis E. Vanderbeke and David H. Brown will be held in St. Stephen's Church, at the regular time of 11 o'clock this Sunday morning.

Oddfellow and Rebekah Memorial Service.

Due to the inclement weather of June 3rd, the annual Decoration Services was postponed until Sunday, June 17th.

F/O Art Skinner Home.

F/O Arthur Skinner arrived home on Wednesday, from England, to spend a 30-day leave with his wife and baby son, who are making their home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Skinner. Art, we understand, is eligible for discharge, if he wishes.

Celebrates 86th Birthday.

A number of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Sweetman, on Saturday evening last, in honour of the former's father, John A. Sweetman. The evening was spent in playing progressive euchre. A buffet lunch was served later. The guests present were from Windsor, Harrow, Elford and Essex.

Robson-Fougere Nuptials.

St. Mary's Cathedral was the scene of a very pretty wedding recently, when the Rev. J. Mills united in marriage, Clara Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Fougere, Petit de Grat, Cape Breton, and Petty Officer Thomas Richard Robson, R.C.N.V.R., son of Angus Robson and the late Mrs. Robson, of Essex.

Blood Clinic.

Don't forget — don't neglect the 10th Blood Donor Clinic on Wednesday next, June 20th — 8 a.m. to noon. Our boys returning from the battle all testify to the restorative value of blood plasma — and to the preservation of life to those suffering serious wounds. Let Essex and every surrounding community maintain its enviable record by sacrificing an hour or so for the men who are willing to risk their lives for the sake of home and country.

Letter from Overseas.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Jarvis have received the following letter from their son L/S. G. F. Jarvis, of the H.M.C.S. Froquois, and dated London, May 16th, 1945:

Receives Letter from Daughter Overseas.

The following is a letter received by Mrs. Steve Conroy, of town, from her daughter Agnes, who is a nurse with No. 10 Canadian General Hospital, overseas:

May 29th, 1945.

Dear mother—Since last I wrote you I've been seeing a bit of the countryside over here. Four of us started off from here (Turnhout) on Friday afternoon. I went to Nymegen first, and on up through Arnhem to Apeldoorn, where we stayed that night. The next day we went to Rotterdam and The Hague, and all around those places.

It was marvelous and I assure you Holland is the most beautiful country I've seen so far, and even Ireland can't compare with it. The highways are grand, in many cases one-way drive; the homes are very modern and the cleanest place I ever hope to see. Rotterdam was bombed badly and the people look worn-out from the anxiety of war.

On Sunday we went to Germany and managed to cross the Rhine. We certainly didn't see the pretty part of Germany, if there is any. All the towns and villages we went through had been flattened and the roads are horrible, one drives for miles but rarely sees a man, I think they must all be in concentration camps.

Returned home Sunday night and really tired after our jaunt. Just come in when my partner was informed a plane was to take him to Canada next. You can imagine his excitement, so I expect next week-end he will be in London, Ontario.

No other news to tell you. We are very busy, more so than we have been for months, but it is mostly Jerry prisoners we are working on now.

Must get to bed now. So long and lots of love.

Good News!

It is reported from usually reliable sources that the C.C.F. Government, if elected at the Dominion elections, will buy a fast new launch for the Maple Row Ferry Service, to replace the boat which was lost in the recent high tides. Faster, more frequent service and lower rates will be featured, and an added attraction will be regular moonlight excursions, with dance music by our own Essex orchestra.

Receives Letter from Overseas Chaplain.

A letter has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Forest Sweetman, of North Ridge, from the chaplain of the Royal Canadian Regiment, informing them that their son, Donald, was killed on Friday, May 4th, by the accidental discharge of a German weapon in a dump which he was guarding. He was buried on Saturday, in the military cemetery behind St. Joseph's Hospital, Apeeldoon, with a simple service conducted by himself, with his company commander, Captain Greig and his platoon commander, Captain Martin, and other officers and men attending and taking part in the service. On the day of his death his name had been brought up for promotion to fill a vacancy in unit N.C.O. strength.

Donald enlisted in January, 1942, in the Canadian Ordnance Corps, and took his basic training in Chatham and Camp Borden, going overseas in July of the same year. He served in England as driving instructor and driver mechanic until November 1944, when he transferred to the infantry, hoping to join his brothers in France, but was sent to Italy. He was there until the Canadian troops were moved into Belgium last February, and recently into Holland, where he met his brother, Trooper Stanley Sweetman, whom he had not seen for nearly a year.

Born in Colchester North, Donald attended the Elford public school and Essex High School. He was employed at the Canadian Bridge Co. at Ojibway, prior to enlisting.

Surviving, besides his parents, are two brothers, Trooper Stanley Sweetman and Gnr. Jack Sweetman, both in Germany; also two sisters, Ruby (Mrs. Bert Sweet) of Gesto, and Nelda (Mrs. Clayton Cook) of Harrow.

Postwar and Population.

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.
A very informative study of Canada's possible population growth during the next decade, prepared by a group of experts who are unnamed, appeared in a recent issue of the Financial Post. It is a sincere effort to present a sound, if conservative, case. Based on their judgment on the fact that the years from 1921 to 1945 saw an increase of something less than three million, these experts urge that Canada's population will grow from its present 11,500,000 to approximately 13,250,000 by 1961.

This judgment is plausibly supported by two generations. The first is that western European populations have ceased to expand, so there seems little prospect of a surplus of vigorous, productive workers whose natural impulse would be to seek lands of greater opportunity.

The second generalization is that experience has indicated that in the past many immigrants used Canada merely as a stepping-stone to the United States.

One who can make no claim to being an expert may yet argue that in a world that in a few short years has been so radically changed, possibly the experts have put too much weight on the phrase, "experience has indicated." What experience indicated in the 1920s and 1930s may only dimly approximate the actualities of the 1950s and 1960s. One item of experience these experts have failed to recognize is that the tendency of other wars has been to deflect the flow of emigration from the older to the newer lands, of which Canada is the nearest, the most promising, the best understood. But the influences that will affect Canada's growth cannot be checked against experience, because the war has changed the facts on which the experience was based.

The years from 1867 to the present show a total immigration to Canada of 6,424,065, or more than twice the population we had at Confederation. As these figures reflect noting of the natural increase in those years, which would be almost as much, there is evidence to prove that the drain of population across the border was a major factor in our slow growth.

The experts assume that this will be a continuing movement. But will it? In those years of its great attraction, the costs of living were lower and the standards of living higher in the United States than anywhere else. There is small wonder that Canadians both new and old were attracted to this great land of opportunity.

But this war has changed that situation. The debt of the United States has pyramided to fabulous figures; it is doubtful if ever again, despite her vast natural and industrial resources, she will be able to offer so much for so little. If that is true, then that drain of population will be sharply curtailed.

But there are positive as well as negative factors. Canada herself has more to offer. With the crying need for food that peace will provide, the vast markets of Asia and Europe may offer an outlet for stocks of what that have often been an embarrassment to us. Even the contention that Western Europe may be closed to us as a source of immigration may have to be qualified.

There are millions of Europeans who have nothing to turn to and must start from the roots again to build a life, whether it be in Europe or in Canada. They may very well ask themselves whether they should build in lands that are always under a threat or seek a new life in lands where the threat is distant and doubtful.—Liberty Magazine.

Suggestions for Seed Varieties for Late Sowing.

The continued wet weather of late May and so far in the month of June has delayed seeding in many areas throughout Ontario, and farmers are now confronted with the problem of producing sufficient grain for their own requirements, reports John D. McLeod, Director of the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. To meet this situation, Mr. McLeod has issued a series of important bulletins, setting forth types and varieties of grain which are suitable for late sowing and are of early maturing varieties from which farmers can expect satisfactory returns, even at this late date. These include certain varieties of hybrid corn, oats, barley and mixed grains.

Referring to Hybrid Corn, Mr. McLeod says that the introduction of early maturing varieties has made it possible to produce grain from this crop over a wide area, and yields comparable to oats and barley may be expected, with greater yields possible as the season advances and it becomes too late to sow oats and barley. Mr. McLeod recommends the following varieties of hybrid corn for this section of the Province:

Central Ontario, including counties bordering on Lake Erie and Lake Ontario, Canada No. 355 and No. 531.

Information as to varieties for any specific district and as to supplies of available seed can be secured from Agricultural Representatives in each county.

With reference to oats and barley, Mr. McLeod points out that with early maturing varieties it is possible to secure good yields of these crops if sown in early June. He suggests that Cartier, Ajax and Alaska are varieties suitable for sowing up to early June, as these will mature in approximately 100 days. In barley, he recommends O. A. C. No. 21, Velvet Pygmy, Nobarh and Galore as varieties which will mature in approximately 100 days and which are therefore suitable for late sowing.

For mixed grains, the recommended mixtures are those of O. A. C. No. 21, Barley and Alaska oats, or Nobarh Barley and Erban Oats, sown at the rate of one and a half bushels of oats to one bushel of barley per acre. Mr. McLeod also suggests that a mixture of 2 pounds of barley and 18 pounds of buckwheat per acre has given profitable yields of grain.

In connection with all these recommendations, lists of sources of supply of seed have been sent to all Agricultural Representatives, and farmers are urged to consult their Representatives if unable to secure their own seed. Since every available bushel of home-grown grain that can be produced this year will be required, Mr. McLeod strongly urges the sowing of the above-mentioned grains and mixtures during the next two weeks.

ARE PEOPLE REALLY LIVING LONGER?

It is true that more people are living to older ages than was the case at the beginning of this century. The reason however, is that great strides have been made in lowering infant mortality.

In the age group from 35 to 45, recent investigations indicate only a very slight increase in life expectancy and it is in this group that most life insurance is written.

Modern methods of treatment of such diseases as tuberculosis, cancer and pneumonia have brought encouraging results, but such gains may be largely offset by the increase in mortality through diseases of the heart and accidental death, both of which might be attributable to the tempo of modern life.

Point is given this fact by the following chart, which was discussed at the annual meeting of the Canada Life Assurance Company.

This chart is based on an analysis of the number of deaths among Canada Life policyholders in 1944.

By Dean Wilson.

It must be reported at this time that almost as much interest, if not more, as the developments in the general election itself of 1945 has been the surprising disclosures backstage along Parliament Hill of the urgent need for a re-arrangement of the whole method of choosing the people's representatives in general elections so that a much better order of things in the general election system may be created for future tests of public opinion or the present order of things may be reconstructed in a new form in the interests of the people. For a long time there have been recurring outcries against some imperfections in the general electoral system of this country but no real lasting improvements have been introduced once the smoke of the electoral battle in any year had cleared away. Indeed at times much heat has been generated on Parliament Hill by such charges and counter-charges of opposing politicians that one side or another was responsible for the state of affairs, though nothing was really done to bring about sound, lasting improvements in the methods for choosing the people's representatives including claims of wrongs in the financing of some political campaigns, in the lassitude of the electorate, in the election of members who actually represented a minority of the electorate, and other similar serious encumbrances that hindered possibly the smooth operations of the democratic system of electing a Parliament. However, with a multiplicity of candidates in 1945 such as never seen previously in a general election and many different political parties or groups, the necessity for reform in these matters has been accentuated so that the great prominence given to these wrongs may be followed by pressure for action in the new Parliament.

During the political campaign across Canada old stories were heard behind the scenes in Ottawa about the supposed problem of amalgamation of the Canadian railways, with the alleged support in this matter of certain political interests in this campaign. Now another odd story is heard that high ranking officials from Ottawa are visiting London in order to discuss the extension of credits by Canada to Britain so that the trade between these two nations may be continued in the post-war era, with the comment that the oddity is provided in the angle that in time there might be a possibility that the British Government may decide to buy and to return to Canada the $500,000,000 to $600,000,000 worth of Canadian railway securities now held privately in the United Kingdom as an aid in such arrangements for credits. If such a decision should be made by the British Government, the Canadian Government could either keep such railway securities as more government-owned properties or sell them in this country, this meaning a possibility of more government-owned railway or the continuation of one government-owned railway and another privately-owned as it exists at the present time in this country. It must be borne in mind by the man-in-the-street across this country that Great Britain paid a very heavy price in money as well as blood for victory in Europe. In fact, in face of all lend-lease aid from the United States and mutual aid from Canada, yet today it is frankly a case where Great Britain has a large adverse balance of many billions of pounds sterling in foreign money markets, though before the outbreak of World War II the Motherland had a large favourable balance of foreign securities, this whole affair raising an extremely knotty problem which caused the high Canadian officials from Ottawa to go to London in order to discuss the possible ways and means for Canada's extension of credits to Great Britain when the increase in the expenditure on goods and services by public authorities, mainly for war supplies, was from 903,000,000 pounds in 1938, that is the year before the outbreak of World War II, to 4,944,000,000 pounds or $22,284,000,000 the past year or no less than five and a half times.

Moreover, Britain bought goods from Canada in 1938, the last year before the war, for an amount of $339,700,000 and the value of British goods imported into Canada was only $119,000,000, this implying that Britain had to provide $220,700,000 in Canadian funds to bridge the unfavourable balance of trade. While Canadian dollars came to Britain as dividends from investments in Canada and from Canadian payments for shipping as well as cable services and insurances, yet there was a shortage to be made up by means of measures. Now, unless funds can be provided credits, the trade between the two countries will have to be more evenly balanced. And Canada needs badly this trade with one of her oldest and best customers since it is admitted in Ottawa that such trade may be the key to continued high levels of employment and income.

There has been widespread publicity throughout the United Nations about the fact that the United States has spent about $39,000,000,000 on "lend-lease" in World War II, but it has not been properly publicized that if the national income of the United States and Canada were compared, Canada's mutual aid would be comparable to an expenditure of over $50,000,000,000 by United States. This is the truth and it is not always realized by the average man or woman even in Canada. So far the Canadian Government has spent about $2,800,000,000 on mutual aid to the Motherland and other United Nations and another $500,000,000 will be probably spent in the current fiscal year for such purposes, with the additional sum of $700,000,000 having been loaned by Canada to Britain without interest.

At a time when the United States Government and others are seriously worried about meeting their domestic meat requirements, it is most interesting to report that information in Ottawa seems to indicate that Canada's domestic meat needs are being met in a relatively satisfactory manner, though there may be shortages in some sections, especially in the big cities. Nevertheless, it is noteworthy that, under present conditions, Canada has not even considered continuously a policy of meat rationing. Furthermore, other food requirements in this country are being met fairly well, including eggs, fish, butter, fruits and vegetables.

A spokesman in Ottawa has made the charge that about 200 temporary houses built under wartime housing scheme cost an average of about $3,200 and these houses, he claimed, would be probably torn down in time after the war, lacking furnaces, foundations, and other conveniences, though in the same area private contractors were offering solid permanent type dwellings, complete with furnaces, foundations, etc., at prices ranging as low as $3,820, so that he alleged that the government had paid a few hundred less, getting no comparable values to those offered by the private contractors.

A report stated lately that 196 army trucks and cars were sold to dealers and some veterans seemed to get the wrong impression about this report. It should be indicated here that the War Assets Corporation does not sell surplus war material directly to individuals but only to authorized agencies or dealers so that the resale prices may be controlled properly by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, especially when articles or items need repair and reconditioning. These dealers or agencies have undertaken to give preference on used trucks and cars to returned men. . . . Walter Woods, deputy Minister of Veterans' Affairs Department, has stated in Ottawa that the job of superintendents of rehabilitation was tenfold as difficult in the present period than in previous years, stressing the need for good public relations complete co-operation with civic bodies and other local organizations. "In fact," he said in part, "there are many problems in rehabilitation for which we have no answer — the solution lies with the civic authorities and community organizations." . . . It is pointed out along Parliament Hill that black pledges could not have been signed by candidates in the general election since this was wrong under the Election Act, though such pledges were sent out by some persons for the signature of the candidates who refused to sign them for this good reason. . . . According to Pat Conroy, Secretary of the Canadian Congress of Labour unions in Soviet Russia are "glorified state company-unions," without being free institutions and being forced to obey the dictates of the State as well as follow orders. He made this declaration in the capital. . . . A report in Ottawa has hinted that Canada has not made any commitments to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (UNRRA) in the scheme to send about 50,000 dairy and draft animals to certain Balkan countries in an effort to assist the decreasing livestock herds there. . . . An official deal has been made in Ottawa about the allegation that 10,000 typewriters had been ordered destroyed by the deputy Minister of Air. Indeed, this denial emphasized that the R.C.A.F. had never even possessed 10,000 typewriters in its entire organization. . . . In view of the report that the British Empire's casualties in World War II reached 1,128,315, including 307,201 killed up to the third month of 1945, it should be reported that Canada's casualties were 102,775 in the Army, Navy and Air Force, including 37,206 dead.

and 3,769 missing, these being the latest figures up to the end of the war in Europe on May 7th. . . . The King's birthday has not been declared a public holiday this year, it is asserted in Ottawa, because wartime conditions have not warranted it, this being usually celebrated on June 14th. Western Ontario Holstein Show at Stratford.

Announcement has been made by the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada that the Western Ontario Championship Holstein Show will be held at Stratford, on Tuesday, October 9th. The judge will be J. M. Fraser, Streetsville, with C. L. Goodhue, Vaudeville, Que., as alternate in case Mr. Fraser is unable to act. For the past three years this Championship Show has been held at Ingersoll.

This championship show will provide the highlight of the year for Holstein breeders of the ten Western Ontario counties. Prize winners at County Black and White Days will compete for regional honours and a high-class exhibit is expected. Winners will be eligible for All-Canadian nomination. Three other championship shows will be held in different districts of the province at Kemptville, on October 4th; at Oakville, on October 10th, and at Warkworth on October 11th. For each of the past three years, four championship shows have been held in different parts of the province. Originally intended to take the place of the major exhibitions cancelled due to wartime conditions, they have proven very popular, with large entry lists and very keen competition prevailing.

War Plumage's mother brought $50,500 at auction — and lost race after race. The daughter vindicated the price paid for the mother. It was the Man O'War strain coming out in Winchester Cigarettes, it's the strain of the world's choicest pedigreed blends — Virginia, Burley, Turkish "blended right" — that tells in taste and delightful aroma.

Shamrocks in First Place.

The Shamrocks remain the only undefeated team in the Essex County League, after defeating the American Auto Wreckers nine with whom they were tied for first place, by the score of 4 to 3, on their home diamond, on Sunday.

The Rocks fought an uphill battle once again and, was the case two weeks ago their big inning was the last of the eighth.

The game started off as if Gouin was going to have a bad day, for he allowed three clean singles in the first inning, good for two runs; however, after the second, when the visitors got one hit, he blanked them until two were out in the ninth.

The Rocks didn't play their usual clean fielding game, being charged with four errors, only one of which figured in the scoring. Bill Russ, with four for four, was the hitting star of the game while Queen starred in the field, handling ten chances without an error.

Meloché, behind the plate, had a very bad day, which was mostly the reason that there were two or three flare-ups among the players, the most dangerous one being in the visitor's half of the ninth.

First Inning.

Auto Wreckers—Hodgins grounded out. Bill Russ to Kavanagh. Murphy struck out. Ewing dropping the third strike and throwing him out. Malott hit the first ball pitched for a clean single to center, and stole second with Gouin holding the ball; Menard singled to center to score Malott, and on a bad throw to the infield, by Clark, Menard ran all the way to third; Simmonds singled to right, to score Menard; with two strikes on Parry, Simmonds tried to steal second, but was out. Ewing to Queen—2 runs, 3 hits, 1 error.

Malottone—After pitching three straight balls to O'Brien, Dumeah struck him out; Queen also fanned, after working the count to three and two; Clark walked; Bill Russ singled to center; Clark stopping at second; Kavanagh hit back to Dumeah, who tossed him out at first—0 run, 1 hit, 0 error.

Second Inning.

Auto Wreckers—Queen took Parry's pop-up in short center; Nantais singled through the box into center; Wright laid down a sacrifice and was out. Gouin to Kavanagh; Dumeah walked; with two strikes on Parry, Simmonds tried to steal second, but was out. Ewing to Queen—2 runs, 3 hits, 1 error.

Malottone—The game here was held up for a couple of minutes, due to a shower of rain. Ewing struck out on three pitched balls; Manson Jessop hit over the fence in right center for a ground rule double; Wright fled high and deep to Hodgins in left. M. Jessop moving over to third after the catch; Gouin walked; in an attempted double steal, Gouin stole second, but M. Jessop was called out at the plate on the return throw from Menard—0 run, 1 hit, 0 error.

Third Inning.

Auto Wreckers—Gouin threw out Murphy; Malott went out in short center; first and Menard was thrown out by Bill Russ—0 run, 0 hit, 0 error.

Malottone—O'Brien singled to center; Queen was out at first; Dumeah to Nantais, on a perfect sacrifice; Clark bunted but was out, pitcher to first; O'Brien moving over to third; Russ singled to center to score O'Brien; Kavanagh grounded out. Menard to Nantais—1 run, 2 hits, 0 error.

Fourth Inning.

Auto Wreckers—Simmonds hit an easy bunted to O'Brien, but was safe at first when Bud threw badly to Kavanagh; Parry sacrificed; Gouin to Kavanagh; Nantais hit an easy liner when his bat broke, to Queen at short, who threw to O'Brien to double Simmonds off second—0 run, 0 hit, 1 error.

Malottone—Ewing's fly to right fell just inside the line, near the fence, but Dad was held to a single; Manson Jessop struck out; Wright fled high to Wright at short and Gouin grounded out, pitcher to first—0 run, 1 hit, 0 error.

Fifth Inning.

Auto Wreckers—Wright was out on a close play, short to first; Queen also threw out Dumeah on a nice play; Hodgins fled high to Clark in deep center—0 run, 0 hit, 0 error.

Malottone—O'Brien was called out on strikes; Queen went out, second to first; Clark walked, but was out trying to steal. Malott to Menard—0 run, 0 hit, 0 error.

Sixth Inning.

Auto Wreckers—Murphy hit back to the pitcher and went all the way to second, when Gouin threw over Kavanagh's head; with Malott at bat, Murphy stole third; Malott hit sharply to third and when Murphy tried to score he was trapped and run down. Queen making the put-out, however, Malott reached third on the play.

Malottone—Malott was called out on strikes; Simmonds' hit along the first base line was fielded by Gouin, who tagged the runner out—0 run, 0 hit, 0 error.

Malottone—Bill Russ hit a Texas league single to center for his third straight hit; Kavanagh sacrificed, pitcher to first; Ewing struck out; Manson Jessop grounded out, second to first—0 run, 1 hit, 0 error.

Seventh Inning.

Auto Wreckers—Mathers went to center for Malottone, Clark moving over to left; Parry was called out on strikes; Nantais walked; Manson Jessop made a nice catch of Wright's high fly in short right center; Ewing caught Dumeah's pop foul along first base line—0 runs, 0 hit, 0 error.

Malottone—Mathers struck out; Gouin, with the count three and two, was called out on a ball a foot outside; Marshall Jessop replacing O'Brien, lined to Parry in center—0 run, 0 hit, 0 error.

Eighth Inning.

Auto Wreckers—Clark made a grandstand catch of Hodgins' high fly in short left, somersaulting after getting the ball, but he held onto it; Knowles, replacing Murphy in the line-up, was called out on strikes; Malott grounded out, Russ to Kavanagh—0 run, 0 hit, 0 error.

Malottone—Queen walked; Clark pushed a bunt past Simmonds for an infield single; Russ laid down a perfect bunt toward first, Nantais fielded the ball but the batter beat his throw to Menard and the bases were loaded; with the count two balls and one strike on Kavanagh, Gerry Parent replaced Dumeah on the pitching rubber; Kavanagh walked, forcing in Queen, with the tying run; Ewing struck out after an argument as to whether he had been hit by a pitched ball, or actually attempted to bunt the ball that hit him; Manson Jessop, attempting the squeeze play, popped the ball over Menard, who rushed in to field the bunt, scoring Clark and Russ; Mathers hit to Parent, and was safe at first on a fielder's choice, Kavanagh being thrown out at the plate, Parent to Malott; Manson Jessop moved over to third on the out; with Gouin at bat, Mathers broke for second, but M. Jessop was out at the plate on a return of Malott's throw to Menard—3 runs, 3 hits, 0 error.

Ninth Inning.

Auto Wreckers—Ewing took Menard's foul near the visitor's bench. Simmonds drew a base on balls but was forced at second when Parry hit to Marsh Jessop; Nantais hit to Russ at third, for what looked like the third out, but the third sacker threw badly to Kavanagh and Nantais was safe at first and Parry moved over to third; Wright then singled to score Parry; Nantais stopping at second; Ewing was put on to run for Nantais, but Parent ended the game on a sharply hit ball to Queen, and on a nice catch by Kavanagh of Queen's low throw—1 run, 1 hit, 1 error.

Henderson-Gerard Nuptials.

A wedding of wide interest was solemnized at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, June 2nd, in the Church of the Redeemer, Paquette, when Rev. Joseph Tully officiated in marriage Miss Stella Louise Gerard, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gerard, of Sandwich South, and Pte. William Henderson, of the R.C.A.S.C., Halifax, son of the late Wm. Henderson and Mrs. Henderson, of Toronto.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Geo. Gerard, of Sandwich South, the bride looked lovely in a floor-length gown of white silk net over white satin, made on princess lines, with a sweetheart neckline, and short puffed sleeves, her veil of silk net falling from a high seeded pearl coronet into a long train, and she carried an arm bouquet of pink and white roses. She wore silver slippers and white gloves.

Miss Flossie Gerard, sister of the bride, as maid-of-honour, chose a floor-length gown of pink sheer and lace, made on Princess lines, with V-shaped neck, puffed sleeves and shoulder-length veil of pink net, with a spray of forget-me-nots. She also wore white silk gloves and carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations and sweet peas.

Miss Mary Gerard, niece of the bride, as bridesmaid, was dressed in a floor-length gown of blue net and lace; wore white silk gloves, and her headpiece was like that of the maid-of-honour. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and sweet peas.

Those who assisted the groom were Russell Withers and Joseph Gerard, a brother of the bride.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home for about seventy friends and relatives. The bride's table was centred with a four-storey wedding cake. The home was beautifully decorated with bouquets of rose, snapdragon, sweet peas, carnations, wedding bells and pink and white streamers. The bride received many beautiful gifts.

Mr. Henderson has returned to his base at Halifax, while Mrs. Henderson will live at home until after the war.

Top price for a bull was $2,800 received by T. R. Dent, Woodstock, from G. E. D. Greene, Agincourt, for a four-month-old calf. Altogether 16 animals brought at least $1,000, seven of them exceeding the $2,000 mark.

Restrictions on Teaching Profession Removed.

The Selective Service restriction that members of the teaching profession could only leave that occupation under special permit, will be rescinded from September next, according to an announcement made this week by Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour.

Th Minister explained that this was being done on recommendation of the National Selective Service Advisory Board, and after consultation with the governments of the Provinces.

"Lifting of the restrictions on teachers," the Labour Minister said, "is in line with the general policy of the Government to discontinue wartime restrictions just as soon as their purpose has disappeared. It is anticipated that by September next — the beginning of the new school year — the shortage of teachers will have eased materially, so that wartime regulation will no longer be necessary."

Hon. Mr. Mitchell further stated the Canadian teaching profession had accepted wartime restrictions in a very excellent spirit. Not only that, but in almost all cases teachers had taken on extra duties during the war without complaint, as classes were much larger due to the shortage of teachers.

"Our teachers have certainly given a high degree of patriotic wartime service," Canada has every reason to feel proud of its teaching profession. In the circumstances we are very happy to be able to remove the Selective Service restrictions that affect them," the Minister concluded.

The San Francisco Conference.

By Russell D. Ferguson.

The most outstanding event during the past week has been the declaration by Edward R. Stettinius, United States Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, of his country's stand on the question of isolation. In view of the importance of the U. S. assuming her full share in the corporate efforts now being planned in this centre, such encouraging news as Mr. Stettinius has given has been a great encouragement to all delegations.

There are many who blamed the failure of the League of Nations upon the lack of support accorded by the United States. It is no secret that in those days it amounted to political suicide for an individual or party in the U. S. Congress to advocate departure from the traditional stand of isolation from European affairs. If the sentiments expressed by her foreign secretary are indicative of the will of the people, and it must be assumed that they are, also that they are the policy of the present administration, a great victory has been won, and planners of the world peace may be assured that the great American democracy will lend her aid in bringing security to the post war world.

Doubtless many Canadian listeners heard the Secretary of State speaking from San Francisco on Monday of this week to the people of the U. S. and the forces overseas, but did not realize the import of the five points of his speech. They are worthy of notice by every well-wisher of future peace and are quoted as set out by Mr. Stettinius.

Five-Point Plan.

Mr. Stettinius declared the San Francisco Conference "can do no more than to establish the constitutional basis upon which the world can live without war — if it will."

The five points in the United States foreign policy of the future he outlined as follows:

1. Final and complete victory over Japan and adoption of measures so that Germany and Japan are never able to wage war again.

2. The United States must maintain and extend the collaboration and community of purpose now existing among the great nations which have fought the war together, since the interests of this country extend "to the whole world."

3. Full contribution by this country toward the establishment in practice of the supremacy of justice and of fair dealing for all peoples and states, large and small, together with speedy advancement of international law to meet changing world conditions.

4. Advancement of social and economic conditions "which create a climate for peace" in the world.

5. Complete abandonment of isolationism and an American realization that no longer is the "sovereignty" of any nation, "not even the most powerful," absolute.

"We in America," said the Secretary, "can never again turn our backs upon the world."

"If we do not assume our new responsibilities willingly," he warned, "then we shall be compelled to assume them by the brutal necessities of self-preservation."

The new world security organization, Mr. Stettinius declared, will be powerful enough "to prevent aggression and to develop the economic and social conditions which will reduce the causes of war."

Fifth Week of Conference.

The fifth week of the conference, May 24th to 30th, has been notable for the success of the smaller nations winning their amendments over the five sponsoring powers. These have only been committee decisions, but they are important in that they express clearly the views of the majority of the countries. Two occasions this week have indicated that the wishes of the smaller powers (in which group Canada and Australia are most active) will have to be taken into account in drafting the final charter. One question relates to the veto power of the Big Five, who were asked for an interpretation of the Yalta veto formula. So important is this question that the great powers have sent it to their home governments for directions, and the matter now rests until a reply has been received. The task then will be to draft a clause acceptable to all 49 nations.

Hopes were high for the completion of the charter on its submission to the assembly on June 7th. The delay caused has resulted in the date being advanced for another week. As the matter is vital to the smaller powers it is considered wise to give full consideration and to avoid any suggestions of rushing to conclusions which might react against the full acceptance of the charter when it goes to the governments of the member nations for acceptance and ratification.

"Individuality"

Individuality is the salt of common life. You may have to live in a crowd, but you do not have to live like it, nor subsist on its food.—Henry Van Dyke.

Imported Carrots and Cabbage Prices.

Because the supply of domestic cabbage and carrots is short at the present time, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board will permit the importing of these vegetables but they must be sold at the Canadian retail ceiling despite the higher prices in the United States. Wholesalers importing these goods may charge up to one cent a pound extra to the retailer. This order will remain in effect only until supplies of Canadian vegetables are available.

Volunteer Potato Plants are Dangerous.

Due to the heavy covering of snow on fields and the lack of frost in the land during the past winter, it has been found that many stray or cull potatoes left in the field at harvest time last fall have wintered over without injury and are beginning to grow this spring. In cases where the potato crops were infested with bacterial ring rot disease, says R. E. Goodin, potato fieldman of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, such "volunteer" plants may be the means of spreading the disease to this year's crop, particularly if potatoes are grown on the same field.

Therefore, Mr. Goodin advises strongly against growing potatoes on the same field that grew them last year, not only from a disease prevention standpoint, but because such a practice quickly uses up the supply of organic matter in the soil, necessary in potato production to hold the moisture, bring plant food into solution and provide cool, adaptable conditions for the growing plants.

Col. Geo. W. Peacock to Retire from Active Service.

Commissioner Benj. Oram, Territorial Commander for the Salvation Army in Canada, announced this week that Col. Geo. W. Peacock, who has been the Chief Secretary for the past eight years, will be retiring from active service at the end of June of the present year.

Colonel and Mrs. George W. Peacock are well known both in Canada and parts of the United States, having served at the Chicago, Ill., and Atlanta, Georgia, headquarters.

During the war Mrs. Peacock has been active as secretary for the Salvation Army Red Shield Women's Auxiliary, which has upwards of 1,500 units and 50,000 members.

Colonel Archie Layman, who will succeed Colonel Peacock, during recent years has been stationed in America. He was born in Canada and became a Salvation Army officer from Kingston, Ontario, in 1904. He was in charge of many Corps in Canada, later becoming Divisional Commander at Ottawa and Vancouver. In 1928 the Colonel was transferred to the United States; spent a period in the Hawaiian Islands, and for some years had been Property and Men's Social Service Secretary at the Territorial Headquarters in San Francisco.

Mrs. Layman is also a native of Canada, becoming an officer from Lippincott, Toronto. She was the former Edith Meader, and married in 1909.

Buckwheat as a Farm Crop.

The status of buckwheat as a farm crop in Eastern Canada varies somewhat in different districts. In Ontario where a wide variety of cereal crops are grown, buckwheat does not occupy more than 3 to 4 per cent of the area in cereals. In Quebec, buckwheat assumes a greater importance, while in New Brunswick it occupies 8 to 10 per cent of the area in grain crops, says Dr. W. G. McGregor, Cereal Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

The grain is important commercially having long been considered excellent food both for human beings and for animals. Buckwheat flour is frequently combined with flours of other grains to make a pancake flour mixture. As a food for livestock, buckwheat is regarded as almost interchangeable with barley.

Two types of buckwheat are grown. The Smooth Hulled type which includes the common varieties; Japanese and Silverhull, and the Rough Hulled type which includes the varieties Rye and Red Stem. In Ontario and Quebec the smooth hulled types are generally grown, as these are used for both livestock feed and milling. In New Brunswick, considerable of the rough hulled type is grown. Generally speaking the rough hulled type, particularly the Red Stem variety, will outyield the smooth hulled type. It is considered to be able to withstand periods of high temperatures and drying winds, which, when they occur at blossom time, cause buckwheat flowers to become blasted and barren.

Buckwheat is valued for its ability to produce a fair yield on land where wheat and even rye cannot be grown with profit. It appears able to extract plant food from the soil that is not available to other crops. It makes a heavy growth and when ploughed under decays very quickly and completely thus constituting an excellent soil crop. Its quick germination and rapid growth also give it excellent advantages as a weed destroyer.

As a wartime crop, buckwheat provides an opportunity for greater division of labour and better use of farm equipment. No extra machinery is required to handle the crop. Seedling is best delayed until the latter part of June so that the blossoming period comes in the cooler weather of late summer. Harvesting, likewise, takes place later, usually in September and in this way the crop may be handled during the more or less idle part of the season. However, the growing of buckwheat on farms which depend upon the Custom threshing is handicapped by requiring a second set some time after the regular threshing has been completed. It also may interfere somewhat with silo filling.

"Hey! When will I get the telephone I ordered?"

With the lifting of restrictions on the manufacture of many consumer and commercial products, Minister of Finance Isley said:—"Consumers must not expect an immediate increase in the available supply of these commodities." And he added, "an increase in civilian goods will depend upon the time which manufacturers will require to secure the necessary skilled labour and materials without interfering with continuing war requirements."

Our ability to instal telephones depends not on instruments alone, but also in many cases on obtaining wire, cable and exchange equipment. Even when we can secure necessary manpower and materials, it will take time—it might be months—to instal all the apparatus necessary to serve our waiting applicants.

We shall lose no time, you may be sure.

We are grateful for the patience and understanding of so many who have had to wait so long for telephone service.

"Here comes our cheque Mummy!"

All over Canada, in cities, towns, villages and on farms, hundreds of thousands of men and women watch for the postman to bring dependents' allowance cheques as other people look for pay-day. They are people of all ages whose breadwinners are away on active service. They include returned men not yet back in civil life.

And soon there will be hundreds of thousands more back from the war. They will receive cheques to help them buy civilian clothes, to go to college, to get technical or vocational training, to start in business for themselves, or to set up as farmers or fishermen.

The banks have to be prepared to cash all official cheques for these and a dozen other purposes—and to do so anywhere in Canada without charge. In fact, the banks supply Canada with the nationwide machinery to facilitate a grateful country's plans for restoring service men and women to civilian life.

This is a tremendous task. It will entail a vast amount of bookkeeping. But you can be sure that your banks will take it in their stride without impairing regular banking service.

New Pastor at Essex Gospel Tabernacle.

REV. E. C. WILLIAMS.

The new pastor of Essex Gospel Tabernacle, Mrs. Williams and their two children, Betty and Robert, will be moving to Essex in the near future. Rev. Williams has held a pastorate at Warton, Arnprior, Brantford and Port Colborne. He has been in the ministry eighteen years and has had wide experience in evangelistic work.

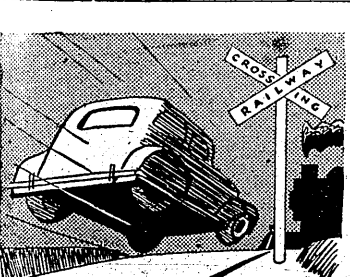

A hearty welcome was extended to Rev. Williams by the members of the Gospel Tabernacle and splendid services were enjoyed on Sunday. At the morning Communion Service, the pastor spoke on "In Remembrance." The subject at the evening service was "The Mission of the Miraculous." The minister stated many people do not believe in miracles today but Christianity is the Religion of the Miraculous, and to destroy faith in the supernatural is to destroy Christianity. He went on to say, "The Bible is a miraculous Book. Holy men wrote as they were moved by the Spirit of God. It has been miraculously preserved and its story is the story of the supernatural. Christ Jesus, the prime subject of both Old and New Testaments, was born in a miraculous manner. His ministry was one of the miracles and He commissioned His disciples to preach the same. Mark 16:15-20. Supernatural event took place at His death; the sun refused to shine at midday, the rocks were rent and the veil in the temple was rent in twain. The miracle of the Ages was the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ. All of this is attested by the power of God manifesting itself in converting the ungodly, transforming lives, and filling believers in a miraculous way with the Holy Spirit."

Canned Goods for Emergency.

A percentage of the 1945 pack of canned fruits and vegetables will be set aside for emergency use and to meet the essential needs for hospitals, the armed services and other priority and preferred users, following directives issued by F. D. Mathers, administrator of fruits and vegetables for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. The plan is the same as that in force during 1944.

Potato Prices and Imports.

To meet local needs new potatoes may be imported from the United States but only if there are not enough old potatoes in that area to fill the need. Ceiling prices for new potatoes are the same as last year. Ceiling for farmers to consumers in Western Ontario is five cents a pound and five pounds for 25 cents, with the exception of Windsor, where the ceiling is five pounds for 24 cents.

Colored Giants Still Winless.

Local 195 kept the Colored Giants out of the win column by edging them 6-5 in a closely contested game, at George Avenue Park.

They scored three more runs in the fourth on four hits, three singles and a home run. Fred Kerby drove one of the right field wall with one on. Two errors in this inning helped them out.

Local 195 scored two in the fourth on one hit and a two-base error. They scored another one in the fourth, and then won the game in the seventh with three runs on three singles and an error.

CANADA'S SUGAR SITUATION.

During the last seven months of the year Canadian consumers will receive nine pounds of sugar with a further 10 pounds permitted for canning purposes. Allowances are divided as follows: June, July, August, October and December, one pound each with two pounds each being granted in September and November. Reductions effected to meet the decreased supply will be shared by civilian consumers, members of the Armed Forces, all industries and quota users.

Answering complaints about the use of sugar by breweries the Ration Administration has announced that no sugar is used for the brewing of beer or hard liquor in Canada. At the beginning of the present year the world's stocks of sugar totalled 4,100,000 tons, the lowest in many years. By the end of the year the world's supply will be down to three million tons. Canada's supply is cut 174 million pounds.

While an increase in sugar beet production in Canada would increase the total amount of sugar in the world pool Canada would have to share the increase with the other nations drawing on the pool. Increase to Canadians would, it is estimated authoritatively, approximate one-fiftieth of a pound per person per year.

Hold Rotary Ann Night.

The Cottam Rotary Club's semi-annual Rotary Ann Night, held at "Ma" Rogers, on Tuesday evening, was possibly the most successful social evening in the short history of the club. Each member of the club invited a friend and his wife, so there were one hundred Rotarians and their wives, as well as invited guests present.

Jim Dixon, of Detroit, past president of the Detroit Rotary Club, and a past District Governor, was guest speaker and he gave a most interesting talk on "Personal Experiences in Rotary."

After keeping his listeners in laughter for ten or fifteen minutes, telling mostly of his own personal experiences, when he travelled years ago, he then branched off into the serious side of his talk.

"The great appeal of Rotary is spiritual," he stated, "as Rotary gives the man who is modest an opportunity to gain courage for, if the Rotary spirit functions properly he will not be afraid to do anything worthwhile for his community, as he will always realize he has a fine organization behind him." A good Rotarian serves unselfishly. "He profits most who serves best."

"Rotarians," he stated, "could do worse than take one of Mahatma Gandhi's proverbs to mind. 'If anyone makes me mad, he is my superior: no one can make me mad.'"

The speaker also brought to the attention of his listeners that not one nation in the world, during the period between World War I and World War II adopted a democratic form of government, naming Italy, Germany and Russia, as examples. If our democratic way of living is best, and it is, why has it not been copied, the challenge now is up to us.

The dinner meeting was presided over by Dr. Steve Millen, President of the club, while the speaker was introduced by Bert MacGirr, and thanked by "Spud" Persons.

Others to say a few words were A. J. Ashon, president, and J. A. Nightingale, past president of the Essex Club, as well as Walter Elliott, a past president of the Detroit Rotary Club, and at present secretary of the club.

A feature of the evening was a surprise presentation to President Steve, of his past president's button, by Past President J. C. Montgomery, and a new member, Garnet Malott.

The Rotary Anns and the guests were welcomed by Mesdames "Steve" Millen, Hugh Bow, Bert MacGirr, "Stan" Johnston and "Spud" Persons.

The banns of marriage were published for the first time, in St. Mary's Church, for Winnifred Ann, second daughter of Maurice Collins and Anna Kavanagh, and Kenneth Trader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Trader, of Detroit, the wedding to be an event in St. Mary's Church the latter part of June.

Mrs. Dana Guiley entertained delightfully at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael John, in honour of her sister, Miss Rosemary, a popular June bride-elect. Anogram games were enjoyed by the 35 guests and prizes were won by Mrs. Geo. Markam Jr., Mrs. Jos. Fortosky, Mrs. James Markam and Miss Jeanne Markham. Rosemary wore a smart white tailored cashmere dress with a white corsage and white roses in her hair. Miss Agnes Morrison, of Windsor, opened the many lovely gifts, taken from a huge basket prettily decorated in white and blue. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by the Misses Helen and Delores John.

The many friends of Mrs. Orville Ellis are pleased to learn she is recovering from her recent serious illness, and hope her throat condition improves. Her mother, Mrs. Thos. Little, is staying with her.

Next Sunday Local 195 is the attraction at our local ball diamond. The Shamrocks will be looking for a bigger turnout and hope all will support them, in a fine Sunday afternoon's attraction.

Assistant Cook John Rosnovan, of the R.C.N.V.R., is spending a 60-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rosnovan, before returning to his duties on the East Coast.

Armstrong-Matthews

The marriage of Wren Winifred Maude Matthews, W.R.C.N.S., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Matthews, of St. Catharines, to L. S. Joseph, of Armstrong, R.C.N.V.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Armstrong, of Essex, Ont., took place in St. George's Church at 2:30 on Saturday afternoon.

The rector, the Rev. Canon Walter Bagnall, conducted the double ring ceremony, and Eric Dowling was the organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white crepe gown, shirred and the skirt was made with inserts of Spanish lace. A coronet of white feathers held her veil which swept into a train at the back, and she carried a cascade of yellow roses and white sweet peas. She wore pearls.

Her assistants were Mrs. L. G. Bird, sister of the bride, in blue taffeta, carrying pink carnations, and Miss Evelyn Horner, in pink taffeta and blue iris. Their Mary Queen of Scots caps matched their gowns. Miss Dorothy Armstrong was the flower girl, in a white frock and carried a nosegay of pink and blue flowers. Farewell to Rev. Cosens.

Members, adherents and friends to the number of 250, gathered at the United Church, on Wednesday evening, to express their appreciation and extend their best wishes to their retiring minister, and his family, the Rev. C. W. DeWitt Cosens, Mrs. Cosens and daughters.

G. L. Duffin had charge of the program and, at the very outset, engendered a hilarious spirit that was at once contagious. Everybody joined in making the evening anything but the sad occasion that some anticipated.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Earl Reeb, who had charge of singing, and Alvin Loucks, who gave a most appropriate Bible lesson and prayer.

Miss Grace Vanstone gave an excellent piano rendition of "Moonlight Sonata," after which the chairman introduced a quartette of young men from the audience, who gave a humorous rendition on the work of the minister.

The Ministerial Association was represented by Rev. Stanley Johnston, after which Mrs. A. Shipway and Mrs. H. Findlay presented Mrs. Cosens with a beautiful mirror, in recognition of her effective work with the ladies of the congregation. Mrs. Cosens made a most appropriate reply.

J. A. Dowdell, on behalf of the Official Board and congregation, reviewed the work of the minister during the past seven years. Special items mentioned were a net increase of membership of 100, the installation of chimes (a gift of the choir at a cost of $1,175), the reduction of the mortgage on the church property from $8,002 to $2,400, an annual increase in missionary giving, and the contribution to the church deficit of $1,170.

L. W. Allison, on behalf of the congregation, presented Mr. Cosens with a purse, which contained voluntary gifts, which amounted to a very creditable sum.

Mr. Cosens replied at some length, mentioning the fine spirit which had prevailed in all departments, and thanking all for their co-operation.

The young ladies' quartette rendered the cleverly executed numbers, after which the program closed with "Blest Be the Tie that Binds."

Waters-Thorp Nuptials.

Red and white peonies, garden flowers, burning tapers, based by hand, formed the setting at a lovely wedding ceremony in New Calhoun church on Saturday, June 16th, at 3 p.m., when the Rev. Harold Ackert united in marriage Margaret Eva, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Waters, of Kingsville, and Bruce Murray Waters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Waters, of Malden.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, and was lovely in a gown of white vel-ray, with inserts of lace featuring a sweetheart neck and long fitted sleeves forming a point over her hand, the fitted full skirt extending in a train. Her full-length veil was caught to her head with a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried an arm bouquet of Calla lilies. Miss Helen Nelson, cousin of the bride, as maid of honour, wore aqua net over satin, with a sweetheart neckline and full short sleeves, fitted full-length skirt, with white plumes. She carried Tailsman roses.

Miss Doris Ferguson and Miss Jean Mitchell, the bridesmaids, wore mauve and pink respectively, their gowns being torso length full skirts, with head-dresses and flowers similar to the maid of honour. Little Miss Mildred Fox, as flower girl, wore a bouffant gown of yellow net over satin, and carried a nosegay of garden flowers.

The groom was attended by his brother Lorne, and his nephew, Gary McNally as ring-bearer. The ushers were Hugh Nelson and Leonard Beetham. During the ceremony Mrs. Alvin Thorpe sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because," with Mrs. Andrew Coatsworth at the piano.

A reception and luncheon for 85 guests followed in the church basement, where blue and white iris were used throughout. The bride's table was laid with a white linen cloth and centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, flanked on either side by four white tapers. The guests were served by the Misses Helen, Margaret and Emma Balkwill, Agnes and Marjorie Payne, Kathleen and Doris Cascarden, Bertha Balkwill, Ruth Dalton, Norma Rogers, Norma Grant, Marian and Ruth Malott and Mrs. Clayton Balkwill, assisted by Mrs. Forest Wigle and Mrs. Donald Ferguson.

Mrs. Thorpe, the bride's mother, was dressed in mauve broad cloth, with white accessories and wore a corsage of Tailsman roses. Mrs. Waters, mother of the groom, wore printed orchid with black and white accessories, and her corsage was also of Tailsman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Waters left later for Georgian Bay, the bride travelling in a yellow crepe dress, lined, with lace, aqua coat and white accessories, with a corsage of Tailsman roses. On their return they will make their home on the groom's farm in Malden.

Prior to their wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Waters were honoured at a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Thorpe. Miss Alice Tully entertained a number of girl friends of the bride at a miscellaneous shower at her home. Mr. and Mrs. Manley Thorpe also entertained in their honour.

Marsh-Bartow Nuptials.

Very quietly, at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon of last week, in the Amherstburg United Church parsonage, a wedding of wide interest took place, when the Rev. E. W. Hart united in marriage Miss Helen Bartow, of Amherstburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beverly R. Bartow, of Brantford, and John Arthur Marsh, son of Mrs. Arthur Wesley Marsh and the late Mr. Marsh.

The bride wore a smart dressmaker suit of aquamarine with a small brown hat, and gardenias, and her sister, Mrs. Robert Anderson, of Aylmer, who was her only attendant, was in a taupe dressmaker suit, and also wore brown accessories, and gardenias. W. A. Paterson, of Amherstburg, was best man. After a short trip, Mr. and Mrs. Marsh will reside in Amherstburg.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES.

By Dean Wilson.

With the political campaign of sensational charges and generous promises now being a thing of the past, there is considerable increase of activities on Parliament Hill, where it is known that various plans are in the making for carrying out some of the schemes proclaimed during the campaign, especially those which are most urgent at this time in the so-called "transition" from wartime to peacetime economy as well as other plans. Indeed, it is known that some plans had been awaiting the end of the political campaign and general election in order that stability of government may prevail in Ottawa before proceeding with them. With the election now recorded as just another page of Canada's history, the authorities on Parliament Hill may be able to go ahead and carry out the chief aims of the government, including plans to see that all Canadians willing and able to work are given work, that social insurance against all forms of illness, accident, old age and other troubles is brought into existence in time, that proper housing is provided, that Canada shall co-operate with other nations in providing the machinery for preventing future wars, and such other plans as it will be necessary. Of course, no veteran observer can promise that these and other schemes will be obtained readily, but everything in Ottawa indicates in no uncertain manner that "full speed ahead" seems to be the order of the day at this time.

It is apparent in Ottawa that the newly-elected representatives of the people may be called together for a session as soon as preparations have been completed for such a gathering since the dissolution of the 19th Parliament on April 17th had occurred at a time when several important matters were pending, including the budget itself in addition to other items. Hints of changes in the taxation schedule, especially the relief of income tax payments in the lower brackets, were given lately and action is now expected to bring such changes into existence. Then again, there are a multitude of other matters of legislation which should be given an airing in the House of Commons. Finally, it would not be surprising if the new session would be more exciting than any of the recent years for the simple reason that the opposition forces in the new Parliament will be greatly increased numerically and otherwise, with the official opposition being led by the Hon. John Bracken, who has much ammunition to use against the Government and backed by forces consisting of no less than sixty odd followers. Moreover, the C.C.F. have increased their supporters in the House of Commons, and an unusually large group of independent members will be present. In other words, the new session will be highly inflammable and no rubber stamp gathering, with open predictions in some quarters on Parliament Hill that it will last likely well over 65 days, if the members are to get their full $4,000 seasonal indemnity.

According to a report heard in Ottawa, a proposition has been made that Canada's capital, Ottawa, should be made the centre of the new world security organization and three reasons have been given for this proposal, namely, that it is the ideal location from a geographical standpoint, that it is of great international importance, and that it is an outstanding example of the mingling of the two races or cultures, Latin and Anglo-Saxon.

Judging by the activities of those responsible for carrying out these duties, all is ready in the Department of Finance and other Departments of the Government in the capital to pay off quickly the men and women who will be leaving the armed services by ever-increasing numbers during the coming weeks and months in this country's demobilization programme, with millions of dollars, going out of the national treasury in the course of these payments of the taxpayers' money as war service gratuities, salaries, family allowances, and so forth, though it will be a most impressive bill for some all-time record. When the 1945-46 estimates were passed in the last session of Parliament, seven-twelfths of war and civilian estimates were not passed before the Parliament was dissolved.

A most interesting set of facts have been disclosed in Ottawa that these have caused much comment in the capital. Of Canada's 243 constituencies, the rural vote in the last general election was dominant in 151 and the urban vote in 75, with a total of 101 ridings being almost all rural or not more than 10 per cent of urban polls and, in 50 ridings the rural vote being predominant.

In regard to the claim that the Veterans' Affairs Department was supposedly providing inadequate means for veterans' dental work, it has been reported in Ottawa that the post-discharge dental treatment scheduled had been arranged with the full co-operation of the Canadian Dental Association. Moreover, concerning the allegation about supposedly insufficient payments for treatment of trench mouth and pyorrhea infection, a maximum of four treatments in the case of pyorrhea and five in the case of trench mouth were scheduled, with provision being made that, if professional advice had been further treatments to be necessary.

sary, such advice would be considered by the Department's dental chief and seen in excess of the normal schedule for dental work would be dealt with by the proper authorities in Ottawa.

It is no secret along Parliament Hill that the liquor problem has provided a severe headache for the authorities because there would have been loud insistent demands for a long time that complete relaxation of controls should be made to enable full supplies of all liquor requests and from other sources have come equally strong demands that liquor restrictions should be enforced as much as possible for moral reasons, or for no other causes. However, in face of all changes and demands for more it appears along Parliament Hill that Canada may move more or less in harmony with the United States in this matter. It is also recalled that not so long ago the United States distilleries were allowed a month in which to produce beverage liquors and a somewhat similar policy was followed in Canada, with the Canadian distilleries being permitted nine days in each of three consecutive months or 27 days in all to manufacture such beverage liquors. Then again, for a considerable period now both countries' distilleries have been using all their available facilities for the sole object of manufacturing industrial alcohol for essential war purposes.

The Election Result.

Commenting on the general election The Financial Post has this to say editorially:

"In this week's General election, the Canadian people by an overwhelming majority declared that they do not want a socialist revolution; that they do believe the individual enterprise system can meet the challenge of the years ahead; that on its ability to 'deliver the goods' they pin their faith."

"Here is the great challenge for Canadian businessmen."

"Most important for the future of Parliament is the election of Peel and of some vigorous, intelligent and promising younger men — men like Claxton, Abbott, Martin, Merritt, Fleming, to mention only a few. Parliament has received a rich transfusion of new blood."

"Canada has a great deal more national unity than much recent election talk admitted. The vote demonstrated the very important and significant fact that Quebec will not support, narrow, prejudiced effort to isolate it from the larger Canadian nationhood; that it has a sober, political realism which has little use for clowns and mountebanks."

Woodbine Loses to Wreckers.

Spitting Woodbine Lunch one run in the first frame, the American Auto Wreckers went on to win their game at George Avenue Park, Windsor, 4-1 on Sunday, in an Essex County League fixture.

Three singles gave the Lunch lads their run with Russ Evon crossing the plate for the tally. The Auto Wreckers came through in the third inning to tie the score on a double, a sacrifice and an error.

The Wreckers went ahead in the fourth frame on a single by Jack Parry who went to third on an infield out and scored on a wild pitch. Two more runs were added, one in the fifth and one in the eighth.

Gerald Favens, pitched five-hit ball for the winners, striking out six men while walking none. Woodbine had only three men left on base.

Tecumseh Beats Giants.

Tecumseh defeated the Colored Giants 5-2 in a game at Tecumseh, over the weekend.

The county team scored one run in the first without a hit on a walk to Bob Sawyer who stole second and went to third when the Giants' catcher, Scott, threw into centre field. Sawyer scored on Eddie Bruneteau's fly to left field.

The Giants tied the score in the fifth on an almost identical chain of plays. Fred Thomas, walked, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and scored when Cliff Walls grounded out to second.

Tecumseh scored the winning run in the seventh. Harold Jackson was safe on an error, went to second on Craig's single to left and scored when John Day muffed the ball, Craig pulling up at third. Craig scored when Catcher Scott dropped the third strike on Dom Papineau and had to throw him out at first.

Only one of Tecumseh's runs was earned, while the Giants had to work for both of their runs.

Period for Selling Hens is Extended.

The period at which hens may sell at the highest price level has been extended from June 20th to July 31st has been announced by the foods division of the regional office of the War-time Prices and Trade Board.

It was explained the reason for this is that owing to the cool weather the hens were still in good laying condition, and in this way maximum egg production would be maintained.

Hand Milking is on the Way Out

Freedom from the tiring and tiresome job of hand milking twice a day has been gained by thousands of farm families through the use of a modern milking machine.

One person can milk up to 20 cows in an hour with a milking machine—it keeps a good hand milker busy to milk 7 to 9 cows in the same time.

This saving of time and labor is important, especially when good farm help is hard to get, but at any time milking is a disliked chore that the family is glad to have taken off their hands. The hours of time saved with a milking machine does mean something in dollars and cents but it means a lot more in making farm life easier and more pleasant. Everybody welcomes the relief from the milking time blues that a milking machine brings.

The modern, practical and economical way to do things is to use machines instead of muscles wherever possible—that is why hand milking is out for dairymen who have experienced the comfort and convenience of a mechanical milker.

Among the time and labor saving machines your local Massey-Harris dealer has to offer is the Rite-Way Milker—the modern milker with the natural action. Ask him for particulars about this machine that does so much to make dairy farming easier and more profitable.

Ration Coupons Collected Every Four Weeks.

Coupons for rationed foods will now be collected every four weeks by those operating summer hotels, boarding houses and summer tourist homes, according to an announcement of the regional ration office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

The previous system was to collect coupons from residents of these establishments every two weeks. Now it will not be necessary for any guest in either summer hotels, boarding houses, or summer tourist camps to present ration books if their stay is less than one month.

Pricing Order is Safeguard.

Very soon now women will be wearing their new Easter finery a smart dress, suit or coat. Whether the bills are footed by themselves or their menfolk for the fact that those bills aren't any higher they may thank the pricing system of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, which is proving a "watch dog" for merchants and customers alike.

According to the Western Ontario regional pricing officer of the Board, merchandise which is sold today under a price ceiling should be approximately the same price as during the fall of 1944. However, in many cases, the necessity has demanded substitution of many materials. To ensure proper pricing of this substitute merchandise, every manufacturer must have his prices approved by his industry administrators. At the same time the Retail Administrator sets the maximum price or mark-up for retail stores.

The same procedure is necessary for "new" or "disimilar" lines, he said. Although merchants should be informed by their invoices of the maximum prices or mark-up if there is any doubt as to their correct maximum price they should apply to their nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board. The fact that merchants were adhering to this special pricing order 414 was shown by the hundreds of applications that were received at the regional office, he said. Proof that this pricing order was proving satisfactory was shown in the fact that the shopper under wartime conditions, he concluded.

Essex Town Council.

Wednesday, June 13th. Council met in special session, at 8 p.m., with Mayor Francotte, Reeve Doyle and Councillors Chase, Shaw, Cascadden, Hutchinson, Hines and Skinner present.

The Mayor stated that he had called the meeting at the request of Mr. Duffin, senior Public School Inspector, who had requested that Council pass a resolution requesting County Council to form a High School District of Essex, Townships of Colchester North and Gosfield North and sections (as designated) of the Townships of Maldstone, Rochester and Sandwich South.

On motion of Messrs. Doyle and Chase, the Clerk and Mayor were authorized to sign an application to be forwarded to Essex County Council, requesting the dissolution of the present High School District, and the formation of a High School District, with Essex as its center, including the Town of Essex, Townships of Colchester North and Gosfield North and parts of the Townships of Maldstone, Rochester and Sandwich South.

A letter, quoting prices for numbers, re street numbering scheme, was referred to the Property Committee, on motion of Messrs. Chase and Hutchinson.

Following a long discussion on town dump ground matters, during which it was reported that the committee in charge had the grounds put in A-1 shape, by a bulldozer, at a cost of over $200, it was decided, on motion of Messrs. Cascadden and Hines, that an overseer for the dump be hired for a month and that a large sign be erected as follows: "This dump ground is for use of town residents only. Carry one from out-of-town dumping garbage or rubbish on grounds will be prosecuted. Dump according to sign only."

A. G. Cascadden reported he had a cash offer of $500 for the 50 ft. next to L. W. Allison's office, of the town lot facing Center street. He wanted to know if council proposed going through with the deal or selling the lot to the Hydro Division of the Public Utilities Commission.

On motion of Messrs. Doyle and Chase, the Mayor was asked to have members of the Commission meet with Council, at its next regular meeting, on June 26th, to further discuss the matter.

The Clerk was instructed to write Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Furlong requesting them that they place their garbage and rubbish in containers at the rear of their property facing Albert street and not just dump same on the ground.

The Clerk was instructed to write the Pickle-Seagrave people, re sale, by them, of Town's truck, at a price of $1,000, within two weeks.

A lengthy discussion followed re setting a date for a reception for our boys now home from overseas. Friday, June 29th was set as a tentative day, with more particulars later. Council adjourned.

Human facilities are common, but that which converges these facilities into my identity, separates me from every other man.—Giles.

"Canadian Homes" Survey.

Fifty-five per cent of village homes and 64% of farmhouses need repairs. Twenty per cent of farms and 14% in smaller urban centers are so run-down that only major replacements, such as new plaster or new floors, will help. In many cases only new houses will do.

That is what many hundreds of women, a scientifically-selected cross-section of Canadian housewives, told 135 women selected from their home areas across Canada and trained to get exact answers to 110 questions put to each woman. The survey took three months and the complete findings, which will be given government and other housing authorities are still being worked out. Figures on some aspects of the survey were released this week by Lever Brothers Limited, Ottawa, who are being completed and will be issued later.

People interviewed live in houses valued in normal times at $1,000 or less, or renting for not over $40 a month, or on farms of 200 acres or under. They represent 82% of the people of Canada.

Overcrowding is the worst problem and its remedy heads the list of things to be done. The average Canadian home has a bit over one room per occupant. That takes in kitchens and living rooms and the occupants include farmhands and maids, lodgers, roomers, boarders and relatives. In villages the number of outsiders living with the family is twice as large. In cities and towns every sixth house is bulged with boarders or lodgers.

In village, town and city homes an extra one family in ten has taken in grandparents, parents or married sons or daughters. The figure is double that on farms. People are sleeping all over the house. The non-bedroom sleepers total 4% on farms, 9% in non-farm rural areas and 12% in urban centers.

Two percent of farmers, according to their wives, will buy new homes as soon as war's end frees materials and labor. In villages the figure is three percent, in bigger places 7%. The numbers who will buy if conditions permit don't cut present income — run 2, 6 and 7 in the same areas. Farmers in 20 will build, and be joined by 6 per cent of villagers and 9% of city folk. Those who have building plans, but first want to make sure of postwar conditions, number 2, 5 and 5%.

Naturally, the tendency for farmers to stay where they are but improve present houses by alterations, improvements, additions and repairs, is stronger than among townsmen. Over one farmer in five has plans to improve or alter his present house. 6% will build on more rooms and the same number will make needed repairs. In non-farm rural communities the same categories run 3, 3 and 5, while in larger towns and in cities the plans rate 4, 1 and 5. Only one farm woman in 50 said family plans were to sell the farm and move to town. There were older women.

Many construction faults were revealed. Among them is the fact that although 94% of village homes and 51% of farm homes checked have electric lights, 17% in villages and 7% on farms have rooms so dark, lights have to be turned on in the daytime.

Explanation for dark rooms on farms is often existence of broad verandahs or nearby clusters of out-buildings. Another cause is lack of windows or poor location of such windows as they have. Forty-five percent of farm homes are lit by coal oil lamps, 3% by gas and 5% by gasoline lamps.

Some farms reported several rural electrification results from checking only smaller farms. Since they are near urban centres, they have access to urban power lines. Over-all national average of farm electrification, taking in all farms, big or small, near town or remote, was only 20% on the last national census of 1941.

Over one farm woman in 12 (8%) demands improved heating systems, such as furnaces. In smaller urban centres the request tops one in nine (11%). Only about 4 in 10 homes on farms and in villages have furnaces, as against 7 in 10 of the bigger towns and cities. The rest are heated mainly by wood stoves, coal stoves or combination heaters. Some people have several types of heating, so that even though 70% of townspeople have furnaces, nearly half of them also have wood or coal stoves.

Menace of Rats.

Of the many reasons calling for the ruthless extermination of rats, the dissemination of the bubonic plague by rats is the most urgent. In the 14th century this plague, known as "The Black Death," devastated Europe, taking the lives of 25,000,000 people, or a fourth of the total population. Since the discovery that bubonic fleas from rodents and the plague rat, it is not the awesome disease it once was although the death rate is still tremendous in Indian and certain other countries.

The present pandemic started in India in 1894 and spread to all continents and to nearly every country of the world. From 1898 to 1923, there were 10,822,331 deaths from plague recorded in India. On several occasions, there have been outbreaks of plague in the United States, notably in 1914 and Galveston in 1920. Because the role of the rat was known, these outbreaks were soon got under control. In all about 450 people died.

In the first outbreak at San Francisco in 1900, the plague was contracted by ground squirrels and, before this fact was discovered the disease was transmitted to other animals, and became endemic to such an extent that it has not been possible to eradicate it. Under this form, known as the sylvatic plague, it has been identified in rats, ground squirrels wood rats, deer mice, and woodchucks in 10 of the western States. Sylvatic plague is not so highly contagious to man, but there is a menace in the ever-present possibility that house rats may become reinfected in the population centres and that human cases of bubonic plague contracted from native rodents may develop the secondary form, which is highly contagious directly from person to person. Where there are rats, the danger exists.

Molasses for Agricultural Purposes.

It is no longer necessary to report sales of molasses for agricultural purposes, according to W. Harold McPhail, prices and supply representative of Prices Board of Western Ontario. Previous to this new order, which takes effect immediately, retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers of molasses were required to make monthly reports of their sales of this commodity for agricultural purposes. Ceiling prices however, remain unchanged. A reminder is issued that manufacturers or mixers of feeds may not use either beet or cane molasses in the preparation of feeds and poison bait for pest control without written permission of the administrator.

Government wartime restrictions on schedules and routes are designed to speed up the discharge of bricklayers so they will be available for essential building construction in Canada.

Paint Manufacturers at Wit's End to Supply Demands.

Canadian paint manufacturers, with demand for their products at an all-time high and with vital raw materials increasingly hard to get, are hard-pressed these days to keep retail dealers and other customers supplied. But even as they combat all the problems created by war demands, they are busy preparing for the future and making their plans to place even better products on the post-war market.

Just what improvements are likely in post-war paint products, then, in view of the vastly-increased experience of the war years? Here are some of the possibilities that will make painting of the future a real adventure in color while providing better protective coatings than ever before.

1. Paints that will answer the demand for quick-drying finishes.

2. Paints with greater wear resistance.

3. Paints providing greater hiding power at low cost, with a maximum of durability and appearance value.

4. Colors that will satisfy a growing demand for brightness.

5. Resin emulsion paints of an improved type for interior flat finishes.

6. A long line of specialties such as fire-resistant paints; mildew preventives; paint deodorants; paints with high germ-killing qualities; reinforced oils and liquids which will facilitate painting over old glosses and varnish surfaces; and calcimine coatings.

All those things won't be alone immediately, but they are a definite prospect as soon as paint men can start getting all the raw materials they need which have been in such short supply for so long.

Synthetic Tires Stand Speedway Test.

In a statement issued this week by W. H. Funston, President of the Fire Stone Tire & Rubber Company, of Canada Limited, synthetic tires made by his company have successfully completed a most gruelling speed test made to ascertain just how such tires stand up under high speeds.

The test was authorized by the U. S. Government and conducted by the American Automobile Association. The test was the Indianapolis Speedway, scene of the pre-war automobile classics. Wilbur Shaw, famous three-time winner of the Indianapolis race, volunteered to make the test. Driving a racing car equipped with regular tires taken from stock, Shaw drove 500 miles miles at an average speed of 100 miles per hour, taking the turns at 90 miles and stepping up to more than 135 miles an hour on the straightaways without a single skid or blowout. Tire engineers say it is equal to 50,000 miles of ordinary driving.

"This proves conclusively," Mr. Funston points out, "that synthetic tires are as good as high speeds. The test was authorized by the U. S. Government to find out what might be the result of synthetic tire performance when the war-time speed limits are lifted. The results speak for themselves. However, if car owners hope to keep their cars in service—it is vitally necessary that they continue to observe wartime speed limits and all the other simple, yet fundamental, precautions which have proved so successful in keeping Canada's irreplaceable cars in service," declares Mr. Funston, "for it looks like a long time yet before the average car owners will be able to get new tires."

Easing restrictions on Canadian pleasure travel to the United States, Canada's Foreign Exchange Control Board has announced that no foreign exchange permit will be required to take $50 or less in United States currency out of Canada.

YOU CAN LIVE WITHOUT HYDRO but...

Can you remember when making toast meant holding bread over red hot coals? ... and wash day meant hours of rubbing on a board? ... and oil lamps had to be cleaned and trimmed those days when it took hours of toil to perform tasks that can now be done electrically in a few minutes. In a comparatively short period of time they have seen electricity grow from a small beginning into one of the most important and beneficial services in the world to-day.

To bring the electrical way of living to more and more people, Hydro has harnessed Ontario's great water power resources to provide this Province with an abundant supply of low-cost electricity enjoyed by few places elsewhere in the world. This is largely because citizens of Ontario co-operated to organize and support Hydro, and have built it up through steadily increased use of its service. Hydro is completely self-supporting. It operates on a service-at-cost basis, and the more it is used the less it costs.

Here is how Hydro rates have dropped with increased use:

Year	Average Annual domestic use kilowatt-hours	Average cost per kilowatt-hour
1914..	270	5c
1924..	960	1.9c
1934..	1716	1.5c
1943..	2220	1.19c

As you plan your post-war home remember that you will want more and more electrical comforts. When you build or remodel, be sure that your home is wired adequately, with plenty of wall and other outlets in every room. Plan wisely now to take full advantage of this Hydro of yours.

The Sunlight of Truth.

A group of people sat disconsolately on the porch of a beach clubhouse. Before them was a beautiful stretch of sand. It was a warm summer afternoon, and every facility for pleasant bathing was available, but not a person was on the beach. One thing was lacking. The sun was obscured by rain clouds, and the sunlight that bathers love was missing. What a difference sunlight makes! Only that was needed to transform a dismal, deserted beach into a bright and animated one.

Similarly, only the light of spiritual understanding is needed to dispel the darkness of material sense and reveal the beauty and harmony of God's universe. When spiritual understanding enlightens thought, the darkness of ignorance disappears, with its fears and limitations, its sickness, sin, lack, loneliness, its doubts and burdens. These clouds of mental darkness vanish in the light of spiritual truth, and the radiance of reality is seen.

Isaiah described the liberating light of the Christ, Truth, in the lovely lines (Isaiah 9:2): "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light; they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined."

Constantly reflecting his Father-Mother God, the great Teacher Christ Jesus was and is "the light of the world."

Of the Christ, which he so fully exemplified, Mary Baker Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to Scriptures" (p. 332): "Christ is the true idea voicing good, the divine message from God to men speaking to the human consciousness. The Christ is incorporeal, spiritual — yes, the divine image and likeness, dispelling the illusions of the senses; the Way, the Truth and the Life, healing the sick and casting out evils, destroying sin, disease, and death."

The healing and harmonizing effect in the lives of many and is available to all. Its shining is perpetual, undimmed by time or sense. It need only be sought, to be seen.—Christian Science Monitor.

A people, it appears, may be progressive for a certain length of time, and then stop. When does it stop? When it ceases to possess individuality.—John Stuart Mill.

The Salvation Army.

"Is God pleased with your service for Him?" We will consider this question which is so important for every Christian at the Holiness meeting next Sunday at 11 a.m. The day's activities will commence at 10 a.m., however, with a half hour of prayer and a half-hour open-air meeting. Sunday school begins in the afternoon at 2. The lesson will be "Elisba and the Lady of Shunem" 2 Kings 4:8-37. Text to learn: "Give and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, shaken together, and running over." Luke 6:38. Perhaps your church does not have a service on the evening during the summer months. Why not come to the Army at 7.30 and enjoy a bright, gospel meeting. Consider this logical reasoning: "What shall it profit a man if he gain the world and lose his own soul?" "Neither is there salvation in any other; for there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved."

Interdenominational.

Over sixty young people of Essex and vicinity spent a bright, thoughtful hour together at the Salvation Army Citadel Sunday evening, June 3rd, the fifth Interdenominational Fireside Fellowship. Elvin Kettlewell, as master of ceremonies, led us along in an informal way through a program planned by Marlon McIlwain, song leader for the evening. A unique vocal quartette sang the theme hymn, "I Love to Tell the Story" (unique because Anglicans, represented four groups, and Salvation Army). Rev. C. W. D. Cosens, who shortly will leave Essex for a new charge in Toronto, led a meditation on the thought of the theme hymn, inviting comments and discussion as he went along. Several of his interested listeners contributed their ideas and as we sang the hymn again in closing, as we sang the hymn again in closing, its words were close. During the meeting announcements were made that the Fireside would be discontinued for the summer months. All who have attended will look forward keenly to their re-commencement next fall.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Ezra Hunter, who passed away two years ago, June 22nd, 1943.

"Tis sweet to remember a son and brother so dear, Although absent from us he is ever so near. Unseen by the world he stands by our side, And whispers my loved ones death cannot divide.

Our hearts still ache with sadness, Our eyes shed many a tear, God only knows how we miss him, As this ends the second sad year.

Sadly missed by his wife and family, mother, father, sisters and brother.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Donald Newman, who passed away one year ago, June 23rd, 1944.

There is no death: the stars go down To rise upon some fairer shore. And bright in heaven's jewelled crown They shine forever more.

There is no death: an angel form Walks o'er the earth with silent tread; He bears our best loved things away And then we call them "dead."

He leaves our hearts all desolate; He plucks our fairest, sweetest flower; Transplanted into bliss, they now Adorn immortal bowers.

Mourned by his parents, sister, and brothers.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Sgt. Ronald Law, killed on Active Service, June 22nd, 1943.

Somewhere in far-off Holland, In an airman's grave, Lies our dear son and brother, among the brave;

He never shunned his country's call, He gladly gave his life, his all, He died the helpless to defend, A faithful airman's noble end.

Sadly missed by mum, dad and sister.

Letter from Mrs. Fune.

Sonla, Tonkin, French Indo China, March 15th, 1945.

Dear Folks—We are very happy to have the privilege of sending you a letter. I sent a short note in August, but I wonder if it reached you. Your last group of letters came in October and we are anxious for Miss Thomson and her fellow workers, because of the events of that time. The latest news was that of April 1944. From Jean's folks we have had nothing since last May, when we received one card from Papa Fune and one from Andre sent in the spring of 1943. We are concerned for Paul and even Andre may be recalled. The same possibility presents itself for Jean.

But to give you some news of ourselves first. We have passed through some trying experiences, but God has kept and blessed us. We do not ask, nor try to understand now, some day God will make all clear.

At the end of the year last June, we were a complete surprise to us as we had to change the baggage arrangements three times. We could take so little with us. After 11 days we arrived, all tired to the point of exhaustion, only to find that Jean wasn't there at the Gare Indochinoise and the children and myself at the bungalow. He was allowed to come to see us three times a week for an hour each time and we went once a week. I was so tired with all the work for the children and our servants had not arrived, that they let George go with Jean for a week. Later on, after the servants arrived, I just couldn't get built up and George had to go up with Jean two other times. Jean stood the experience well, he had his Thai books (sent by mail) and worked on translation and copying. What was hardest of all was the lack of Christian fellowship and the type of people with whom we were in contact. We praise God for many kindnesses which were shown to us and some real friends we have made through the experience.

I am sorry I cannot write at length, but perhaps the least said is soonest better. As for our health, we were very much disappointed in Kiang Khouang. We had heard so much about it, but there was one of us sick practically all the time. George has suffered the most. He had an attack of malaria on Sept. 17th, and from then until now has been running a low temperature between normal and 100 or 100½. About once a month he has a high temperature, 103½ or 104 for several days. The last attack, in February, alarmed us. We never saw him in such a weak condition. We are thankful to see him picking up. The doctors (French) have examined him well, and find no reason for this fever. He continues to grow very rapidly, is now 128 cm, and Esther 90. He went to school two weeks and since then, when able, I have helped him with lessons but he just seems to get caught up to his old place when he gets another attack. Esther is healthy and quite robust in appearance. Her liver does not function as it should and even to eat a cookie that has had an egg in the whole baking will make her break out in spots. She just cannot eat eggs out in spots. Jean came to live with us at the bungalow on October 26th, waiting to go to Samnua in Residence Forsee (forced). But there were no cars running for two months because of the typhoon and at that time the piste (footpath) was not practicable. Later we were told to remain in Kiang Khouang awaiting the possibility of liberation. Permission came the 17th of January to return to Sonla. We came the back way, part way by car but Ban Ban to Samnua by Piste (footpath). Much could be written about that, there were so many experiences peculiar to wartime travel. Esther and I were in one wicker chair and George in another. These were arranged on bamboo and corried by coolies. The coolies changed every day and even during the day. They had never seen a chair like that and they knew nothing about manoeuvring it in the zig-zags with mountains rising abruptly on one side and chasm on the other, the path just wide enough to walk. We had to walk in many places. Jean would carry Esther on his back or put her on the horse. Our longest day was 18 miles, but length really means nothing because of the tremendous heights one has to climb only to go down again. Never-theless we thoroughly enjoyed the trip and praise God for bringing us through safely. We were so tired of being cooped up in one room, during the rainy season and the children couldn't even go out to play. It has been hard to discipline them, as they need, because of persons in adjoining rooms, etc. We were surely glad to get back home. The preacher and his wife, had very faithfully looked after the house for us.

We have had no direct news from the other missionaries for a long time. In the summer time Mr. Y said that there was a possibility of release for health reasons for the families of Peterson, Cadman and Irwin, but he never mentioned it again, so we assume that it has not been done. We have heard that Mrs. Cadman and a tall, downy man, and is not well, but we cannot give any details. Thank you so much for all your prayers. Please keep on praying, we need it so much. Our teeth are in a terrible condition. We do hope for a furlough soon. As for myself, I was so tired and weak at Kiang Khouang, even after Jean came, that I just couldn't gain back my strength. I was under medical care for some time, finally the beginning

A Little Rhyme, Lot of Reason

Gentle farmer, please be calm,
Is the Electric Company's psalm.
Though your lights are overdue,
For a month or maybe two,
We can't help it, please don't swear,
Labour's scarce, and metal's rare,
Can't get meters, can't get poles,
Can't get time to dig the holes.

Joe's on war work, so is Bill,
All our work has been uphill.
So your service, we're afraid,
May be still a bit delayed.
But you'll get it, don't be vexed,
Maybe this month, maybe next.
Keep on hoping, don't say die,
We'll try as hard as we can try.

Many Canadians Take Trip to Sandusky on S.S. Pelee.

For Canadians desiring a real holiday — one that offers relaxation and plenty of activity at the same time, the boat trip on the S.S. Pelee to Sandusky, Ohio, is the answer.

Leaving the Government docks at Kingsville at 4 p.m. every Monday, Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday; and from Leamington every Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at the same time, the S.S. Pelee offers a pleasant lake cruise with comfortable accommodations and a variety of refreshments from the ship's canteen.

The trip includes a stop, enroute, at Pelee Island, Canada's famous paradise for fishermen.

Upon arrival at Sandusky, amusements galore are in store for visiting Canadians. For those desiring to remain for 48 hours, or longer, Ohio's shipping centres, including Cleveland and Toledo, which are only a short drive away, and connected with train and bus, are very inviting and Canadians are permitted to bring home $100 of American merchandise per person, duty free.

Many points of interest await the sightseers to Ohio. Sandusky itself offers numerous visiting spots including the famous Cedar Point with amusements of every description, while recreation and history is found at Castalia, Port Clinton, Lakeside, Marblehead, Put-in-Bay, Milan and other nearby centres.

The S.S. Pelee accommodates automobiles, and Canadians upon arrival in the United States are permitted 15 American gallons of gasoline which will serve nicely for trips throughout Ohio. Any persons travelling to Cleveland will find a saving in gasoline and approximately 150 miles by taking the short-cut to the United States via the S.S. Pelee.

On returning to Canada, one will not want to miss a visit to the famous Jack Miner Sanctuary in Kingsville, Ontario.

Further information regarding the 8-hour cruise on the S. S. Pelee, hotel or other accommodations in Sandusky, can be obtained by writing to the Pelee Shipping Company Limited, St. Thomas, Ontario.

Tobacco Harvesters for Ontario.

A. MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service, stated this week that word had been received from Brigadier General William C. Ross, vice-chairman of the War Manpower Commission at Washington, that the Commission would give assistance in any way possible in securing the workers necessary to aid in curing the tobacco crop in Southwestern Ontario.

For some years experienced workers have not been available in Canada to work on the tobacco harvest, and this situation has been accentuated by the war. Due to labour shortages in the United States, it is more difficult to secure workers from the tobacco growing States than in normal times. However, with the assistance of the War Manpower Commission assured, officers of the National Employment Service are more optimistic of being able to meet the needs of the tobacco growers in Ontario.

They won't be his, unless all of us make sure, when our fighting man comes back, his dollar will be worth a dollar.

To protect his dollar, we must realize NOW the dangers of careless, unnecessary buying. We must buy only what we need — never buy two where one will do! Make this Pledge Today!

I pledge myself to do my part in fighting inflation!

By observing rationing and avoiding black markets in any shape or form.

By respecting price controls and other anti-inflation measures and refraining from careless and unwise, say buying, I will not buy two where one will do, nor will I buy a "new" where an "old" will do.

By buying Victory Bonds and War Savings Stamps, supporting rationing, and abiding by all such measures which will lower the cost of living and help keep prices at a normal level.

THE NEW ONTARIO

THERE'S ENOUGH IN THE SUGAR BOWL... If we all share equally

We Canadians, together with the citizens of the United States and Great Britain, will eat less sugar during the balance of 1945.

To meet our own needs and the urgent requirements of our Allies and the liberated countries, our share of the reduction must total nearly 200,000,000 pounds of sugar during the rest of the year.

To assure fair distribution of what is left, the sugar ration is to be cut by five pounds during the next seven months by reducing the monthly allotment to one pound in June, July, August, October and December. In September and November, the allowance will remain unchanged at two pounds.

The ten pound sugar allotment for home canning, represented by twenty extra preserves coupons, remains unchanged. Two regular preserves coupons will continue to become valid each month.

ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT SUGAR

Q. How does Canada get its share of world sugar supplies?

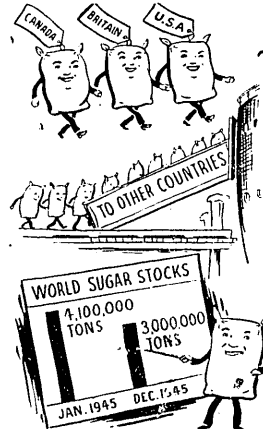

A. World stocks are pooled by the Combined Food Board of the United Nations which allows sugar to Canada, United States and Great Britain on a uniform per capita basis.

Q. Where does the rest of the world sugar supply go?

A. To other claimants, including liberated areas, European neutrals, Russia, the Middle East, New Zealand and other sugar-importing countries. Approximately one-half of this total is destined for liberated areas.

Q. Is there less sugar in the world today?

A. Yes. Because needs are up and production is down, world sugar stocks reached a new low at the beginning of 1945. By the end of the year, they will be down again, this time to a dangerous minimum.

Q. Why is there more demand for sugar?

A. The rising demand largely reflects the needs of liberated areas.

Q. Why is there less production?

A. World sugar output is lower for these reasons:

1. Enemy occupation of some sources such as Java and the Philippines. Java, of course, is still in Japanese hands and, although the Philippines are liberated, production is not expected to be restored until late in 1946.
2. Other export countries have experienced serious shortages of labour and fertilizer.
3. Record drought conditions and hurricanes have also cut into production in the important West Indian area.

INDUSTRIAL AND QUOTA USERS WILL ALSO GET LESS

Effective July 1, 1945, sugar made available to industrial users, such as bakers, biscuit and breakfast cereal manufacturers, makers of soft drinks, confectionery and candy, and jam and wine manufacturers, will again be reduced.

A further cut is also being made in the allotment to quota users, such as public eating places, while similar reductions are being made by the Armed Forces in the sugar quotas for service personnel.

THEY SEEK A COUNTRY.

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.

Now that Germany has come to the end of her long and bitter deluded road, it may be permissible to consider what it was that allowed her to go that way. Was she all bad, as the record of the dreadful internment camps would seem to suggest? We know that this isn't so. We have always known that to group all Germans as evil was to fly in the face of known facts that would belie any such conclusion. We must keep that thinking clear, as we keep our hearts hard against those Germans who have made that name an evil word through all the world.

We must remember that the man who led us to victory wears a German name and has a German ancestry. That throughout all the Army and Navy leadership there appear names that are irrefutably German. We can scan the daily casualty lists, and any day find men of German ancestry giving their safety and their lives to fight the bitter doctrines for which this defeated Germany has stood.

There has always been a flame in the human spirit that is greater even than the tug of home. When oppression or unwise thinking has become too hard to bear, people will still love liberty and truth and justice have always steered themselves to go out courageously, not knowing whither they went, but seeking a country where their hearts and their thoughts might be free, and where they might stand for the eternal goodness and right that was a deeper desire in them than the love they bore their native land.

The sad and bitter truth is that the real cause of Germany's vast tragedy is not that she betrayed a world but that she broke faith with her own people, who loved her, who had worked for her, who had seen her beauties, and knew her qualities, and who realized how the peculiar German attributes of artistry and intellect might have enriched the world. But instead there was only the strident Prussian dream that became debauched and bestialized in the Nazi philosophy, and these German men and women of good will, who could not believe in force, found that they had no spiritual country of their own, and must seek another.

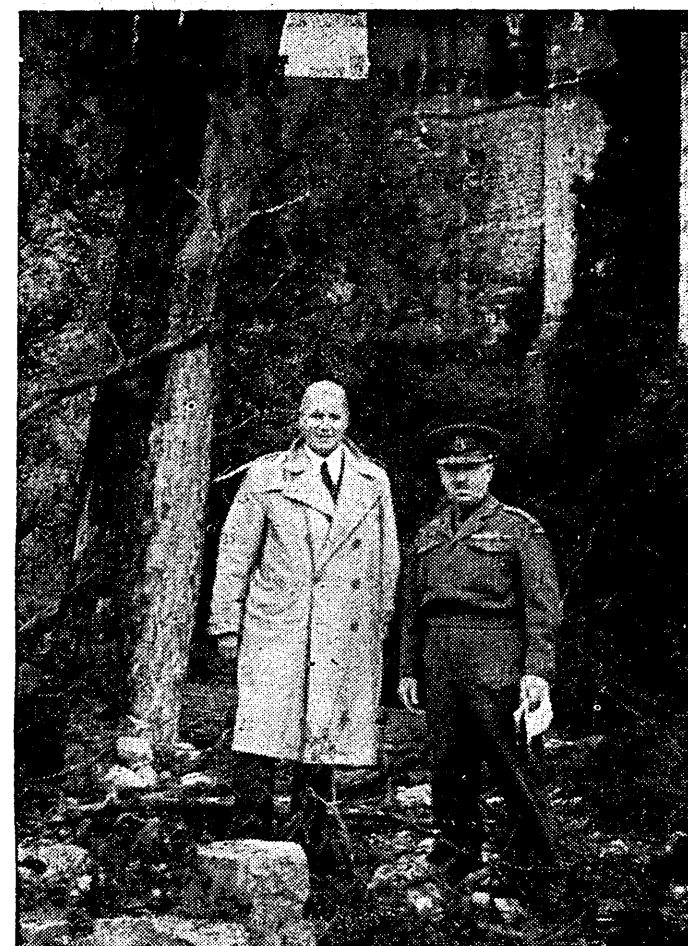

There are good Germans everywhere in the world, in Canada and Britain and the United States, and in Germany herself still a leaning of good. But the bitter tragedy of Germany today is that there they are so few. So few that their weak protests could not make themselves heard above the screaming voice of a half-mad Führer.

The long intolerance of the years, the false sense of superiority, the arrogance of a class, the slow death of freedom drove from the Reich the steady voice of those Germans of good will who might have saved her, as even ten just men might have saved Sodom.

There is little hope in a defeated Germany. It has lived too long with evil. But there is a great hope in these people who were not how the knee to evil, whether it called itself Junkerdom or National Socialism, or clothed itself with any of the evil devices that bewitched their nation.

These are the people. These are the good Germans in whom we have never failed to believe. These are the people who will restore a world's faith in a Germany that still may be a Liberty Magazine.

WHO IS THIS MAN DREW?

by

GORDON SINCLAIR

Famous Writer, World Traveller And Radio Commentator

Who Is Well Known Throughout The Province

So all right. The man is Premier of Ontario and got that way on his first try at the age of 42.

But that's not enough. You want to know more about George Alexander Drew and this is the story.

The Premier who stands six foot two and weighs 230 pounds was born and raised in Guelph of a family long prominent in the Royal City.

He is a hard man to shush when he has something to say and that was indicated even during his terms at Upper Canada College.

Although still a comparatively young man, Drew has been a soldier for 33 years... more than two thirds of his life. He enlisted with the 16th Battery at Guelph when a high school lad of 16.

That was in 1911 and three years later, when the first world war spread over Europe, the 16th was one of the first batteries to go active and George Drew, then Toronto's Varsity Campus, was the youngest officer.

Early to mobilize this battery he was also one of the first to fight and the very week George Drew went overseas his father died. That made George absentee head of the family which included an only brother and three sisters. John, that only brother, was killed while on active duty with the Royal Canadian Navy during the present war.

During the early battles in France in May, 1916, George Drew was severely wounded. He was invalided home to Canada but instead of accepting his discharge he was named to command the 6th Battery of the Canadian Field Artillery, and was soon promoted to the rank of colonel... a colonel at 23. He had already been promoted and decorated on the battlefield.

Colonel Drew has kept up his interest in the exercise men and women from then until now, and that interest is reciprocated.

Con Smylie, for example, a two-war artillery officer, made his first political speech an endorsement for Drew.

After that last war had ended in victory, Drew picked up his academic studies, graduated from Varsity, was called to the bar, then returned to Guelph to practice law and run for Council.

Drew served four years in the Council of Guelph and was then elected Mayor of his native city. After one term he moved to Toronto for a second term, became assistant Master of the Supreme Court of Ontario, three years later, Ontario Securities Commissioner.

During these years he also found time to write books and magazine features about Canada's part in the war and a comprehensive survey of Canada's contribution to the aerial triumphs of the conflict, which was condensed in the R.C.A.F. as a gift to all graduates under the commonwealth air training plan.

In 1934, after a series of Conservative governments had ruled for 29 years, Ontario chose a Liberal leader. "Soon afterwards, seeking to regain their lost position, the Conservatives named Drew their organizer and he held this post until 1937 when Earl Rowe led the party and was beaten."

Within a few months Mr. Rowe had returned to the Ottawa scene, a new leader was needed for Ontario, and on the first ballot George Drew was chosen. Some of the so-called old guard of the party had not wanted Drew but his majority was tremendous.

Up to this time Drew had never sought a seat in the Legislature, but now he ran for the riding of Simcoe East, was elected and led the opposition in the Legislature until the summer of 1945 when he took full command.

Once more Drew was elected by the people on his first try. As he had become Councillor of Guelph, Mayor of Guelph, Leader of his party and member of the Legislature on his first attempt, so Drew now reached the highest office within the gift of his Province.

Throughout his public life George Drew has steadily and constantly spoken of himself as Canadian first and native of Ontario second. Never, he declared, would he attempt to advance the cause of his Province at the expense of the Dominion. He made an intensive study of agriculture, as a result of which Ontario has made more rapid progress in its twelfth century than it has at any previous time in history. "Farming must be run by Farmers" is his creed.

The Premier kept the first week of 1944 of the vast and complex military projects that would be undertaken that year. Today, on the eve of great expansion in Ontario, he knows of vast plans to be undertaken here at home.

George Drew is the biggest man, and the first war veteran, to be premier of Ontario. In fact 8 of the 12 men in the Ontario cabinet are war veterans.

In Ontario's 78 years of history there has been only one premier who was younger than Drew, and none whose experience has covered such a wide field.

George Drew is soldier, author, lawyer, speaker and bears many another label of ability. Come to think of it he's also a good cook and one of the things he hopes to see and taste in the post war Ontario, are some native Ontario dishes.

Here in Ontario we grow the finest natural food products on earth but we don't seem to have any specialized Ontario dish.

The Premier hopes to correct that and he plans to improve the tourist accommodation throughout the province so that Ontario will truly be the traveller's paradise it has often been called.

After the premier is re-elected there will be a ministry dealing with tourist matters from which all of us, home towns and visitor alike, are sure to benefit in at least three ways. Also, as you've already been told, highways will be widely extended and improved.

One thing I've often marvelled at in relation to public figures is how they can stand the longest circled by the press. How it is with mayors and ministers and premiers; it's often one head table after another all around the province and at head table the food is often of a sameness.

George Drew stands it with full marks. His digestion, in fact, is about as good as you'll find anywhere in Ontario and if you'll build tried the Premier could weigh 300 pounds or even more and still be really healthy. He is a real life in sandwiches. Something that gives him quiet pleasure is the realization that his administration definitely closed the gambling "clubs" and bookies joints which were a blot on the Toronto suburban area for almost 20 years.

Although his left arm will never recover from his last war wounds George Drew is a strong swimmer and can circle a golf club in the middle eighties.

About five years ago at Port Colborne he swam out to two men from Buffalo who were in distress, and brought one man in. The Premier then swam and got the other one. One man could not be revived, but the other owes his life to Colonel Drew.

Drew has no time for small gossip and becomes indifferent or hostile to anyone who indulges in childish or malicious criticism. His opinion is never influenced by this sort of thing nor will he express a critical opinion of anyone.

In some circles Drew is considered a soft touch for a Jean and in this connection he never seems to harden up even though he's often been let down. In practically all ways Drew is quick to forgive.

His staff consider him a grand guy. You might say that if this were not so it wouldn't be found in these notes. Maybe so, but if you can produce anyone who has ever worked for George Drew and won't back up this statement that he's all wool and a yard wide then the drinks are on me.

When HMCS Otter was lost at sea, and John Drew was lost with her, the Premier was wakened with the sad news at three in the morning. The legislature was in session at the time and when prayer time came around he was in his seat as usual.

As I've said before Drew is a difficult man to shush and was once summoned to court under the Defence of Canada regulations for disclosing that a Canadian force was sent to Hong Kong with insufficient training. These charges, as we all know, were quickly and thoroughly dropped.

Drew is an Anglican who sometimes reads the lesson in his Guelph Church. His wife is the daughter of Edward Johnson who was Canada's most noted tenor and has, for many years, been general manager of the Metropolitan Opera House. The Drews were married in 1936 and have a son, Edward, and a daughter, Sandra.

The Drews have one of the biggest private libraries in any Ontario town and Mrs. Drew, whose people are of pioneer stock, speaks five languages. These are being passed along to Edward although Sandra is still having trouble with English. Edward is also studying the violin.

That is George Drew. I know you'll like him.

Mick, on Wednesday, united in mar-of Windsor, both formerly of Essex.

They were assisted by the bride's sisbride's brother, John Farough.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Norton-Palmer Hotel.
Later they left on a honeymoon to Toronto and Orillia.

Special Notice.

In the item appearing in our last

Principal McKague.

Members and officials of the Essex
Board of Education, and their wives, together with the local school inspectors and their ladies, and several members of the High School staff, honoured the retiring principal of the High School, and Mrs. McKague, at the Aberdeen Hotel, on Tuesday evening.
The occasion featured an excellent chicken dinner, a joyous spirit and a variety of Scotch stories.

Fred Butts, chairman of the Board, acted as toastmaster. After a short sing-song the men in turn, amused the forty guests with humorous and wit, majoring on the Scotch stories.
Members of the Board and staff alike, referred to the excellent manner in which Mr. McKague had carried out his responsibilities, not only as a teacher of our town for the past four years.

Inspector Duffin, in behalf of the Board, presented Mr. and Mrs. Mc-Kague with a coffee table as a tangible token of the appreciation of the people of Essex.

Mr. McKague graciously accepted the gift and spoke in the highest terms of personality of the pupils and staff of Essex High School. He had had the best of relations with the members of the Board of Education and with the staffs of the other schools in town.
With the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," an evening, long to be remembered, concluded.

Murray Rice Killed.

Mrs. Wm. Wardle received official word from Ottawa, on Thursday afternoon, of last week, that her son, Flt.
Lieut. Murray, Rice, was reported killed in action, in Burma. The telegram stated that a letter would follow.
Murray was born in Essex, 29 years ago. When he enlisted, in the spring of 1940, he had his civilian pilot license and was made Flying Instructor at Trenton, then Camp Borden. He was sent overseas in August of 1944, being stationed first in England and then in the Pacific for the past few months in India.
In 1943 deceased married Miss Dorothy Woods, of Orillia, who survives, with his mother, Mrs. Wardle, and a sister Jean (Mrs. James Pickett) of Essex.

Impressive Services.

Impressive services concluded a seven-year pastorate for the Rev. C. W.
DeWitt Cosen, on Sunday. The sacramental service in the morning was largely attended, when thirteen candidates were accepted into church membership. The evening service was well attended and was very impressive. At the conclusion all present found their way to the altar, where they bade the minister and his wife farewell and God speed.

On Wednesday the minister and family moved to Toronto, where he will begin a pastorate next Sunday at Wesley United Church, with induction the following Wednesday.

A former minister, Rev. J. H. Johnston, of London, will be the guest minister in the Essex United Church on Sunday next, at 10.30 a.m.

Children's Aid Society.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Children's Aid Society was held at Essex on June 14th, at 7.30 p.m. It was presided over by A. F. Bulmer.

At this meeting the committees were organized. L. C. Wheeler is chairman of the Foster Home Committee; B. H.
Yuffy, chairman of the Finance Committee; R. G. Keyes, Property, Management and Personal Committee; Alex Craig, Protection Committee; Mrs.
Eleanor Hodges, Publicity Committee.

Interesting reports on the recent conference of the Ontario Association of Children's Aid Societies held at Toronto, were given by the staff who attended. This was one of the most successful conferences of this organization that had been held, with an enrollment of 306. Outstanding opportunities were given by leaders in the welfare work in Ontario and in Buffalo, N.Y. There were excellent discussions relative to the procedure in Children's Aid Work.

The superintendent reported that a survey of all the work of the Society has been undertaken and a master plan completed. At the first of June 370 families were being assisted in the Family Service Department. This represents a total of 1,102 children.
There are also 408 children in the care of the Society, 127 of whom are on adoption probation. This makes a grand total of 1,420 children under the supervision of the organization.

During the month of May a total of 156 new applications for assistance was received by the Society.

Township Areas in Essex County.

The Township Area unit of rural school administration has been enthusiastically embraced in Essex County during the past six months. The Township Areas of Colchester North, Gosfield North, Maidstone, Rochester, Sandwich South, Sandwich West and Tilbury West have passed bylaws setting up township school boards in their respective townships to become effective January 1st, 1946. On that date eight township school boards will take over the administration of 47 rural schools previously administered by 47 rural school boards.

The township school area boards, each consisting of five members, will be elected at the same time as the municipal councils are elected. Before they take office the official referee of the Department of Education, G. L.
Duffin, Inspector of Public Schools, will adjust all assets and liabilities of the school sections concerned, so that each section will enter the area on an equitable basis.

Rural education in the county will receive many benefits under the Township Area type of organization. Special grants are paid to enable the Township Area Boards to inaugurate programmes of the type formerly found in towns and cities only. The next five years will mark the disappearance of that inequality of educational opportunity which has existed as between rural and urban children.

The township school area of Malden, which was the pioneer in this type of rural school administration, came into being on January 1st, 1945, and has already done a great deal toward achieving the ends for which it was set up.

namely, to give to the rural child an education comparable to that given the town or city child. It is not unlikely that, before another year has passed, the majority of the township councils in the county will express a desire to set up township area school boards so that their children also may share in the benefits which attend such a step.

Barbara Fuller Drowned.

Funeral services were held at Kins-ville, on Sunday, for Miss Barbara Fuller, aged 26, daughter of Dr. Carl L. Fuller, prominent Windsor physician, who was drowned on Friday of last week in Lake Erie, off Union-ville.

Miss Fuller, who has lived with her grandmother, Mrs. C. H. Fuller, for a number of years, went to the lake to swim about noon. She was accompanied by a pet collie dog. Sometime later, the dog returned alone and search was started for Miss Fuller.
Her body was found floating in the lake about 5 p.m., by her uncle, Cecil Fuller, Dr. D. I. Snider, of Kingsville, corner, was called and ruled death caused by accidental drowning.

Thompson-Jessop Nuptials.

Before an altar banked with pink and white snapdragons and baskets of mixed spring flowers at the Church of the Redeemer, in Paquette, the Rev.
Joseph Tully united in marriage Iva
Trena, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Henry Jessop, of Paquette, and G. W.
Reginald Thompson, of Windsor, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. M. Thompson, of Bentley, Alta.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white embroidered marquisette, styled with a fitted bodice buttoned in back, long sleeved, with a full skirt extending into a short train. Her finger-ring-veil veil was held to her head with white feathers, and she carried Talisman roses, sweetpeas, gardenias and orange blossoms. For something old, she wore a brooch belonging to her grandmother.

Mr. Garnet Herdman, as her sister's only attendant, wore pale blue chiffon, with bows on the full skirt just below the long, fitted bodice, and her short blue veil was held with matching feathers, and she carried pink carnations and snapdragons.

Mr. Herdman assisted the bridegroom as best man, and the bride's uncle, George Bode, was the usher.
During the ceremony, Mrs. Henry Thompson sang "Through the Years," Miss Agnes Hartley playing the wedding music.

A reception and dinner followed, at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's table was centred with the three-tiered wedding cake in a bed of title and pink and white snapdragons, flanked by burning white tapers.

Mrs. Jessop wore blue and white chiffon, with white accessories, and a corsage of roses and white snapdragons.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left later for a trip east, the bride travelling in a printed silk jersey frock, with a brown hat, and wearing roses and orange blossoms. They will live on Douglas avenue, Windsor.

Boggs-Howe Nuptials.

At a quiet ceremony, recently performed by Rev. C. W. DeWitt Cosen, of Essex United Church, Miss Sally
Howe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm.
A. Howe, became the bride of Pte. Wallace Boggs, recently returned from overseas, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A.
Boggs, of Roseland.

The bride looked lovely in a floor-length gown featuring a sweetheart neckline, three-quarter length sleeves,
the bodice fashioned on Princess lines,
and a bouffant skirt of double net over satin. Her shoulder-length veil was held in a net tiara. She wore a string of pearls, gift of the groom, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and baby's breath.

Miss Laura Howe, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, wore a charming pink gown, with a shirred bodice, short puffed sleeves and the skirt net over satin. Her shoulder veil matched her gown and similar to that of the bride. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and baby's breath. Gerald Boggs assisted his brother as best man.

Q—When does the ceiling price of live and dressed fowl (hens) take a seasonal drop?

A—July 31st.

Questions on any regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board will be answered if submitted to the Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Federal Building, London.

Sugar for Canning Untouched by Sugar Ration Cut.

In cutting the sugar ration the allotment for sugar for canning was left untouched. W. H. McPhillips, prices and supply representative for the Western Ontario Region of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, pointed out that this was done so that farmers and other country dwellers would have sugar to make up for the city dweller who could secure commercial preserves and baking that is usually done in the farmer's kitchen.

In line with the cut in the sugar ration, bakers will have only 60% of the sugar that they used in 1941. Biscuit makers and breakfast food manufacturers will have to get along on 55% and soft drink and candy makers on 50% of their 1941 quota.

Hello, Homemakers, In view of the curtailed supply of commercial ice cream it behooves the housewife to make her own frozen desserts whenever possible. It is not a difficult task, especially when an electric refrigerator is available, nor need the ingredients be expensive. With heavy cream of the market for the duration the thin type will do and various syrups may be substituted for sugar.

The simplest recipe we have seen comes from the Department of Agriculture, it uses honey instead of sugar for sweetening. Mix a quart of coffee cream (18%) and ¾ cup of flavoured honey and freeze. The addition of fresh fruit or berries makes it an exciting dessert.

TAKE A TIP.

1. Set the refrigerator control for freezing. The tray of cream should always be placed on the bottom shelf unless there is an upper shelf over a freezing coil.

2. The cream is left until frozen solid, then removed to a chilled bowl and broken into chunks. Next, beat with a rotary beater long enough to break down all hard lumps, but not long enough to cause any liquid.

3. If the recipe calls for the addition of whipped cream or eggs this is the time to mix them in. Do this with a minimum of stirring.

4. Put the mixture back into the tray immediately and replace it in the freezing compartment and leave to freeze firm again. If the ice cream is ready before serving turn the control back to a point between freezing and normal cold.

5. Sweet chocolate can be shaved coarsely and added to unfrozen cream.

6. Fruit leeks are cool and refreshing and easy to make.

LEMON CREAM.

Six to Eight Servings.
1 cup milk, 1 cup coffee cream, 2 eggs, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup light corn syrup, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind.

Beat eggs until lemon coloured. Add sugar gradually until the mix becomes a thick custard-like consistency. Combine with syrup, milk, cream, and lemon juice and rind. Pour into tray and freeze with temperature control at coldest position. When frozen, remove to bowl and whip with an electric or hand beater until mix becomes light and creamy. Return quickly to freezing. When dessert is completely frozen, turn temperature control half way back to normal position for holding until serving time.

CHERRY WATER ICE.

Four Servings.
½ cup sugar, ½ cup water, ¼ cup light corn syrup, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1½ cups cooked red cherries.

CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM.

1 teaspoon gelatine, ¼ cup milk, 1 package Chocolate Pudding mix, ¼ cup sugar, 1½ cups milk, 1½ cups light cream.
Mix gelatine with ¼ cup milk. Place pudding powder in saucepan. Add sugar and 1½ cups milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook and stir over medium heat on electric range until mixture comes to boil and is thickened. Remove from heat. Add gelatine-milk mixture immediately and stir. Add cream and mix thoroughly. Place in freezing tray of automatic refrigerator, setting control for coldest freezing temperature. When partially frozen, turn into cold bowl and beat with rotary egg beater. Return to tray. Freeze 30 minutes longer and stir; then freeze until firm. Freezing time, 3 to 4 hours. Makes ¾ quart.

THE QUESTION BOX.

Mrs. J. B. says: I have large gelatine moulds, but since the family has scattered I don't know what to make in them. Any suggestions?

Answer: Make the whole main course in one, and it will be easy to serve. Put a layer of ham and vegetable salad on the bottom, then pack in a layer of potato salad. Chill and turn out on a bed of lettuce. Garnish with green onions and radishes. Serve extra salad dressing.

Mrs. C. D. says: I would like the recipe for the mustard raisin sauce served hot with ham.

Answer: Tasty Raisin Sauce: ¼ cup brown sugar, 1½ tablespoons dry mustard, 1 tablespoon flour, ¼ cup raisins, ¼ cup vinegar, 1½ cups water.
Mix the dry ingredients. Add raisins, vinegar and water, bring to boil and serve with hot ham.

National Council for Canadian-Soviet Friendship.

The following statement has been issued by R. H. Davis, president of the National Council for Canadian-Soviet Friendship, to the Canadian press and radio:

"In recent weeks we have noted in Canada an undertow of anti-Russian propaganda.

"The Nazi's most powerful weapon is propaganda to create disunity between the Allied nations. Russia is their main target. Numerous Nazi agents are at large and at work throughout the world. Much of today's anti-Soviet and disunity propaganda can be traced to the efforts of such agents.

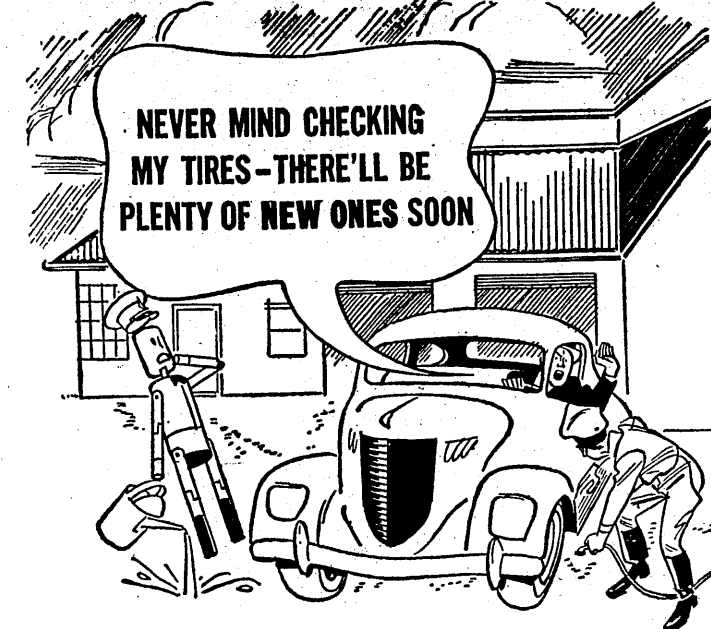

"An increasing number of articles have appeared recently in which Nazi 'twists' were given to events involving the Soviet Union. Much of the anti-Soviet material published has no foundation in fact, but is based on prejudice tinged with malice. To create ill-will toward the Soviet Union at this time will serve the Nazis' plan for a third world war.

"Some writers have sneered at the Russians for not having 'good clothes' or not doing this or that the way we do. They have thus obscured these important facts: That the Soviet Union has organized and equipped a powerful army capable of defending themselves, and us—against the mightiest military aggressors in history; that they are a hard-working people, capable of the most generous sacrifices for an important cause—the defeat of fascism.

"The world's greatest post-war objective should be peace for all. The aftermath of war will witness many differences between the nations. This is inevitable. But these can be ironed out by peaceful means. On the horizon is the San Francisco conference—the dawn of a new day among nations. From this conference will emerge a means for thrashing out any differences which might arise among the nations.

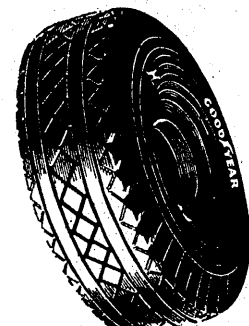

"Those who magnify these differences, who use them as fuel to inflame the minds of people with hatred and thoughts of war are enemies of mankind—they are traitors to those millions who made the supreme sacrifice for the cause of freedom.

"The Soviet Union has consistently advocated peace between the nations. The Soviet people have suffered losses in this war—15,000,000 dead, close to Ceiling Prices Extended on Imported Vegetables.

The June ceiling prices on cabbage, beets, carrots, parsnips and turnips will continue until the 15th of July, according to an announcement of the regional foods office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Owing to the lateness of the home grown crop of vegetables, the Board has decided to extend the period of the seasonal drop in prices to enable shippers and wholesalers to import vegetables from the United States to augment our own supply.

Positions are permanent and a set salary is assured. Women who apply and are accepted as Red Cross Homemakers will be eligible to enroll for a training course, which will be held in Toronto, September 10th to 22nd, under the auspices of the Ontario Division of Red Cross. Classes will be open only to those employed as Red Cross Homemakers. Homemaker service is in operation in Hamilton, Ottawa, Brantford, St. Catharines and London.

A Time for Citizen Spending.

There is a sharp difference, even in our democracy, between the impersonal forces that we call government and the private individuals that are ourselves. Under our system, government and the people are one. But there are essential differences in attitude between the people as government and the people as private individuals. To take the simplest illustration:

In any year the average private individual has a certain income that is more or less fixed. Even where the citizen is the owner of his own business or farm, the possible increased resources remain relatively constant.

This average citizen, faced with some growing need or sudden emergency, has but one safe course open to him — to so conduct his customary spending that the limits of his fixed income shall take care of the unaccustomed demand. This average citizen has learned, with Diogenes, "How many things there are that I can do without." The citizen as government has no such protective understanding. With the individual, the available resources of money is the first consideration. With the citizen as government, it is the last.

The difference arises from the fact that the citizen as government, any government — for this attitude is not limited to one political stripe — enjoys a source of revenue more elastic than anything that is available to the private citizen. He cannot extend his income at will, and, if he borrows, he is expected to pay promptly. But the citizen as government, undeterred by the shadow of the bailiff, can increase his income as long as his ingenuity can suggest new ways to extend or improve taxation. Or he can borrow and refund through other borrowings and indulgences.

The inevitable result is a more liberal attitude toward spending than is enjoyed by the private citizen. Our system provides the corrective of an aroused public opinion. But the private citizen has come to recognize that it is a habit of the citizen as government, whatever his party affiliations, to overspend; therefore he has small incentive to get himself out of the frying pan into the fire. The citizen as government is fully aware of this. He knows that he can spend in a way that as a private citizen he would deplore, and protect himself by making the citizen appear as partners in the spending, by reason of a small participation in the extravagant.

In the days of national emergency we did not cavil at expenditures. But we can no more live on this plane of unlimited spending than we can live forever in the fervor of those great hours. One thing is certain: If we are to pay our bills, if we are to find jobs for returning men and assure those jobs in years ahead, if we are to expand our social obligations and pay for them as we go, more money must be in the hands of individual citizens and less in the hands of government.

It is not money in the hands of government but money in the hands of private citizens that makes more money and more jobs for returning men, who in turn will make more money to make more jobs in an endless chain. High taxation that was essential in war is a crucial handicap in peace. John Citizen must have more of his own money to spend. He will spend it less recklessly than will government.—Liberty Magazine.

Again Too Little and Too Late

Local National Selective Service officials have announced Ottawa's decision to release skilled sugar beet workers from war. The decision comes more than a month after "the crisis" in that industry. It was five weeks ago that sugar beet farmers, then in search of 3,000 to 3,500 skilled workers, were making their decision for or against planting beets.

The full extent of the labor shortage was known to Ottawa. It had, in fact, been made known months before by the sugar industry in its efforts to stimulate record beet production. What is more to the point, the steadily worsening sugar shortage was known to the government, whose control authorities, having already made two cuts in Canadian sugar rations, were faced with the prospect of still further reductions to offset the visible international shortage of over 1,853,000 tons.

The need for greater domestic production was, therefore, not merely a matter of satisfying the nation's appetite. Rather it was Canada's opportunity to make a worthwhile contribution to the distress of the liberated countries. With some organized effort and a little planning this country could produce to the industry's capacity of 250 million pounds. Every extra pound grown in Canada would release an extra pound for distribution among the European nations or increase the quantities of foods which could be pre-served or canned for them.

Because of the Government's failure to act, because of the inability of Selective Service to co-ordinate labor and production priorities, many farmers who were encouraged to increase sugar beet production by the Ontario Government's price subsidy have in fact reduced their acreage or gone out of production entirely. A survey which this newspaper made in the sugar beet district during the crisis disclosed the labor shortage to be the sole explanation. Sugar beets require skilled labor, and farmers will not attempt crop expansion or makeshift help.

But, late as it is, and in the face of the pressing need, Selective Service is not functioning as it ought to function. Weather conditions have made it possible to increase acreage in some districts with proper labor. But the official announcement stated that Ottawa had merely directed that workers in war plants should be released immediately (regardless of essentiality) to handle the sugar beet crop so that the sugar shortage could be alleviated. They will be released, however, only if and as they apply for release.

In other words, no effort is being made to locate and direct the skilled workers to this priority production. The assumption must be that Selective Service is not able to fill its proper function. Though forewarned of the requirements, it did nothing to locate sugar beet workers in preparation for the demand. And in the last four weeks it, apparently, had done nothing to make good its neglect, or if it has, it lacks the courage to assume responsibility for transferring the necessary workers from the plants to the sugar beet fields.

This, unapologetically, is not the first, or the worst, of Selective Service bungling. It is made the more serious as evidence that nothing has been done to prepare the machinery upon which this nation must rely for the tremendous task of dismantling its war machine and redistributing hundreds of thousands of people into gainful employment. Food production has been a front-rank problem with the allies for two years. As a main source of supply, Canada has known what was expected of her. Agriculture is her priority industry. Yet our overburdened, overworked farmers have been let down at every turn. — Toronto Globe and Mail.

New Golf Balls.

It is not likely that new golf balls will roll from Canadian production lines prior to August. If all goes well, production should be under way in time to have some new ones ready for sale around the middle of that month, reports The Financial Post.

Present allocation is enough to make about 15,000 dozen golf balls. This compares with a total output from Canadian plants in 1939, of 86,000 dozen. The Post adds:

Flax and sweet clover are immune from the attacks of the wheat stem sawfly.

Red Cross Blood Donor Service.

At a meeting held at the headquarters of Ontario Division of Red Cross, week of June 11th, blood donor work in this province was discussed. Russell T. Kelley, chairman of the Blood Donor Service in the province presided. All clinics will be closed for the month of July. "Canada," Mr. Kelley stated, "will have 30,000 to 35,000 in the Pacific. The British government has made certain requests for blood serum requirements for the whole thing will be in excess of 500,000 donations annually in Canada. Ontario has been asked to accept half of this number — on a basis of 5,500 donors weekly commencing in June. There will, therefore, be a revision in the blood donor service, and possibly some centralization of the work."

In a number of cases, he pointed out, buildings used by the permanent clinics have been generously donated for this work. In view of the fact that Canada is gradually returning to peace time activity, these buildings will be required for civilian use. As a result it may be found necessary to close a few of the clinics. The provincial mobile service will be continued in the meantime. Should it be found that permanent clinics can provide sufficient number of donors the mobile service may be discontinued entirely.

Beware of Insect Dust.

In dusting plants to destroy insects, even harmless dusts, such as flour or cement, can cause injury to the human system if inhaled over long periods or in excessive amounts. Seed disinfectants are more dangerous because all of them, whether odourless or not, irritant or non-irritant, are injurious when inhaled in sufficient quantities to do damage.

To Boost Housing.

Two moves of substantial importance are expected to produce worthwhile results in meeting the shortage of low-price and low-rental housing, says the Ottawa editor of The Financial Post.

The first is the appointment of Wm. M. Anderson as director-general of the National Housing Act. The second is the naming of a top-flight interdepartmental committee with wide new powers to break the post V-E Day housing bottleneck.

Primary concern is to break down price, material and other bottlenecks now standing in the way of the 50,000 housing unit goal which the government has set itself for the first full year of construction after V-E Day.

Scouting in Britain.

In spite of the shortage of Scout leaders, Scout membership in Great Britain has made great gains during the war. There are now 148,593 Wolf Cubs, 208,790 Boy Scouts, 6,638 Rover Scouts, and over 20,000 Scoutmasters and Cubmasters in the United Kingdom.

In prewar years, tourists have brought into Canada as much as $300,000,000.00 annually! Much of it was left at the border communities and resorts of the "Gateway County" of Essex.

This is an important factor of Canadian economy, and one of our largest export items.

Merchants have prospered from the sale of fine fabrics, silver and china. Souvenir sales have become an industry. Summer resorts have sprung up as though by magic. Cottages have been built. Accessories of every kind have boomed. Farmers have built roadside stands for sale of fruit, vegetables, dairy products and baked goods. Dairy bars have mushroomed. Every business of city, town, village and farm has had its healthy share of this BIG BUSINESS.

But the way to merit business is to earn it. With your support and encouragement, the Essex County Tourist Association has postwar plans for developing Essex County as a greater tourist attraction.

Greater summer resort accommodations, round-the-county highway for weekend drives, increased recreational facilities and identification of historical points are only a few of the proposed activities.

It is with the sincerest gratitude that I send this unsolicited testimonial for your Medication and treatment, also the care and supervision of our foot health afterwards.

For over 20 years I have had foot trouble, fallen arches, corns, bunions and callouses. I have tried foot appliances before which found expensive without bringing relief. My husband had such wonderful results from your Medication and treatment that he insisted I try for relief. I am on my feet from 12 to 14 hours daily, have no longer any foot trouble. I can truthfully say it is the direct result of your services. We cannot speak too highly of this treatment.

Many women believe that overweight and age cause those tired burning feet. I know different, your treatment relieved that within a week after starting.

You may use this in any way you see fit. I shall be glad to confirm it personally at any time.

Sincerely,
HAZEL STEELE.

Safety Plan is Adopted by Essex Plant.

Organization Set up in Stokely-Van Camp Factory Here.

A standard safety plan to reduce accidents, conserve manpower and eliminate valuable lost time has been inaugurated at the Stokely-Van Camp plant at Essex.

Known as the Stokely Standard Safety Plan, which is the result of long study by engineers in canning plants.

The program covers every phase of food processing factory safety.

Mechanical guards, operational guides and enforcement of general accident prevention rules are designed to protect all workers.

Lawrence McLellan has been appointed safety supervisor for the plant. Members of the committee are N. A. Affleck, plant manager; H. Allison, warehouse member; G. McCreery, plant member; and J. Billing, Viner station member.

A complete safety manual has been compiled from accident loss records both here and in many other plants throughout the country. This will be expanded as the program progresses.

Mr. Affleck said, "It is the first comprehensive safety research to be carried out for the canning industry. The manual is to be published later as a national handbook for accident prevention, safety organization and factory operations."

This safety plan will be a fundamental part of all the company's production efforts in the future.

The plant manager, under the plan, is responsible for the complete operation of the safety plan, and delegates certain duties in his plant personnel.

Cards with safety rules are posted up prominently throughout the plant, and each employee is given a copy which can be carried on his or her person.

The local committee will meet monthly to review activities and progress and make such plans as are necessary.

Plant foremen are especially trained for their work.

Red Peonies formed the setting at a lovely ceremony, in the Essex Gospel Tabernacle, on Saturday, June 16th, at 2.30 p.m., when the Rev. E. C. Williams united in marriage Alma May Collard, only daughter of John J. Collard and the late Mrs. Collard, of Victoria avenue, Essex, and James Edison Howson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Howson, of Colchester.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of white satin, with inserts of lace, featuring a sweetheart neckline, and a shirred bodice, the long fitted sleeves formed points over her hands. Her veil, which extended into a long train, was held to her head by a heart-shaped halo. She carried a bouquet of red roses with white satin streamers and roses fastened to each streamer.

Miss Lillian Howson, sister of the groom, as maid of honour, wore a light green princess styled lace gown, featuring a sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves, and wearing a matching waist-length veil fastened on each side of her head by a pink carnation. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Miss Olive Howson, cousin of the groom, and Miss Betty Anger, cousin of the bride, acted as bridesmaids, wore mauve taffeta and pink net over satin respectively, their gowns fashioned the same as the maid-of-honour, with shoulder-length veils and carried bouquets to match their gowns. Miss Irene Jones, cousin of the bride, as flower girl, wore a dark pink organdie gown trimmed with pink satin ribbon bouquet of mixed carnations.

Ross Mills attended the groom as best man, while his brother, Arnold Howson, and cousin, Lawrence Bridge, were groomsmen. The ushers were Herb Howson, cousin of the groom, and Clayton Cook.

During the ceremony Mrs. Herb Howson sang "The Voice that Breathed of Eden," and during the signing of the register, "O Love that will not Let Me Go." Mrs. Clayton Cook played the wedding music.

A reception for 130 guests followed in the Orange Hall, Cottam, where pink pink ribbon bows and red peonies were used. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, Mr. and Mrs. Howson left later for a trip east, the bride travelling in a two-piece rose dress with white accessories. At present they are residing at the home of the bride's father.

Prior to their wedding Mr. and Mrs. Howson were honoured with a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Macklem, of North Ridge. They received many useful and lovely gifts.

The Redeemer W.A. met at the home of Miss Agnes Hartley, on Tuesday, June 19th, with ten members in attendance. Mrs. Tully presided over an inspiring devotional period, taking the 4th chapter of St. John for study. Routine business followed, after which a study of articles in the June issue of "Living Message," pertaining to Anglican Missions in Canada was made. The hostess served a dainty lunch. The next meeting will be held July 3rd, at the home of Mrs. Eric Banwell.

In addition to aid by way of family allowances, unemployment insurance, etc., the Federal Government may engage in a works program of huge proportions to create employment, including the opening up of the Great North-west Territories, expansion of mining, reforestation or timber conservation plans, and otherwise start on enterprises to absorb all possible workers who need employment.

It has been made known in Ottawa that the Government is avoiding double taxation in so far as Federal succession duties are concerned on estates located partly in Canada and in the United States; effect has been given an agreement or convention between Canada and United States for the collection of such taxes.

Formerly head of the Canadian Medical services for the forces overseas and now Deputy Minister of Health, General Brock Chisholm, has declared in Ottawa that "the largest cause of the return of soldiers to Canada in the first three years of this war was 'distention,' with this being the result of the fact that the soldier had nothing to do with poor food or poor equipment so that the cure did not involve adjustment of food but rather adjustment of environment.

An Agricultural economist of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ladislav Lohman, has emphasized in the capital that "the vital task of the Government is to assimilate new-comers in the nation to a large degree of the country's maturity as a nation," asserting that refugees and their off-springs make extremely desirable citizens, except in extreme cases. Canada's woman of the hour, Cairine Wilson, had a peculiar experience in capital city. She was walking from the street car to her home, when she lost a string of pearls worth $13,000 and she reported her loss to the police. However, the pearls, fitted with an expensive diamond clasp, were found later. . . .

With the objective of stimulating interest in Canadian cultural activities both at home and abroad, "Canada Foundation" has been organized to form an organization for carrying on this work, according to a report in Ottawa. Rigid Rationing.

Of the three countries — Canada, Britain, and the United States — Britain alone operates rationing program for eggs, fluid milk, lard and shortening, cereal breakfast foods, citrus fruits, dried fruits, dried beans and peas, rice, tea, chocolate, and candy. Through rationing food to the starving nations in Europe and the curtailment of shipping to bring in its own supplies, Britain has had to make its rationing still more severe with the end of the war in Europe.

Good Lawns in Shady Places

One of the most discouraging of all lawn problems is the maintenance of grass in shady places. It is true that there are some locations where uncontrollable factors make it absolutely impossible to grow grass, but there are a great many shaded areas where a little effort could be given if proper establishment and maintenance practices were followed. The following are some of the most important factors which must be considered in securing and maintaining suitable lawns under shady conditions, suggests J. H. Boyce, Forage Plant Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Soil—The best soil for grasses is a deep, rich, sandy loam and every attempt should be made to secure such a soil.

Drainage—Good surface and under-drainage is particularly important in shaded areas. Surface drainage can be secured by proper grading and if the sub-soil is not sufficiently porous to permit good under-drainage tile drains can be installed to good advantage.

Fertilization—In order to grow suitable turf under trees it is necessary to fertilize the trees as well as the grass. The trees can be fertilized during the winter or in spring preparation by removing the topsoil and applying fertilizer into the sub-soil in the root zone. After the top-soil has been replaced it too, should be fertilized heavily to provide for the needs of the grass. Established grass should be fertilized in the autumn in the early spring and early fall, and both the trees and the grass would benefit greatly if the trees were fertilized every two or three years.

Fertilization—In order to grow suitable turf under trees it is necessary to fertilize the trees as well as the grass. The trees can be fertilized during the course of lawn preparation by removing the topsoil and digging the fertilizer into the sub-soil in the root zone. After the top-soil has been replaced it should be fertilized heavily to provide a good seed bed for grass. Established grass should be fertilized twice annually, in the early spring and early fall, and both the trees and the grass would benefit greatly if the trees were fertilized every two or three years.

Liming—Some soils are too acid to permit satisfactory growth of grass. This can be remedied by adding lime to the soil during the preparation of the seed bed. Lime should not be applied, however, unless a soil test indicates that it is necessary.

Seed—The seeds mixtures sown in shaded areas should contain high proportions of shade-tolerant species. The grass is adapted to dry shaded areas and clover and trivialis grows well in moist shade.

Time of Seeding—The best time to seed lawns in eastern Canada is during late August or early September. This is particularly the case under deciduous trees since the grass will have its best chance to become established during the period when the trees are beginning to fall and early spring.

Leaf Removal—All leaves should be raked off the lawn frequently as they fall from the trees; otherwise they

FRIDAY, JUNE 29, 1945.

Time to Shape Shrubs and Hedges.

June is the month when all common shrubs used in hedges make rapid growth, and it is the time when hedges and specimen shrubs can best be shaped by clipping. The oftener the growth is clipped back, the denser will the hedge become from lower shoots that have been induced to grow. After mid-July, the sparse, new growth will require slight trimming. Clipping back severely or pruning in autumn should be avoided. This is not the growing season and wounds made at that time do not readily heal. Twigs and branches are therefore likely to die back a distance below the cut during the ensuing winter.

Flowering shrubs such as lilac, early spirea, honeysuckle and coteoneaster should not be trimmed to form shape until flowers have faded. Pruning out dead wood and undesirable branches should be done early in the spring but trimmed to shape the bush is best done immediately the blossom is past, say the experts at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Brandon, Man. If this work is done later than July 15th, the already formed buds that mother the blossoms in the following year are likely to be sheared off.

Marsh Jessop replaced Bill Russ in the box, Greaves taking over first base duties and Bill Russ taking over third base, Mike Russ leaving the game. Dunn struck out.—3 runs, 2 hits, 0 error.

Seventh Inning.

Prime Minister King's Successor.

Asked who should be groomed now as a successor to Prime Minister King, two-thirds of a group of Canadians queried by The Financial Post answered: Halsey. Other names mentioned were Gardiner, Garson and Power.

U. S. Exchange.

Little likelihood of any change in the rate of premium on U. S. funds in the immediate future is seen by The Financial Post, which states: "It has been accepted for some time that there was little prospect of any alternation in the premium on U. S. funds prior to settlement of the U. K.—U. S. dollar sterling problem. Now there is a disposition to argue that even settlement of this problem does not mean that Canada is going to automatically swing back to parity with the U. S. dollar."

Protect Against the Potato Blight.

The disease that blackens the leaves of potato plants in the fall and later attacks the tubers, causing so much loss, is known as Late Blight. It has become so prevalent in North-east Ontario during recent years that it is now practically impossible to grow potatoes without protection against this disease.

The disease attacks first the leaves of the plants. It can be recognized by the blotches on the underside of the leaves. The blotches have a water soaked appearance.

As the season advances, the disease spreads by means of spores. A great many of the spores drop to the ground and are washed down to the potatoes infecting them.

Protection consists of covering the plant and keeping it covered at all times with Bordeaux mixture sprayed on or copper lime dusted on. Either method is effective if thoroughly done. Spraying or dusting should begin about the end of June when the plants are about six inches high, and should be repeated often enough to keep the plants covered. Three to seven sprayings or dustings may be needed, depending upon the season. In dry weather the disease does not spread, but cloudy, damp seasons are most favourable to its development.

At the Dominion Experimental Station at Kapuskasing, states J. P. S. Ballantyne, the superintendent, during past two seasons in particular, potatoes that were dusted regularly and thoroughly were not affected by blight, while in the neighbourhood the disease was rampant and the loss severe. The slogan "Protect the Surface and You Protect All" applies with great force to the potato crop.

Rationing of Farm Machinery.

Rationing of new farm machinery and equipment will be limited to 25 items, according to an announcement of W. Harold McPhillips, prices and supply representative of Western Ontario for the Prices Board.

This order goes into effect on July 1st, and is in keeping with the policy of the Board to remove restrictions on rationing as soon as the supply warrants it. The twenty-five articles still rationed are in short supply and permission of the regional farm rationing officer must still be obtained to purchase these items.

Included in the list are corn pickers, tractor plows, tiller and harrow plows, hay loaders, potato diggers, threshers, garden tractors, fruit or orchard power sprayers, pressure water systems, power pumps and others.

Veteran's Discounts.

Ultimate solution of the vexed question of trade discounts for veterans is still far from settled. Important discussions have been going on. Reports the Ottawa correspondent of The Financial Post.

Meanwhile the situation seems to be something like this:

1. On farm implements and machinery bought by the Veterans Land Act and sold to veterans through regular retail channels there is to be a 10% discount on regular lines and a 7% discount on power machinery.
2. There is no general policy as to what the trade is going to do about sales of farm implements to veterans direct and outside the provisions of the Veterans Land Act.
3. On durable household goods (washing machines, refrigerators, water pressure systems, harness, electric stoves, etc.), which are being purchased by Veterans Land Act for sale and distribution through regular channels to veterans coming under this act, there is as yet no definite policy on discounts.

Sorry, Sue!

but the reason you can't talk over your telephone is because there's lots more to telephoning than the instrument itself. It takes wire and cable and complicated exchange equipment and a mass of other apparatus to link one telephone with the million other telephones which make up the Bell system. These telephone materials have been going to war. That's why so many people are waiting for telephone service today.

IT ALL MEANS PEOPLE AT WORK

It will take time and money and manpower to carry out the large-scale construction and improvement program we've planned for after the war.

Take our dial conversion program alone: Almost three-quarters of the telephones in service are now of the dial type. But that still leaves thousands of telephones and exchange equipment in scores of communities, to be changed over.

After the war when equipment is again obtainable, the job will take years to complete. And this is just one of several projects which spell jobs not only for all our present employees both at home and overseas but for additional workers, too.

Feeding Efficiency

There is no Waste the SHUR-GAIN Way.
Better Hogs to Market in Shorter Time.

There is a notable shortage of meat on the domestic market — and this shortage is in very grave danger of increasing, due to the tremendous needs of liberated European countries. Canadian farmers are being called upon to increase their production, particularly of pork and bacon, so that the needs of these war-torn countries may be met, to a degree at least.

Canadian bacon is wanted, both in Britain and in the rest of Europe, and the need will be maintained for many months to come. Now, when every pound of pork must be produced, at the lowest possible cost, you must consider the efficiency of your hog feeding program. Efficient feeding means that more of your hogs farrowed reach market, at the proper weights, and in the shortest feeding period.

You can increase the efficiency of your feeding, and increase your resulting profits, too, by raising your hogs on a balanced ration, which contains in the correct proportions, the required proteins, minerals and vitamins. Because it is a balanced ration, SHUR-GAIN 16% HOG GROWER and 13% HOG FATTENER eliminates waste, and every pound you feed is utilized by your hogs. Balanced feeding, the SHUR-GAIN WAY means faster growth, lower feeding costs, and improved grading results.

Three More Local Boys Home.

Pte. Cecil Gulliver.
Sgt. Frank Tallent.
Pte. Christopher Smith.

Fully 250 townspeople gathered up town, following the blowing of the town siren, at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning, to welcome home Pte. Cecil Gulliver, a German prisoner of war since Dieppe. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gulliver, whose other son Lawrence, was killed at that ill-fated invasion. Cecil had been met in London in the afternoon by his wife and 4-year-old daughter Carol, while his father, and mother, brothers and sister, along with other relatives, met him in Windsor.

On Tuesday afternoon, about 4 p.m., the blowing of the town siren informed the citizens that two more Essex boys had arrived back in their home town. They were Sgt. Frank Tallent and Christopher Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Smith.

These two boys, as well as Pte. Gulliver, were driven through the town on the town fire truck, which was followed by a number of cars, all blowing their horns.

On Wednesday evening the local Civic Welcoming Committee held a civic welcome for them, in the town park, at which they were presented with medals, suitably engraved with name, rank, etc. as a token of recognition by the town at large.

John W. Batten Passes.

The older residents of Essex and vicinity will be shocked to learn that John W. Batten, general manager of the Detroit City Gas Co., and a former Gesto boy, passed away from a heart ailment, on Sunday.

John was born in the Township of Colchester North, in 1873, a son of the late Thomas Batten and Eliza Jane Thornton. He was a graduate of Essex High School, Model School, and after teaching a couple of years near Gesto, he attended and graduated from Toronto University. Forty-one years ago he entered the employ of the Detroit City Gas Co. as a meter reader and climbed to where he had been an executive of this large company for a number of years.

Surviving are his widow, Maude W., and three sons, Frederick W., Arthur W. and Robert E.; also three brothers, Edward, Wallace and Clarence, all of Detroit; and a sister, Miss Ida Batten. Another sister, Eliza, predeceased him. Funeral services were held from the Metropolitan M. E. Church, Woodward avenue, Detroit, this Thursday.

Former Free Press Publisher Honoured.

Henry C. Walters, who owned and published the Essex Free Press something over fifty years ago, and later became a Detroit lawyer and recently retired from active practice after fifty years of distinguished service at the Bar, specializing in the law of insurance, was the subject of highly complimentary reference in the October 1944 issue of the Sun Life Review.

Mr. Walters has served the Sun Life as counsel for the State of Michigan for almost fifty years and in the article referred to, the Company testifies to the fact that "in the nearly half century of service for the company Mr. Walters has not lost a single case." Also quoted from the article is the following: "To say that Mr. Walters' day is one of the truly great gentlemen of his profession would not do adequate justice to the man. There is the human side of him; a spiritual quality of his life and work for which he is revered by all those associated with him. Men and women of all walks of life respect and trust him implicitly because of his forthright honesty, his unswerving loyalty to principle, his equity and justice. His ability is of an outstanding order. The homage and regard bestowed upon him, however, do not arise from his indisputable forensic competence but rather from the inherent scrupulousness of his nature and incorruptible passion for righteousness and fair play."

Many old timers of Essex town and county will be interested in the foregoing tribute to a former Essex boy, who is a son of the late John Walters, who also will be favourably remembered as having served Essex Town as Clerk for a long term of years, living, we believe, in the house on Victoria avenue, recently purchased by Len Phenix.

Pidruzny-Lesperance Wedding

The marriage of Miss Rita E. Lesperance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lesperance, Elm avenue, Windsor, to Fred J. Pidruzny, son of Mrs. Wm. Pidruzny, of Cottam, and the late Mr. Wm. Pidruzny, was solemnized at Holy Name of Mary Church, Windsor, by the Rev. M. A. MacManus officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of blue satin and a long veil held in a cap of the satin. She carried calla lilies and red roses.

Mrs. Ida Caruhel, sister of the bride, as matron of honour, wore powder blue satin covered with net and a head dress of pink roses holding in place her matching blue veil. She carried pink roses and carnations. Orval Leclair was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for 50 guests. They will reside in Cottam.

Maple Leafs Win Thriller.

The Essex Maple Leafs played by far their best game of the season, at the Legion Field Day, on Monday, when they battled 16 innings to defeat Leamington Barons 2 to 1. Scratch possibly shaded Murray slightly on the mound, holding the local team to five hits and only walking one man, while his teammates were making eight hits and Murray walked eight men, however his teammates made two errors in the sixteenth to hand the game to the Leafs. The local team only got one hit off Scratch in the last ten innings, a single in the eighth. High credit is also due Murray, who hurled the last ten innings, in spite of being painfully hurt when hit in the back by a throw ball when a base runner. We are sure both these kid pitchers will be heard from in a big way in a year or so.

Outside of the two pitchers, possibly the star player of the game was B. Rose, at first, for Leamington. He handled 27 chances without the semblance of an error and twice robbed Art Miller of extra base hits. This game started at 10:30 and ended about 2 in the afternoon.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST.

armed forces. Stating that the greatest catastrophe to overtake the human race was the loss of the true import of Jesus' life and teaching, the incoming President attributed that loss to Jesus' followers reverting to their old ways of thinking and living, or "trying to graft the new onto the old." She cautioned against the human race losing its spiritual gains of more recent years for the same reasons.

The assurance of the defeat of godless evil-seeking world domination has made 1945 one of the most outstanding in human history, the retiring president said. While a great deal has been accomplished, he insisted, there was plenty still to be done. He impressed upon his audience, however, that the assured way of accomplishment lies in the heaven of spiritual truth implanted in human consciousness by Christ Jesus nineteen centuries ago.

"Let us rise," he said, "to the opportunities before us. Let us be eager to help solve the political, racial, and economic problems confronting the human race. Let us not fear change, but confidently expect change. Let us resolve the express more of the limitless range of thought natural to man."

That the religious rights of individuals are beginning to be recognized by those outside Christian Science was revealed by the Committee on Publication which pointed out that recently in California Christian Scientists were exempted voluntarily from proposed health insurance legislation sponsored by Governor Earl Warren and the C. I. O.

Radio activities of The Mother Church have been extended, the committee reported, as the result of a weekly program launched over 148 stations, consisting of electrical transmissions recorded from the auditorium of the church. These are broadcast throughout the United States and Canada, Hawaii, and the Canal Zone.

Demands for Christian Science literature continue to increase, according to the Trustees under the Will of Mary Baker Eddy. Mrs. Eddy's writings, for instance, were figured to have risen in sale 25 per cent from 1941 to 1942, 57 per cent in 1943, and 78 per cent in 1944. The total sales for last year were said to be more than twice those of the last full pre-war year, 1940.

The Trustees of The Christian Science Publishing Society reported the most active year in the Society's history, measured in terms of circulation, advertising and total business volume. The Christian Science Monitor, and other publications of the Society, all reached new highs in circulation, they said. The Monitor's Paris branch has been re-opened and overseas activities "will be resumed as rapidly as we are privileged to do so."

More than 1,000,000 lines of new advertising were added to the Monitor's columns, with both the number of advertisers and lineage attaining new high volumes, it was stated. The Trustees indicated that many important developments were in store for the Monitor in the postwar era, and to this end orders have been placed for new presses and other printing equipment of the finest quality.

FRIDAY, JULY 6, 1945.

Goyeau Hurls a One-Hitter.

The Shamrocks lost their second game of the season, on Sunday, when they went down 5 to 1 at the hands of Tecumseh. Goyeau held the Rocks to one hit, a single by Ewing, in the third innings, and struck out 17. Goyeau didn't appear to bear down until after the Tecumseh team had scored four runs in the third, to put the game on ice. The Maidstone batters had no excuses, as they had all batted against Goyeau before, but instead of waiting him out, they went after him all day. Marsh Jessop, a good hitter, in the 8th, had six balls thrown to him, but one of which was close to being a strike, and still he went down swinging. This game was the Rocks' first taste of a left-hander this year, maybe they'll do better next time they meet Goyeau. Even then the game might have ended different had not Bruneteau been playing out of position for Mathers, a right hand batter in the third. Bruneteau was standing where he usually would be for a left-handed hitter, and then he just caught Mathers' drive near the foul line in right, with the bases loaded.

The Rocks play at home again next Sunday, meeting the Colored team from Windsor.

First Inning. Tecumseh—Goyeau made a swell bare hand catch of Sawyer's grounder and threw him out; Craig tried to push one between first and second, but was out; O'Brien to Jessop; Robinet fled high to Wright in right.—0 run, 0 hit, 0 error.

Second Inning. Tecumseh—Cecile lined to Mathers in center; Clark took Jackson's high fly in deep left center; Eddie Bruneteau, Detroit Red Wing hockey player, grounded out, third to first.—0 run, 0 hit, 0 error.

Third Inning. Tecumseh—Ewing took Papineau's high fly in front of the plate; Masse grounded out; Marsh Jessop, unassisted; Goyeau singled between third and short; Mathers nearly completed shoe-string catch of Sawyer's line drive to center, blocked the ball and laid Goyeau on second; Craig walked to fill the bases; Robinet doubled near the foul line in right to score Goyeau and Sawyer; Craig reaching third; Cecile's hit over the fence in right could have been good for a home run but held to a double due to ground ball; scored Craig and Robinet; Cecile took third on a short passed ball; Mathers made a sparkling glove hand snatching catch of Jackson's liner to center.—4 runs, 4 hits, 0 errors.

Fourth Inning. Tecumseh—Bruneteau was sent down first when the plate umpire detected Masse; Tecumseh catcher, tipped the bat; Ewing singled to right; Goyeau batted; Masse walked to fill the bases; Goyeau worked the count to three and then struck out on what would have been the fourth ball; Clark also struck out; Bruneteau made a fine catch of Mathers' liner near the line, right field.—0 run, 1 hit, 0 error.

Fifth Inning. Tecumseh—Goyeau struck out on two pitched balls; Sawyer also fanned on three pitched balls; Craig lined single to center and, with Robinet, but stole second and third; Robinet singled to left to score Craig; with Cecile at bat, Robinet was picked off; Goyeau to Jessop to Queen.—1 run, 0 hits, 0 error.

Sixth Inning. Tecumseh—Cecile walked on four pitched balls; on the second ball pitched to Jackson; Cecile stole second; Jackson hit O'Brien and was safe when Bud fumbled the ball; Cecile moved over to third; Jackson stole second, but Ewing's quick snap throw to Russ Picked Cecile off third; Jackson stole third; Kemp, replacing Bruneteau, walked on four pitched balls and stole second; Papineau again struck out; Goyeau unworked a wild pitch; Ewing felled the ball quickly, threw to Goyeau, who tagged Jackson, trying to score.—0 run, 0 hit, 1 error.

Seventh Inning. Tecumseh—Queen bunted and was thrown out by Goyeau; Clark was hit by a pitched ball; Mathers walked; Jessop hit to Goyeau's right, the pitcher felled the ball, threw into the crowd behind third trying to force Clark and Clark scored; Mathers took third and Jessop reached second; Wright, trying to squeeze Mathers home, bunted direct to Goyeau and Mathers was an easy out at the plate; Jessop remained on second and Wright was safe on a fielder's choice; Masse made an excellent catch of a high ball fly at the screen behind the plate, to retire Russ.—1 run, 0 hit, 1 error.

Eighth Inning. Tecumseh—Queen drew a base on balls; Clark worked the count to three and two, and then struck out on a very bad ball; Queen stole second as Mathers struck out on strikes; Jessop struck out; Goyeau threw three balls, not one of which was a good one, the last being two feet outside.—0 run, 0 hit, 0 error.

Ninth Inning. Tecumseh—Papineau struck out for the third time; Masse lined a single to left; Queen made a fine running catch of Goyeau's high fly in short center; Mathers of a wild pitch; Ewing hit toward second, Queen made a sensational glove hand pick-up of the hard hit ball and threw the batter out.—0 run, 1 hit, 0 error.

Tenth Inning. Tecumseh—Wright was out at first on a close play; Papineau to Jackson; Russ and O'Brien struck out.—0 run, 0 hit, 0 error.

Masse was thrown out, Ewing to Jessop to Queen; Goyeau struck out; Sawyer walked and was picked off first on the first ball pitched to Craig.—0 run, 0 hit, 1 error.

Maidstone—O'Brien struck out on three pitched balls; Goyeau took Ewing's slow roller down the third base line and threw play; Goyeau was called out on strikes.—0 run, 0 hit 0 error.

Eighth Inning. Tecumseh—Craig lined to Mathers in center; Robinet doubled to left and took third on a short passed ball; Cecile walked and stole second; Jackson flied to Clark in short left, both runners holding their bases, when Clark threw perfect to Ewing after the catch; Kemp grounded out, second to first.—0 run, 1 hit, 0 error.

Maidstone—Queen drew a base on balls; Clark worked the count to three and two, and then struck out on a very bad ball; Queen stole second as Mathers struck out on strikes; Jessop struck out; Goyeau threw three balls, not one of which was a good one, the last being two feet outside.—0 run, 0 hit, 0 error.

Ninth Inning. Tecumseh—Papineau struck out for the third time; Masse lined a single to left; Queen made a fine running catch of Goyeau's high fly in short center; Mathers of a wild pitch; Ewing hit toward second, Queen made a sensational glove hand pick-up of the hard hit ball and threw the batter out.—0 run, 1 hit, 0 error.

Maidstone—Wright was out at first on a close play; Papineau to Jackson; Russ and O'Brien struck out.—0 run, 0 hit, 0 error.

Crop Increase.

The increase in the yields of grain crops by the use of fertilizers, particularly in the Prairie Provinces, is dependent to a large extent on the moisture content of the soil at seeding time and on the amount and distribution of the rainfall during the growing season.

Imperial Leaf Tobacco Co.

Imperial Leaf Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited, Delhi and Leamington, Ontario, announces the purchase of the property partly within the town of Aymer and partly in the township of Malahide, county of Elgin, Ontario, comprising approximately 36 acres bordered on the south by Beach street and on the east by John street. The Company state that on this property they will erect a plant for the receiving, grading, re-drying, packing and storing of leaf tobacco. The buildings will be commenced and completed with the least possible delay, to be in readiness to receive the 1945 crop.

Imperial Leaf Tobacco Co.

The plant proper will be of reinforced concrete and brick, two storeys in height. It will comprise:

1. Office building.
2. Employees' building in which will be housed all employees' services such as locker rooms, dining rooms, rest rooms, hospital, etc.
3. Main building in which will be located receiving rooms, grading rooms, etc.
4. Machine building in which will be installed super-driers and necessary machinery for the re-drying and packing of leaf tobacco in hogsheads.
5. Cooper shop and wood-working shop.
6. Power house will contain modern boiler and pumping equipment.

In addition to the foregoing, there will be 5 storage buildings 662 ft. x 111 ft. each, with loading platforms of reinforced concrete with structural steel canopies. The total storage capacity of these buildings will be approximately forty million pounds of leaf tobacco.

All buildings, including storages, will be sprinkled, and an underground reservoir will be provided for the storage of 200,000 gallons of water for fire protection. This will be augmented by an elevated gravity tank of steel which will have plenty of capacity of 100,000 gallons.

The foregoing indicates very clearly that this new project which, during the season when it is operating at full capacity will employ approximately six hundred persons, is a very important one for the district. It also indicates that the Imperial Leaf Tobacco Company is confident that tobacco raising in Ontario will continue at an increasing rate, in order to take care of the present and post-war demands for tobacco products. By the erection of this new plant, the Company will increase its re-drying capacity by 66.23 per cent. Primarily, it will enable the Company to handle its purchases expeditiously out of the anticipated increased quantity of tobacco that will be grown this year in the Province of Ontario. It will also enable the Company to take care of its purchases on an increased scale in succeeding years.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES.

By Dean Wilson.

One of the most amazing developments throughout this country is the "orgy of buying" following in the wake of "wild rumours" of possible shortages and changes in the wartime supplies as well as regulations, with the authorities along Parliament Hill being quite concerned about these activities, though this fact has not been properly publicized in dispatches from Ottawa at the present time. Somehow or other a "wild rumour" seems to start amongst the masses and soon it appears to spread with startling rapidity, causing buying activities on demands which are completely unwarranted. There was a "wild rumour" about laundry soap and an "orgy of buying" of this soap produced a severe shortage in some areas. The truth is that soap was short in supply in the United States due to temporary labor troubles and this, being used in the manufacture of laundry soap, created a shortage. There was a "wild rumour" about potatoes and the demand for potatoes became completely out of tune with normal requirements at this time of year, though in reality the backward spring in Canada kept the usual supplies down of old potatoes and a temporary delay of supplies of new potatoes from the United States contributed to the shortage. There was a "wild rumour" about cotton shirts but the truth is that this was due mainly to production difficulties as well as unusually large demands. In face of all "wild rumours" about meat, yet the best information in Ottawa seems to show that there has never been any "mystery" about meat supplies and demands, with the suspension of rationing on March 1st, 1944, having been always emphasized as a purely temporary arrangement due to shipping obstacles. Now, increasing demands at home and abroad and decreasing supplies of meat are causing conditions not unexpected a long time ago. There has been a "wild rumour" on gasoline, but no immediate action of any drastic nature is contemplated to remove this restriction until at least the end of this summer at the earliest date. There have been many "wild rumours" about the revision or removal of wartime taxes but it can be hinted in this column that these will be coming much slower and in such smaller measures than suggested in popular stories circulating at this moment, with the whole plan of such revisions or removals of taxes being under careful study in the capital at this moment by officials. Indeed, there would be no surprise in well-informed quarters in Ottawa if such wartime taxes are not brought downward rapidly on account of financial commitments of the Government in immediate postwar plans "for creating a better country for the people to live in" using an expression employed in this regard by one qualified to offer a view on this subject.

As a result of the defeat in the last general elections of Premier King there is considerable doubt in the minds of many people how the head of the Government can carry on his official tasks without being even a Member of Parliament, with this being stressed in particular, now that Parliament has been indicated as meeting towards the end of August. However, it must be pointed out that, even if the Premier would not be elected to Parliament when it would meet, it can continue its work. In fact, in 1925, Premier King was also defeated in the general election of that year in the North York Constituency, though his party came to power, so that he carried on as head until he was elected in a by-election in the second month of the following year, with the Parliament meeting at least a month before that by-election and it operated under the leadership of the late Mr. H. B. Ewing in Ottawa, Beverley Baxter, a well-known writer formerly from Canada, Bartie Bull, and Sir Peter Macdonald.

Notwithstanding all other events along Parliament Hill, yet it must be reported at this time that employment still holds the spotlight of attention in this time of peace from war. It is expressive in an eminent degree to report that, it is held in Ottawa, Canada's labour needs are still quite impressive, especially in certain directions, such as construction work, lumbering or logging, mining, agriculture, and elsewhere, revealing a labor shortage still is in existence.

Canada's association with the world security charter signed at San Francisco by the Canadian delegates has a formal and informal aspect. The formal signing of this historic document, which created an organization of about 50 United Nations, together with such other bodies as the International Court of Justice, had a background of a full legal authorization by His Majesty, King George VI, so that Canada's delegates may sign with the same legal power as if His Majesty had signed these documents as King of Canada.

The informal aspect was based on the story in Ottawa that President Truman, of the United States, had indicated his desire to hold informal talks with Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada, in the same manner as the heads of the two countries were accustomed to do in recent years when the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt acted for our great neighbour, with the San Francisco Conference having provided an opportunity for the introduction of the same informal method of discussions between the heads of the two nations. Both formal and informal aspects were created several weeks ago, the legal power for Canada's delegates to sign having been granted by His Majesty, King George VI, in April, and the expression of a desire for informal talks by President Truman having been indicated some weeks ago, though the culmination of both occurred only at the close of the San Francisco Conference.

Extremely heavy publicity has been given to statements in the United States and Canada against some sales campaigns by Canadian gold mining interests and there is an impression along Parliament Hill that such statements of a general nature, often not backed by indisputable facts, may be deterrent in their effects and produce a strong adverse tendency on the part of the investment public against sound, legitimate investments in Canadian mining enterprises, especially in areas where promising finds are suspected to exist and where full operations may be more productive soon with the gradual return to normal of supplies of equipment as well as manpower conditions that were held down by abnormal wartime circumstances in recent years. Then again, it is stressed in well-informed quarters on Parliament Hill that considerable publicity about supposed or alleged wrongdoing by some people in Canada in the sales of securities of this kind in the United States has not mentioned a most important angle and that is that the Treaty for the Extradition of Criminals between the two nations, as signed on April 29th, 1942, has never been ratified by Canada. Until such ratification or approval of this treaty by Canada's legislators has taken place, much of the comment in the United States was unwarranted. Of course, the reference is to the sections 31 and 32, Article III, of that treaty, wherein it is provided that extradition shall be reciprocally granted for offenses against the laws for the prevention of fraud in the sale or purchase of securities. Exclusive inquiry by this observer in Ottawa has revealed that this treaty also provided clearly that "the present treaty shall be ratified by the high contracting parties in accordance with their respective constitutional methods" and no such ratification has been given by Canada so that adverse comment on Canadian mining enterprises may be taken with a thick grain of salt in many instances.

A surprisingly large list of world famous characters have been mentioned as on Ottawa's visiting list lately, including Field Marshal Jan Smuts of the Union of South Africa; Lord Cranborne, Secretary of State for the Dominions in the British Cabinet; Prince Regent of Iraq; Dr. T. V. Soong, newly appointed Premier of China; ex-Empress Zita, of Austria-Hungary, and others, with the visit of the last mentioned being stressed in reports as merely "informal and personal."

Premier King and General McNaughton held a meeting at a photographer's studio for a little time after the rest of Federal Cabinet had departed following the taking of their pictures in this well-known studio in Ottawa, with rumours accompanying the nature of this meeting since both the Premier and the General had met reverses in their efforts to get into Parliament in the last general election. After a determined effort is being made by Hon. Paul Martin, Secretary of State, to learn thoroughly the problems of Canada's growing army of civil servants with a report in the capital revealing that he may provide a "new era" in the government's relations with its employees, setting an example for all Canadian employer-employee relations.

As a result of a request of $5,000, it is indicated in Ottawa that a mission boat for use in the Pacific coast will be built in the postwar period with this fund. Canadian businessmen, newspapermen and others who receive official approval may now travel to certain European countries by permission of the External Affairs Department in Ottawa. The Director of Soldiers' Settlement and Veterans' Land Act, Dr. G. Murchison, has stated in Ottawa that "Canada's No. 1 rehabilitation problem is housing."

Bait for Mice.

In dwelling houses, it is not advisable to eliminate mice with poison traps should be used, baited with cheese, fried bacon, oatmeal or fruit. When raisins were plentiful, a combination bait often used was a mixture of peanut butter, rolled oats, and chopped raisins. A drop of aniseed oil put on the finishing touch.

Is the Farm Mower Ready for Haying?

The saving point in haying operations is the knowledge that the mower is in good working order, and that vexatious and possibly expensive delays will not likely be caused by want of care in having kept the machine in repair. There are a hundred and one items to be seen to, but when the alignment of the cutting mechanism is correct, a great deal has been done to speed the work. The alignment of the cutter bar and pitman of a mower is the adjustment of mower parts so that the driving mechanism of the knife moves in a straight line when the machine is in operation.

Adjustments for alignment, however, affect three related items, namely, the pitman alignment, the lead of the cutter bar, and the registration of the knife, making it necessary to consider all three factors when each adjustment is changed. Before attempting to adjust a mower for the alignment of the pitman, alignment of the cutter bar, or the registration of the knife, the pole of the mower should be raised to its working position. For horse-drawn mowers, the end of the pole should be raised to the height of 31 inches.

The pitman of a mower should operate parallel to the face of the pitman wheel, and at a right angle to the pitman shaft. If the pitman does not operate in this manner, the pitman bearing slides endways on the pitman pin at each stroke, causing excessive wear. With reference to the lead or alignment of the cutter bar, when in operation the outer end of the cutter bar of a mower tends to twist or lag back as the bar is dragged over the surface of the ground. To compensate for this lag, the cutter bar should be given a slight lead, so that the outer end of the knife, the ball of the knife head, and the pitman boxing will operate in a straight line. In the correct registration of the knife, sections of the knife of a mower should travel from the center of one guard plate to the center of the next guard plate on each stroke of the pitman. Poor centering of the knife causes clogging and heavy dranch. Incorrect centering may be caused by a pitman which is not the correct length, by the wrong type of knife, worn parts, or by incorrect adjustments on the drag bar and push bar. These and many other factors are fully discussed with illustrations in the publication "Mower Repairs," by W. Kablisch, Agricultural Engineer, Field Husbandry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. A copy may be obtained by writing to the Publication and Extension Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

It is unfortunate, says the Minneapolis Star Journal, that even among adults the purposes of the organization, the term Boy Scout is sometimes used facetiously to imply something namby-pamby and childish. Actually all the vitality of the movement is expressed in the program and teachings of this organization. It is most significant that one of the early steps of the dictators was to suppress the Boy Scouts in favour of cannon-fodder groups into which their own youth were herded.

estly, King George VI, so that Canada's delegates may sign with the same legal power as if His Majesty had signed these documents as King of Canada.

The informal aspect was based on the story in Ottawa that President Truman, of the United States, had indicated his desire to hold informal talks with Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada, in the same manner as the heads of the two countries were accustomed to do in recent years when the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt acted for our great neighbour, with the San Francisco Conference having provided an opportunity for the introduction of the same informal method of discussions between the heads of the two nations. Both formal and informal aspects were created several weeks ago, the legal power for Canada's delegates to sign having been granted by His Majesty, King George VI, in April, and the expression of a desire for informal talks by President Truman having been indicated some weeks ago, though the culmination of both occurred only at the close of the San Francisco Conference.

Extremely heavy publicity has been given to statements in the United States and Canada against some sales campaigns by Canadian gold mining interests and there is an impression along Parliament Hill that such statements of a general nature, often not backed by indisputable facts, may be deterrent in their effects and produce a strong adverse tendency on the part of the investment public against sound, legitimate investments in Canadian mining enterprises, especially in areas where promising finds are suspected to exist and where full operations may be more productive soon with the gradual return to normal of supplies of equipment as well as manpower conditions that were held down by abnormal wartime circumstances in recent years. Then again, it is stressed in well-informed quarters on Parliament Hill that considerable publicity about supposed or alleged wrongdoing by some people in Canada in the sales of securities of this kind in the United States has not mentioned a most important angle and that is that the Treaty for the Extradition of Criminals between the two nations, as signed on April 29th, 1942, has never been ratified by Canada. Until such ratification or approval of this treaty by Canada's legislators has taken place, much of the comment in the United States was unwarranted. Of course, the reference is to the sections 31 and 32, Article III, of that treaty, wherein it is provided that extradition shall be reciprocally granted for offenses against the laws for the prevention of fraud in the sale or purchase of securities. Exclusive inquiry by this observer in Ottawa has revealed that this treaty also provided clearly that "the present treaty shall be ratified by the high contracting parties in accordance with their respective constitutional methods" and no such ratification has been given by Canada so that adverse comment on Canadian mining enterprises may be taken with a thick grain of salt in many instances.

A surprisingly large list of world famous characters have been mentioned as on Ottawa's visiting list lately, including Field Marshal Jan Smuts of the Union of South Africa; Lord Cranborne, Secretary of State for the Dominions in the British Cabinet; Prince Regent of Iraq; Dr. T. V. Soong, newly appointed Premier of China; ex-Empress Zita, of Austria-Hungary, and others, with the visit of the last mentioned being stressed in reports as merely "informal and personal."

Premier King and General McNaughton held a meeting at a photographer's studio for a little time after the rest of Federal Cabinet had departed following the taking of their pictures in this well-known studio in Ottawa, with rumours accompanying the nature of this meeting since both the Premier and the General had met reverses in their efforts to get into Parliament in the last general election. After a determined effort is being made by Hon. Paul Martin, Secretary of State, to learn thoroughly the problems of Canada's growing army of civil servants with a report in the capital revealing that he may provide a "new era" in the government's relations with its employees, setting an example for all Canadian employer-employee relations.

As a result of a request of $5,000, it is indicated in Ottawa that a mission boat for use in the Pacific coast will be built in the postwar period with this fund. Canadian businessmen, newspapermen and others who receive official approval may now travel to certain European countries by permission of the External Affairs Department in Ottawa. The Director of Soldiers' Settlement and Veterans' Land Act, Dr. G. Murchison, has stated in Ottawa that "Canada's No. 1 rehabilitation problem is housing."

Bait for Mice.

In dwelling houses, it is not advisable to eliminate mice with poison traps should be used, baited with cheese, fried bacon, oatmeal or fruit. When raisins were plentiful, a combination bait often used was a mixture of peanut butter, rolled oats, and chopped raisins. A drop of aniseed oil put on the finishing touch.

Is the Farm Mower Ready for Haying?

The saving point in haying operations is the knowledge that the mower is in good working order, and that vexatious and possibly expensive delays will not likely be caused by want of care in having kept the machine in repair. There are a hundred and one items to be seen to, but when the alignment of the cutting mechanism is correct, a great deal has been done to speed the work. The alignment of the cutter bar and pitman of a mower is the adjustment of mower parts so that the driving mechanism of the knife moves in a straight line when the machine is in operation.

Adjustments for alignment, however, affect three related items, namely, the pitman alignment, the lead of the cutter bar, and the registration of the knife, making it necessary to consider all three factors when each adjustment is changed. BACK TO BRITAIN: Child war guests who came to Canada from Great Britain in 1940, when 6,000 of them were carried in Canadian Pacific ships, now are returning to the Old Country. A group of them are shown above at dinner in the Windsor Station coffee shop prior to boarding a C.P.R. "steamship special" for the east coast. Also making the trip were R.A.F. dependents like the wee Scottish-Canadian (right), enroute to Falkirk and her R.A.F. father, who trained and married in Canada.

Feeding Efficiency

There is no Waste the SHUR-GAIN Way.
Better Hogs to Market in Shorter Time.

There is a notable shortage of meat on the domestic market — and this shortage is in very grave danger of increasing, due to the tremendous needs of liberated European countries. Canadian farmers are being called upon to increase their production, particularly of pork and bacon, so that the needs of these war-torn countries may be met, to a degree at least.

Canadian bacon is wanted, both in Britain and in the rest of Europe, and the need will be maintained for many months to come. Now, when every pound of pork must be produced, at the lowest possible cost, you must consider the efficiency of your hog feeding program. Efficient feeding means that more of your hogs farrowed reach market, at the proper weights, and in the shortest feeding period.

You can increase the efficiency of your feeding, and increase your resulting profits, too, by raising your hogs on a balanced ration, which contains in the correct proportions, the required proteins, minerals and vitamins. Because it is a balanced ration, SHUR-GAIN 16% HOG GROWER and 13% HOG FATTENER eliminates waste, and every pound you feed is utilized by your hogs. Balanced feeding, the SHUR-GAIN WAY means faster growth, lower feeding costs, and improved grading results.

Letter from Holland.

The following letter was received by Rev. Stanley and Mrs. Johnston, from their son Lawrence, a member of the R.C.A.F.:

Holland, May 30th.

Hello All:
Today a parcel arrived — it was the one containing the New World (April), the big can of tomato juice, cookies, chocolate bars, etc. All was in good shape, and the New World is on its rounds now. Thanks a lot for everything.

Oh, yes, keep your eyes open for five parcels, one cloth, one cardboard, and three wooden parcels.

Last Sunday, after dinner, Stew and I went to Amsterdam and came back Monday night. We got there about 10.30, and started hunting for a hotel. We got a room in one of the best hotels, but as the city has no lights we went to bed in the dark. We slept right on the mattress with one blanket over us — no sheets — but with our clothes we were warm enough and more comfortable than in camp.

We had to take our own rations and scrounged a couple of cans of bully beef and a loaf of bread.

On the way up we opened a can of sardines and cut ourselves a couple of slices of bread by the side of the road. A man and a woman (refugees) saw us and stopped, and came over asking for a piece of bread. They sure looked hungry, so we gave them a slice each and some fish.

The next morning we took a walk around the city. Amsterdam has some wide streets, but not as wide as Portage Avenue, Winnipeg, and some very narrow ones — all meander all over the place. A fellow pointed out the city's narrowest street, 3 ft. wide. There are nearly as many canals as streets and most are navigable by barge. They have some very modern, but not high buildings.

The city has been bombed, but some houses have been torn down to get fire wood.

After dinner we met a fellow about 19, who spoke excellent English, and wanted to conduct us about the city. We couldn't get rid of him very well, so we tagged along together. It turned out that he was a member of the M. B. S. (Dutch P.E.L.) and he asked if we would like to see the quising jail. We had to wait outside till he went in and spoke to the head man, Canadian airmen are still a novelty over there and we got in o. k. We met the commander of the Amsterdam area underground. A little fellow who reminded me of Bill Toole, except his hard small eyes. He escaped from a concentration camp in 1942, and since then was in hiding and working in the underground headquarters. He told us several very interesting things they had done and were doing. He couldn't speak very good English so our guide was our interpreter.

They said of the approximate 100,000 Jews in Amsterdam hardly any were left. Also that 50% of all babies born since 1942 had died of malnutrition. He then took us in to see the quisingals. They were just an ordinary bunch of people — some successful looking business men — some poorly dressed ones that looked like ordinary labourers. They had various charges against them, the worst was one official in the city who was responsible for the death of 125 Dutchmen. We asked what would happen to them and they said that after a fair trial they would be executed. Several of the guards, some only fellows of 17 or 18, had been in German concentration camps, and they said that though they were not cruel they were very strict with them. He told us some more interesting stuff and one fellow showed us the backs of his hands where he had been cut — dozens and dozens of scars — while in a German camp. Our guide, although no older than I am, was an active member and had a bullet hole in his shin he received one night.

By then it was supper time, and our guide wanted us to come up and visit his wife. He has a 20 month old baby and his wife also speaks very good English, and he wanted us to visit both. A great number of people speak English here. I'm not afraid to go up to any group of three on the street and ask directions, for at least one will answer me in my own lingo.

Their education of language must be very much superior to ours because some of our fellows who had taken French four years in Canada, could not get to first base in France. But back to Amsterdam.

They said their milk ration, when they could get it, was 2 pints a week for the baby. The kid looked fat enough but had a big stomach. They said it ate a lot of soup. When we left they were cooking supper and what the two of them had was not half what I eat for a meal. We left them our

Mr. and Mrs. G. Cock and son Douglas, of Windsor, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Fryer and Elsie Ann, of Thamesford, with other relatives of this vicinity, spent Monday at Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Hughson's. Mr. Fryer has recently returned home after serving for five years overseas, with the Royal Canadian Regiment.

Jeanette Sparks, of Charing Cross, is spending the week with Colne-nutt.

The Y. P. U. held their winter roast at Colchester Beach, on Tuesday evening. Everyone reports an enjoyable evening.

Plan now to attend the 5th Annual Rotary Carnival, at Cottam, Monday, August 6th, Civic Holiday.

Sunday visitors at Clarence Colnutt's were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sparks and family, and Mrs. John Knott, of Charing Cross; Mr. and Mrs. Ken Amonte and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Buhler and Barbara, and Ray Calhoun, of Gesto; Irene (L.A.W.) of Centralia, and Grace, of Windsor.

The community was shocked, on Sunday, to learn of the death of John Batten, of Detroit. John was formerly an old Gesto boy. He taught Batten School, S. S. No. 6, and he and his wife were always on hand for our Victoria Day celebration. Funeral services were held today (Thursday) from Metropolitan Church, Detroit. The sympathy of the community goes out to the bereaved relatives.

remaining can of bully beef and Stew left a bar for the kid.

They don't expect electricity till next winter time in Amsterdam, and coal and wood are very scarce.

There is no city transportation, no taxis, street cars, busses, private cars, etc., only a few horse-drawn taxis and hundreds of bicycles, mostly without tires. How people can ride on cobble stones, a street car tracks on the rims and not fall off surprises me. Some bicycles have wooden tires or solid ones made from a strip of old car tire.

The Dutch people seem the most sincere of any we've met here, and I've seen more hate in the eyes of Dutchmen talking about the Jerries than any other nationality.

We left Amsterdam after seeing Holland's most modern railway station. It is built of 80% glass. All electric trains operate, or did, from this depot.

On the way back we had a lift in a V-8 with a Dutch general, who spoke such good English we asked if he were not an Englishman attached to the Netherlands army.

We passed through the battle area where the paratroopers landed at Arnheim last August, and saw many of their graves. The city of Arnheim is a ghost town. Hardly a house has been damaged by bombing or shell fire, but every one has been looted of everything worth while that is small enough to carry. Even beds and other furniture are gone from some. We looked through some of them and it looked as if the civilians had left only what they could not carry on their backs.

We were talking to a woman hitch-hiking to where her husband was. Her home was in Arnheim, but as it is still out of bounds to civilians she didn't live there. She said it was the Jerries that took most of it — also a few Dutchmen. When the Canadians got there there wasn't anything left. As you know, the Canadians are not angels, either.

Well, our ride took us right to the camp gate, and we got to bed by 12.30. The general election (and Ontario) are the main topics here now — that is next to when we get home.

Well, I must close. Please pass this on as I've taken three days to write this one. So long. Love, L. A.

Legion Field Day Most Successful Yet.

Fully 4,000 people attended the Legion Field Day, at the Fair Grounds, on Monday, making it the most successful yet, and they were treated to far the best entertainment to date. There wasn't a dull moment.

The morning was threatening, with low dark clouds, but after mid afternoon the sky cleared.

The afternoon program opened with a Calthumpian Parade, starting at the Essex High School and led by the South Essex Associated Boys' Band of 45 pieces. This part of the program was not very well patronized.

Horse Races.

The harness races, under the capable guidance of Harry Reid, of Leamington, with Dr. G. W. Rogers, Earl and Frank Roberts, as judges, were high class, while the horses finished in the same 1, 2, 3, 4 order in all three heats of the 227 class, each heat was very closely contested.

The two-year-old race of two heats, while possibly not as closely contested, brought out three far better than average two-year-olds, with Jerry the Great, owned in partnership by Allan Doan, of Essex, and Mr. Lance, of oral Lee, Jerry Lee sold recently by Roberts Bros. to Roy Taylor, for $500.

Help Control Blue Mould of Tobacco in 1946.

As the planting season for 1946 reaches its end, farmers should give a thought to their 1946 Burley Tobacco crop, particularly in reference to Blue Mould, which has become a serious epidemic this year.

Blue Mould is practically new in Ontario, but tobacco growing areas to the south of Lake Erie have long been plagued with this serious tobacco disease. They have learned to keep it pretty much under control and our farmers, too, must learn how to prevent serious damage to our Burley Tobacco crop.

The office of the Burley Tobacco Marketing Association is undertaking the preparation of a series of informative articles on this disease. Dr. L. W. Koch, officer-in-charge of the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology in Harrow, is lending his assistance, his information and his researches to the cause.

One of the dangers of this disease is that those who have permanent seed beds of the "A" type, should close up their seed-beds for a period long enough to kill the remainder of the living plants. All growers, including those with cotton-covered and sash-covered seed beds should pull all remaining plants and bury them, or at least remove them from the vicinity of next year's seed-bed.

Steaming of permanent seed-beds is recommended by Dr. Koch as a cure for this year's beds. Non-permanent beds should be placed in a new location, next year.

It is the fact that it is new to us, that is struck late this year and our growers are too apt to be apathetic about the seriousness of it. All the efforts of each individual grower should be exerted toward the eradication of this disease.

The Women's Patriotic Auxiliary of the Red Cross wish to thank all those who sold tickets on the quilts and the Canadian Legion for having the drawing at the Legion grounds, on Monday evening, July 2nd. Mrs. H. Morrison was winner of the Dresden Plate, with ticket No. 337, while Robert Piper won the Victory Quilt with ticket No. 422.

C. J. Nolan, Essex.

J. P. Cowles New Deputy.

Retirement of Dr. G. F. Rogers as the deputy minister of Education and the appointment of J. P. Cowles, registrar as his successor, was announced this week at Queen's Park. Mr. Cowles served as acting deputy minister during the recent illness of Dr. Rogers.

C. A. Brown, secretary of the Teachers' and Inspectors' Superannuation Fund and the department since 1930, replaces Mr. Cowles as registrar.

Two other changes in the department were announced. W. A. Becroft, liaison officer between the registrar's branch and the normal schools, and an official with 32 years' service, retired at the end of this month. Bruce Leed, who has printed all the examination papers of the department during the last 16 years, will retire next month. Succeeding them will be J. D. Silcox and P. L. Burrows, respectively.

Retirement of Dr. Rogers removes one of the most noted educationalists from active service in the field of education. After conspicuous success as collegiate institute principal in Seaford and in London, Dr. Rogers entered the department of education as high school inspector in 1918. He later became chief inspector of secondary schools, chief director of education and deputy minister. He gave vigorous leadership in all these positions.

Mr. Cowles has had practical experience in both the elementary and secondary schools of Ontario and was brought into the department by Dr. H. J. Cody when the latter was education minister.

Female Wolf is Killed.

River Canard farmers were rid of one more poultry thief this week, thanks to the straight shooting of Ivan Bezaire, who lives on Amherstburg R. R. 4, about three miles from River Canard.

The victim of one load of buckshot from Bezaire's shotgun, was a 34 pound grey female wolf, which had been surprised on the farm of Sam Chappus, while killing turkeys in the poultry yard.

Edward Parent, discovered the marauder just before dusk Monday night, eating a young turkey in the middle of the poultry yard on the Chappus farm, where he is employed.

Calling on the Bezaire father and son for help, Parent organized a chase, which though short, had all the trimmings of a big game hunt. Together with another neighbour, Francis Vermette, Parent and Ovide Bezaire began to drive the wolf towards the Bezaire farm, where Ivan waited in a fence corner, armed with his shotgun.

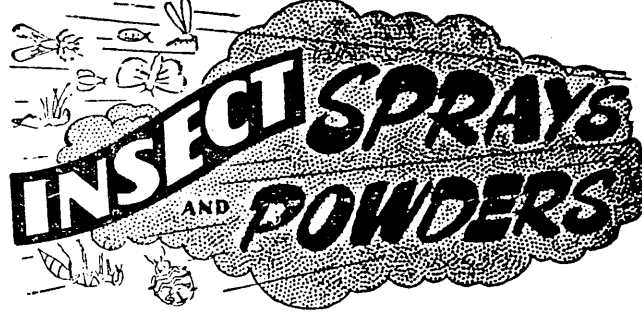

"She came to within 30 yards of me, through a rye field, before she saw me and turned around," said Ivan. "She leaped once, and that was all I needed."

The buckshot load downed the wolf instantly, catching it squarely on the head and shoulders.

The female is thought to be the one which escaped a wolf hunt organized May 9th, when Wilmer Meloche killed a male wolf and others in the party dug eight cubs out of a burrow. The hunt took place about two and a half miles from where Bezaire bagged his on Monday.

It did not take long for the four-man party of River Canard men to take their prize. After Parent had organized the hunt the three men who acted as the "beaters" tramped about a quarter of a mile through a field, sure that they were driving the wolf ahead of them, although they only saw it once.

They came upon the tracks of it one or two places, indicating that it had been in the vicinity for some time.

Help Control Blue Mould of Tobacco in 1946.

As the planting season for 1946 reaches its end, farmers should give a thought to their 1946 Burley Tobacco crop, particularly in reference to Blue Mould, which has become a serious epidemic this year.

Blue Mould is practically new in Ontario, but tobacco growing areas to the south of Lake Erie have long been plagued with this serious tobacco disease. They have learned to keep it pretty much under control and our farmers, too, must learn how to prevent serious damage to our Burley Tobacco crop.

The office of the Burley Tobacco Marketing Association is undertaking the preparation of a series of informative articles on this disease. Dr. L. W. Koch, officer-in-charge of the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology in Harrow, is lending his assistance, his information and his researches to the cause.

The Recommendation of Dr. Koch is that those who have permanent seed beds of the "A" type, should close up their seed-beds for a period long enough to kill the remainder of the living plants. All growers, including those with cotton-covered and sash-covered seed beds should pull all remaining plants and bury them, or at least remove them from the vicinity of next year's seed-bed.

Steaming of permanent seed-beds is recommended by Dr. Koch as a cure for this year's beds. Non-permanent beds should be placed in a new location, next year.

One of the dangers of this disease is the fact that it is new to us, that it struck late this year and our growers are too apt to be apathetic about the seriousness of it. All the efforts of each individual grower should be exerted toward the eradication of this disease.

C. N. R. Agricultural Department Appointments.

E. H. Gurton, Winnipeg, western superintendent, colonization and agricultural department, Canadian National Railways, has been appointed European commissioner, London, Eng.; D. M. Johnson, former European commissioner, becomes eastern superintendent at Montreal; T. P. Devlin, assistant director of the department, with the same title, will be in charge of the western region; J. D. Guild, agricultural agent, Saskatoon, has been named superintendent of agricultural development, Western Region, at Winnipeg. These important changes were announced, in Montreal, by J. S. McGowan, stated that all four of these officials had been practical farmers before joining the staff of the Railway's agricultural department.

Born and educated in London, Eng., Edward Henry Gurton came to Canada in 1903 and for a number of years was engaged in farming in the West, later becoming editor of the Dauphin, Man., Press. He entered the service of the Canadian National Railways in 1924 as a clerk in the land department at Winnipeg and, transferring to the colonization department, progressed from chief clerk to assistant to western manager, eastern superintendent, Montreal, and in 1927 was appointed manager, land settlement and development, St. Paul, Minn. He became western superintendent at Winnipeg in 1933.

Daniel Macle Johnson, B.S.A., Toronto, was born at Headingly, Man., and was educated at Upper Canada College, Toronto, Wycliffe College, Stonehouse, Gloucester, England, and Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ontario. After farming for seven years, he entered the Department of Agriculture of the Dominion Government in 1915. In 1923 he joined the Canadian National Railways, serving progressively as agricultural agent, Winnipeg, general agricultural agent, and western manager. He was appointed European commissioner at London, England, in 1927.

A native of Largs, Ayrshire, Scotland, Thomas Parker Devlin moved to Canada in 1916 to become a farmer in the west. He attended the School of Agriculture, Olds, Alta., and the University of Alberta, from which he graduated in 1925 with B.Sc. (Agriculture) degree. After serving as livestock editor of the Nor' West Farmer, Winnipeg, he joined the Canadian National Railways and was successively agricultural agent, district superintendent, Saskatoon, Sask., and superintendent of farm employment, Winnipeg. He was named Western Superintendent in 1936. Mr. Devlin was winner of the Dominion individual livestock judging championship at the Canadian Inter-University competition at Toronto in 1925, and was top Canadian contestant at the Chicago International Exhibition the same year.

Born at Kemnay, Man., J. D. Guild left school in 1916 to enlist in the Royal Naval Air Service. He went overseas the following year and won the D.F.C. for gallantry and was commissioned to the rank of lieutenant before receiving his discharge in 1919. He then attended the University of Manitoba and graduated with a B.S.A. degree in 1924. After farming for three years, he began his Canadian National service as assistant agricultural agent, Winnipeg. In 1930 he became agricultural agent at Saskatoon and in 1936 at Winnipeg. On the outbreak of the Second World War he again enlisted, serving with the R.C.A.F. and attaining the rank of Flight Lieutenant. On being discharged in 1943 he returned to the Canadian National Railways service.

Houses for Veterans.

Construction of the first 3,000 houses in the Dominion Government's "small holdings" land settlement scheme for veterans of this war will not be unduly complicated by problems of unseasoned lumber or serious shortage of building materials. The Financial Post is assured.

Twenty-five million board feet of lumber was purchased by the Soldiers' Settlement Board, administrator of Veterans' Land Act, last year and piled in lumber yards to season (The Financial Post July 29th and December 2nd, 1944). Now it is being brought out of storage and delivered to building sites all across the Dominion to be used in a nation-wide building program aimed at providing 3,000 low and medium cost homes for veterans before the end of 1945.

Home Frozen Fruits and Vegetables.

For the housewife, the preservation of fruits and vegetables by freezing is a much simpler operation than canning. It also involves less arduous work. However, the home freezing of fruits and vegetables at the present moment is available only to those who have access to a cold storage locker plant or who possess a freezing unit in their homes, states the Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, in a pamphlet on the subject.

Full details are given in the pamphlet about the preparation and processing for freezing of fruits and vegetables, such as asparagus, beans, corn on the cob, corn off the cob, cauliflower, broccoli, peas, spinach, squash, and pumpkin; and the following fruits: strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, cranberries, loganberries, boysenberries, youngberries, currants, gooseberries, blueberries, cherries, apricots, peaches, and, for culinary use, apples. Frozen fruits and vegetables prepared in the manner directed, if kept at a temperature of five degrees above zero or lower, will keep satisfactorily for a full year, and when used are scarcely distinguishable from the fresh product. When fruits are to be made ready for the table, they should be allowed to thaw out slowly. That takes about six hours in an ice box, or about four hours at room temperature. Most fruits taste better if served before they are entirely thawed out, that is, when there are still a few frozen bits left in them.

The cooking of frozen vegetables depends on the kind of vegetable, the type of container, and whether a brine pack or a dry pack has been used. It is not necessary to have extremely low temperatures in freezing. Products frozen at zero to five degrees below are just as good in palatability as those frozen at much lower temperatures. A copy of the pamphlet, "The Preservation of Fruits and Vegetables by Freezing," may be obtained by writing to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Survey Shows Canada Picks Goodyear, 3 to 1

By an overwhelming three to one preference Canadian motorists have chosen Goodyear tires in a survey conducted by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company.

This preference is based on a survey of 10,000 motorists conducted by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, which was held in the past experience with Goodyear tires.

These facts are brought out in a scientific opinion survey among Canadian motorists from coast to coast.

Further, none of the answers to the survey showed a preference for any other brand of tires.

Like wearing qualities for Goodyear tires were based on the fact that they are made of synthetic rubber.

When the figures have been broken down even further to exclude the motorists from the non-motorists, we find that 38 per cent of the non-motorists showed preference for Goodyear over all other

While even this last figure is highly flattering and exceedingly gratifying to the Goodyear organization, it is even more so when it is compared to the results of a similar survey conducted in the past experience with Goodyear tires.

The Salvation Army.

We all love to receive and accept invitations, whether they be to a party, picnic, wedding or just for a friendly visit. There is an invitation that comes from the heart of God, your Creator, a very personal invitation; an invitation that He confirmed by sending His own Son to give it to you; an invitation that Jesus sealed with His own life: an invitation very aptly expressed in his own words "Come unto Me all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn from me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls." God doesn't invite us to join a church or accept a creed or do our best. He invites us to Himself; to accept Him into our very lives. Have you accepted this invitation? Come to the Salvation Army next Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m., to hear more about the great invitations of God to mankind. Also Sunday school at 2 p.m. During the week there is a Ladies' meeting, Wednesday at 2.30 p.m., followed by a cottage meeting the same day at 8 p.m. Young people will enjoy meeting with other young folks on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

To Improve Quality of Hay.

In producing quality hay, the time of harvest is very important, because as the plants mature there is a decrease in the percentage of protein and an increase of the fibre content. This decrease in protein in young alfalfa goes over from 20 per cent, in clover to less than 10 per cent when fully matured. The same is true of timothy, except that the decrease starts at 10 per cent and is reduced to below 5 per cent when ripe. Protein is the expensive part of the ration and fibre is practically indigestible, so why not harvest the crop when the percentage of protein is high and the fibre low.

The proper time to cut alfalfa is when between 10 to 20 per cent of the plants are in bloom, says W. S. Richardson, Dominion Experimental Station, Lennoxville, P.Q. Red Clover should be cut when about 50 per cent in bloom, and timothy at the first bloom. As all the hay cannot be cut on the same day, it is advisable to start before these stages of maturity are reached, in order that the last fields will not be left too late. By cutting hay early this year, live-stock production will be improved next winter.

To Resume Meat Rationing.

Donald Gordon, prices board chair chairman, announced last week that resumed meat rationing will call for a ration of about 1.3 pounds a person a week of actual meat, roughly equivalent to two pounds on a carcass basis. (Carcass basis means meat complete with bone).

Effective Shortly.
The new ration, effective "shortly," will represent a reduction in the allowance of ordinary meats per person compared with the previous period of meat rationing from May 27th, 1943, to February 29th, 1944. In that period each consumer could use two coupons a week of varying values depending on the type of meat purchases.

These values ranged from one-half pound a coupon for smoked and cooked meats to 1½ pounds for such cuts as blade roasts of beef and a number of lamb and veal cuts with the boneless.

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King announced Saturday that meat rationing would be resumed to allow further exports of meat for the relief of starving Europe.

Gordon's Statement.

Mr. Gordon, as head of the board which will administer meat rationing, said:

1. "We shall proceed as rapidly as we possibly can to re-introduce meat rationing." The introduction of coupons at the general consumer level will take "at least two months."
2. Control of slaughter will be effective immediately.
3. Meatless days on Tuesdays and Fridays will be enforced in restaurants and other eating places, beginning Friday, July 13th.
4. The ration machinery will be more complicated than in the previous system as, generally speaking, all meats will be included, while in the last ration some were not. Poultry will not be covered by the new ration system.
5. Ration tokens will be introduced which may be used to make purchases of small amounts of perishable meats.
6. Canadian meat consumption on the proposed ration will be reduced to about 130 pounds per capita, carcass weight, this total including supplies provided for restaurants and other eating places. The present consumption has been estimated at 141 pounds per capita.

To Come in Stages.

"In view of the delays inevitable in the matter of printing, the manufacture of the ration tokens and gathering the necessary staff organization we intend to bring the ration machinery into operation in stages," said Mr. Gordon.

Pending the actual operation of rationing on the consumer level, the prime minister has made an appeal for the voluntary reduction of meat consumption so as to make the maximum amount available to the distressed areas of Europe.

It was "almost impossible" to compare the new Canadian ration with the amounts available to United Kingdom and United States consumers.

In the United Kingdom, the bacon and ham ration of four ounces a week was separated from other meats, which can be bought to the extent of one shilling and two pence each week. In the United States, other foods such as butter, margarine, cheddar cheese, canned milk and certain canned fish are included in the general ration of meats on the basis of point values.

"The best estimate we have seen on yearly per capita consumption (of meat alone) on a rationed basis is 107 pounds carcass weight for the United Kingdom; about 125 pounds in the United States for the second quarter of this year; in Australia 176 pounds and New Zealand, 208 pounds, recently reduced about 20 per cent," Mr. Gordon said.

Need Co-Operation.

Meat rationing was a complex operation and success of the plan did not depend on regulations or staff but on the willingness of the Canadian people to make it work.

"We have a good record in this country for the high degree of individual support given during the past years to our ration programs and I am very confident that, with the added objective of providing food for the unfortunate people of war-ravaged Europe, we will continue to receive wide spread support for the rationing regulations," Mr. Gordon said.

For a considerable time now reports have been heard on Parliament Hill about the financial enigma involved in trading or sales of Canadian Pacific Railway shares in Britain, Canada and the United States. With such trading said to be huge in proportion and the rise of such shares claimed to have reached its highest peak for at least a generation. Moreover, while there are many Canadians who would like to see the shares of this great railway owned by people in Canada, yet it does not seem that there is much chance of this. There are more and more shares will be owned by Americans rather than Canadians. The maturity of the common

As pointed out above there will be no change, at present, in the 7 ounces a week rate for the consumer butter ration. That means that every eighth Thursday there will be no butter cu-removed from the ration the scale has had to be revised in view of the fact that there are now only three rationed commodities instead of five, as formerly.

Demonstrating something of the tense atmosphere in which this conference is to be held is the fact that the first meeting is designed solely to de-

Results You Can Count

On a balanced ration of your own scratch grains and SHUR-GAIN 18% Laying Mash.

What a tremendous difference balanced feeding makes in poultry production. Grains alone are low in the type and quality of ingredients that are needed to keep laying hens in full health and in full production. Therefore, the wise farmer adds to his own grains a fully fortified laying mash, that brings up the level in the total ration to the proper balance, with adequate proteins, minerals and vitamins.

SHUR-GAIN Laying Mash is fresh — for greater palatability and taste appeal. SHUR-GAIN laying Mash is packed full of needed vitamins. Extra minerals and high quality animal proteins assure vital health and top-flight production. Dangerous Old Bones.

Veterinary authorities suggest that cattle owners may save themselves possible losses by clearing up old bones which sometimes are left lying around pastures and live-stock lots.

It is pointed out that, while fatal cases of botulism poisoning may be caused by cattle eating from a moldy haystack the disease is usually caused by nutritionally-deficient cows chewing old bones left lying about the farm.

Symptoms of botulism poisoning include first of all stiffness of the hind quarters, then of the forelegs, followed by difficulty in breathing, and finally paralysis.

Stubbhorn as a Mule.

The old phrase, "stubbhorn as a mule," not always incidentally well modified to "determined as a mule," it would be more fitting to this study, "stubborn as a mule."

Actually, the mule has been much maligned in its time. So much so, in fact, that its virtues have often been overlooked.

It is frequently stubborn, of course, but it is more often filled with a determination to do the job at hand. In this respect, it is more determined than most animals when put to similar tasks.

The hardihood of the mule has never been better illustrated than in wartime, where it has generally displayed itself as much better fitted to withstand cold, rain, snow, hunger and privation than the horse.

Reports by American military historians to this effect were frequent in the last war. Where horses and mules had been exposed to the same conditions, the horses were generally sent to the rear as unfit for further front line service. The mules, on the other hand, were again ready for combat after a few days' rest.

For some years, the Georgia and Missouri mules were frequently credited by the people of the "Cracker" and "Show Me" states with having won the first World War. The debate continued until a second war made them forget past rivalries.

It may be a surprise to Georgians and Missourians alike, that they can no longer contend for leadership in this regard. Texas now leads all the states in the number of mules on Lone Star grazing lands.

It is not surprising, though, in a country that now travels on wheels and farms with tractors that the number of United States mules is decreasing. Last year there were only 3,500,000 left to carry on their tradition.

With outspoken praise of Canada, the Santiago professor said he considered it the "country of the future."

"There is no other country where progress will be so quick or so widespread," he said.

But he cautioned members to remember their duty to remind themselves and others of service due the community even in the midst of prosperity and development.

"If there is to be peace," he claimed, "it is not only a matter of being big and strong. We have to remember the smaller countries where development is not so fast."

"We in South America are willing to learn how to get along with our neighbors, and then with the world. We are trying to learn the ways of your northern countries," he said.

He described the government of Chile as a republic with a single gov-

Cottam, July 14th, 1945.

To whom it may concern: This letter is addressed to somebody, God only knows who.

You, by your wanton act of poisoning six inoffensive dogs, have broken several children's hearts.

You may have had the satisfaction from doing this (censored) act, but remember these dogs, some belonging to someone, one who in particular belonged to one who has paid the supreme sacrifice, to the common knowledge of the people living in the vicinity, these dogs bothered no one.

To the guilty party I would say "Just consult your soul."

Rotary is Told About Chile.

Carlos Hoerning, of Santiago, Chile, told Essex Rotarians, on Monday night, of his native land and the activities of Rotary there.

Introducing the guest speaker, H. O. Comrie Palmer, district governor, said Mr. Hoerning was professor of engineering at the University of Chile, in Santiago, director of the Institute of Civil Engineers, the Manufacturing Association, and the Bank of Industrial Credit. He was born in Valparaiso, Chile.

A past president of the Rotary Club of Santiago, Mr. Hoerning has served Rotary International as district governor and as a committee member. For 1944-45 he is a member of the Youth Committee of Rotary International and has been elected to serve as a director of Rotary International for 1945-46.

Genial and with scintillating wit, Mr. Hoerning proved an ambassador of friendliness and goodwill from the South American Democracy of Chile.

"When you are invited to dinner in Chile, please be late; no one will be offended," said the speaker, as he told one of the Chilean custom of setting an "official time" and guests arriving at the recognized time, usually a half-hour late.

403 Years Old.

In reviewing the history of his country the speaker said the capital had been founded 403 years ago by the Spaniards, but that little progress had been made under Spanish sovereignty. The language is Spanish and the people mostly Spanish, with a goodly representation of people from British, German and Italian origin.

There are no colored people in Chile, and no racial problems. Chile, with the aid of Argentina, gained her independence in 1810 and most progress has taken place since then.

"We think we have the best oysters and lobsters in the world," he said as he told of choice lobsters gathered at Juan Fernandez, the island made famous by Defoe, who told the story of the sailor, Alexander Selkirk, in his famous "Robinson Crusoe."

Mr. Hoerning told of the wealth of the desert regions in the north, the agricultural products of the central section, and the sheep raising activities in the south.

Commercial fertilizer is one of the foremost products of the arid northern section, he said, but copper, iron, silver and gold mines are also located there.

"We used to boast that Chile was the second largest producer of copper in the world, but now we are losing this place to Canada," he admitted.

Chilean wine, which in Mr. Hoerning's opinion, is one of the best wines in the world, is the foremost product of the irrigated farm lands in the central part of the country. Here, he said, there is no heavy rain to spoil crops, but the lack of precipitation has its drawbacks in the dust storms produced.

"While our good friends in the United States may lay claim to having the biggest and best in many things, the one claim to fame which Chile makes is that it contains the farthest south city in the world," Mr. Hoerning pointed out.

"The name is Punta Arenas, sometimes called 'Sandy Point.' From this region which is much the same as New Zealand and Australia, comes the famous 'Punta Wool'."

With outspoken praise of Canada, the Santiago professor said he considered it the "country of the future."

"There is no other country where progress will be so quick or so widespread," he said.

But he cautioned members to remember their duty to remind themselves and others of service due the community even in the midst of prosperity and development.

"If there is to be peace," he claimed, "it is not only a matter of being big and strong. We have to remember the smaller countries where development is not so fast."

"We in South America are willing to learn how to get along with our neighbors, and then with the world. We are trying to learn the ways of your northern countries," he said.

He described the government of Chile as a republic with a single government. The political parties are many and are spoken of as leftist or rightist. During a period of general dissatisfaction a military government took over from 1925 to 1932 and passed quickly many very advanced social welfare laws which advanced Chile beyond many other countries in social legislation.

Rotary Flourishing.

Rotary in Chile was flourishing, he said. The largest Spanish speaking club in the world with 300 members was in Chile, while the total membership was 3,000 members, he reported.

He stressed the aspect of Rotary activity there, was the sponsorship of the public schools by rotary clubs.

This had resulted in the government recognizing the beneficial results and three days of "Children's Week" usually in October was set aside as school holidays. The pupils presented pageants and the Rotary "friends" donated "premiums" to each class. Days were set aside to honour the country, the parents, the teachers, religion and the school, he said.

Friendly Relations.

Commenting on the friendly relations of Canada and the United States, the speaker told of a similar state of good-will existing between Chile and her neighbours where, too, a similarity of language existed. "We, too, believe in liberty, democracy, freedom of the press and speech," he said.

"Just as Rotary helps people get to know each other, I hope countries will get acquainted and so build up a strong force to make a better world," he concluded.

Weed Control.

When purchasing seeds, buy only those with Government Seal of Approval attached. The fields on which such seeds are grown are inspected for weeds, during the growing period, and approval for registration authorized because no noxious weeds appeared. This approved seed costs more, but it is cheaper in the end. The extra cost is warranted since you sow no noxious weeds on your fields, and you get a single highgrade variety of the desired crop seeds. Registered seeds also have guaranteed high germination.

Annuals.

Most weeds are annuals and reproduce each season from seeds. Hence the best method of eliminating these plants or controlling their spreading, is to prevent them going to seed, by mowing them when they begin to bloom. A hoe crop, such as sugar beets, is effective in getting rid of weeds of all types. Frequent cultivation and hoeing make it impossible for the weeds to reach maturity and produce seeds.

Smother Crops.

Productive, quick-growing crops such as Alfalfa, Sweet Clover and Sudan Grass will smother most weeds. Rye and barley are both good nurse crops for these grasses. The ground should be prepared well before seeding.

Nasty Perennials.

Quack Grass, Field Bindweed, Canada Thistle and Perennial Sow Thistle are the worst plagues that infest fields. The discs cut the underground root stems and the spring tooth harrow drags and scatters these small portions over the field, each capable of becoming a new plant. However, frequent use of the field cultivator with control these weeds, cutting them off underground and bringing them to the top to dry and die. Summer fallowing with the field cultivator until it is time to plant fall wheat is an effective method of controlling weeds of all types. As soon as the wheat is harvested, the land should be tilled again, and the following spring planted to sugar beets or some other good hoe crop.

Milk Supply.

The average daily consumption of milk in Windsor is 52,350 quarts — enough to keep a thousand or so cows busy for a long time — according to the annual report of the board of health for 1944, issued this week. That's 35 pints per person a day.

The Windsor area is served by 1,061 producers, and there are 12 distributors and 10 pasteurizing plants.

About 1,132 inspections of distributors were made during 1944, and 571 samples of milk and cream were analyzed.

Receives Letter from Son.

The following letter was received by Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Davis, from their son Leon, who is in the U. S.
Navy, now in the Pacific:

July 14th, 1945.
Dear Mother—Here it is once again and it is July 14th already, but you can see that the time is sure flying fast, as half of the year has gone already.

I am feeling fine, and hope, when you receive this, it finds everyone in the best of health, as it leaves me at present. In a couple of your letters I received from you a few weeks ago,
you asked me if I was in Hawaii, because you said my letters only take from 6 to 9 days to reach you. Now
I can tell you that I was in Ulithi, the Caroline Islands, for a little rest and a change of scene. I was in that island, as was Bob Lippert. We were released from some of the places which we were in, so I had better tell you about them before it gets too late. Saipan, in the Marianas Islands, and also saw Guam when we were passing it. Later, we crossed the Equator. It was really warm, and I don't mean maybe. Everyone of us received a card showing that we had crossed and came back over again. Later we came to Luzon, which is in the Solomon Islands. All that there is there is just groups of small islands, but the biggest one is Guada Canal. There are few natives there, but mostly our own men stationed there on the island. The next place was Espiritu Santos, in the New Hebrides, not very far from Australia.
There are plenty of coconut trees,
and a few natives live on the island.
I have seen some of them. They sure are dark complexioned, and I don't mean maybe. They have a radio broadcasting station on it. Records are played and the ship's radio picks them up for us to listen to.

The last place is Ulithi, which is in the Caroline Islands. It has air fields for most everything, such as bringing mail over from Saipan or other places.

You can see I sure have seen a lot of the world during the past year.
I also was in that invasion of Okinawa.
There we had plenty of air raids, which meant we had to stay up practically all night occasionally. One day we had five suicide planes coming in towards us, but our own planes shot down 4 of them and we took care of the other one. Another night we had a Japanese torpedo plane, cross in front of us, and released one of its torpedoes into the water, but it went underneath us, so you can see we had plenty of thinking to do.

The Robinson boy was not very far from us. They sent two suicide planes right into them. We picked up a lot of the boys, and some were badly hurt when the enemy plane hit them. I was really glad to get away from Okinawa. But now it has been taken by us.

Do you remember reading in the paper about the hospital ship that was hit near Okinawa? We were not very far away from that ship.

Well, Mother, my time is very nearly up for now. Hoping to hear from you soon. With love,
From your loving son
LEON.

Imperial Bank Chairman Dies.

Albert Edmund Phipps, aged 72, board chairman of the Imperial Bank of Canada and former president, is dead.

Born in Edinburgh, Scotland, Mr.
Phipps joined the Imperial Bank as junior clerk, at Brandon, Man., in 1891.

He also served in Winnipeg as "senior" superintendent before being moved to Toronto, in 1918, as superintendent of all the branches.

Mr. Phipps came to Canada from Scotland, in 1887, at the age of 14, settling at Grenfell, Sask. Four years later he entered the service of the Imperial Bank as a junior in Brandon, Man.

He was transferred to Vancouver, B.C., in 1901, western superintendent in 1903, superintendent of branches with headquarters in Toronto, in 1911, assistant manager in 1920, and general manager in 1921. He was elected vice-president of the Canadian Bankers' Association November 6th, 1944.

FRIDAY, JULY 20, 1945.

Hello Homemakers. Isn't it heartening to notice more smiles these days, more spring in everyone's step? Possibly the fact that more of us are putting our shoulders to the wheel and have helped in putting the last Victory Loan over the top is acting as a tonic. Well, it is more blessed to give, isn't it? A letter from a reader seems to bear out the above idea. In part it reads: "Our I.O.D.E. having sponsored a Bridge Marathon (proceeds of war work) have met with such success that I am of the opinion we have been cutting down too much on social events. So I am wondering if I could have a party for several of our neighbors to honour a friend who is leaving our town. Could you suggest an economical menu or, even better, what form could my party take?"

One of the most pleasant ways to entertain is a progressive dinner, especially when your guests live in the immediate vicinity. Suggest to the hostesses that food be chosen so that no one will have to labour over her stove until the guests arrive. Serve each course at a different home and plan to play bridge at the last home. Maybe one of your group has a large livingroom especially suited for bridge or bingo.

Here is a suggested menu with every item capable of being prepared in advance.

House No. 1—Tomato juice, jellied salad with cheese biscuits.

House No. 2—Creamed ham, potato patties, braised celery.

House No. 3—Trifle, coffee.

CREAMED HAM IN TOAST CUPS.
4½ cups cubed cooked ham, 3 cups corn, 9 tablespoons butter, 9 tablespoons flour, 2½ cups milk, salt and pepper, 3 green peppers, chopped, or ¼ cup parsley.

Prepare creamed sauce, add ham, corn, pepper and seasoning. Fill toast cups just before serving. Serves 12.

TRIFLE.

Place crumbled stale cake in the bottom of sherbet glasses (3 tablespoons per glass). Moisten with syrup from canned fruit. Fill glass with soft custard to which has been added chopped nuts or cherries. Garnish with maraschino cherry or jelly. Chill in electric refrigerator.

TAKE A TIP.

1. Line tart tin, with trimmed fresh bread. Place in electric oven preheated to 250 degrees, leave until bread is lightly browned. Keep a supply of these to fill with creamed vegetables, etc. Dry out crusts at the same time and time and crush with rolling pin. Place in a jar and store for future use.
2. Ever tint those late pears green when canning. Just add vegetable flavouring to your syrup. They make a fruit salad very special.
3. Roll old-fashioned potato cakes in crushed corn flakes to give variation for future use.
4. Braised celery just isn't properly braised unless it is cooked with soup stock. Trim stalks and cut in pieces about three inches long. Butter a casserole and arrange the pieces in it. Season with salt, cayenne and a dash of nutmeg; pour over meat stock or a canned consommé, and cover with strips of bacon. Cover and cook in preheated electric oven for future use.

THE QUESTION BOX.

An English bride says: We have difficulty in using English recipes that require yeast.

Answer—Use 1 compressed yeast cake instead of the two teaspoons of the granular yeast that you probably refer to. Before using this cake soak it in lukewarm water for 10 minutes.

Mrs. B. C. asks: We would like a recipe for a frozen pudding to be served on special occasions.

Answer—Nesselrode Pudding: ½ cup cold water, 2 tablespoons plain gelatin, 2 cups hot milk, 5 eggs, separated, 3 tablespoons nuts, 2-8 cup raisins, 1-3 cup cut citron peel, ¼ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Beat egg yolks together with sugar; stir into hot milk. Cook 3 to 5 minutes or until it coats a spoon, stirring constantly. Dissolve gelatin in cold water. Add to hot milk, mix and stir until dissolved; then add raisins, peel and vanilla. Chill in electric refrigerator. When cold, add beaten egg whites and a few grains of salt. Put in freezing tray, and chill until firm, having set control to coldest point.

Meat Stored in Lockers.

To eliminate the possibility of meat hoarding prior to the inauguration of the ration program, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has announced a regulation which provides that ration coupons will be collected as meat is rationed.

No definite announcement has yet been made of the probable date of meat rationing. However, two meatless days weekly must be observed in restaurants and all other eating places. Commercial slaughtering of livestock has been placed under a permit system and the administrator of meat and meat products has been given authority to set quotas for the slaughtering of all livestock. At the same time housewives have been asked to observe Tuesdays and Fridays as meatless days.

Five of the ten wooden minesweepers being supplied to Russia by Canada have already been launched, while the other five are on the ways.

Pasture for Poultry.

Pasture for poultry is considered essential only for chicks and breeding birds are allowed to run out from the ture trials with poultry have been conducted at the Dominion Experimental Station, Sarnia, Ont., where the value of cereals, grasses, and alfalfa as pasture has been compared. Although to date no consistent results have been obtained regarding the superiority of one kind over another, at the same time several factors concerning pasture management have become apparent, states J. J. Woods, the superintendent of the Station.

For example, in considering out pasture for chicks, when the seed is sown early, sufficient ground coverage will be given normally by the time the birds are allowed to run out from the brooder houses. During the summer months the plants will tend to mature and thus lose their value as green feed. In order to overcome this, the crop can be mowed or if the range is divided in half, one portion can be seeded early in the season and the other in June. When it is desirable to have pasture adjacent to the laying house for fall and early spring use, it is better to seed in late June a mixture of two bushels of oats and one of fall rye. Under mild winter conditions the oats may survive and give satisfactory herbage, but including rye assures a good supply of green matter in the fall and spring, although mowing may prove advisable at both periods to prevent maturity.

Grasses, clover and alfalfa have an advantage over cereals because they are relatively permanent. Alfalfa is particularly desirable in that it is the most drought resistant and therefore gives good green pasture during dry summer months.

"Children"

Children have neither a past nor a future. Thus they enjoy the present, which seldom happens to us.—Brue.

BY-LAW NO. 1630.

A BY-LAW to provide for drainage work in the Township of Maldstone, in the County of Essex, and for borrowing on the credit of the Municipality the sum of sixteen hundred and seventy dollars and forty-seven cents.

Provisionally adopted the 2nd day of July A.D. 1945.

Whereas: Wilfred St. Pierre, whose lands have been assessed for the original construction of the Girard Drain, served written notice on the Municipal Council of the Township of Maldstone to repair the Girard Drain forthwith, otherwise he would hold the municipality liable for damages.

And whereas, thereupon the said Council has procured an examination to be made by C. B. Allison, O.L.S., being a person competent for such purpose, of the said area proposed to be drained and the means suggested for the drainage thereof, and of other lands in the Township of Maldstone, and the drainage work to be made by the said B. Allison, and an assessment to be levied on the lands and roads to be benefited by such drainage work, and of other lands and roads liable or contribution thereto, stating as nearly as he can, the proportion of benefit to be derived from the drainage work, which, in his opinion, will be derived or incurred in consequence of said drainage work by every road and lot or portion of lot, the said assessment so made being set forth in the schedule hereto, which, in his opinion, will be derived or incurred in consequence of said drainage work by every road and lot or portion of lot, the said assessment so made being set forth in the schedule hereto, and the said Council, in respect thereof, and of the said drainage work being as follows:

To Municipal Council of the Township of Maldstone: In accordance with your instructions I have made an examination of the Girard Drain in your Township, beginning my survey at the Base Line Road, at the outlet for this drain in Brown's Creek, and following the old drain upstream to the line between lots 14 and 15 in the Second Concession, and I now beg to submit for your consideration the following report:

I found the said drain partly filled in with sediment brought down from adjoining lands and roads and not deep enough to afford good drainage for lands depending on it for an outlet. I also find that some farm entrance culverts will require lowering and possibly other repairs.

I would therefore recommend that the said Girard drain be repaired, deepened, widened and otherwise improved in accordance with the plans and specifications attached hereto, and that the cost of the work, as detailed in the estimates below, be taxed against the lots and parts of lots and roads affected as set forth in the accompanying "Schedule of Assessment."

My estimate of the value of necessary repairs at this time is as follows: Excavation—Stake 0 to stake 10, 120 rods of drain, at $2.50 per rod, $300; stake 10 to stake 20, 120 rods of drain, at $2.50 per rod, $300; stake 20 to stake 30, 120 rods of drain, at $2.50 per rod, $300; stake 30 to stake 35, 60 rods of drain, at $2.50 per rod, $150. Total estimated cost of excavation, $1,200.

Allowances—Denis Plante, n 3-4 e 1/2 11, Con. 2, damage to land and crops $5, moving fence $6; Wilfred St. Pierre, n 3-4 e 1/2 11, Con. 2, damage to land and crops $5, moving fence $6; John Papineau, n 3-4 e 1/2 11, Con. 2, damage to land and crops $5, moving fence $6; Alvin Papineau, n 3-4 e 1/2 11, Con. 2, damage to land and crops $5, moving fence $6; Noth Girard, s 1/2 14, Con. 2, damage to land and crops $15, moving fence $18. Total for damage to land and crops, $102.50; moving fences, $125.

Repairs to access bridges, $50; Incidental—Survey, plans and report, $20; help and expenses on survey, $12; publishing by-law, $50; extra work for Clerk $25; Cost of Revision, $21; superintending, $10. Total for incidentals, $227.50.

Total estimated cost of work, $1,527.50. This debt is on the Township $1,127.50. Amount to be collected by assessment, $400.

Of this amount I have assessed roads in your municipality with $150 for benefit and $257.50 for outlet liability, and the lots and parts of lots in any way affected, with $257.50 for benefit and $601.50 for outlet liability.

Waging War on Weeds.

Last week we mentioned a few ways to battle weeds by cultivation. There are newer and effective means which makes use of chemicals. Some of these are only being used experimentally but others have made reputations as real weed-killers.

Chemical Control.

Perennial weeds can be eradicated by spraying with chlorate chemicals. These chemicals, however, are dangerous to handle as they are easily ignited. Sometimes fields that have been sprayed with chlorate compounds have been ignited by the friction of the farmer's shoes as he was walking over the field to inspect the effect of the chemical. Some manufacturers mix calcium chloride with the chlorate compounds to lessen the fire hazard. Calcium chloride is the substance put on country roads to lay the dust. This mixture of chemicals is sold under the trade name "Atlatlucide." Sometimes it gets effective results from chemical weed killers, so much has to be applied that no field crop can be grown on that area for a period of three years.

Farms for Veterans.

There may have been a time when farming was a haphazard sort of business, operated by rule-of-thumb, but that's certainly not the case in 1945. And it is certainly not the case when it comes to the Veterans' Land Act. This important part of the machinery of rehabilitation is functioning at the present time, and will continue to function, with the clear purpose of seeing that the men who elect to turn from war to agriculture are the men who can make a success of it.

There was criticism voiced at the way this aspect was handled after the last war. This disappointment arose from the haste in establishing a large number of veterans on the land within 18 months of the end of the war. In this period, 19,000 men were placed on the land. It was also stated that some of the veterans of 1914-18 got land that was poorly suited to agriculture. And there was also the fact that men were placed on the land who were temperamentally unsuited to the life. You have to have an aptitude for being a doctor, a lawyer or a book-keeper. You have to have the knack and the skill for it.

Another advantage of the present land settlement scheme is the fact that this time there is a trained settlement staff. This was not the case after the last war. Re-establishment of the veteran of this war is putting stress on the angle of vocational guidance. Look before you leap is the advice given by counsellors when the man discusses the problem of farming with them. They tell him what he'll be up against, they find out whether he's really going to like the life, and whether his wife will like the life. The advantages and the disadvantages of farm life are underlined, and the veteran is asked to see the picture in its true perspective.

The government will help the veteran to finance land, buildings, stock and equipment up to $6,000. The maximum amount that can be expended for livestock and equipment is $1,200. The veteran makes a down-payment of 10 percent of the cost of the land and buildings in instalments which may be extended up to 25 years. The rate of interest on this is 3½ per cent. The government absorbs the balance of the cost which is approximately 24 per cent. In addition, if he has complied with the terms of the contract for ten years the money which he obtained for equipment and livestock becomes an outright grant. After ten years, or after the veteran has paid all his instalments, whichever is the longer period, the veteran is given the deed to the property.

But the government's interest in the veteran goes past the purely financial aspect of the situation. Personnel counselling helps the man to know the type of farming he likes best — whether it be in wheat, fruit, livestock or any other phases of agriculture. There is no intention of extending financial aid to veterans for establishment on land that is unsuitable for settlement purposes and the establishment of land that is unsuitable for settlement purposes and the administrators of the Act are working in close co-operation with the federal and provincial departments of agriculture and Canadian agricultural schools in pursuance of this policy.

And loneliness, that bugbear of land settlement, is also receiving attention. It is the intention of those in charge to see that the veterans settle in communities that are well established, and where there is a reasonable standard of social services established. You cannot teach a child to take care of himself unless you will let him try to take care of himself. He will make mistakes; and out of these mistakes will come his wisdom.—H. W. Beecher.

Kerosene.

A pure water-white grade of kerosene will kill dandelions in lawns. It will not affect Kentucky Bluegrass, but it will kill clovers. Cheaper grades of kerosene will injure all grasses.

Hormone Spray.

At Cornell University they have developed a hormone spray that is proving to be a marvelous weed killer, especially for field bindweed. Hormones are necessary chemicals within the plant to produce proper growth. Research scientists at Cornell University have made an artificial one. This hormone spray compound is called "2-4-D" which is an abbreviation of a long, many-syllabled chemical name. When this hormone is sprayed on certain weeds, it causes abnormal root growth. When it was applied to field bindweed, the roots of this plant literally grew themselves to death. Two weeks after spraying the plants showed symptoms of rotting. Within three weeks the plant had turned black and died. Field crops can be grown on the sprayed area soon after the weeds have been eradicated. Some further experimentation has still to be done on this spray to ascertain fully the effects on the soil, grasses, etc.

Houses for Jacks.

The publicity which was received by "The House That Jack Built" is a mere trickle to the thumping publicity which has been given to Canada's housing problem during the past few weeks, when the election was on, the opposition party tried to knock the Government into the basement by charging that it had not the least conception in the world of the country's problem in this respect.

But the more the situation has been explored, the less the Opposition has had to say, and it has been particularly sympathetic of recent date. The fact of the matter is that housing, the need for which all are so urgent, is one of the most complex and worrisome matters facing the country.

You don't just get together a lot of boards and nails and tar paper, or a pile of bricks, or some bags of cement and a cement mixer, and then dig a hole in the ground and erect this material over it. Building a house is not as simple as all that. Help is scarce and nearly all materials (not to say the various types of plumbing and electrical fixtures) are in short supply.

The Government would certainly have acted long since to channel labour into the construction field and increase the supplies of materials necessary but to have done so would have been to bog down the war effort; and that could not have been tolerated. At the risk of sharp criticism, the Government placed the war effort first.

Nevertheless, certain basic machinery has been set up to promote the building of houses. The National Housing Act is the most notable of these. And now the Government has stated it is prepared to share the risks which may be involved in housing operations on a large scale under present abnormal conditions.

Specifically, men in the Armed Forces with construction experience will be given discharge priority; available construction materials will be rigidly controlled to spread them as far as possible; an effort is being made to reduce the profit to house builders down to $250 per house. By these and other means, 50,000 new houses will be habitable by May 1st next year. Patients, co-operation and hard work can get Canada through this crisis.

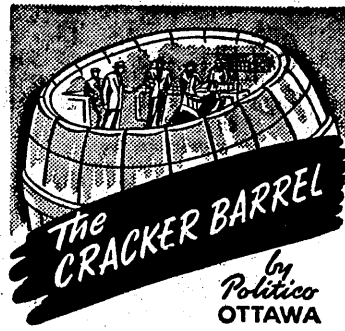

Ceiling Prices of Raspberries.

Retail ceiling prices for the 1945 Raspberry crop are effective throughout the entire season, and there is no seasonal drop as was the case with strawberries. It is anticipated that the crop will be somewhat larger this year than in 1944. Prices in Western Ontario are 42 cents a quart and 22 cents a pint. In London, Brantford, Galt, St. Thomas, Kitchener, and Woodstock, and 43 cents a quart and 22 cents a pint in Guelph, Stratford, Windsor, Owen Sound, Chatham and Sarnia.

SPRING LAMB PRICES.

Wholesale and retail price ceilings at present in effect for spring lamb born since January 1st, 1945, have been extended to apply during the period of July 16th to August 31st, according to an announcement by the War-time Prices and Trade Board.

Respect the child. Be not too much his parent. Trespass not on his solitude.—Emerson.

Rationing Prophecy.

There is a saying current in newspaper circles that "columnists rush in where the experts fear to tread!" Apparently Politico is no exception. He now keenly understands that the way of the prophet is thorny, strewn with stones, and altogether dangerous. There is also the possibility that here and there it is well greased by the steaks now so rarely seen upon even the right kind of tables!

At any rate, it was just on such a slippery spot that Politico, prophesying that there would be no meat rationing in Canada, came to grief. For here is meat rationing, an acquaintance of former days, returning to the scene just when least expected. The decision of the Government, based as much on hope as optimism, is designed to increase the exportable supplies of Canadian meat so that Canada can fulfill her promises.

The War in Europe may be over but the problems created by that war remain formidable and challenging. In this particular bracket of them, the solution hits Canadians at belt line. But other people have been hit at their belt line more often and more sharply.

Parliament Hill.

It is only a few short weeks before Parliament will meet, and while there is no information at the moment about the length of the session, it will probably run well into the autumn. There will be new voices, eager to be heard and to impress their home-constituency supporters, and they will certainly speak as often and as long as they can!

Many subjects will, of course, be aired in the debate on "The Speech From the Throne." According to "The Ottawa Journal" certain Tories are organizing for a field day on the manpower question. They propose to raise a stink. But "The Ottawa Journal" points out that this question is already dead. It was debated, threshed over, voted on, and should not take up the time of Parliament needed to solve the problems of tomorrow.

The attitude of the Ottawa daily, which before and during the election campaign was harshly critical of the Government's manpower policy, is being widely considered as constructive and co-operative; and the hint is that if any section of the Tory Opposition indulges in fanatical manpower attacks on the Government, that such Tories will expose their noses to punching by one of their stoutest newspaper defenders.

Prairie Politicians.

Recent announcements of expansion of Canada's Trade Commissioner services, and other Government trade statements, indicate the Government's intentions to maintain Canada's wartime trade contacts as much as possible and to expand the peacetime commodity list which Canada might ship abroad. This expression of Government energy is causing some concern to political observers on the Prairies.

Even the most rabid supporters of a "closed" national economy tactically admit, by their plea for import-export boards, that the Prairies have an overriding interest in a large and expanding foreign trade.

This means that the result of the general elections, in which the Liberals received only modest success in Saskatchewan and Alberta, are expected to be detrimental to the Prairie, will make but a feeble sound in the Parliament debate on export trade policies.

To this extent, the Prairies' paramount economic requirements will be neglected. As the "Winnipeg Free Press" points out, this is the dangerous consequence of concentration on local parties for national political representation. Not only in the best interests of Canada, but also in the best interests of the various regions of Canada, the majority of Canadians should be represented in Parliament by a Party that thinks nationally and acts nationally. The lesson of Canada's 1945 election results will become increasingly obvious as time passes.

How to Make Shoes Last.

In the interests of conserving steel and leather, the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations have this week sent Ontario production plants a timely bulletin telling how to make safety shoes last longer.

Their simple suggestions for the care of safety shoes contain valuable pointers for the preserving of all leather foot-wear. The suggestions are:

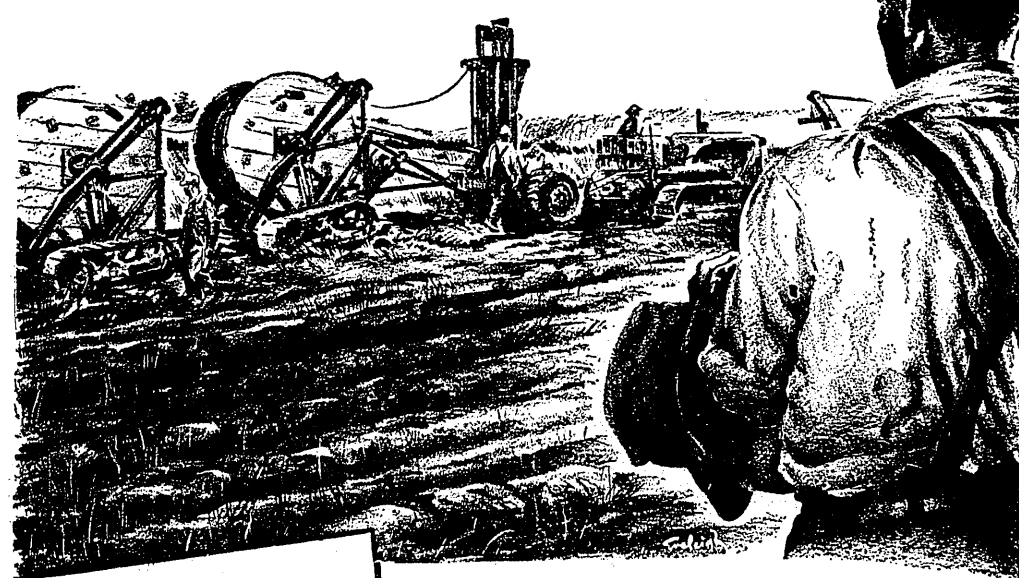

1. Don't let grease, grit and dirt stay on shoes longer than is necessary. Wipe them clean.
2. When wet let them dry slowly. If very wet turn the soles up to dry. Don't put them near a radiator or stove.
3. Sole leather should not be subjected to any greater heat than your hand can stand. Otherwise it will harden and crack, or burn.
4. If you work in wet places, apply each week a little viscolized oil, tallow or beeswax, which will shed water.
5. Keep your shoes repaired. Don't wait until the soles are worn too thin. Don't let heels become run down.

some stores, the unpainted furniture section is located adjacent to the paint department, to facilitate the purchase of both furniture and paint.

Some years ago, when unpainted furniture was relatively new, choice of designs was limited and cheap qualities of lumber made the outcome of self-painting jobs a bit problematical. Today the number of designs has been greatly increased and the quality is such that a smooth paint, varnish or enamel job can be done by the purchaser.

The "baby boom" is credited with enhancing the desirability of this relatively low cost furniture so that when children demand the finish it can be readily touched up by the owner. Another factor is that it is easy to buy individual pieces for a room without the necessity of purchasing a complete suite of furniture.

Unpainted furniture lines now include such items as chests of drawers in various sizes, great chests for baby's rooms when painted to match the crib, dropleaf tables, kidney dressers, desk-vanity combinations, matching bookcase units including end and corner pieces, night tables, knee-hole desks, record cabinets, luggage racks and a variety of kitchen pieces.

Cost of the paint to turn these pieces into worthwhile furniture additions is negligible, and any householder can make an excellent paint job by using quality materials and following simple painting instructions.

Stabilize Employment in Tobacco Growing Industry.

To stabilize employment during the busy season in the tobacco growing industry, and to ensure an equitable distribution of workers for the harvesting of the cured tobacco, a series of special control regulations have just been issued by the Department of Labour, designed to be of definite help to the tobacco growing industry.

All male workers from 16 to 65 years of age, are required to have permits, which allow them to work on any tobacco farm at any time during the current season. Forms have already been sent to all the cured tobacco growers, on which to register their present workers, for whom permits will be issued immediately.

Local employment offices, from which permits may be obtained, are located throughout the tobacco growing area, at Aylmer, Brantford, Elmhurst, Delhi, Ingersoll, Leamington, Oshawa, Mount Vernon, Rodney, St. Catharines, St. Thomas, Tillamook, and Woodstock.

Permits are issued for a period of one year, and may be renewed at the expiration of the year.

Detroit Fair Grounds Racing.

Three handicap events are carried on the eight race program for Saturday and the $10,000 Marie Guyon Handicap headlines the afternoon sport.

The $5,000 Ann Arbor Handicap and the $2,500 Bull Dog Handicap are the supporting features.

The Marie Guyon is for three-year-olds at one mile and one-sixteenth.

And with the classy Air Sailor forced to stay in Chicago by the O.D.T. ruling on horse shipments, the race should result in a thriller.

Those likely to parade postward and vie for the $5,000 winner's share of the purse are A. I. Walk, Tiger Man, Crack Reward, owned by Lt. Commander T. D. Buhl; Mrs. J. Wolf's Marie J. (Canadian), owned by Peterson and Childs; Utmost, winner of the King's Plate, Canada's top race of the year; Mrs. E. H. Beez, J. J. John Q. Public; Ronney, owned by J. Forrester; O. F. Woodward's San Yet, and Money Troubles, owned by the M. T. Stable.

A limit field of handicap sprint starts will contest in the six furlong Ann Arbor and C. F. Martin's King Me Horse, winner of the Governor's Handicap last Saturday, will probably be the favorite for the race.

Two-year-olds will match their speed at five furlongs in the Bull Dog Handicap and the best youngsters stabled on the grounds are expected to face Start, by Bryan Stock.

Post time for the first race Saturday is 2:15 p.m.

District Headquarters stressed that next-of-kin can be advised of the arrival time of soldiers in London only, and not when they reach their home towns. The reason is that on detrainment in London, returning troops are required to report either to Wolsley Barracks or to the main armories (depending upon the number of troops to be handled) to receive their ration books, furlough forms and warrants for additional bus or rail transportation. That procedure is completed ordinarily within two hours, and from then the men are on their own and choose their own times to proceed to their home towns. Usually, they have plenty of time to catch the next train or bus home.

From hospital trains, stretcher cases are conveyed to London Military Hospital after relatives are given the opportunity of visiting them briefly at the railway station. Walking wounded and medical cases not requiring immediate attention are allowed to proceed to their homes after being cleared through No. 1 District Depot in London.

In the new method of notifying next-of-kin, newspapers and radio stations in M.D. 1 are being asked to continue their fine co-operation in publicizing the return of soldiers from overseas.

Improve System of Notifying Kin of Soldier Arrivals.

To meet the situation of increasing numbers of troops arriving from overseas, District Military Headquarters this week outlined improvements in the system of notifying next-of-kin of their arrivals in London, particularly in respect to advising next-of-kin as quickly as possible of delays or changes in arrival times — to try and avoid disappointments at railway stations.

The new system, which is now in effect, features the sending of letters to next-of-kin as soon as copies of the Nominal Roll of a troopship are received in London. Next-of-kin of each of the personnel listed are (1) advised of the pending arrival in Canada, and (2) asked to contact the person on duty at their local armories and leave with him a telephone number at which a message may be left for them, so they may be informed immediately when the expected time of arrival in London is telephoned to the armories from District Headquarters.

District Headquarters explained that on account of the considerably larger numbers of Overseas troops returning to Western Ontario, it would be an imposition to allow volunteer services to carry the full burden of notifying next-of-kin of train arrivals, and the more difficult task of advising them of changes and postponements in such arrivals. That is why the system of notification has been modified and extended to put the added weight of responsibility on Army offices in the district.

Military authorities stated they wished to make it clear that the new system in no way affects plans or programs of welcome that volunteer services and other organizations are sponsoring so splendidly on behalf of returning war veterans.

Letters of notification to next-of-kin will identify troop movements from overseas by the name of the troopship, where possible. If the name of the vessel is not known immediately, first identification of the movement will be by number (for example, Vessel No. 590).

It was explained that the Nominal Roll of a troopship is compiled before the vessel sails, and last-minute changes may be expected. Notice of changes in the roll, deletions and additions, are sometimes not received at District Headquarters until after letters are sent out to next-of-kin covering names on the original roll. However, next-of-kin affected by changes in the roll are notified by telephone as speedily as possible by their local armories.

Officials pointed out that troop trains are often delayed enroute, necessitating changes in the time of arrival in London. All armories are notified of such changes and, in cases of train delays of more than five hours, next-of-kin are notified by telephone as far as possible by their local armories. This information is also sent out immediately to newspapers and radio stations in M.D. 1.

District Headquarters stressed that next-of-kin can be advised of the arrival time of soldiers in London only, and not when they reach their home towns. The reason is that on detrainment in London, returning troops are required to report either to Wolsley Barracks or to the main armories (depending upon the number of troops to be handled) to receive their ration books, furlough forms and warrants for additional bus or rail transportation. That procedure is completed ordinarily within two hours, and from then the men are on their own and choose their own times to proceed to their home towns. Usually, they have plenty of time to catch the next train or bus home.

From hospital trains, stretcher cases are conveyed to London Military Hospital after relatives are given the opportunity of visiting them briefly at the railway station. Walking wounded and medical cases not requiring immediate attention are allowed to proceed to their homes after being cleared through No. 1 District Depot in London.

In the new method of notifying next-of-kin, newspapers and radio stations in M.D. 1 are being asked to continue their fine co-operation in publicizing the return of soldiers from overseas.

Juror's Act Should be Amended.

"A piece of legislation which should be presented by the Government to the current session of the Legislature for immediate attention is an amendment to Th Juror's Act. A most disturbing series of coincidences in calling jurors for duty in criminal and civil cases has recently come to light. This is a situation which does not brook delay. It is to be hoped that Mr. Drew and the cabinet are not ignorant of the matter which has been widely reported in the press and that the attorney-general is not too busy to attend to it."

The above statement has been released to the press by Lewis Duncan, K.C. of Toronto. The circumstances which impelled Mr. Duncan to issue the above are as follows:

About six weeks ago a County Court Jury, sitting on a criminal case, completed its job, and was dismissed. It then returned to the body of the panel of about 50 or 60 jurors which was called for duty, and the clerk of the court began to call in the jurors to sit on the next case. Of the 12 jurors in the box, 11 of them were people who had sat on the previous trial. Obviously, there had been no proper mixing of the cards.

The procedure is that the clerk of the court has 50 or 60 cards with each of the juror's name on it. He puts these cards in a little old round tin box about six inches in diameter and is supposed to mix them up, but there is a new clerk appointed by the Drew Government and he apparently did not mix them up but merely took the cards that he had returned to the box. Consequently he got 11 out of the previous 12.

Later, in another criminal case, the 12 jurors who served, were discharged on Friday night, and told to report to the jury panel for civil sittings. Judge Factor was presiding. When the Schulthies-Roberts.

A lovely wedding took place at St.
Mary's Church, Ealing, London, England, on Saturday, June 30th, of St.
Earl Alton Schulthies, of Essex, Ont., and Miss Margaret Marion Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Roberts, of 14 St. Mary's Place, Ealing. The groom has served overseas in the C.
F. C. for over three years. Rev. J. H.
Dominy officiated.

Given in marriage by her father,
the bride looked lovely in a white satin dress with a lace veil and headpiece, and carried a bouquet of real lilies.
Miss Sylvia Boxwell, sister of the bride, Miss Sylvia Boxwell, sister of Gladys Meathrel, were bridesmaids.
St. Walter Gould, of the C. P. C., of Essex, was best man.

A reception was held at the bride's home and the happy couple later left for a honeymoon in South Wales, after which St. Schulthies will resume his duties with the C. P. C. in France.
Mrs. Schulthies will remain with her parents.

County Rates Much Higher.

Town Treasurer W. E. Deaman this week received a copy of the rate bylaw passed by Essex County Council at its June session.
The town's share for 1945 is $7,200.27, an increase of about $2,500 over the 1944 rate. The council set their 1945 budget in January of this year and naturally took the figure of 1944 into their budget, so in 1945 the deficit of $2,500 will have to be raised along with the $2,500 additional for 1946, which will mean that 1946 Council will have to raise about $5,000 more in 1946 than in 1945. The County rate for Maidstone Township has jumped from $20.
751.78, in 1944, to $31,377.79 this year.

Churchill Government Loses.

The Conservative party in England met a crushing defeat in the recent general election, results of which were announced today (Thursday).
Winston Churchill, British War
Prime Minister, was elected himself, but his party was overwhelmingly defeated.

Out of a total of 640 seats, Labor already has elected 344, with 100 seats to hear from.

Britain Gets Vote Results This Week.

First results in Britain's general election are expected to be known about 11 a.m. (4 a.m. E.D.T.) Thursday, and by evening the Parliament should be almost complete. Unless the race is extremely close and results must be received from all outlying constituencies before the outcome is certain, the complexion of the new government should by then be clearly indicated.

Severe Count Wednesday
Vote counting will begin Wednesday, when containers bearing the service vote from all war theatres, brought to Britain by air, will be opened and the votes checked to insure there has been no duplication of franchise through proxy voting in Britain.
To open the service votes will be placed with the general civilian votes in sealed ballot-boxes. At 9 a.m. (4 a.m.
E.D.T.) Thursday, counting of the total vote will begin simultaneously in all 640 constituencies.

The results are announced immediately on completion of the counting usually from the balcony or other vantage point of the local municipal building.

"Prophets" Wary.
Election excitement, meanwhile, is flaring again, but most "prophets" are wary of hazarding a guess about the outcome.

Conservatives continued to assert their belief in "a safe majority" but at the same time they, as well as political observers, have noted an increase in Labor optimism. A considerable number of responsible Labor figures outside the party's leadership have expressed confidence the party will capture the largest number of seats, though they do not claim a working majority.

Sir Archibald Sinclair's Liberals, with 305 candidates — not sufficient to form a government — hope to increase their representation to at least 50 or 60 seats compared with 19 in the old Parliament.

On the most candidates, 600,
while there are 547 Conservatives.
Other groups make up the balance of the 1,671 persons seeking election.

Essex Town Council.

Monday, July 23rd, Council met in regular session, in the Council Chamber, at 8 p.m., with Mayor Francott, Reeve Doyle, and Councillors Chase, Shaw, Skinner,
Hines and Hutchinson present.

Minutes were read, and on motion of Messrs. Doyle and Hines, adopted as read.

William Long asked Council when they figured on trimming trees in town.
He requested permission to trim trees in front of his aunt's property next door to their place on Alforda avenue.

This request was left with John Shaw, Commissioner for Ward 1, with power to act.

Bylaw No. 114 was read three times and passed. This bylaw confirms the sale of town lot back of the Imperial bank, facing Centre street, to the Hydro Division of the Essex Public Utilities Commission.

F. H. Geddes, town solicitor, reported to Council recent trip to Toronto on town business. Mr. Geddes stated he had come to see J. P. Coombe, Town Supervisor, on arrival, and apprised him of the reason for the trip. He had been assured by Mr. Coombe of full cooperation of both himself and his department in any steps taken by town to try and get lake water piped to Essex. He had told Mr. Coombe of two representatives from a large food processing concern visiting Essex with the hope of building a plant in town but before they could consider settling in Essex their company would have to be guaranteed one million gallons of water per day when at the peak of their pack.

He then went over to see the manager of Campbell Soup Branch, in Toronto, and had a long talk with him.
He, the manager, also stated his firm would have to have assurance of one million gallons of water a day with a guarantee of two million gallons a day in five year's time before they could possibly consider settling in Essex.
They also would like to know when two or three months as they would like to have the new plant operating by the late summer of 1946. His firm would purchase part of the bond issue required to be floated by the town to cover the expense of bringing water from Lake Erie.

Mr. Geddes stated that Premier King had called a Dominion-Provincial conference to start August 6th, but this likely would be just a preliminary meeting, to be adjourned to a later date. He was quite sure, from what he had learned on his trip, that the Dominion Government does not consider plate loading, except in large sums, of which Mr. Geddes said he had seen money on Post-Office stamps. But would come to the aid of municipalities by loaning money over quite a long term at a very low rate of interest, or at no interest at all.

The only thing that he could see to do now was to wait for the Dominion Government to announce its decision.
Mayor Francott stated that the residents of Maple Road would like the dirt from the catch basins built on the streets, be taken away. Left with Mr.
Hines.

On motion of Messrs. Chase and Shaw, the Mayor was empowered to authorize Monday, August 6th, as Civic Holiday.

George Myles, for the Capt. Brian Branch of the Canadian Legion, requested that Town consider taking the legal steps to close the blind alley at the rear of their Talbot Road property and deed same over to the Legion, as it now cuts their property in two.

This request was left with Mr. Myles and Legion officials to see Mr. Geddes, Town Solicitor, in his office, and go over the proposed scheme so Mr. Geddes can lay matter before Council.

The Clerk reported receiving a new petition from gasoline station owners and attendants, in town, requesting Council to pass necessary bylaw reclosing all gasoline stations in town on Thursday afternoons, from 12:30 to the year round. He advised Council that petition had the necessary 75 per cent of signatures. No action was taken.

On motion of Messrs. Shaw and Hines, the following accounts were passed: John Scaife, weeds, $32; Geo.
Lickman, weeds, $56; Ben Deveau, weeds, $36; John Baldwin, weeds, $20;
Mel Lambier, weeds, $10; George R.
Weller, account, $25.10; Moore's Dept.
Store, uniform, C.O.P., $55; Naylor
Lumber Co., drains, $10; Board of Education, Public School, $1,800; L. W.
Allison, insurance, fire pro., $35.68;
County Treasurer, county rate, 1945,
$7,200.27; Essex Hydro, street lights,
$197.84; F. McArragher, sidewalks, etc.,
$62; H. R. Johnston, insurance, Fair

BEHIND THE HEADLINES.

By Dean Wilson.

It must be admitted that a great many people across Canada have shown signs of being deeply concerned about their post-war economic as well as social problems and that this concern could be detected along Parliament Hill so that there may be widespread interest to learn at this time that, in face of all the thousands of men returning home from overseas and the gradual curtailment of war work, yet it is reported in well-informed quarters in Ottawa that the demand for labour now is in excess of the supply. In fact, in some directions, there is an acute shortage of workers, particularly in the giant construction industries. Moreover, the need for food both in this country and elsewhere means that production efforts will have to be increased tremendously in the immediate future. In short, the demand for labour is strong at this time and much of the concern amongst numerous Canadians on their chances for employment seems completely unnecessary at the moment, judging from reports circulating along Parliament Hill, where a new Order-in-Council that is known as PC 1333 has been passed. This Order-in-Council has established an advisory committee on rehabilitation and re-establishment to deal with policy in such vital matters of service personnel or war workers so that these may be put into proper places in civilian industry with the extreme importance of this work being recognized officially as various departments of the government are represented on it including the Departments of Veterans' Affairs, Defence, Reconstruction, Finance and Agriculture, these being Deputy Ministers or senior Departmental officials.

So remarkable is the expansion of Canada's operation as a nation amongst the nations of the world, being easily now one of the greatest secondary powers on the international scene, that the Department of External Affairs in Ottawa may not only have its own Minister but the multiplicity of work is emphasized with the report of numerous appointments about to be made, such as legations and embassies in various countries where no high Canadian diplomatic representation is now in existence. Moreover, it is said in Ottawa that some of these high posts may be filled by Canadians with proper military records in World War II and that this was one of the reasons why these appointments had not been made previously in some cases. The actual expansion of the functions of the Canadian government in world affairs has been amazing to a close observer of the Department in Ottawa and it has been nothing short of startling in comparison with the organization of this country. In regard to the appointment of a new Minister exclusively for this work which has been carried on by the Prime Minister for many years, Premier King himself declared last year: "I do agree that in a subsequent parliament, whoever may have to do with these different positions would be wise to look to seek a Minister to fill the portfolio of external affairs, with duties apart altogether from those of the Prime Minister."

Though the war in Europe is another chapter in history, yet the Royal Canadian Air Force is to continue strenuous efforts in research for defence purposes. This has been revealed in this country where it has become known that a special research and development division will carry on activities in peacetime and help to avoid another catastrophe through proper, perfect preparations for any eventualities in world affairs of tomorrow. In World War II new devices and weapons, such as jet propelled aircraft, flying rockets, etc., had shown the need of keeping up-to-the-minute in these defence activities and this accounts for the creation by the R.C.A.F. of this new division of continuous research for defence in Canada.

Somewhat or other Ministers of the Federal Cabinet have been so busy during this summer that even their absence from the capital has not always given them the accumulation of events in the general election, the coming Dominion-Provincial Conference and the next session of Parliament opening in August. Premier Mackenzie King has been busy with plans for his entry into Parliament by way of Glengarry riding; Hon. Douglas Abbott and Hon. James Gardiner are concerned with their tasks of facing accounts in their own districts of Westmount-Montreal and Melville respectively; Hon. James MacKinnon is engaged in a trip to the West; Hon. Ernest Belfrage is out of Ottawa for sometime now; Hon. Ian MacKenzie is studying closely at first hand various angles of veterans' affairs in order to present their views to Parliament; Hon. C. D. Howe is extremely busy with some delicate affairs of state which involve frequent meetings and such urgent matters as housing, civil aviation, etc.; Hon. J. L. Halsey is engaged in preparing numerous financial angles for the annual budget as well as taxation issues; Hon. Louis St. Laurent has been unusually occupied, including trips outside of Canada; Hon. A. G. L. McNaughton has been kept on the move with numerous tasks the least of which has been the heavy responsibility of looking after the great flood of incoming troops from abroad as well as attending to other such duties pertaining to defence department affairs. It is apparent from this brief summary that the Ministers have had little or no chance for rest and holidays since the close of the last session and the start of a new gathering next month.

Headed by Reconstruction Minister C. D. Howe, Canada will have a strong delegation at the meeting of the Provisional International Civil Aviation organization which will meet in August in this country, with Canada having been given the assignment of setting up a small temporary secretariat for this international body until a permanent one could be established in a sort of international civil service. Most interested in the effects of high-way and airway competition against the railways of Canada in the future, it is revealed that the C. N. R. has named two assistant transport economists to study these effects. A grand national convention is planned to be held in Canada's capital by the Indians of this country in September, in order to discuss disposition of about $15,000,000 held for the Indians by the Government as well as other questions concerning current problems of Canada's Indians. A definite sign of the end of the northwest projects initiated during World War II in wartime undertakings there is hinted in Ottawa by changes in top personnel of the joint defence projects in the Canadian Northwest where this country joined with the United States in important enterprises. The extent of the movement of Canadian servicemen from abroad to their homes is stressed in the report in Ottawa that present plans call for 126,000 servicemen to be brought back in the last six months of 1945, including the return of about 26,000 men in each of the months of July, August and September.

"The world economic problems are terrific, particularly for export countries like the United States and Canada. If nothing is done now we will have economic chaos and a world depression worse than the one that followed the last war." These words were said in Ottawa by a top ranking British Commonwealth statesman, who was passing through this capital in offering partial reason why there was need of calling an immediate conference of United Nations to study world economic problems. A delegation of Dutch bulb growers will visit Canada shortly and it is said in this capital that millions of these spring flowering bulbs will be supplied Canadian seed companies, with the remark that before World War II both the United States and Canada used to buy about eighteen million pounds of spring flowering bulbs from The Netherlands.

Sugar for Canning.

Rural housewives are urged by Mrs. John D. Detwiler, Western Ontario chairman of the Consumer Branch, to budget the spending of their sugar for canning coupons so that they will have supplies when large fruits ripen later in the season.

"All extra preserves coupons declared valid for the purchase of sugar for canning are now good," Mrs. Detwiler pointed out "and there is a danger that housewives, both urban and rural, may use the sugar for purposes other than canning. I would strongly recommend that housewives budget their sugar to meet the needs of their entire season's preserving and canning program." On the average the rural housewife cans and preserves a greater proportion of her supplies than the urban woman, who buys commercial products. Mrs. Detwiler stressed that preserves coupons are good for the purchase of one-half pound of sugar. Including those coupons declared valid for sugar for canning the total number of preserves coupons now valid would entitle each ration book holder to 19 pounds of sugar in addition to the regular sugar ration. Two preserves coupons become valid monthly.

He that takes time to think and consider will act more wisely than he that acts hastily and on impulse.—C. S. Simons.

Returned Men Honoured.

A welcome-home gathering for district servicemen was held last Sunday, after vesper, in St. John's Parish Hall. Among the speakers who addressed the crowd were Hon. Paul Martin, Sec. of State, and Frs. Stanley and John Murphy.

The following poem, written especially for Joe Mooney, was read:

OUR HERO.
The folks in Essex County
Are proud, and very rightly so,
Of Flight Lieutenant Mooney.
He prefers to be called Joe.

He won the second highest honour
The British Empire could bestow,
In a fight over Germany.
Earned the coveted D.S.O.

When they ran into trouble,
The plane began to slow,
The crew they didn't worry.
They left everything to Joe.

Twenty minutes from the target,
They were really in a mess,
That he was getting worried.
Even Joe had to confess.

With two motors knocked,
And the others going bad,
He kept flying to the goal,
What courage that boy had!

In order to keep going,
He had to fly quite low,
The enemy blasted them
With all that they could throw.

After dropping their load Right where they wanted to,
They turned and headed home
To bale out there, wouldn't do.

The crew still didn't worry,
As slower and lower they flew,
For, with Joe as their pilot,
He'd somehow get them through.

It must have seemed ages
Before they reached the Rhine,
For between friends and foe
This was the dividing line.

When they had crossed the river,
Joe quickly did command:
"Hurry and get the silk boys,
We're over friendly land."

The last to leave the craft
Joe should already know,
Just could be no other
Than our good friend Joe.

What he went through that night
Was plenty for any man,
But he has signed up again
And will be going to Japan.

We'll just say so long Joe,
God guide you night and day;
Is the wish and the blessing
For you we'll daily pray.

I'm adding another verse,
Thirteen would never do,
Joe happens to be Irish,
And I am Irish, too!

Essex Couple Married at Manor.

At an impressive ceremony at the Manor, Windsor, before an improvised altar in a beautiful setting of varicolored snapdragons, the Rev. Dr. H. M. Paulin, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, recently united in marriage Betty Lorraine, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Huggard and Richard Franklin Thornton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thornton, all of Essex.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of white organza, broadened in illy-eled on Princess lines. It was styled with a sweetheart neckline, the yoke edged with frilling, and three-quarter length sleeves. Her heart-shaped coronet of net held her fingertip veil in place, and she carried a cascade of white roses and baby's breath, from which fell streamers knotted with roses.

Miss Roberta Robinson, her only attendant, wore a floor-length gown of blue organza, and her matching shoulder-length veil was held with rows of net flowers. She carried pink roses and baby's breath. Max Kettlewell acted as best man, and Roy Moore assisted as usher.

Mrs. Arthur Hussey played "O Perfect Love" and "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

A reception for 50 guests followed. The bride's table, laid with a lovely lace cloth, was centred with a four-tiered wedding cake in a bed of white tulle sprinkled with forget-me-nots, flanked by pink tapers and cornflowers.

Mrs. Huggard, mother of the bride, was lovely in a pale pink dress with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias, and was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Thornton, mother of the bridegroom, who chose navy blue and chartreuse, with white accessories, and a corsage of gardenias. Assisting in serving were Miss Jean Huggard, sister of the bride; Miss Shirley and Miss Joyce Crumb, and Miss Barbara McLellan, cousins of the bride. Mrs. Cloyce Brown and Miss Wealthea McLellan, aunts of the bride, poured tea.

Later the couple left by train on a wedding trip to Henderson, Ky., the bride travelling in a two-piece blue suit of eyelet embroidery with white accessories, wearing an orchid corsage. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Thornton will reside in Essex.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Colin Purdy and daughter Margaret, of Detroit; Mrs. Frank Stotts and Mrs. D. S. Wallace, of Colchester; Mr. and Mrs. Royce Jackson, of Rochester, Mich.; Mrs. Andrew Crumb and daughters Shirley and Joyce, of Royal Oak, Mich.; Mrs. R. L. Wilbur, of West Branch, Mich.; and Goldwyn McEnteer, of Detroit.

Increased Insect Damage.
Letters I have received from this district mention the increased insect damage this year and usually want to know why it is, and what can be done about it. There was a little spot of cutworm on my place that was cleaned up in short order, but here are some hints to those who are not so lucky.
The heavy snow of last winter made a protective blanket for the insects while in their dormant stage. Usually the frost will kill a large percentage of them, but last winter the frost could not get down deep enough because of this deep snow. Therefore, more of the pests were left for us to kill this summer.

Dusting Kills Many.
There are two types of insects, biting and sucking. A means of killing one may not be as deadly to the other, but dusting with insecticides accompanied with derris can usually finish both species. Derris compounds are extremely toxic to insects but fortunately are not poisonous to humans and all warm blooded animals. This makes it able to dust with derris compounds shortly before the crop is harvested and consumed. These are the insects derris dust will do away with: pea beetle, asparagus beetle, Mexican bean beetle, cabbage looper, thrips, Colorado potato beetle, pea aphid, pea weevil, tomato fruit worm, blister beetle, beet web worm, striped cutworm, etc. Most farmers apply 25 to 35 pounds per acre using a dusting gun or simply sifting it through a burlap bag.

Stomach Poisons and Sprays.

The best way to kill the biting type of insect is to feed him a stomach poison, such as lead arsenate and calcium arsenate. These can be put on as a dust or mixed with copper compounds and sprayed. The sucking type calls for a different treatment and the contact spray has been most successful. A spray of nicotine sulphate is particularly deadly to aphids, thrips, leaf hoppers and other soft bodied species. Unfortunately, it is difficult to get large quantities of this chemical now so the alternative, derris dust, has to be used. The latter is just as deadly as nicotine but not as immediate in action.

Poison Bait for Cutworms.

Here is the formula I used for cutworms this year. A mixture of twenty-five pounds of bran half a pound of Paris Green one quart of molasses, two gallons of water and grated pulp of five lemons. This solution was thinly broadcast in the late evening. Simply adding one pound of salt makes this a good grubbing bait but it should be put on during the heat of the day.

These are all good curative steps but we should be more interested in preventative measures. In another visit we will talk about those roadsides along the farms that do nothing but protect insects and grow weeds.

Others Are Asking?

Q.—How much has the cost of living increased in Canada since price control was effected and what was its rise from the beginning of the war to price control?

A.—The cost of living index in Canada compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shows an increase of 3.8 points since December, 1941, when price control was effected. From the outbreak of the war to price control the index rose 15 points.

Q.—Can you tell me why the Prices Board requires dealers to have a permit to slaughter cattle?

A.—Chiefly so that a complete report may be kept at all times of the meat supply in Canada and to frustrate possible black market operations at a time when meat is urgently needed for home consumption and to fill commitments to the United Kingdom and UNRRA.

Q.—How do I apply for rations for my seasonal farm help?

A.—You apply in person or write to your local ration board for form RB-77A for transient farm labour. You complete this, return it to the ration board and you will receive documents entitling you to the permitted rations.

Q.—Will fowl be included in the lists of meats to be rationed in Canada?

A.—Under present conditions it is not the intention of the Ration Administration to ration either poultry or fish when meat rationing is effected.

Q.—How much sugar is allowed breweries and distilleries in Canada?

A.—No sugar is used by brewing and distilling industries in this country.

Must Have Farm Export.

Only hope of farm property in Canada, asserts The Financial Post, is a big export trade. Argues The Post editorially:

"If Canadian farmers are going to continue to grow more wheat, bacon, cheese, beef, tobacco and fruit than our domestic population can consume then they must be prepared to offer them in fair competition with the rest of the world. If we charge a higher price for the proportion we sell on the domestic market, we simply encourage greater production and our marketing problem will get worse instead of better. Secondly, our world competitors will accuse us of dumping unwanted produce abroad and they will dump too with disastrous results.

Workers for Home Building

In order to speed up home building this year, special arrangements have been made for the early release from the Armed Forces of experienced workers needed for home construction and the production of materials for home building, according to an announcement made this week by Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour.

"Canada's Program calls for the building of 50,000 homes immediately," the Labour Minister said, "and the continuing labour shortages are seriously hampering the project. An obvious and primary need of homes arises out of the fact that living quarters must be found for members of the Armed Services on discharge."

The Labour Minister explained that building contractors wanting to build homes, and employers producing materials needed for home construction, should make application to the nearest Industrial Selection and Release Committee, in order to secure the speedy release from the Armed Services of any man they know to be experienced in the work of home building, or in producing essential building materials.

There are 11 of these Committees, located at Halifax, St. John, Quebec, Montreal, Kingston, London, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton and Vancouver.

"We wish to appeal to building contractors wanting to build homes and to producers of building materials," Mr. Mitchell said, "to contact their District Committee immediately, to file applications."

The Minister stated that employers and unions must give the name, postal address and other particulars regarding the men asked for. At the same time, he pointed out, applications need not be restricted to skilled tradesmen, but requests for experienced unskilled or semi-skilled workers will be entertained, where the indication is that labour shortages are interfering with home building.

The Labour Minister concluded by saying that civilian construction workers, who are now engaged in other work, are also being sought for home building by the Employment Offices. "In home building all classes of construction tradesmen are needed, but the men whose services are most in demand by contractors are carpenters, plasterers, bricklayers, plumbers and electricians," Mr. Mitchell explained. "Any men who have experience at these trades on home building will be given their release from any designated industry by Employment Offices, upon application."

Giants Stop Local 195.

The Border Cities Giants upset Local 195 with a 3-2 victory for their first win of the season after seven straight losses at Maldstone. The game, which was pretty much of a pitcher's battle, saw Local 195 make eight errors, while the colored boys had a perfect day in the field.

Lorrie Foster allowed only four hits and one base on balls while striking out four. Two of the hits came in the second inning when Local 195 scored both its runs. Jimmy Carriere smashed out a double to left field, while Pat Cipparone followed with a single. Carriere scored and on the throw to the plate Cipparone went to second. He went to third when Bill Tidman grounded out, and scored after Herbert's high foul to Hall far behind first base.

Leonard Dube and Reddig hurried just as good ball for 195 as Foster for the Giants, but their mates made eight errors behind them. Dube bunted five innings, giving up three hits, no walks and fanned three. Reddig hurled three innings, allowed one hit, fanned five and gave no free passes. All the Giant runs were unearned. Their first came in the fifth on two errors and a long fly. They added two more in the sixth on four errors, a double and a stolen base.

Centre fielder McCurdy made at least three running catches that looked good for hits and retired the side himself in the eighth inning.

Potato Prices.

The seasonal drop in ceiling prices of potatoes becomes effective on July 31st, according to an announcement by W. Harold McPhillips, prices and supply representative for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in Western Ontario. Ceiling prices for sales by farmers to consumers is $2.89 a 75 pound bag, 64 cents a 15 pound basket and 43 cents a 10 pound basket. To these ceiling prices may be added the freight from Harrow to the market in which the potatoes are sold. This additional charge must not exceed 40 cents a hundred pounds.

Wreckers Defeat Tecumseh.

A five-run outburst in the second inning, when Gene Goyeau lost control and hurled 14 consecutive balls without a strike, helped the American Auto Wreckers to a 7-1 win at Tecumseh. The victory, along with Maldstone's 6-1 loss to Woodbine Lunch, increased the Wreckers' lead in the circuit to one and a half games over the second place Shamrocks.

The inning saw every one of the Wreckers take a turn at the plate. Manager Russ Nantais had the dubious honor of both opening and closing the frame as he struck out at the beginning and grounded out at the finish.

With Nantais out of the way Goyeau suddenly lost control and walked four men—Bob Wright, Carl Egan, Gerry Parent and Bill Knowles—in a row. "Em" Malott's hit between short and second was fielded all right but Shortstop Gerry Cecile was a little late with the throw so that everyone was safe. Goyeau then put Bill Hodgins on when he struck him. "Whitey" Menard struck out and Lyle Dowell singled to right. Nantais, next man up, was the third out.

The Flying Frenchmen scored their one run in the eighth, when Gerry Cecile drew a walk and stole second. In attempting to nab Cecile, Malott threw into centre field, Cecile going to third. Harold Jackson, then hit a grounder to short, which Wright obligingly threw over Nantais' head, allowing Cecile to score.

Jersey Cow Makes Second 1,000 Lbs. of Fat.

Brampton Basilia Aim (98851) a Jersey Cow bred and owned by B. H. Bull & Son, Brampton, Ont., has completed her second record of over 1,000 lbs. of fat.

Aim went on test as a 6-year-old, and in 95 days on times a day milking, produced 13,147 lbs. of milk, and 1,037 lbs. of fat with an average test of 5.71 per cent, winning a Medal of Merit certificate.

She is the daughter of Brampton Lady Bisilau, that also had many high records including 2 over 1,000 lbs. of fat. She in turn is from the grand old matron, and world record cow, Brampton Basilia with four records over 1,000 lbs. of fat.

Here are three generations of over 1,000 lbs. of fat producing Jersey cows, and it looks as if Aim's daughter will make the fourth.

Incidentally Brampton Basilia Aim has this time given birth to a son. All her other calves have been heifers.

MEN FOR HOME BUILDING MUST BE SECURED

Home building is highly essential to overcome pressing housing shortages, and to provide dwellings for the Forces as discharged.

Shortages of workers for building homes and for producing the building materials are threatening to impede Canada's program for the construction of 50,000 homes as soon as possible.

All men experienced in home building or in producing building materials, who are not now working in either of these industries, are urged to apply to the nearest office of the National Employment Service immediately.

Men experienced at home building or producing supplies, if now in other essential work, will be given permits to work at jobs which will assist the house building program.

All men, not now at house building nor producing supplies, who can fill a job in this program, are urged to answer this call.

Apply at once at the nearest office of the National Employment Service.

NAME _____ ADDRESS _____

Essex Town Council

Monday, July 30th. Council met in special session, as per adjournment, with Mayor S. Francott, Reeve Doyle and Councillors Cascadden, Hines, Chase, Shaw and Skinner present.

F. B. Geddes, Town Solicitor, read to Council a bylaw re closing and conveying of part of Station street to Colonial Cannery and part of old Scratch street to Colonial Cannery, and part to David Wright.

The bylaw was read three times and passed.

Mayor Francott had the Clerk read a letter he had received from Mr. Bickle re delivery of new fire truck.

The letter, dated July 27th, stated the truck was in the paint shop and would be ready for delivery the week after next. The town would be notified the day to expect same.

He also advised Council that they would be getting a communication from a village in Northern Ontario re purchase of old fire truck.

On motion of Messrs. Hines and Shaw, the Clerk was instructed to send the account for fire truck, of $3,625, to Mr. Coombe, for his approval, so that the Bickle Co. can be paid on delivery.

A discussion followed re numbering of houses in town.

On motion of Messrs. Cascadden and Shaw, it was decided to contact E. Richardson, Town Assessor, to see if he would take on the job, so that each house and lot will be properly numbered. It was decided to start the numbering of Talbot street north and south, from Center street.

E. E. Brett advised Council he was going to start to build on his lot next to the Hicks' store, right away. He was wondering if Council would like to take necessary legal steps to open a public alley back of Talbot street lots from Center street to Laird avenue, if so he would donate the land from the back end of his lot, otherwise he might build full length of the lot.

He thought Council should think this matter over seriously as at present there is no back entrance to any property on Talbot street and if town is to grow at the block from Center street to Laird avenue will be built solid by business places and each would have to leave a space of 12 to 15 feet for a private drive-in entrance as it would be almost impossible to unload all freight and supplies at the front door.

This matter was left with the Property Committee to get in touch with the other property owners and see if proposition is feasible.

Council adjourned.

Recommend No Dogs at Pelee Island Shoot.

The Pelee Township Council have recommended to the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries that the use of dogs should not be allowed during the 1945 pheasant hunt on the island. The reason for taking this action was that Council members reasoned it is impossible to see the extent of the spread or disappearance of rabies within three months.

It was suggested to the Department that officials be sent to the island some time in August for the purpose of making a survey of the pheasant population and meeting the council to fix the conditions and regulations governing this year's shoot. The council also requested that a game overseer be detailed for duty on Pelee Island as soon as possible.

Celebrates 92nd Birthday.

Albert Pulford celebrated his 92nd birthday, at his home, in Kingsville, on Wednesday July 26th, when the members of Concord Lodge, I.O.O.F., No. 142, and Lily Rebekah Lodge, No. 49, had a get-together with him at his own home.

Mr. Pulford has been a retired blacksmith for 25 years, although he still continues to assist the farmers with the usual repairs of their wagons, such as making wagon tongues, setting trees, making wagon boxes, etc. His specialty of late years is making wheelbarrows.

He has been a member of Concord Lodge for 69 years and is also a member of the Gavel Club and Encampment Lodge. Just recently he was made an honorary member of Patriarch Militant Lodge.

Mr. Pulford is a member of the Church of the Epiphany. He has two daughters and one son: Mrs. Mildred Donaghy and Mrs. M. S. Wigle, both of Kingsville; Morley Pulford, of Royal Oak, Mich., and a brother, Foster Pulford, of Vancouver. He has 10 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Price Ceilings Remain Same.

Maximum prices for peaches, plums and pears of the 1945 crop, both domestic and imported, have been set at practically the same rates as prevailed in 1944, the prices board announced Monday.

One of the changes in the new price order is a five-cent per basket increase in the growers' price for No. 1 Ontario grown peaches.

The order establishes the same ceiling for imported and domestic fruit and comes into force August 6th for peaches and domestic plums. The effective date for imported plums and domestic pears is August 13th and for imported pears August 20th.

Baby Dies.

Ronald Neal Queen, baby son of Pte. Garnet and Mrs. Queen, of Essex, passed away in Grace Hospital, Windsor, on Friday, July 27th. He was born just a week previous.

Surviving besides his parents, is a brother Gary. Burial was in St. Stephens' Church Cemetery, Sandwich South.

What Will You Believe?

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.

There have always been short sellers, people who flourish on non-success or open calamity. There always will be. In this way they have been plentiful. They have been prophets of disaster. Fortunately most Canadians were too busy to give them more than passing attention.

You will remember them as the people who urged that Canada was too small to provide fighters and growers of food and have any manpower left to build a manufacturing industry. If Canadians had listened carefully, they might have been disturbed. In five and a half years of war Canada called almost one out of every six of her adult population into the armed forces; at one time almost 800,000 of them—some seventh of the total adult population—were in uniform.

With farm help cut to three fourths of its peacetime number, she doubled her production of foodstuffs. Yet, despite these facts and the somber croaking of the pessimists, she also made herself an industrial nation.

By the end of 1944 the number of her factory workers had grown by more than a million; by then, production had reached the staggering total of $8,550,000,000, more than three times what it was in 1939.

But even that great showing failed to shake the pessimists. There wasn't much sense to it, they thought, because there weren't the ships to handle it. When we built 350 merchant ships to meet the need, they remained unconvinced. Look at Pearl Harbor, and Britain's scattered navy, and look at the grim toll of a million tons of shipping a month that the Atlantic wolf packs were exacting. But other people were too busy building corvettes and mine sweepers — 370-odd of them — to be disturbed. Soon Canada was guarding more than half the convoys to Britain, serving the armies overseas, and helping a desperate Russia by the long road to Murmansk.

Then the pessimists remembered that in the last war Canada had had to depend on Britain for arms, and probably would have to do so again. But while we supplied every need of our armies ourselves there was 70 per cent of all our production left to serve our allies.

When the Commonwealth Air Training Plan became a fact, Canada supplied 55 per cent of the air crews and 95 per cent of the ground crews. Also she built the planes to train them, and a thousand or so Mosquitos and Lancasters as well.

But the short sellers took refuge in the belief that we would bankrupt ourselves. But somehow we didn't. Canada didn't take lend-lease from anyone — the Chicago Tribune to the contrary. Instead, she set up her own lend-lease, two billion dollars for aid for our allies, and another $2,700,000,000 specially marked for aid to Britain.

The expenditures of war have indeed reached figures that are startling. The Great War cost a little better than $125,000,000; this war has cost us, to date, fifteen billion dollars. But we would remind the pessimists that we ourselves, 37 per cent in taxes and 57 per cent of the remainder in loans.

Now that the war in Europe is over, the short sellers are telling us that we can't maintain production and we can't find jobs for returning men. But the optimists are saying, "There's nothing we can't make and nothing we can't do. It will be tough, but we can do it."

In the face of the evidence of the past five years, which will you believe? —Liberty Magazine.

150 Cases of Beer Stolen.

Minus its 150-case beer cargo, a stolen 1941 model truck of the British American Brewery, Windsor, was found abandoned Tuesday afternoon in Amherstburg.

With a cargo of 150 cases of beer aboard, the truck was stolen from in front of the brewery early Monday afternoon. The driver parked the truck near the brewery office, and when he came outside a short time later the truck and its beer cargo had disappeared.

Police said the truck was found to be in good condition.

Voted Twice; Fined $400.

Mr. and Mrs. Emile Menard, of Cornwall, were each fined $200 and costs by Police Court Magistrate P. C. Bergeron Saturday, when they pleaded guilty to a charge of "voting at an election in the Ontario Provincial election of June 4th."

Testimony showed that the couple voted at one polling place and then proceeded to another in Cornwall Township where they voted a second time.

Fire Destroys Barn.

The barn of F. O. Amonite, Colchester North, valued at $5,000, was burned to the ground Friday night of last week, when a gas engine backfired.

The fire began about 7:30 in the evening, when Ken Amonite was working in the barn. The flames spread quickly and caught on to the hay in the mow and in an hour's time the barn was burned to the ground.

Twenty head of cattle were moved out, but the barn, equipment and hay were lost. There was no insurance.

North and South Essex Games.

The regular scheduled games of the North and South Essex League have been completed, however, due to a number of postponements because of rain and wet grounds, teams in the league have been given two weeks to play off these games.

Following are the games to be played this coming Sunday:

South — Amherstburg at Pleasure Beach, Malden at Kingsville, Harrow at McGregor.

North — Essex at Point Pelee, Leamington at Stoney Point, Woodslee at Belle River.

Woodslee will play a twilight game at Essex on Thursday of next week, August 9th, game to start at 6:30 sharp.

Named Governor-General of Canada.

Field Marshal Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, who extricated Britain's overwhelmed forces from Dunkerque and Burma and led the comeback from El Alamein, has been appointed Canada's 17th governor-general.

Succeeds Athlone.

The 54-year-old Allied commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean theatre was chosen by King George VI. Buckingham Palace announced Tuesday, to succeed the King's uncle, Lord Athlone, 71, whose normal term as governor-general expired last June.

Spartan and public-spirited, a twice wounded veteran of four years' service in World War I and one of the first British army leaders to land in France in 1939 as commander of the First Division, Alexander played a prominent part in three major turning points of the Empire's fortunes of war.

Son of the Earl of Caledon and a Harrow and Sandhurst man, Alexander is not in line for a hereditary title. It is expected, however, that he will be elevated to a peerage as were previous commoners who became governor-generals of Canada. He married Lady Margaret Diana Bingham, daughter of the fifth Earl of Lucan, in 1931, and they have two sons and a daughter.

Alexander was knighted in 1942. He is Britain's youngest field marshal.

At a recent meeting of the Pelee Island Municipal Council a motion was passed extending an invitation to Angus McKenney, Essex County Representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and the members of the Agricultural Committee of the Essex County Council to visit the island at a date to be fixed later.

The purpose of the visit is to show the people from the mainland the soybeans and other growing crops and give them a chance to meet with members of the Pelee Council and island residents to discuss agricultural matters of mutual interest.

W. S. Otton, deputy reeve of Leamington, is chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Essex County Council. The other members are Reeve Russel Rogers, of Gosfield South; Reeve Nicholas Ruggaber, of Maidstone; Reeve H. T. Nelce, of Colchester North; Deputy Reeve James Daley, of Moresby, and Reeve George Bennett, of Malden.

Corn Stocks Frozen.

Processors of corn and operators of elevator elevators in Essex, Kent, Middlesex and Lambton are in a bind among other Ontario and Quebec elevators whose stocks are frozen if they have in possession, in or on order more than 1,500 bushels of corn. The freezing order is made to make certain that present stocks are made available for most essential users. Essentially, the order is continued if authorized in writing. Sales of corn to farmers for feed on their own farms are not affected.

Weather and Meat.

Following the rapid melting of snow from warm weather by the part of last March and early in many farmers turned cattle on the sooner than usual. Subsequently, however, the weather turned and both grass and cattle failed in April and May. Meanwhile the Current Review of Agricultural Conditions in Canada, which were being depleted steadily since this year before the usual sales of early grass-finished cattle available in quantity.

Loss of Food by Insects in Home.

Housewives can do much to avoid through the infestation by insects in flour, fruits, and other food in the home by taking a few precautions. Food, such as rolled oats, cornmeal and other grain products, should be in small lots to ensure that they are consumed fairly promptly. Foodstuffs at the time of purchase should be examined to ensure they are free from pests. Products should be stored in sealed containers, such as glass of appropriate size, with rubber in addition to being insect-tight. Jars help to preserve the contents and the contents can be used at a glance. Many metal containers are useless because of the ease insects may gain access to them, says the Dominion Entomology Department of Ottawa.

During the summer, the most satisfactory procedure in dealing with infestation is to place the foodstuffs in a new container for an hour or two at a temperature of 130 to 140 degrees Fahrenheit. All quantities of material, the larvae of the insects will be killed. Flour so treated will be free from insects after sifting. Cold will prevent development of insects in fruits and nuts. Cupboards should be sprayed with an insecticide and washed with soap and water. Before replacing food materials in cupboards, exposure out-of-doors in direct sunlight for 24 hours will kill the insects. If the insects are not dead, a three-day exposure of infested materials is recommended. Flies are a common household pest in summer that breed in overripe vegetables and fermenting vegetable scraps. All such sources of infestation should be protected from flies or destroyed, including garbage. The adult flies are destroyed with any good fly spray.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 3, 1945.

That Soldier Vote. It was only last week that the prolonged controversy about the "Soldier vote" in the recent federal election came to an end. Chief electoral officer Castonguay released the complete tabulation of the vote by areas and by parties.

Not only did the Liberals lead in the total number of votes polled, but they also led in nine of the thirteen areas covered by the voting. In Italy, the Middle East, the Far East, Australia, the British West Indies, Newfoundland, the Maritimes, Quebec and Ontario, the Liberals polled more votes than any other party. Only in the United Kingdom and France overseas, and in the Prairie Provinces and British Columbia at home, did the CCF lead. The Tories did not lead in the voting in any of the areas.

This official final information makes some of the Tory and CCF pre-election propaganda seem faintly ridiculous. Carried away by their enthusiasm, Tory publishers prophesied the soldier vote would cost the Liberals at least 65 Ontario seats, and that elsewhere throughout the Dominion the Liberals would suffer at the hands of the soldiers for the Government's manpower policy.

Of course, the Tories did not add that the Government's manpower "failures" were chiefly expressed in terms of Tory propaganda, and now the Liberals are loath to let the Tories forget that the soldiers largely spurned the Tory misrepresentation for political purposes. Which seems fair enough.

The Big Pow-Wow. The August 6th opening of the big Dominion-Provincial pow-wow is awaited with lively impatience by newspaper correspondents in the Capital for they are expecting all sorts of fireworks. Mr. King will face two stubborn antagonists in Premier Drew of Ontario and Premier Duplessis of Quebec, who will press determinedly for a lion's share of the pot of gold at the foot of taxation rainbow.

Nevertheless, Mr. King is in a very good position. He has a strong ally in the person of Premier Garson of Manitoba, who is not only friendly to the federal government, but who does not exactly see eye to eye with either Drew or Duplessis. Garson is sure that surrender by the Provinces of their direct taxation powers would involve no threat to their fiscal autonomy. He believes that any ordinary deficiency in their budget could be made up by grants from the federal treasury to the various provincial treasuries.

Certainly the solution of the taxation division, though difficult, is not impossible, given a sympathetic and co-operative approach. Before the war emergency, the provincial and the federal tax gatherers jointly put the big direct taxation squeeze on net incomes, surpluses and inheritances. As a war measure the Provinces surrendered their share of this revenue, and in return received percentages of revenues collected by the Dominion.

Canada is now faced with the next stage of this experience—the early post-war period, with its large war debt (owed to the people of Canada), its world-admired provisions for war veterans, and its notably expanded social services. To master these responsibilities the Dominion obviously needs adequate taxation, and it is reasonable to expect it plans to convince the Provinces of this fact and accordingly to retain—at least for a time—its wartime taxation powers. If any of the Provinces play politics in the face of this delicate and dangerous situation, they may merely be placing a time-bomb in their own pants pocket—which will explode in due course with messy results to themselves. For what retards the whole of Canada cannot fail to retard her separate parts.

"Solidarity." Last week the CCF national organization for the second time officially disowned its wayward progeny, H. W. Herridge, elected for Kootenay West on July 11th. Mr. Herridge, formerly a CCF member of the B.C. Legislature, disobeyed the party instructions and entered the federal election. The CCF promptly disowned him and entered its own candidate. But, alas for CCF strategy, Herridge won as the "People's CCF Party" representative.

Now CCF leaders have repudiated the "People's CCF." This gesture is being hailed by CCF supporters as further evidence of solidarity, unity, and effective political organization. But expert students of Canadian political history are not so sure. Some say it is merely further evidence of the CCF authoritarian approach to public problems. Some say it is further evidence of CCF inability to co-operate, not only for its own good but also for the good of Canada.

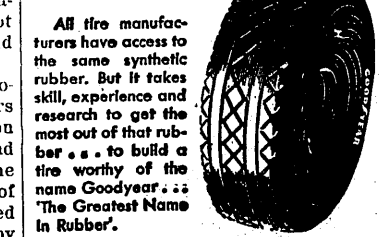

The most damaging comment is that the CCF is once again giving expression to its undemocratic tendencies, which so effectively deny its protestations that it is the only democratic party in Canada, governed by its rank and file. That is arrant nonsense, as any of the CCF rank and file may neatly prove by simply kicking over the traces.

Newspaper men in the capital are now predicting that Mr. Herridge will move into the Liberal fold as quickly as he can.

Returning Ration Coupons.

If farmers and other primary producers realized what a contribution they make to a stabilized ration plan and to the defeat of black markets by returning to local ration boards all coupons collected in ration food sales, they would give complete co-operation to existing regulations," according to W. Harold McPhillips, prices and supply representative for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Appealing to producers who sell rationed foods directly to consumers, Mr. McPhillips stressed that obedience to regulations governing the return of coupons means the maintenance of equitable distribution upon which present economic security depends. Neglect of the regulations may result in serious threat to the whole ration plan and farmers as well as all other Canadians would suffer if it were disrupted.

He continued that a farmer who sells a few hundred pounds of butter or honey may say it is not important to a national plan if he does not return the coupons collected from the consumer. But those few pounds of butter are "lost" if coupons are not returned. Multiply this single instance by thousands of cases and uncounted numbers of pounds of butter disappear. The basis of a ration plan is the vision of the available supply among the total number of consumers. If the available supply is not known correctly, the ration allowance cannot be determined on an equitable basis.

Loose coupons in circulation are an invitation to black markets, it was also stressed.

Others Are Asking?

Q.—Would you please tell me the ceiling price of chickens, including broilers, roasters and capons?

A.—We presume you mean the retail ceiling price, which is 48 cents on "A" grade milked roasters and fryers, and 45 cents on "B" grade milked. "A" and "B" grades are 45 cents and 43 cents. Capons are 2 cents per pound over each grade. Broilers are priced as follows: "A" grade milked 45 cents; "B" grade milked 43 cents; "A" grade 43 cents; "B" grade 40 cents. On other grades consult your nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Q.—What is the ceiling price of lamb?

A.—Spring lamb prices vary according to the cut and should be posted in each retail shop. The prices on spring lamb this year have been extended from July 15th to August 31st.

Q.—I understand that the regulations have been changed to prevent people from being evicted from houses and apartments. Does this mean my son recently discharged from the army will not be able to obtain possession of the house I own in the city? He lived in it before he went overseas.

A.—The regulations freezing leases do not affect service personnel. You may still obtain possession of your house for your son's occupancy if you give three months' notice to vacate on the form provided by the Board. The notice to vacate must also be signed by your son and in it he must agree to occupy the house for a period of one year from the time at which the tenant is requested to vacate.

What are the dates for the seasonal decreases in the ceiling prices of potatoes this year?

A.—Prices of potatoes drop July 29th, August 12th, September 1st, on sales by primary producers to wholesalers. Wholesalers prices on potatoes change on August 2nd, August 16th and September 1st.

Questions on any regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board will be answered if submitted to the Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Federal Building, London, Ontario.

A Farmer's Day.

My cousin in the city the other day was sympathizing with me on the long hours I had to work on the farm. We all work long hours on the farm now but after the war you will see shorter hours per man but more men to every farm. Anyway, when we talked it over it turned out not so bad, even the way it is. He spends a full hour on the street car going to work and the same at night coming home. He doesn't get paid for this time and tells me he has to stand three quarters of the way. That adds a couple of hours on his supposedly shorter working day. We get a good meal at noon and even have time to listen to a newscast, but he and other city folk have to stand in line at a restaurant and rush through their meal to be back to the office in an hour. Worse than anything we think, is that he has to sit inside all day and do the same thing every day. We are at least outside in the fresh air and if we get tired cultivating one crop we can switch to another—there is plenty of variety in jobs on the farm. When we finished talking, my cousin decided he needed the sympathy, not me.

Good Poultry Meat Market. Every indication points to a large demand for our poultry meat. Meat rationing is to be reinstated soon and Canadian poultry is being specially Salt for Sheep. Salt is necessary for sheep all the year round. Records indicate that each sheep eats about one-quarter ounce of salt per day if they can get it. They do not obtain enough salt when it is supplied in block form. All stock salt should contain iodine. If iodized salt is not procurable, potassium iodide should be added to the salt.

A CHAMPION REPEATS.

World Record Holstein Sets Another Championship Mark.

The breaking of three championship production records in two years is the proud achievement of Sweetholm RAS Apple Belle, a purebred Holstein owned by E. L. Sweet, Belmont, Ont. A year ago "Belle" set new world records for butterfat production in both the 365 and 305 day sections of the junior three-year-old class on twice a day milking of 848 and 808 lbs. Now she has come back with a new World record for the Holstein breed for butterfat production in the 305-day division of the four-year-old class, also on twice-a-day milking. Her championship figures are 810 lbs. butterfat from 18,896 lbs. milk, average test 4.29 per cent butterfat, which record is also second for milk in its class. Her two 305 day records total 1,618 lbs. butterfat from 35,938 lbs. milk, the largest butterfat total ever made in Canada for two consecutive 305 day tests on twice-a-day milking at less than mature age.

"Belle" is a cow of extreme dairy quality. She has never been pampered, having made her records while running with the rest of the herd and has never known the luxury of a box-stall. She is again on test and milking in championship style, giving up to 43 quarts daily.

The replaced champion in the four-year-old class is Banostine Alcatraz Norine, who was also owned by E. L. Sweet when she made her championship record of 776 lbs. butterfat from 19,411 lbs. milk back in 1933.

A specific instance is cited of one Ontario sheep owner who had 100 lbs. of heavy chaffy and 12 lbs. of tags in 1944 from a total net weight of 563 lbs., but, learning how to correct the situation, he returned with his 1945 clip showing not a single pound of reject wool, and out of 575 lbs., almost 200 lbs. of it was classed as "Special Selection." The increased net return was $26.64 or almost 5 cents per pound.

Hog Market.

Hog production in Canada has increased very much over pre-war years but dropped off a little last year. However there still is a good market and the litters this spring were good from all reports. Care of these litters will determine the number of premiums we market this fall and this is important. Canada has a good hold on export markets now but can lose them within a short time. Denmark will soon be trying for the markets they lost and they can produce good hogs. Our only chance to hold our own is to continually improve the quality of our exports by raising these litters. The lost we know how. Careful breeding is essential, and steps are being taken to educate every hog producer in this so he can compete with others for the all important export markets.

Want of Water Means Less Eggs. Water for hens is an important item in egg production, particularly during hot weather. Hens require an abundance of clean fresh water before they lay at all times, and especially at laying time—the early morning and afternoon. Hens have no sweat glands. They depend on their lungs to throw off body moisture. Prolonged lack of water entails parched lungs and suffering. Lack of sufficient fresh water results in lowered egg production, and egg quality is lowered when hens are forced to drink dirty stagnant water. A hen seeks a drink of water the first thing after leaving a nest and she will drink more water when it is kept fresh than when it is changed only once a day. Every egg is wanted to meet the demand.

Impure Quality of Canadian Wool.

The wool bonus of 4 cents per lb. to Canadian wool growers, provided fleeces are properly prepared for market applies for the third consecutive season in all provinces except Manitoba. All registered warehouses report that a vast improvement has taken place in the removal and separate packing of such disqualifying rejects as tags, chaffy necks and backs and burry bellies. As an illustration of what is being done by the grower, a recent analysis at one warehouse of 1,007 Ontario clips where the grower had separated the rejects at shearing time, and 207 portions had to be removed at time of grading.

Ontario sheep owner who had 100 lbs. of heavy chaffy and 12 lbs. of tags in 1944 from a total net weight of 563 lbs., but, learning how to correct the situation, he returned with his 1945 clip showing not a single pound of reject wool, and out of 575 lbs., almost 200 lbs. of it was classed as "Special Selection." There is a higher demand for bigger kitchens in all areas. One reason is that so many meals are eaten there. Over three-quarters of farm families and nearly as many in cities eat the year round in their kitchens; in villages the figure is 78%.

Refrigerating is number one on the list of 2% of farm women, 4% of those in villages and 5% in bigger centres.

One farm woman in 25 wants electric refrigeration more than any other kitchen improvement. In cities, towns and villages nearly one kitchen in 14 has a corner reserved for postwar electric refrigerators.

"Canadian Homes" Survey.

The kitchen is the centre of family activity in Canadian homes and, in most homes, although 95% of them have living rooms, Canadian families not only cook in the kitchen but most of them eat there and many wash, launder and take baths in the kitchen. Some of them even sleep there.

"If the Canadian housewife is to have her work load eased, kitchens need overhauling," said C. A. Macosky, president of Lever Brothers Limited, in announcing results of the second section of a housing survey conducted by his firm. "Industry has arranged its layout to save needless work. If the same technique were applied to the kitchen—the workshop of the home—many extra steps and much carrying and lifting could be eliminated."

Researchers visited several thousand homes throughout Canada and interviewed housewives in one of the most intensive studies of household working conditions ever undertaken. The difficulties of doing housework hampered at every turn by lack of proper equipment, especially in farm homes, are pictured vividly in the following findings.

About one farmhouse in every six (18%) has no sink. The shortage is half that total in small towns and villages. And 1-10th of farm sinks in some cases are smaller than the kitchen. Almost one-third of them have no drains, and 3% have no taps. That means water has to be lifted into the sink by bucket or tea kettle and dirty water ladled or siphoned out. The village drain shortage is 16% while 15% lack taps. Three per cent of the farm sinks are too high for the women who use them, while 17% of farm women say their sinks are too low and would like them raised to ease back fatigue. In village and small town homes there are even more "too low" sinks.

Only 10% of farm women have electric refrigerators and in villages and small towns the total is only 19%. Yet electric power is available in 94% of the villages and in 51% of the farms in the survey. National average of rural electrification is only 20.2% when all farms, including the bigger ones and those remotely located, are counted. Almost one farm in four, and two-fifths of village homes, have ice boxes. On farms the open storage field is led by boxshelves in basements, on windowledges or in porches or sheds. Forty-eight per cent of farm women depend on these homemade devices for food storage. So do 20% of villagers and 10% of people in cities and larger towns. These are summer figures.

One-tenth of farm women want running water more than any other kitchen improvement. A pump would meet this problem for many of them. One in 50 wants her kitchen modernized and another one in 50 asks that the stove, sink and other working units be rearranged to cut down work.

A change-of-pace from a city home finished in severe white or light ivory should be provided by a summer cottage that has quite a few splashes of outdoor, vivid, deeper coloring. In the matting on the floor, in the curtains, in the hand-painted furniture. The city home finished in pale and medium greens might have its summer counterpart in a cottage that features—in moderation of course—jonquil yellow and robin's egg blue.

The family whose winter home has blue-tinted walls, some pink, pink, orchid for the basic coloring of their coloring of their cottage; and in reverse the family with pinkish winter walls would get eye-reeled from bluish walls during the summer.

Every color combination of the city home has a natural combination of opposite colors. It's just a matter of fitting the basic principle into your own particular color scheme.

No Hogs for Export. Behind Canada's new meat rationing plan is the alarming decline in hog production. The Financial Post reports. Experts closely in touch with the situation go so far as to say that unless the present alarming downturn is arrested, this country may have for export in 1946 no hog surplus whatever. Inspected slaughtering of hogs in the first half of 1945 totalled 3,338,000 as compared to 5,122,000 in the first half of 1944 and present estimates are that only 2,700,000 will be available during the balance of this year, leaving the annual total far short of the 1944 mark.

record volume of choice potatoes being shipped from the Harrow Pool this year and in spite of the fact that 53,675 bags had been shipped Saturday, July 21st. This was more than half the total volume of spuds went through the pool last season. A week of July 16th was a big and more than 27,000 bags went through the pool, an average of nearly 4,000 bags a day. This average is maintained in spite of the fact that the crop has been a blight appeared on some of the crop. Infected potatoes are graded out of the pool daily over the Pere Marquette variety, as well as those being taken by trucks.

Wide Distribution. The distribution of Lakeland Brand spuds is covering a wide area in Ontario from Winnipeg to Halifax. Heavy shipments are being made west to take care of a shortage in the eastern demand is keeping the Essex County market is taking share.

Present indications, it looks like the 1945 crop of potatoes in the Essex Belt will be one of the largest ever harvested in this district and will sell over the 103,000 bags shipped last year. TAKE NOTICE.

The following was clipped out of a recent edition of Windsor Daily Star. It ought to be watched with great in-terest by the ratepayers of the above municipalities. If the S. W. & A. debt is reduced, how about our W. E. & L. R. Debt?

The Town of Essex share of this debt was slightly over $100,000, or roughly 25% of the total debenture debt. This $100,000 would go a long way toward financing the town's share of the proposed post-war Lake Water Scheme for Essex.

To Ask Cut in S. W. & A. Debt

Support of Essex County members of the Ontario Legislature for Wind-sor's application for a reduction in the $6,000,000 debt of the Sandwich, Wind-sor and Amherstburg Railway Com-pany is sought in letters sent to the members of the Legislature by Mayor Arthur J. Beaune.

City Debentures Held.
City of Windsor debentures are held by the Province of Ontario in the amount of the indebtedness of the transportation company and it is the hope of the mayor that some relief from the present debt load may be obtained.

A meeting of representatives of in-terested municipalities will be held in Windsor at an early date, the mayor stated, and because of the action ex-pected to arise from the meeting, the mayor believed that the members of the Legislature should be advised of the situation.

The Mayor's letter to W. Murdoch, M.P.P., Essex South; Lt. Col. W. Gries-inger, M.C., V.D., M.P.P., Windsor; Sandwich; Rev. M. C. Davies, M.P.P., Windsor-Walkerville, and Alex Parent, M.P.P., Essex North, includes a copy of a brief prepared on the history of the railway company and its indebted-ness.

Text of the mayor's letter follows:
"I am enclosing herewith an outline of the history of the Sandwich, Wind-sor and Amherstburg Railway for your careful consideration.

"In the very near future I am hope-ful of holding a meeting in my office in the City Hall with the various in-terested municipalities and I thought it would be well to place in your hands somewhat in advance the complete in-formation as to the history and accu-red debt piled up over a long period of time by the various municipalities of the County of Essex through which the Sandwich, Windsor and Amherstburg operated."

"Quite frankly, we have in mind again urging upon the provincial gov-ernment the importance of doing some-thing in the way of relieving the muni-cipalities involved from this most un-fair and unjust obligation.

"If there is any section of the brief which you do not understand I shall be happy to explain it to you, upon your request."

Churchill Declines Knighthood

Winston Churchill made history this week by declining to accept the Order of the Garter, probably the oldest and certainly the most illustrious of all orders of chivalry. In its 600 years of history it has only been offered to four other commoners and they accepted. No reason was given, and it is simply presumed that for the time being at least Mr. Churchill wants no titles or honours.

The announcement came from Bur-kingham Palace. "After Mr. Churchill had tendered his resignation to the King last Thursday," it read, "His Ma-jesty asked him to accept the Order of the Garter in recognition of his great services throughout the war."

Mr. Churchill, however, begged His Majesty that in the present circum-stances he might be allowed to de-cline the offer.

The last commoner to be made Knight of the Garter was Stanley Baldwin, honored by King George V. in May, 1937, and in the next month was elevated to the peerage. Four other commoners received the Garter: Sir Robert Walpole, 18th Century Prime Minister; Sir Edward, later Viscount Grey, Arthur, later Earl Balfour, and Austen Chamberlain.

The Order is known to every school-boy and girl from the probably incor-rect legend of the Countess of Salis-bury dropping her garter which King Edward III picked up, uttering the chivalrous rebuke to his amused court-iers: "Honi soit qui mal y pense."

There are only 34 members now, three of them women, including Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands.

It is possible that Mr. Churchill may have thought its connections would be politically embarrassing at the moment, for a number of the mon-archs of Europe, including Leopold of the Belgians, and George of the Hellenes, have the Garter. Others feel that he wanted to remain "plain Mr. Churchill," in order more vicor-ously to lead the Opposition in the House of Commons, although he could still have accepted the Order and remained in the House. At any rate, his refusal has encouraged those who hoped he would lead the fight against the Laborites.

Incidentally, he and Mrs. Churchill, in order to find a place in which to live in crowded London, had to take over the apartment of their daughter and son-in-law, the Duncan Sandys, who in turn are being given shelter by friends.

To Promote International Understanding.

When Ada Siegel, 28-year-old editor of This Month Magazine, was inter-viewed the other day by famed singer Morton Downey, for his coast-to-coast radio show, he said to her:

"You have truly done a great job. It is a most unusual kind of a success story, that of This Month magazine and yourself."

Many honours have been heaped on the shoulders of this young woman who created an idea for a new type of periodical, organized a group to sup-port her plan on a non-profit basis, ar-ranged for mechanical details and as-sumed full editorial responsibilities.

With the sixth issue of This Month now on the news stands, the magazine has made remarkable progress in its comparatively brief existence. It has been widely used in educational insti-tutions as a basis for classroom discus-sion, has been quoted all over the Uni-ted States and Canada by lecturers and commentators as a source of news and information, and has come forth with a number of exclusive yarns which have made their mark in publishing circles.

Ada Siegel, creator of the idea be-hind the Associations for the Promot-ion of International Understanding, publishers of This Month magazine, was born in Moscow, lived in Berlin and other capital cities of Europe. Lat-er in London, after marrying David Siegel, a school teacher of Toronto, then in England, she returned with him to live in Canada. After her husband joined the R.C.A.F., Mrs. Siegel came to the United States and went to work for the Office of War Information.

It was while employed there that she became aware of the need of greater understanding between peoples of the various nations of the world if peace was to be maintained, after the finish of World War II.

The result of talks with many promi-nent persons in Canada and the Uni-ted States was the establishment of the Association of which Dr. Hugh T. Kenney, Canadian Ambassador to Mexico, is chairman for the Board of Directors.

A few days ago in New York, the Ambassador was honoured at a lun-cheon which was attended by notables in many walks of life, including Mayor LaGuardia, of New York City; Sir Nor-man Angell, British economist and writer, and Dr. Frank Kingdon, famous news analyst and former president of the University of Newark, N.J.

At that meeting Mrs. Siegel initiated a series of talks about the subject of the postwar world, what kind we want, what must it do in order to fit all the pieces into the whole, etc. The re-sponse to the discussion was so heart-ening and enthusiastic that now Mrs. Siegel is embarked on a tour of prin-cipal cities in the United States and Canada during which she will speak on that and other related subjects, with the basic aim in mind of stimulating the kind of thought and talk which will promote national and international goodwill.

Add Up All the Advantages of SHUR-GAIN HOG CONCENTRATE and the total is BIGGER PROFITS

Hog producers are aware that there is more to hog production than grain feeding alone. Wise farmers have come to recognize the fact that it takes 1,100 lbs. of straight grain to finish a hog in 7½ to 8 months of feeding. But when only 50 lbs. of SHUR-GAIN 41% Hog Concentrate is added to their ration, only 650 lbs. of grain are needed, and hogs finish better, with higher grades in only 5½ to 6 months.

You save weeks of feeding, you save 450 lbs. of grain, and you save many hours of work per hog, by feeding them the Balanced SHUR-GAIN Way. And you'll like the way your hogs grade out. More select grades at marketing mean More Profits for you. For bigger and better profits this year, resolve now to feed the profitable, economical, SHUR-GAIN Way.

A letter from Curtis Tofflemire, re school tax, is being assessed wrongly, being in No. 17 instead of No. 16.
H. C. Neice-Paquette, that Mr. Tofflemire's case be referred to No. 17. This was done for settlement of his school tax.—Car.
Clerk of Sandwich South asked for a resolution, having the Township of Colchester North approve of the lands and buildings assessed in their P. 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773, 774, 775, 776, 777, 778, 779, 780, 781, 782, 783, 784, 785, 786, 787, 788, 789, 790, 791, 792, 793, 794, 795, 796, 797, 798, 799, 800, 801, 802, 803, 804, 805, 806, 807, 808, 809, 810, 811, 812, 813, 814, 815, 816, 817, 818, 819, 820, 821, 822, 823, 824, 825, 826, 827, 828, 829, 830, 831, 832, 833, 834, 835, 836, 837, 838, 839, 840, 841, 842, 843, 844, 845, 846, 847, 848, 849, 850, 851, 852, 853, 854, 855, 856, 857, 858, 859, 860, 861, 862, 863, 864, 865, 866, 867, 868, 869, 870, 871, 872, 873, 874, 875, 876, 877, 878, 879, 880, 881, 882, 883, 884, 885, 886, 887, 888, 889, 890, 891, 892, 893, 894, 895, 896, 897, 898, 899, 900, 901, 902, 903, 904, 905, 906, 907, 908, 909, 910, 911, 912, 913, 914, 915, 916, 917, 918, 919, 920, 921, 922, 923, 924, 925, 926, 927, 928, 929, 930, 931, 932, 933, 934, 935, 936, 937, 938, 939, 940, 941, 942, 943, 944, 945, 946, 947, 948, 949, 950, 951, 952, 953, 954, 955, 956, 957, 958, 959, 960, 961, 962, 963, 964, 965, 966, 967, 968, 969, 970, 971, 972, 973, 974, 975, 976, 977, 978, 979, 980, 981, 982, 983, 984, 985, 986, 987, 988, 989, 990, 991, 992, 993, 994, 995, 996, 997, 998, 999, 1000.

The Fountain of Youth.

In ancient days a legend grew up common to the people of many lands, that here existed somewhere in the world — always, however, afar off — a fabulous spring, the waters of which were supposed to restore youth and vigor to him who drank of them. The fountain of youth, it was called, and many there were through the ages who sought to find it. Indeed, such a search figured in no small degree in early American history, for in the sixteenth century Ponce de Leon and certain other Spanish adventurers having learned that a similar legend existed among the Indians of the New World, organized an expedition and sailed forth to find the fabled fountain. And though, as their searchers discovered, it was in their search, nevertheless, through it they became discoverers of part of the great North American continent.

This legendary fountain of youth sought so eagerly by men of different times and places was wholly a figment of the imagination, a nostalgic wishful thinking for the renewal of youth and vitality, and was based on the age-old fear of limitation, decrepitude, and death. It was in all its aspects, a completely material concept of man and the universe.

The real fountain of youth is a miracle, no mystery. Moses and other spiritually minded men and women knew of it centuries ago, though they did not call it by this name. They knew it as knowledge of God, and deeply they drank of its waters. "For with thee is the fountain of life," the Psalmist sings (Psalms 36:9). And the prophet declares (Isaiah 40:30, 31): "Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fall; but they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint."

The fountain of youth, then, is spiritual understanding, and each one of us can find it. But how, you ask, And where? Let us drink deeply of this fountain of spiritual understanding which reveals man as the image and likeness of God, inseparable from Him, with dominion over all the false beliefs of fear, loss, and death. Let us refresh ourselves continually in the assurance of God's infinite power and presence of love. "Life is eternal," Mary Baker Eddy writes (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 246) "We should find this out, and behold the demonstration thereof. Life and goodness are immortal. Let us then share our views of existence in love, freshness, and continuity, rather than into age and blight."—Christian Science Monitor.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES.

By Dean Wilson.

Though well-informed observers backstage in Ottawa insist that the Federal Government would not employ "big stick" methods in the Dominion-Provincial Conference and that there would be a definite inclination to put forth a desperate effort to settle differences by mutual concessions, yet these same sources seem to persevere steadily and firmly in the belief that, unlike the disastrous last Dominion-Provincial Conference in 1941, there would be an attitude of "what must be done must be done somehow" so that the Federal Government may be enabled to carry out in time its ambitious post-war program of providing a proper level of employment, income, social security and rehabilitation of the members of the armed services.

It is a practical approach and it is essential because the taxpayers expect a sharp reduction in taxation this year and the public services cannot be possibly reduced or eliminated. In other words, while politicians may think in terms of "home rule" in provincial fields of finance and taxation, the others may think of "centralization" in the federal field, yet the fact that huge sums of money are needed to carry out the announced or proposed programs in the post-war era, with the problem of finding for solution within the present financial or economic framework as much as possible, is a realistic leadership is to be followed.

This is why well-informed observers backstage in Ottawa insist that what must be done must be done somehow appears to be the outstanding issue in the background of this Dominion-Provincial Conference in August. Furthermore, in taxation and financial matters, there may be no unanimity for the reasons already mentioned. The results of these discussions are far from predictable. However, the basic attitude in itself which explains why the conference in August or even later has been emphasized as never before, is the question of the province's autonomy and the central authorities' control over the provincial economy.

Leaders of the new British Labor Government are quite well-known in Ottawa where, in some quarters, there is a tendency to discount heavily the part of "stocks of revolutionary change" which may be forthcoming from the startling results of the general election in the Motherland. One committee may arrange for several committees to proceed into proper detailed examination of the various problems, with the whole Dominion-Provincial Conference reassembling at a much later date or as soon as possible under the conditions in order to consider the reports from these several committees and to reach decisions for action by the proper authorities either in Ottawa or in the various provincial capitals throughout this country.

In view of the widespread interest throughout Canada in the welfare of the men in the Canadian Army of occupation in Europe, it can be reported that a top ranking officer of the Canadian army expressed his personal opinion upon arriving in this capital that he favoured a policy of sending Canadian wives to Europe to be with their husbands who are in the occupation force because he was "much in favour of the re-establishment of every soldier's normal family life" which is the backbone of Canadian civilization. He also revealed that the men in the Canadian army of occupation were quite happy.

For a long time now there have been persistent rumours in circulation both inside and outside of Ottawa, that the Canadian dollar would be revalued from its position of 10 per cent discount exchange rate against the United States dollars and these rumours have been accompanied by sensational stories of what the results of such an action would be upon financial obligations or stocks since the pegged rate of 10 per cent has been in existence from the outbreak of World War II in 1939. But the Minister of Finance, Hon. J. L. Flaherty, has put an end to these fantastic stories in declaring flatly that there was no evidence in present circumstances to warrant a change in exchange rates so that the 10 per cent discount in United States funds would remain indefinitely in relation to Canadian dollars. At least, for the moment his declaration has downed the wild rumours which have been heard in Ottawa, London and Washington, with no one being able to trace the origin of these rumours.

Meat brings $10 a pound on the black market. Under Nazi occupation France lost two million head of cattle, and the consumption of meat has dropped from pre-war levels as follows: beef and mutton from 117,000 tons to 5,000 tons; pork from 45,000 tons to 10,000 tons; fish from 51,000 to 21,000 tons; poultry from 22,000 to less than 2,000.

of the main characters and most powerful men behind the scenes in London. Professor Harold Laski, whose name figured largely in the election news and who is chairman of the Labor party's national executive committee, is remembered in Canada by many as a quiet lecturer who taught at McGill University in Montreal and who has caused to be published a large number of books on political science which are well-known to a great many Canadians.

It is reported in this nation's capital that a soldier's rehabilitation and war service grants cannot be discontinued or stopped except in cases of dishonorable discharge. This is indicated at this time in view of an allegation in an interview when an officer is supposed to have asserted by error that soldiers were afraid to talk for fear of losing their gratuities. Indeed, it is reported that disciplinary action would be taken against any officer suggesting to members of the army that their rehabilitation grants would be jeopardized if they would not volunteer for the Pacific war or remain in the forces.

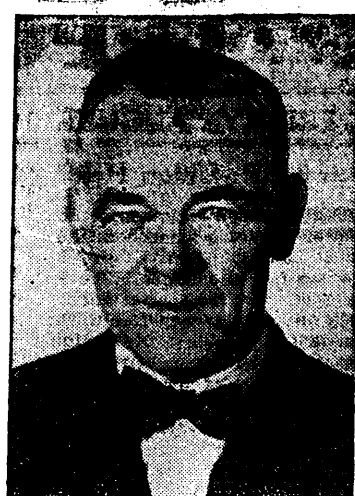

Meat Rationing.

Canada's proposed second meat rationing program has a different reason for existence than did the first program, according to information received at the Western Ontario regional office of the board. The first plan was undertaken "primarily to assure an equitable distribution of supplies."

The second plan is being initiated "primarily to reduce domestic consumption in order to feed the hungry of Europe."

That Europe is hungry is evidenced by statistics made available to Board representatives. Referring to France, it was stated that the meat shortage is now worse than at any time in the history. In 1939 the per capita consumption was 96 pounds per person, in 1944-45 it was 17 pounds. The ration at present is one-tenth of a pound per week, an amount equal to one thin slice of boiled ham.

Under Nazi occupation France lost two million head of cattle, and the consumption of meat has dropped from pre-war levels as follows: beef and mutton from 117,000 tons to 5,000 tons; pork from 45,000 tons to 10,000 tons; fish from 51,000 to 21,000 tons; poultry from 22,000 to less than 2,000.

SAVING IS SENSE.

Save Clothes.

With care as always, twice to be remembered with those sheer rayon blouses. Danger time is ironing time. Patience and gentle handling will make them last twice as long. Watch that the iron is barely hot enough to do them, and handle as though the blouse were made of spider's gossamer. For the point of the iron and a little pressure will make a hole in a second.

Save Paper.

By putting your children's energy to work come the next rainy day. Have them cut up old newspapers and similar scraps of paper into scratch-pad size and sew the pieces together at the top with brightly coloured wool.

Save Time.

By leaving many of your dishes to dry themselves. The notable exceptions are tin pans which should be carefully wiped to prevent rusting. And as you wish your dishes through the hot soapy to the rinse water, do it with the least number of actions. If you are right-handed the dishes should speed to the left, if left-handed it's vice versa.

The Auto wreckers scored three runs in the third inning to go four-up on the Colored Giants in their fixture at George Avenue Park, Sunday. Wreckers won 10 to 1.

The scoring opened when Parry tripped to right center and Malott followed with a double to left. Menard scored Malott with a single to centre and went to third himself when the right fielder's throw went through the infield. A perfect squeeze play brought in Menard with the ball rolling down the first base line.

The Colored Giants' lone run in the sixth came on Thomas' double to left. Hodgins' error on the throw in and Day's long fly to right.

Big Russ Nantals hit a long homer to the left field fence, a lousy poke in any man's ball park, but barely made it round the bases when a severe charley horse slowed him up and he had to limp all the way from second.

For Experience... Not Experiment see your Goodyear Dealer

We are getting closer to the day when new tires will be available for all. But unless you are rated as an essential driver, you are still premature on conservation of present rubber to keep your car in service. Most premature tire failure is the result of neglect... air pressures are not checked weekly; cuts, bruises and slow leaks are not repaired in time. The sure way to avoid trouble is to see your Goodyear dealer regularly.

Since tire restrictions started, thousands of Canadian motorists have learned to appreciate the full meaning of Goodyear dealer conservation service. You can rely on your Goodyear dealer. He is trained in factory-approved methods for inspecting, repairing and vulcanizing. He is guided by the experience gained by Goodyear in building millions more tires than any other tire manufacturer.

Your Goodyear dealer not only will keep your present tires in service... he also will advise you promptly when you become eligible for new tires. See him... regularly.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 10, 1945.

Poultry Price Level.

The highest price level at which hens may be sold has been extended this year from June 30th to July 31st, by the W.P.T.B. Under a previous order the price would have dropped 3½ cents per lb. on July 1st, but to help maintain the highest egg production, particularly as most of the flocks remain in good laying condition owing to the comparatively cool weather, the drop in the highest level will not take place until August 1st.

Meatless Days Help to Relieve Europe's Famine.

Malnutrition and starvation stalk the liberated countries — famine threatens Europe this coming winter. These tragic facts affect Canada. She is sending food, especially meat, to her stricken allies and Canadians are tightening their belts. The spirit of conservation is sweeping the country. Waste is the cardinal sin, and the earmark of the true citizen is thrift.

Tuesdays and Fridays have been set apart as the special days of conservation — meat conservation. Every cook is on the watch for new meatless main-dish recipes and from the Dominion Department of Agriculture come tested recipes for meat alternatives. They suggest serving a crisp salad with meat to make an excellent contrast of texture.

Macaroni Mould.

1½ cups milk
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 Eggs
2 cups cooked macaroni
2 cup of cheese, dried
1 tablespoon minced parsley or chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon minced onion
2 tablespoons melted fat
Salt and pepper
Heat milk, add bread crumbs and combine with well beaten eggs. Mix with other ingredients. Pour mixture into greased mould, set in a pan of hot water and oven-pouch in a moderate oven, 350°F, until set, about 50 minutes. Serve with freshly cooked vegetables or mixed green salad. Six servings.

Chinese Omelet.

4 tablespoons mild-flavoured fat
1 cup ½-inch bread cubes
6 eggs
6 tablespoons milk
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup finely grated carrots
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon mild-flavoured fat (extra)
Melt the four tablespoons fat in a frying pan. When hot add bread cubes and fry, stirring constantly until crisp and brown. Remove cubes from pan. Beat eggs slightly, add milk, salt, grated carrots, parsley and browned bread cubes. Melt the extra fat in the same frying pan and pour in the mixture. Cook very slowly, keeping the pan covered, until firm and browned on the under side. Service flat or fold on a hot platter. Six servings.

Cheese Roast.

2 cups cooked white beans
¼ cup finely diced celery
1 teaspoon minced parsley
2 cups grated cheese
1 egg
2 tablespoons mild-flavoured fat
2 cups soft stale bread crumbs
Salt and pepper.
Mash cooked, drained beans with fork and add beans, celery and parsley to cheese. Add slightly beaten egg and mix thoroughly. Melt fat, add crumbs and seasoning, mixing well and cooking until slightly browned. Add to cheese mixture until stiff enough to shape into a loaf. Roll loaf in remaining crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°F, until nicely browned, about 30 minutes. Serve hot with tomato sauce. If desired, a small onion, finely chopped, may be added to the roast. Six servings.

Auditor's Report, 1944 TOWNSHIP OF MAIDSTONE.

Woodslee, Ontario, March 5th, 1945.
To the Reeve and Deputy Reeve, Councilors, Ratepayers and Inhabitants of the Township of Maidstone: GENTLEMEN:

I have completed my audit of the books of the Clerk, Treasurer and Collector of the Municipality and have found them to be in good order and correct. The Treasurer produced vouchers signed by the Reeve and Treasurer for all payments made. The proper entries were made in the Cash Book for all receipts, and the bank pass books showed that the money was deposited regularly.

The receipts for the year 1944, which includes the cash balance of January 1st, were $209,250.71. The payments made amounted to $128,955.45. This leaves a cash balance on hand on December 31st of $80,295.25.

The surplus in the Capital Asset Account is $7,884.00; which is the estimated value of the Municipal Land and Buildings, the Road Equipment and the Office Furniture and Fittings. I have allowed ten per cent depreciation on the Road Equipment.

The Current Assets on December 31st were $142,396.17; and the Liabilities were $82,245.90. This leaves a surplus at the end of the year of $60,150.27. The unpaid principal of the Debenture Debt is $180,684.85.

The Revenue for the year was $131,095.74, and the Expenditures were $117,362.23; leaving a Revenue Surplus of $56,861.20.

I have also audited the books of the Secretary-Manager and the Treasurer of the Maidstone Municipal Telephone System and found them to be kept in very good order and correct. Vouchers signed by the Chairman of the Telephone Committee and the Treasurer were produced to account for all payments made; and receipt stubs for all monies received.

I have attached an Abstract Statement of the Receipts and Payments, also of the Assets and Liabilities of the System to this report.

Respectfully submitted,
J. H. DIEMER, Auditor.

CERTIFICATE.

I Certify: That during the examination of the books of the Municipality, the officials have given me all the information and explanations necessary for my audit.

That the transactions of the Municipality, which came under my notice were, in my opinion, within the rights of the Council; and all payments were made with cheques signed by the Reeve and Treasurer.

I sent our "Arrears of Taxes" notices to a large percentage of those shown in the books to be in arrears, and to date there has been no intimation of anything wrong in the records.

I have verified the Cash Book Balance with the Banks, and have found it to be correct.

That this Report and Balance sheet show a true and correct view of the state of the affairs of the Municipality as shown on the books as at December 31st, 1944.

The Township Hall is rated at less than its insurable value, and I allowed ten per cent for depreciation on the road equipment. The office furniture and fittings are rated at less than their real value.

The Township Officials are all bonded under one bond (No. 933, with the Canadian Indemnity Co.). The Treasurer is bonded for $10,000.00; the Deputy Treasurer for $5,000.00 and the Collector for $8,000.00. The Township carries an inside and outside holdup policy for $1,000.00 (No. 849943), with the Employers' Liability Corporation. This coverage is, in my opinion, quite sufficient.

The Township Hall is insured with the Kent & Essex Fire Insurance Co. (Policy No. 93150) which expires on November 1st, 1945; for $1,000.00. The Telephone Office and equipment is insured with the Wawanesa Mutual Co. (Policy No. 351170) for $2,800.00. The Telephone System is insured against Public Liability and Property Damage with the Metropolitan Casualty Insurance Co. (Policy No. LP49035). The road maintainer is insured for Public Liability and Property Damage and for Fire and Theft. The roads of the Municipality are insured against any accidents which might happen on them. I believe the insurances carried are sufficient to take care of any losses or accidents that might occur.

I believe that the affairs of the Municipality are carried on in a businesslike manner, and that all the transactions made were within the rights of the Council, and that this report is made in accordance with the regulations of the Department of Municipal Affairs.

Shamrocks Win and Lose.

Behind the stellar 6-hit pitching of Jerry Gouin, the Shamrocks, on Sunday, defeated the strong Woodbine Lunch team, by the score of 5 to 0, in the first game of a double-header, however the second game was altogether different, the visitors winning 16 to 2.

Gouin was never in trouble in the opener and his teammates gave him excellent support, especially Mathers in center, with five fine running catches of hard hit balls. Bill Russ was the batting star of the game, with three for three.

The second game started in a light drizzle, and was a walk-away for the Shamrocks, who scored ten runs in the first inning, added two more in the second and four in the third. The batting star of this game, in fact of both games, was Russ, with 5 for 5, and 7 hits out of 9 trips for the two games, one being the only three-bagger of the day.

Manager Graves made the mistake of starting an inexperienced catcher in the second game, for had Southerland held out Grant's third strike, the first man up in the first inning, the score could easily have been different, as Dunn seemed to have a lot of stuff left with Grant, which he suddenly lost with three men on and no one out.

Prairie Premiers' Views.

Canada's Prairie Premiers go to the Dominion-Provincial conference in Ottawa with one common aim but three distinct theories as to how it should be achieved. The Financial Post reports. Premiers Stuart Carson, of Manitoba; T. C. Douglas, of Saskatchewan, and Ernest C. Manning, of Alberta, in exclusive statements to The Post, disclose that the Prairie Provinces are complete in accord in the belief that financial relationship between Dominion and Provincial Governments must be revised to meet the national need. Present arrangements, all three maintain, leave provinces with inadequate financial resources to meet growing responsibilities and the present division of federal aid assists some provinces at the expense of others. Their specific views on this point boil down to something like this:

Premier Carson—"It is unnecessary that the 1937 Dominion-Provincial set-up should continue in its present unsatisfactory form. . . . It can be adapted to modern conditions without harming any Canadian citizen or any Canadian Government. With reasonable co-operation between the Dominion and the provinces this can be accomplished without constitutional amendment. Canada must either adjust the inadequate financial resources of the provinces upward or lighten the cost to the provinces by adjustment."

Premier Douglas—"I am neither a centralist nor a provincialist. I consider the question on the basis of equality. The appropriate governmental agencies with powers to satisfy human wants effectively. Canada is a nation and both fiscal and economic policy is necessarily determined in Ottawa. . . . No human being should be prejudiced by the accident that he lives in one part of Canada rather than another. Fiscal arrangements for the provinces must, therefore, be based on the needs of the provinces and their municipalities."

Premier Manning—"Inasmuch as the problems confronting provincial Government primarily are financial and as the Dominion Government has exclusive authority over the operation of the national monetary system, it is the Dominion's responsibility to ensure that the provinces have adequate revenues to discharge their constitutional responsibilities. . . . The difficulties confronting the Dominion and the Provincial Governments . . . present no problems which amicable Dominion-Provincial relations cannot solve once the bottleneck of finance has been removed."

GOOD GERMAN SPEAKS

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.

It is not possible to subscribe to the forthright doctrine that the good German is a dead German. Too much good has come out of Germany in the long progress of its history for us to believe that this strain of good has run out suddenly and completely. But in speaking of such good Germans as must remain, even while ready to concede that there must be many of them, it is impossible to use the term as we would use it for nationals of other countries. Most other countries have standards on which civilized nations agree. They may not have lived up to them always, but still they remain as the hopeful guide of international conduct.

Germany lives by a code of its own. There is in it no imagination, no lift of high thinking, only a hard, cold, arrogant concept of national destiny. This the German race has accepted under whatever perverted guidance and by whatever tortured road it may be led.

There are those who argue that many people of sincere opinion reside in Germany, their voices only subdued by the Nazi terror; people of as deep convictions as those Germans who left their country rather than live under doctrines that conscience couldn't accept.

Among the notable examples presented by those who so argue will always appear the name of Pastor Niemöller. Let him be the example. Niemöller has indeed a heroic devotion uncommon in any country. In defense of his creed he was ready to defy the Nazi doctrines and, if need be, die for his belief. Yet in him also, by his own understanding admission, there was the same blind spot that clouds the vision of Germany. He had an abounding faith in God. But God and his country were in two different camps and he had no thought of reconciling two different ideals.

Niemöller took Stephen Decatur's fiery patriotism one step further. When Decatur said, "May our country always be in the right, but our country, right or wrong," he admitted a possible irrepressible conflict between right and patriotism. Pastor Niemöller admitted no such conflict. Hating the Nazi doctrines, believing them anti-Christian, and prepared to defy them in the face of death, he was still ready to compound with his conscience in the name of country when the issue of war arose. His God stopped short at the portals of his country. Nothing here of conscience to which one may appeal against Germany's vast "will to power" that still dominates Germans good or bad. Not "our country, right or wrong," but "our country, always right."

Pastor Niemöller, good man and good German, could think straight on all interest but the one. "Shocked and battered" when he realized what went on in the horror camps, he could still say, "You are mistaken if you think any honest person in Germany will feel personally responsible for Dachau, Belsen, and Buchenwald." He added, "I think that the German people will be a little more cautious in future, but more than that I cannot promise."

So speaks the good German, and we are not deprecating the man. "Our world will be astonished," said Pastor Niemöller, "how many good people are left in Germany." The world will indeed be astonished. Good does not mean, to the world, docility and the need to feel authority. To the world, goodness is a virtue that stands on its own feet. Until the good German can so stand, he must be grouped with the bad Germans who will follow their evil genius to destruction. Liberty Magazine.

Essex Beats Point Pelee.

Essex defeated Point Pelee, on Sunday, by a score of 3 to 0.

Essex scored five runs in the first inning, to make it easy going all the way. Fleming pitched 2-1 hit ball, allowing one hit in the 6th and one in the ninth, and was given superb backing in the field. Red Ross was the star at bat, with 2 doubles and a single out of 4 times at bat, while Murray came out at 4 times at bat, while starting a double play, which was a feature of the day.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear husband, Donald A. Oxley, who was killed one year ago, near Caen, France. I know that your "missions" have been accomplished, dear.

I know that your race has been won. I know that you're reaping the rich reward.

That comes with a duty well done. I know you are safe in our Father's arms.

From peril and danger apart. But may you ever know the aching grief.

That forever's in my heart.

—Sadly missed by his wife Joan, and 2-year-old son Kenneth.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Frederick Earl Maedel, who passed away two years ago, August 12th, 1943.

The dearest one this world could hold. The cheeriest smile and a heart of gold.

Those who knew Earl all will know. How much we lost two years ago.

Sweet is the spot where he is laid. Many a visit in silence is paid.

To lay a flower in remembrance of thee.

You are not forgotten Earl, and never will be.

—Sadly missed by wife and family.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear husband, Pte. Clayton Moon, who was killed one year ago, August 5th, 1944, in Caen, France.

His smiling way and pleasant face. Are a pleasure to recall.

He had a kindly word for each. And died beloved by all.

Some day I hope to meet him. Some day I know not when.

To clasp his hand in the better land. Never to part again.

—Sadly missed by his wife Mildred.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Ernest Standish, who passed away one year ago, August 10th, 1944.

If we had you back for another day. For another glimpse or two.

If we had you back, here's what we'd say.

"Dear dad, how we miss you."

So many heartaches you have missed. In this past year, 'tis true.

But the greatest heartache of them all. Was our loss in losing you.

—Sadly missed by his son, Will.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Mary Hunter, who passed away nine years ago, August 10th, 1936.

Memories are treasures no one can steal.

Death is a heartache no one can heal. Some may forget you, now you are gone.

But we will remember, no matter how long.

—Sadly missed by husband and sons.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mary Hunter, who passed away August 10th, 1936.

—Ever remembered by daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Jones and family.

struggling down the aisle of a darkened theatre to find one's seat is an unhappy yet common experience. It takes a few minutes for the human eye to become adjusted to the darkness. This is because of the lack of vitamin A in the body. The darkness in this case strengthens this vitamin A and the body's ability to become adjusted to the darkness. The humble carrot is such a food.

WHAT'S THE POINT OF AN ANTI-INFLATION CAMPAIGN?

SO YOUR MONEY WON'T LOSE ITS VALUE...AND BECOME WORTH ABOUT A THIRD OF WHAT IT IS

WOULD THAT REALLY HAPPEN?

IT COULD...WITHOUT THE PRICE CEILING. AND YOU AND I WOULDN'T BE THE ONLY ONES TO SUFFER

NO, OF COURSE NOT! IT WOULD AFFECT EVERYONE

INCLUDING THE MEN COMING BACK FROM OVERSEAS

OH, WE DON'T WANT THAT!

NO, INDEED! AND THAT'S REASON ENOUGH TO FIGHT INFLATION

OUR BOYS' STUCK TO THEIR JOB. WE CERTAINLY CAN'T LET THEM DOWN AT THIS END!

FOR THEIR SALES!
Our men are coming home . . . back to assume once more the problems and responsibilities of civilian life. After all they have done for us, is it too much to ask that we help to smooth their way a little? And one of the best ways to do that is to keep stable the value of their dollars by a continued fight against inflation.

Add Up All the Advantages of SHUR-GAIN HOG CONCENTRATE and the total is

BIGGER PROFITS

Hog producers are aware that there is more to hog production than grain feeding alone. Wise farmers have come to recognize the fact that it takes 1,100 lbs. of straight grain to finish a hog in 7½ to 8 months of feeding. But when only 50 lbs. of SHUR-GAIN 41% Hog Concentrate is added to their ration, only 650 lbs. of grain are needed, and hogs finish better, with higher grades in only 5½ to 6 months.

You save weeks of feeding, you save 450 lbs. of grain, and you save many hours of work per hog, by feeding them the Balanced SHUR-GAIN Way. And you'll like the way your hogs grade out. More select grades at marketing mean More Profits for you. For bigger and better profits this year, resolve now to feed the profitable, economical, SHUR-GAIN Way.

Fruit Breeding.

In reporting on the important work in fruit breeding carried out by the Division of Horticulture, Dominion Experimental Farms Service, M. B. Davis, the Dominion Horticulturist, states that fruit from strawberry crosses made in the greenhouse during the winter was harvested and the seed planted immediately. The fruit is crushed with a little fine sand to cut it up and the mixture of seed pulp, and sand is poured over the soil in a pot or flat. Germination occurs in two or three weeks, resulting in a saving of a whole year over the method whereby the seed is separated from the pulp and dried.

Silage Information.

This is the time when farmers must decide what crops to ensile and what methods to use in ensiling these crops. Many questions are asked on this subject and experiments have been conducted at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa over a period of years in order to secure reliable information on the best methods of ensiling various crops. A special bulletin on "Silage Production" has been issued on this subject covering the results of these experiments. While few difficulties are experienced in ensiling corn, more care must be taken with other crops, especially legumes. As the spring of 1945 has been unfavourable for seeding, it is possible that more late seeded crops such as legumes and grasses may be ensiled this year. Corn and sunflowers also may be seeded late with good results, but these crops offer no special difficulties in ensiling. A copy of "Silage Production" may be obtained by writing to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Chief Scout Message. Lord Rowan, Chief Scout of the British Empire, replying to a message of congratulations on his appointment from the Boy Scouts of Ontario said: "I am convinced that Scoutism is one of the few real hopes for a better understanding among the peoples of the world for it is the common basis on which people of all countries and all creeds can meet."

Another Scout Saves a Life. Fifteen year old Bud Perry, Nanawau, Ontario, Boy Scout is credited with saving the life of 11-year-old Billie Harvey when he got into difficulties while swimming in the Nanawau River. Perry dived to the rescue and brought the unconscious boy from the bottom of the river. Bringing him ashore he applied artificial respiration which he had learned in the Scouts. Dr. D. R. Hall, who took over the respiration on his arrival stated that but for Perry's prompt action the Harvey boy would have lost his life.

Training Centre Re-Opened. Gilwell Park, national Scout leader training centre in Great Britain, has been re-opened by Lord Rowan, the Chief Scout of the Empire. The beautiful Epping Forest site has been used as an anti-aircraft base during the war. Gilwell Park, after which Lord Baden-Powell, the Founder of Scoutism, took his title, has witnessed the training of 20,000 Scout leaders from 57 countries. Twelve hundred Scouts camping on the property gave the Chief Scout a boisterous welcome as he arrived for the re-opening ceremonies.

Home Again.

"If we know our boys," said a great many people in this country, "the first thing they'll want when they get discharged is a long holiday . . . about three months. They'll act just like kids getting out of school. They'll want to lounge around, doing nothing but eat, sleep and loaf, with no crochety sergeants or brass hats to salute."

As a matter of fact, this generally holds good — but not for any three months, according to figures in possession of the Rehabilitation Information committee. For the first couple of weeks after he gets that all important slip of paper which informs all and sundry that the undersigned is no longer a member of the active forces of his country, the repatriated veteran enjoys life to the full, with little thought for the future. He sees his wife, children, mother or sweet-heart that he's only known in his dreams for so long. He drops into the drug store for the old familiar chocolate malted, hangs around the ball park playing catch. He gets out the old casting rod and goes fishing. In short, he does everything he has wanted to do for a long time.

But then he realizes that all these things used to be fun because there was a gang of his old friends to work and play with. Now all his old pals are working long hours, or waiting on the other side for their turn to be repatriated.

Loading doesn't seem as enjoyable as he thought it would be. Something seems to be lacking. Soon, it all begins to pall. And so he decides that he has to take the plunge back to a civilian job.

Statistics compiled by veterans welfare officers from coast to coast show that about 40 per cent of the veterans soon decide to go back to the job that is waiting for them whether in their own business, the place they left to join up, or on their own farm. The next 20 to 25 per cent says "okay, I'm back. How about a new job?" Another 20 to 25 per cent expresses the desire to take some vocational or university training before settling down.

Veterans are being discharged from the services at the rate of 30,000 a month, but the measures drawn up by the government to help them re-establish themselves are operating with all possible smoothness. There were a few complaints, however. Some of the men grumble at regulations governing the securing of land, they complain because gratuity checks sometimes do not come in when they are supposed to. Often they do not think they have been given the right jobs or they feel that the occasional official has given them a bad steer.

For such a big programme, however, the number of real complaints is surprisingly few. The Department of Veterans' Affairs and National Employment Services offices all across Canada are getting ready to handle an ever-increasing influx of men returning home. Day by day they are helping the veteran to overcome the problems of a city street that he meets on his return.

Canadian servicemen permanently incapacitated through enemy action in the field will be confirmed in acting ranks held when wounded, Defence Headquarters announced July 19th. Under previous regulations, acting rank was relinquished after 90 days in hospital.

Essex Boy Missing.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lippert, on Monday, received official word from the U. S. Navy, that their son, Robert George Lippert, was missing from enemy action, on July 30th. He was a member of the crew of the U.S.S. Indianapolis, which the Navy Department announced on Tuesday, "V-J" Day had been lost in the Philippines.

Bob, who was home on shore leave in May, enlisted in the U. S. Navy 2½ years ago and had taken part in enough battles that he didn't have to go back to sea.

He has three brothers, Leonard,
Jimmy and Bill at home, and three sisters, Jean and Valdean at home, and Mrs. Lawrence Lambier, of town.

Eastman-Clifford Nuptials.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the United parsonage, Cottam, on Monday, August 13th, when Irene Mary Clifford, of Detroit, was united in marriage to Albert Anson Eastman, of Windsor. They were unattended.
Rev. S. R. Johnston performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Eastman will reside in Windsor.

Tribute Paid to War Dead.

Wing Commander Rev. M. C. Davies,
M.P.P. of St. George's Church, Windsor, addressed a large crowd assembled at a memorial service in Ridgeview Park, Cottam, on Sunday afternoon last.

The service was held to honour 16 of the young men of Cottam and Gosfield North who have paid the supreme sacrifice in World War II. They were William Billing, Wallace R. Duncun, George Daniel, Robert Hahogewacks,
Ronald R. Law, Archie Mills, Clayton
Moon, Murray F. Newman, Donald Oxley, Donald Pastorius, Wm. Pritchard, Donald F. Sweetman, Bruce H.
Taylor, William Lorne Trimble, Oliver Wilcox and Albert Welsh.

A parade consisting of the Essex Legion, a detachment of the Essex Scottish Regiment and Cottam Civil Guard was led by the Associated Boys' Band of South Essex, under Bandmaster E. L. Robinson, of Harrow.

The service was conducted by Rev.
S. R. Johnston, of Cottam United Church, assisted by Rev. Nelson H.
Seaton, of the South Woodlee United Church.

Wing Comm. Davies took for his subject, "I stir you up by way of remembrance," and in his opening remarks paid great tribute to the nobility of the sacrifice made by the participants and friends throughout the land who gave up their loved ones in the service of their country. He challenged his audience to honour the memory of those departed by living out their ideals for them. "What right have you to be alive?" he asked.

William Griffin Passes.

Word was received on Sunday of the death of William Griffin, aged 68 years, at Fergus, Ont. Mr. Griffin was a broken neck, suffered when he fell on a load of hay.

Deceased will be well remembered by many of the old timers around Gesto as he lived there until growing to early manhood, when he settled on a farm on Manitoulin Island, and while there married Miss Annie Hopkins.
He sold his farm on the island some years ago and purchased land on the Bellwood road, near Fergus and had resided there since.

Surviving, besides his widow, are five daughters and three sons, two of the latter being in the Canadian Army.
One was present in Holland and the other in London; also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Wm. Calhoun, of Charing Cross, a half sister, Mrs. Minnie Miller, of Gesto, and three half-brothers,
George and Clarence Colebutt, of Gesto, and Walter Colebutt, of Leamington. Two sisters, Alma and Ida, predeceased him.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday from the family home, in charge of Rev. Mr. Johnson, with burial in the Fergus cemetery. The pallbearers were two of his sons, a son-in-law and three half-brothers.

Mrs. Thomas Carder Dies.

Calder, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Calder, and was married man's Association.

er, of Wheatley, and Helen Carder, of guson, of Leamington; Mrs. Jack Calder, of Comber; Mrs. James McFadden,

Simon-Herniman Nuptials.

cently, at St. Anthony's R. C. Church, Harrow, of Miss Helen Herniman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Herniman, of Harrow, and Mose Simon, also of Harrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Backus Simon, of Essex.

Simon will reside in Harrow.

Double Ring Ceremony.

At an impressive double ring ceremony, in a beautiful setting of gladioli and palms, at 2 o'clock, in the Gesto United Church, the Rev. Stephen Dunk, assisted by the Rev. R. Charles Brown, of All Saints' Church, Windsor, united in marriage Miss Eleanor Jemima Neice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Harold Neice, of Essex, and Gerald Albert Smith, son of Mrs. Harry Smith, of Victoria avenue, Windsor, and the late Mr. Smith.

Traversing the aisle between the guest pews, marked with double tullebows and white gladioli, on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a floor-length gown, the lace bodice featuring a V neckline, with circular pattern at the waist and bracelet sleeves and double net skirt with a slight train over white satin. Her long veil of embroidered net, with a train, was held with a Mary Queen of Scot Coronet and orange blossoms which her mother wore on her veil, and she carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses. She wore a strand of pearls.

Miss Catherine Neice, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, wore a floor-length gown of petal pink net over taffeta, with dainty blue bows at the shirred neckline, and sleeves and blue bows were scattered over the skirt.
Her headpiece was a halo of matching net with tiered pink and white smil-chold with blue bows. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses centered with blue flowers.

Little Miss Anne Kennedy, as flower girl, was adorable in a floor-length frook of forget-me-not blue lace over taffeta. She wore a pink bouque of matching net with tiered pink and white smilchold with blue bows. She carried a white basket of flower petals which she scattered on the white carpet before the bride as the wedding party entered the church.

Lorne Smith assisted his brother as best man, and the ushers were Emerson Neice, brother of the bride, and Stephen Kennedy.

Hugh Soper, cousin of the bride, played the wedding music, and Miss Margaret Dunk sang "Because," and during the signing of the register
"Through the years."

A reception for 150 guests followed at the home of the bride's parents.
The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with white baby mums in a bed of white baby breath and white gladioli buds, flanked with tall white burning tapers in silver candle holders. Summer flowers and gladioli were used in profusion throughout the house.

Mrs. Russell Burrows and Mrs. Bernard Neice, cousins of the bride, poured tea and Miss Jean Bailey served the bridal party. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Robert Greenway, Mrs. Geo.
Gasper, Miss Doris Ellis, Mrs. Manley
Barnett, Mrs. Raymond Griffin, Miss Elsie Langdown, Miss Irene Stockwell,
Mrs. Thomas Barrett, Miss Isabel
Clark.

Mrs. Neice wore for her daughter's wedding a black crepe gown with a black lace bodice over pink crepe, with caplet sleeves and pink elbow length gloves. She wore black acces-ories and a corsage of pink delight roses. Mrs. Smith, the groom's mother, wore patterned mauve sheer with white accessories and a corsage of Princess Elizabeth yellow roses. Mrs.
Jemima Farough, grandmother of the bride wore a corsage of asters and sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for Muskoka and Parry Sound. For travelling the bride chose a Belgium green English gaberdine suit with a brown hat and alligator accessories, and a corsage of pink roses.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 17, 1945.

Hello, Homemakers! Come August and Nature's lap is brimming over with luscious fruits of the earth. As the berry season wanes, plums are fully ripened and ready to bring their tart refreshing flavour to day-day meals. Though you may sigh when you think of the hole these fruits will make in your sugar ration, remember sugar is not a preservative and use it sparingly in canning.

Many varieties are sweet enough to sink your teeth in as they come fresh-picked from your own trees or from the market. They are always a delight in the lunch box or picnic box as well as a boon to the cook.

RECIPES.

Blueberry Crumb Cake.

1/4 cup mild-flavoured fat, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 cup pastry flour or 7/8 cup all-purpose flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, dash of salt, 1 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups blueberries.

Crumb Topping.

1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon mild-flavoured fat.

First, prepare topping. Sift flour, sugar and cinnamon and rub in fat.

Cream fat, add sugar and cream together until light, add beaten egg. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add dry ingredients to egg mixture alternately with milk. Add vanilla and pour into a greased 8-inch square cake pan. Spread washed blueberries on top. Sprinkle with crumb topping and bake in an electric oven, 350 degrees, for 45 minutes. Serve hot either plain or with top milk or cream. Six servings.

Blueberry Rhubarb Sauce.

1 1/2 cups rhubarb, cut in 1-inch pieces, 1 1/2 cups blueberries, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 cup sugar.

Pour boiling water over rhubarb. Let stand 5 minutes and drain. Mix rhubarb and blueberries, add water, bring to boiling point and simmer gently until rhubarb is tender, about 8 minutes. Remove from heat and add sugar. Chill and serve with cookies or use as a sauce with blanc mange. May also be served hot with plain cottage pudding.

Baked Pears.

Peel, cut lengthwise and core 6 ripe pears. Place in pan with 1/2 cup water. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 2-3 cup brown sugar and dot with butter. (Or drizzle with honey and add grated rind of 1 orange and juice of 1 orange and 1 lemon). Bake in electric oven, 350 degrees, until nicely glazed. Bake often.

HOW TO CAN PEARS—Peel, leave whole or cut into halves and core. Cook gently in a boiling light syrup four to eight minutes, according to size and firmness. Pack hot and cover with boiling syrup. Adjust lids and process twenty minutes in boiling-water bath.

Open-kettle method: Boil in syrup till tender. Fill sterilized jars. Seal.

Pickled Peaches.

Remove skins from 18 peaches and stick 2 or 3 cloves into each one.

Boil 2 cups vinegar, 3 cups sugar, 4 sticks cinnamon and 2 teaspoons whole cloves for 10 minutes. Drop the peaches in a few at a time and cook until just tender. If overcooked, they will fall apart. Transfer peaches to hot, sterilized jars. Fill with boiling hot syrup and seal. If more syrup is needed, make a light sugar syrup of 1 part sugar to 3 parts water. Makes 3 qts.

HOW TO CAN PEACHES—Scald, peel; halve, slice or leave whole. Pack raw in sterilized jars and cover with boiling-hot syrup or boiling water. Adjust lids; process in boiling water bath 25 minutes if soft—35 minutes if firm. Or cover peaches with boiling syrup and pre-cook 3 to 5 minutes. Pack hot. Adjust lids and process 15 minutes.

Open Kettle: Boil in syrup till tender (until a whisk splint pierces through easily). Fill sterilized jars. Seal.

Compote of Red Plums.

Cook 3/4 cup sugar and 1/2 cup water to thin syrup. You can substitute corn syrup or honey for 1/2 quantity of sugar. Wash and prick 2 lbs. of red plums (about 6 cups)—this so they won't burst their skins. Cook gently until tender. Don't cook until soft. Serve hot or cold.

HOW TO CAN PLUMS: Plums are canned whole—better if slightly under-ripe. Prick to prevent skins from bursting. Pack raw in sterilized jars. Cover with boiling syrup, adjust lids and process 20 minutes in boiling water bath.

THE QUESTION BOX.

Mrs. J. R. requests a timetable for cooking fruit in a pressure cooker.

Answer—Detailed information has been mailed to you, Mrs. R. May we repeat for the sake of other readers that we do not recommend the use of pressure canning of fruits since they are too readily overcooked. For large, firm fruits which have been pre-cooked, the pressure should be 5 pounds for 5 minutes, or 10 minutes for cold pack products.

Reed Canary Grass as Cultivated Crop.

While reed canary grass is a newcomer among cultivated hay and pasture crops, it is a native species found growing wild in Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Rapid gains in popularity, as a cultivated crop, in recent years has been due largely to the selection and multiplication of desirable forage type plants from native materials, says Dr. T. M. Stevenson, Dominion Agronomist, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

This grass possesses many characteristics of value. In hardness and yield it equals the best of the cultivated grasses. The quality of the forage, both as hay and as pasture, is good. In feeding value it ranks with timothy. It surpasses all other cultivated grasses in Canada in its ability to grow in flooded land. It thrives where the water lies for several weeks during the growing season. On the other hand this grass has shown considerable drought resistance when grown on higher, well drained soils.

Reed canary grass is worthy of trial in hay and pasture mixtures throughout Eastern Canada, and particularly on low-lying poorly-drained land.

Local 195 Defeats Tecumseh.

At Tecumseh the Indians bowed to Local 195, 12 to 6 in a very wild game. The loss dropped the Frenchmen into a tie with the Unionists and Woodbine.

Lunch for the league's third slot. Gene Goyeau started on the hill for the Tecu but he didn't last very long, being shelled from the mound in the second frame with none out. The ultimate winners started off with three runs in the first frame. These were scored on three hits including Carriere's long triple to deep left centre field. In the second frame, Gordie English opened with a single to right centre field. Cipparroni bunted a single down the third baseline and Dube walked to fill the bases. Bill cleaned house with a triple to center. This blow sent Goyeau to the showers and Steve Masse took over to retire the side without further scoring.

Cipparroni of Local 195 led the hitters with three singles for four while Tecumseh's Craig went two for three. Afield it was a pair of the winners who started. Jim Carriere had five putouts and four assists to his credit while Bill Boyce had one putout and nine assists to his credit. These boys were connected with two double-plays.

Wreckers Beat Woodbine.

Sunday's Essex County League games produced two upsets and another near upset as the teams fought to gain playoffs berths.

The best contest of the three-game program was played at Wile Park where the fast-rising Woodbine Lunch nine upset the league-leading American Auto Wreckers 10. This contest was a dream with countless baseball being played for the first eight innings before the Lunchmen got their big marker. The run came very unexpectedly for the fans who were just about to conclude that the game would go into extra innings. Here's what happened:

After Pete Fox, who was batting for Harry Marchant had struck out, and George Grant had popped to second baseman Carl Eyon, Alex Clark singled to center. With the count two and one on O'Connor, Clark stole second base. Then O'Connor smashed a double down the third baseline to score Clark with the first and only run of the contest. Hereafter, the game was a toss-up with both teams having very few scoring opportunities.

The Lunchmen threatened twice in the first and second frames but they couldn't score while the Automen had chances to tally in the seventh and ninth innings. This ninth inning change was just inches short of a run when Russ Nantais' long fly to left hit the top of the fence and bounced back onto the field for a long single.

At the plate it was Coe Symonds, Alex Clark and O'Connor who started, each with two for four. Russ Eyon starred afield for the winners, handling nine chances at shortstop without a boot. Tommy White pitched a beautiful game for the Lunchmen as he outdueled with Jimmy Dumeah for pitching honours. Neither pitcher walked a man and White struck out three to Dumeah's six.

Champion of Champions

Foaled in 1917 "Big Red" is now 28 years old, and lives at his ease in Kentucky. No other horse had his popularity; he was Champion of Champions and the sire of Champions. Winchester Cigarettes in their way are champions too. Virginia, Burley and Turkish tobaccos, "blended right", give them that winning combination of taste and aroma which makes them so popular.

May Appeal for Special Consideration.

Owners of self-contained dwellings including discharged soldiers who are owners and who gave their tenants proper notices to vacate before July 25th when evictions of well-behaved tenants were halted by regulations, may appeal for special consideration, but they must take action before August 31st.

According to an announcement made at the regional office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board the order which suspended notices to vacate provides that owners who have given notice to vacate so that they may use the dwellings as a residence for themselves or a member of their families and feel that the suspension thereof imposes an undue hardship may apply to the court of rental appeals. The deadline for the appeal is August 31st. In making his appeal the owner must file a written statement in duplicate with the Rentals Appraiser. This statement must set forth the reasons for his action. The rentals appraiser then ascertains the date of hearing and notifies the tenant and the landlord by registered mail. If the tenant wishes to oppose the application he may at, or before the hearing, give the landlord a statement setting forth his case. Copies of this statement must be filed with the rentals appraiser.

Both landlord and tenant may attend the hearing and the court will decide the relative needs of the landlord and tenant. The decision of the court is final.

Evictions of well-behaved tenants were halted July 25th, when it was announced "in order to alleviate widespread distress, it is now necessary to protect all well-behaved tenants of housing accommodation against dispossession until housing plans are developed and realized."

The Windsor Colored Giants threw a scare into the Shamrocks, on Sunday, by scoring four runs in the ninth to come within a run of tying the score, and had two men on base when Morgan, with the count three and two, was called out on strikes, to end the game. Thomas, the visitor's short stop, was the best player on the field, handling eight chances cleanly, two of which were labelled base hits, and he got three hits out of five times at bat.

1st Inning.

Colored Giants—McCurdy popped to Queen; Allen lined a single to left; Day also singled to left; Allan stopping at second; Thomas struck out; when McCarthy let the third strike get away from him Allen moved over to third and Day went down to second; Russ threw to Jenkins to end the inning.—0 run, 2 hits, 0 error.

Maidstone—Queen was thrown out by Foster; Clark lined one over the fence in right for a ground rule; Russ singled to center, scoring; Clark and he took second on the throw to the plate; with Marsh Jessop at bat, Russ tried to move over to third on a short passed ball, but was out; Hall to McCarthy, when he over slid the bag after hitting the throw; Jessop walked; Dunn hit an easy grounder to Allen at second, who fumbled the ball, and both batter and runner were safe; Manson Jessop singled to center, scoring Marsh Jessop, but when Dunn tried to go from first to third, he was out; Walls to Foster to McCarthy.—2 runs, 3 hits, 0 error.

2nd Inning.

Colored Giants—Gouin tossed out; Morgan drew a base on balls; O'Brien threw out Walls and Foster; grounded out to Marsh Jessop, unassisted.—0 run, 0 hit, 0 error.

Add Up All the Advantages of SHUR-GAIN HOG CONCENTRATE and the total is

BIGGER PROFITS

Hog producers are aware that there is more to hog production than grain feeding alone. Wise farmers have come to recognize the fact that it takes 1,100 lbs. of straight grain to finish a hog in 7½ to 8 months of feeding. But when only 50 lbs. of SHUR-GAIN 41% Hog Concentrate is added to their ration, only 650 lbs. of grain are needed, and hogs finish better, with higher grades in only 5½ to 6 months.

You save weeks of feeding, you save 450 lbs. of grain, and you save many hours of work per hog, by feeding them the Balanced SHUR-GAIN Way. And you'll like the way your hogs grade out. More select grades at marketing mean More Profits for you. For bigger and better profits this year, resolve now to feed the profitable, economical, SHUR-GAIN Way.

The Backs and the Burden.

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.
The relatively small fellow who has felt that he has been carrying a considerable load of taxes in these war years can document his belief in the preliminary income-tax figures for the year 1944 that have just been released. This same taxpayer has an uneasy feeling that he has already paid substantially, if less painfully, before he gets down to the dispiriting business of figuring his income tax. That the burden he carries represents perhaps the most phenomenal taxation program of any land or any time.

Compared with the taxation policies of the first Great War, these present taxes would seem almost an unbelievable nightmare. The income tax did not raise its head at all until the dizzy days of the last war, and such taxes as were directly imposed on the small-salaried man rather distastefully. They were mainly secured from financial institutions and from business profits that he had not come to associate with his own interests. But even taking all the taxes, recognized or not, they totaled for the four years of the last war slightly less than one ninth of what this same small-income man paid as an individual income impost in the single year 1944.

There are a great many Canadians who have really learned what taxation is only in the last year or two. Of course they had to face the general annoyance of lining stamps on checks and paying more postage than our neighbours across the line, or the exorbitant prices for going to a movie. But these were small irritations that weren't in any sense personal. Even as late as 1938 the same conditions prevailed. In that year there were only 15,000 persons with salaries up to $2,000 who paid any direct taxes at all. These paying thousands in that year represented just short of 6 per cent of the total income tax collected, on a matter of $2,349,000.

But those happy days were drawing to a close. Last year this same group of taxpayers who earned no more than $2,000 reached sizeable proportions. There were better than a million persons newly employed, but that didn't count for it all. Taxation had reached out to touch the multitude. Even so it left a group of almost two million earners who paid no taxes at all.

Yet the 2,700,000 persons who paid taxes on incomes of under $2,000 had to pay to think of themselves as taxed. They had to pay only 6 per cent of their total income taxes as they had paid, world supplies are down and normal in 1945 they were paying their full production cannot be resumed in a few years.

But there was equally no reason to be alarmed at the persons in the machinery which is rationed. They had to pay to think of themselves as taxed. They had to pay only 6 per cent of their total income taxes as they had paid, world supplies are down and normal in 1945 they were paying their full production cannot be resumed in a few years.

Others Are Asking?

Q—I live a considerable distance from the nearest local ration board. I sell butter. How can I make my returns of coupons collected?

A—Your local ration board will provide you with special postage free envelopes for sending coupons and any other ration documents you have. The coupons should be returned each month.

Q—I have lost my ration book and all the sugar for canning coupons were not used. Will I get these with a new book?

A—No. Coupons for canning sugar cannot be replaced because the ration administration has no way of telling whether or not they were used before the book was lost.

Q—Our village intends to have a party for some returning ex-servicemen. Can we get some extra rations of butter and sugar?

A—It has been the policy of the board to refuse such requests for additional rations for group parties. If one request were granted all would have to be approved, so that there would be no discrimination. The amount of the ration allowance is based on the known supplies available and the anticipated production. If we take large amounts from those supplies for special celebrations it would mean that the consumer ration allowance would be cut.

Q—Is there any possibility that the ration allowance of sugar will be increased?

A. Not at the present time and probably for several months since world supplies are down and normal in 1945 they were paying their full production cannot be resumed in a few years.

Q—I want to buy some new farm machinery which is rationed. How can I go about it to make the purchase?

A. First find a dealer who has the machinery you wish available. Fill out a form and send it to the ration board. It will give you and leave it with him for further completion after you have been to the ration board. You must go to the ration board to get the machinery. It will give you and leave it with him for further completion after you have been to the ration board.

Atomic Bombs and World Peace.

By Lewis Milligan.
Some months ago I wrote an article on "The Mystery of the Atom" and a lady friend in England who read the article in The British Weekly, wrote me about it. She confessed that it was beyond her comprehension, that she didn't know what I was talking about and she doubted if I knew myself. The latter was, of course, implied in the title of the article, for the atom was still remains a mystery. In spite of these days, but the mystery is always unravelled in the last chapter. The mysteries of science, however, are never cleared up, for every advance in scientific knowledge leads to even greater mysteries. The explanation is that the mind of man cannot and never was intended to comprehend the infinite. Infinity baffles us. The infinite small as well as the infinite large, the atom and the universe of space, are beyond our mental grasp. As the poet Keats says in another connection, the atom "leaves us out of thought as doth eternity."

The one thing that the atomic bomb has revealed and demonstrated is that the atom is in itself a bomb in which enormous physical force is concentrated, and the scientists have devised a means of releasing this force. Sir Oliver Lodge many years ago foresaw this when he wrote: "If ever the human race gets hold of the means of tapping even a small fraction of the energy concentrated in the atoms of the thin wax of the candle, the consequences will be beneficent or destructive, according to the state of civilization." Unfortunately, the first demonstration of this concentrated force has been in the way of destruction. It was the same with gunpowder, dynamite and TNT, all of which have added to the horrors of war.

The question arises as to whether the discovery of the atomic bomb will merely provide mankind with yet another engine of destruction and wholesale slaughter, or whether it will secure the human race into sanity, if only for self-preservation. Tennyson wrote, "Let knowledge grow from more to more, but more of reverence in us dwell." Great poets are the true seers, and we would do well to listen to them. Science without reverence is destructive. This modern tree of knowledge, like that of the Garden of Eden, may work for man a fall worse than the first.

This new knowledge has possibilities for good as well as evil, and it is for man as a free will agent to choose which it will be. The danger is that man may become the slave and finally the victim of his inventions. The product of his ingenuity, like the Frankenstein monster, may turn and destroy its creator. As Sir Oliver Lodge indicated, only a higher standard of civilization, of spiritual and moral values, and that on a universal scale, can save mankind from self-destruction. If the atomic bomb had come into the hands of the Germans and the Japanese before the war, the people of Britain and of most of Russia would have been wiped off the face of the earth; and the Japanese would not have stopped at Pearl Harbor.

Unless the war demon can be cast out of the mind and heart of Germany and Japan within the next generation, it will be at some future time ascertained itself and use this new weapon against humanity. When Jesus had cast out the evil spirit from a maniac, His disciples asked Him how this might do it, and He replied: "This kind goeth not out except by prayer and fasting." That there are evil spirits has been fully demonstrated before and during this war, and the atomic bomb can not blast them out, although it may quieten them for a time.

There must be spiritual and moral regeneration, and that can only be brought about by a conviction of sin, repentance, and faith in the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of mankind. It would be worse than vain to put our faith in the atomic bomb to bring lasting peace to the world, for it might eventually lead to more terrible wars.

Old Resident Passes.

Word has been received that Alfred Kellington, aged 83, had passed away at his home in Portville, N.Y., on Saturday, July 28th, and was buried in the Portville cemetery, on Tuesday, July 31st.

He resided in Cottam for many years, where he operated a threshing outfit, moving to Windsor 36 years ago. After residing in Windsor for ten years, he moved to Portville. He was twice married, his first wife being Minnie Quick, who predeceased him on July 21st, 1929.

Surviving are his widow; two sons, Carl, of Roseland, and Byron, of Stockton, Cal.; two daughters, Alice (Mrs. Vincent Norton) of Richburg, N.Y., and Gladys (Mrs. Harold Parks) of Wickenburg, Ariz.; also a brother Bert, of Cottam, and a sister in Detroit.

Essex Public School.

The Essex Public School will re-open for the fall term on Tuesday, September 4th, at 9 a.m. The former staff will be augmented by one additional teacher, Mr. Dubs, of Thamesville, who will have charge of music throughout the school. In addition to his regular work in Grade VI, he will occupy the vacant room on the second floor. The Board of Education has made extended efforts to increase the efficiency of the school. Three classrooms and the office have been redecorated, the lights have been lowered in the Primary and Grade I rooms, and fluorescent lighting has been installed in Grades VII and VIII, and in the office. This method of lighting obviated the necessity of rewiring the building.

Inspired by a suggestion and by the generosity of the local I.O.D.E., the Board decided to take advantage of school programs from Toronto, and from some American cities, especially in music appreciation. Accordingly the Radio-Electric Company, of Windsor, is installing a public address system, that will to some extent take the place of an auditorium, which is a necessity this day and generation. Ten-inch speakers are being installed in each of the eight classrooms, and the hall on each floor. Each speaker is connected to the main instrument in the office by its own wiring, so no one room is dependent on another room. The office instrument includes a Northern Electric Radio, a turn table for phonograph records, a microphone so teachers, pupils and others may address an invisible audience in the hall or classrooms, and control panel by which messages or programs may be diverted to any one or more parts of the building. Over 2,000 feet of wiring, most of which is invisible, is required in the installation of this system. The gift of the I.O.D.E., together with the residue of the Colin Meeson Memorial Fund, will supply approximately sufficient funds to provide for this up-to-date system, the first of its kind in this district.

Parents are reminded that the Board of Education is providing most of the text books, exercise books and other supplies as are needed by the pupils, who will take such books as they already have, either for use or for sale, at reduced prices, dependent on the condition of the books.

A new day has dawned for the girls and boys of Essex. The Board of Education is financing the school supplies, the Provincial Government has materially increased its grants, and the Federal Government is paying mothers' allowance, provided — remember, provided — the pupils attend school regularly.

"V." Day.

Crowds on the street were cheering. Millions were happy and gay. Thousands of women were weeping as they stopped in a church, to say a prayer for some dear loved one, who lies in a land far away. He had given his life for his country. Helped win this V. J. Day.

Many of our boys are returning. Their hearts are heavy and sore. Heartsick for those buddies they'll never see any more.

He brought peace to all Europe. In Japan he did a great chore. Now that the war is all over, Wants to live as he did before.

While rejoicing over victory, Let us pray for a lasting peace. For the boys that are not returning. Our prayers must not decrease. Good will between all nations. We must pray will never cease. May the love for God in heaven. Throughout the world increase.

Many a boy on returning, His heart happy, yet sore, Heartsick for those buddies He'll never see any more.

Army son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wolfe, arrived in Detroit on Wednesday. The first two boys, of course, were met at the north end of town, by Mayor Francis and the firemen, and were escorted through town, riding on the fire truck.

Essex County Junior League.

In the Essex County Junior League playoffs Merryland defeated Woodlee 6 to 3, at Merryland.

On Sunday, August 26th, Woodlee plays Merryland, at Woodlee, game to start at 2:30 sharp.

Essex United Church.

The Essex United Church has been fortunate in its supply ministers during July and August. During July Revs. J. H. Johnston, of London; H. B. Parnaby, of Wheatley; John Hunter, of Detroit, and Anson Moorhouse, of Sarnia, conducted the services, while Rev. Stanley Sweetman, of Gloucester, a former Essex boy, has ministered to the congregation in a most satisfactory manner, and will conduct his final service on Sunday, August 26th, at 10:30 a.m.

The new minister, Rev. Harold Parr, of Ingersoll, will arrive in Essex next week, and will be inducted into the Essex pastorate on Thursday, August 30th, at 4 p.m., when Revs. Stanley Johnston, of Cottam; Alvin Milson, and F. A. Crighton, of Windsor, will be in charge.

Following the induction, the minister and his family will be cordially received by the members, adherents and friends of the congregation, in the Sunday school room.

Mr. Parr will occupy the pulpit on Sunday, September 2nd.

WHAT IS FREEDOM?

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.

Through all the ages men have yearned for freedom, valuing it the more the less they had of it. Often enough they have had small understanding of what it was and what it entailed. Freedom has been the cry of the ignorant and vicious as well as of men of good will. The ignorant and misguided sometimes conceived a freedom that was for them alone, the freedom to take freedom from someone else. The vicious have thought of it as an easy catch phrase that they could use to belaud their devious ends. So it behooves us to get our thinking clear and, especially in these days when we are hoping to make a free world, to know what freedom is and what are its obligations.

Winston Churchill, who has fought for liberty as long and as valiantly as any man in history, who has had more power than most to put thoughts into graphic words, has outlined seven tests which suggest the essentials that any nation must have if it is to be truly free. They were jotted down as a rough guide when he was considering the vexed problems of the Balkans that have so frequently jeopardized the peace of Europe.

They are worth consideration, not only because of the world problems that face us but lest sometimes in our own somewhat confused thinking we might find Canada straying from this cool appraisal of the essentials of freedom. These then are the testing questions:

Is there the right to free expression of opinion, and of opposition and criticism of the government of the day?

Have the people the right to turn out a government of which they disapprove, and are constitutional means provided by which they can make their will apparent?

Are there courts of justice free from violence by the Executive, and free of a threat of mob violence and all associations with any particular political parties?

Will these courts administer open and well-established laws which are associated in the human mind with the broad principles of decency and justice?

Will there be fair play for poor as well as for rich, for private persons as well as government officials?

Will the rights of the individuals, subject to his duties to the State, be maintained and ascertained and exalted?

Is the ordinary peasant or workman, earning a living by daily toil and striving to bring up a family, free from the fear that some grim police organization under the control of a single party, like the Gestapo started by the Nazi and Fascist parties, will tap him on the shoulder and will pack him off without fair or open trial to bondage or ill-treatment.

These are the conditions of national freedom.

As we check them against a world of nations, it is very easy to realize how few nations there are that can answer yes to every test.

It is not difficult to realize how easily some of these essentials might be lost to us. And it is easier to understand the long process of education that must intervene before all countries can join with the democracies of the English tongue as truly free nations and truly free men. — Liberty Magazine.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 24, 1945.

North Essex League.

The Essex County Baseball League has only one week of its regular schedule left but it looks as if the final standings will be one big mess. After Sunday's three games, things were in as much turmoil as they were before the games were played. The three teams, Woodbine Lunch, Local 295, and Tecumseh, which were tied for the third spot, all won and today they are all tied for second place just one and a half games behind the American Auto Wreckers. The Midvale Shamrocks lost, to drop into the third spot only half a game behind the three deadlocked teams.

'95 TOPS AUTO WRECKERS.

Wigwag Park, Windsor, saw the last game of the afternoon with the local side Local 295, after hitting the waning American Auto Wreckers 4-3. It was the second setback in as many weeks for the Automen, who seem to be on the down grade after a brilliant start. Bill Ritz hit a grand slam six hit ball for the Automen, hitting twelve of the Autos.

Local 295 opened the scoring with a single marker in the fourth frame. Jim Corrie walked to open the inning, and he went to third as Bill Tidman hit a sharp single to right center. Carriere scored when Tidman was out. Carriere's stretch hit into a double. The Automen got this tally back fast when Joe Symonds hit a long home run to deep right center field. The Automen scored what proved to be the winning runs in the sixth when they counted three times. After Harry McRae popped to second, both Boyce and Carriere singled. Tidman went out pitcher to first, both runners advancing. Mel Dunn was intentionally passed to fill the bases. Pat Clipperton singled to center scoring Boyce and Carriere, and when Hodgins' throw passed Menard, Dunn galloped home with the third run of the frame. The Wreckers got back two of the runs in the seventh on a walk, a hit batsman, and an error. They tried very hard to score in the ninth, filling the bases after two were out, but they were held scoreless by some nice infield work.

LUNCHMEN BEAT GIANTS.

At George Avenue Park, Windsor, the Colored Giants took it on the chin in the twelfth time this year, bowing to the Woodbine Lunch 9 to 5.

The game was tied but put away in the first frame when the Lunchmen batted four times on three walks, a double, a single, and a double. In the second frame, Vic Camlis walked and Gerry O'Connor singled. Then Hank Busatti slapped out a long home run to deep right field to sew up the old and new.

Ration Coupon Due Dates.

Coupons now valid are butter, 90 to 119, preserves 33 to 57 and P1 to P15; sugar 46 to 61.

Butter coupons are good for one-half pound and sugar coupons one pound. Each preserves coupon is good for one-half pound of sugar for varying amounts of canned and preserved fruits.

Sugar Still Tight.

Present indications point to no relief in the sugar situation during 1945 and continuation of rationing in some form through most if not all of 1946, according to The Financial Post.

At present, world demand for sugar as measured by the Combined Food Board "pool" is about 10 million tons. World supplies are only about $15 million.

If we had the 2½ million tons which come from Java and the Philippines we would overcome this deficiency. But present reports indicate that prospect, destruction and other war losses will make it difficult, if not impossible, to harvest any substantial amounts of sugar from these areas in the 1946 crop season which covers chiefly the first half of the year.

Expansion of Cuba's crop for 1946 should bring some relief (provided there is a good crop) and by the middle of next year the situation may have improved, says The Post. But unless we find things a great deal better in the Far East than is now expected, the prospects are not bright.

Inspect Potato Fields.

Now is the time to inspect potato fields for aphid infestations and to take special precautions not to disperse aphids when removing diseased plants, say officers of the Division of Plant Protection and Entomology, Dominion Department of Agriculture. The careless handling of the rogued, diseased plants provide an excellent means of distributing disease-causing aphids within the crop.

Diseased plants should not be left between rows, or carried to the headlands and discarded in the fence row. They should be placed in bags, immediately upon pulling (paper fertilizer bags are suitable), and taken en masse away from the plot and destroyed, so as to avoid aphids being dropped into the field from the diseased stock. Be sure to get the old seed piece when roguing. This will ensure against regrowth and reinfestation of diseased plants.

S. A. National Home Front Appeal.

Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C., announces that the Salvation Army National Home Front Appeal for funds will commence September 10th, outside of the cities where the appeal is in conjunction with Community Chests or where separate appeals will be made in November as in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria.

Air Marshal Bishop, who is chairman of The Salvation Army National Advisory Board, reports a great increase this year in the demands on the Salvation Army for help, the principal reason being the return of soldiers from European duty, many with domestic or other problems beyond the scope of governmental aid. Among other reasons are the changing industrial picture and the grave housing situation.

"The work of the Salvation Army is expanding year by year," said Air Marshal Bishop. "There is no holiday in human problems and human needs." "The principal slogan in this year's campaign to raise $1,500,000 in Canada for the work of the next 12 months is 'Making Better People for a Better World.' The Salvation Army's greatest aim since it was founded in 1865 has been to make better people and help and help them. The Army has made better people of millions who have come in touch with it. The need for the Army's work is as great today. As one who has seen the operation of the Salvation Army in two wars and on the home front, I cannot ask too strongly for public support in this urgent and most important campaign."

BLOOM ON BIRD.

The dry, parched, wrinkled skin often seen in dressed poultry is largely due to poor handling between the farm and the processing plant. Fright, thirst, undue starving before killing, and shrinkage during transit destroy the sales appeal that dressed poultry present when the bloom is on the bird. To retain bloom, market poultry should be carefully lifted from the roosts after dark and preferably shipped at night. They should be given a normal feeding the night before and water right up to the time of killing.

It's In the Bag.

It almost takes a magician to know what to do with all those odds and ends of paper, envelopes and flattened cartons that you know are needed in the waste paper salvage, but seem more bother than they are worth to collect. It's a paper shopping bag that does the trick. Hang it in the kitchen where it can conveniently catch those odd pieces of paper. When the bag is full simply fold the top over and tie with string.

Others Are Asking?

Q—Will you please tell me the selling price of turnips?
A—Cellophane prices for turnips, effective to August 31st, are four cents a pound for washed or waxed rutabagas and three cents for unwashed or unwaxed rutabagas. Cellophane prices on white turnips are six cents a pound.

Q—I have some meat stored in a locker and have been told I must declare it when meat rationing begins. Is this true?
A—Yes. The storage plant will provide you with a form which must be filled out when meat rationing starts. You forward this to the ration administration branch of which there are three in Western Ontario, London, Kitchener and Windsor.

Q—On V-J Day I had a meal in a hotel and they charged me more than I usually pay. Are hotels allowed to take advantage of holidays to 'hike' their prices?
A—No. Hotels or any public eating place may not increase the prices of their meals above the basic period price or the price fixed by the Board if they were not in business in the basic period. If you will send the details and the name of the hotel to us we will have the matter investigated.

Q—Isn't the landlord supposed to clean out the well which supplies us with drinking water?
A—This is a matter outside the jurisdiction of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. We would suggest that you obtain legal advice.

Q—Is there a ceiling price on Canadian grown apricots?
A—Yes.

Q—I have purchased a used car and think the price was too high. Where can I find out the correct ceiling price?
A—Apply to the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. All used cars have a fixed ceiling price.

Questions on any regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board will be answered if submitted to the Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Federal Building, London, Ontario.

Water Chief Factor in Plant Life.

Water is the most important factor in plant life, says Dr. E. S. Archibald, Director, Dominion Experimental Farms Service, and its development, say from the standpoints of underdrainage and irrigation, is of the utmost importance. Underdrainage insures that the plant may not have too much water, and also presents water in its acceptable form. Underdrainage is one of the greatest guarantees against extremes in production, but underdrainage alone is not the only factor. Certain heavy soils now underdrained cease to drain freely because soil fibre in the surface soil has become exhausted through cropping practices. Hence arise land puddles, and the want of opportunity of underdrainage to work.

Irrigation in parts of Canada where rainfall is inadequate guarantees water supply to the crop growth, and for the maturity of the crop. Although this is applicable essentially to the fruit areas of British Columbia and the farm lands of Southern Alberta, yet irrigation will gradually be extended to other provinces.

Canada's Situation in Sugar Pool.

Canada is in the sugar pool with the United Kingdom and the United States. Under this pooling arrangement, Canada gets 42 per cent of the total sugar available to the sugar pool.

Domestic production of beet sugar thus goes into the Allied pool. If, for instance, Canada produced 200,000,000 pounds of granulated beet sugar, the domestic supply would be increased by $400,000,000 pounds, over the supply if we had no domestic production.

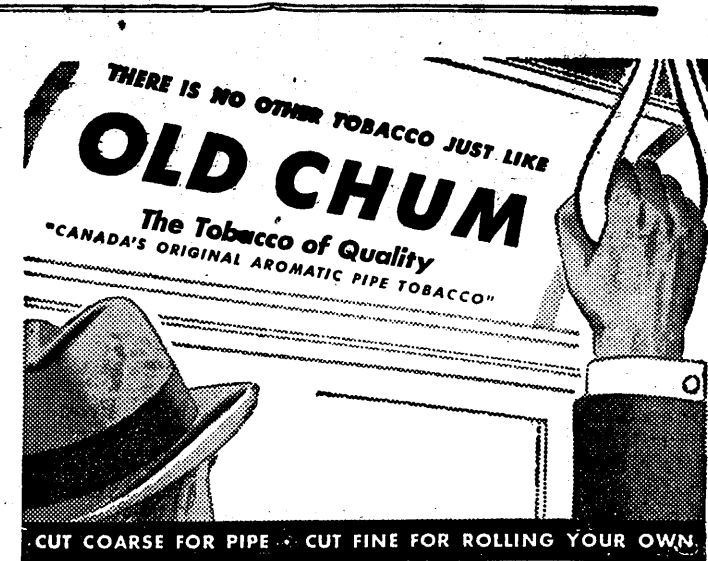

Canadian production in 1940 was 213,553,591 pounds from beets grown in Southwestern Ontario, Alberta and Manitoba (plus a small quantity grown in Quebec). The low point of production was in 1943, when 129,731,340 pounds were produced. This reduction of 84,000,000 pounds cost the Canadian consumers 3,528,000 pounds and the other allied nations 80,472,000 pounds.

Shipping Menaced.

The decline in the sugar-beet production, at a time when submarine activity had created a precarious shipping situation as regards cane sugar, was due mainly to the fact that farm labor had gone into war factories.

This year a great effort has been made to procure sufficient labor to restore domestic production. But this effort has only been partially successful, with the result that the crop again will be materially below 1940, and probably only slightly above 1944 when 165,000,000 pounds were produced.

Earlier in the year it was hoped that 30,000 acres would be planted in Southwestern Ontario. The actual planting was about 18,000 acres. This decline, according to authorities in close touch with the situation, was due mainly to the fear on the part of farmers, especially the older farmers, that labour would not be available for the blocking, thinning and second hoeing of the crop.

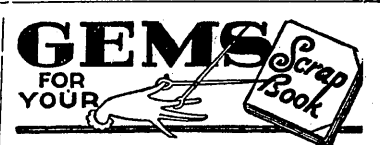

It is believed that this fear will have cost the allied pool 40,000,000 pounds of granulated sugar, of which 1,680,000 pounds would have been Canada's share.

Field Labor Delayed.

National Selective Service on June 12th, issued a directive whereby workers in factories would be assured of reinstatement when the sugar beet field work was completed. This order, it is said, came too late to help the situation in Southwestern Ontario materially, and expand the acreage planted.

Heavy rainfall in Southwestern Ontario in May and June delayed plantings to some extent, but the beets planted have so far done well and it is hoped that the crop losses in the remainder of the growing season will be small.

Alberta acreage this year is about 30,000, which is a good average. The Manitoba acreage is 11,000 acres with the prospects reported as good.

Millions of Grain Bags Need Fumigating.

Block buster and other bombs that were unloaded during the war in Europe by the Allied Forces on Germany and countries held by Germany, destroyed many grain elevators at ocean and river ports. Since V.E. Day Canada has been shipping large consignments of wheat to Europe, but mostly in jute bags, because there were few, if any, elevators to handle the grain in bulk. Many of these bags were second-hand and had been used previously for the transportation of grain or cereal products and thus were exposed to possible infestation with certain kinds of insect pests while empty in storage. In exporting produce susceptible to insect attack, every effort is made by Dominion Government agencies to prevent infestation which includes the examination of the ships' holds before loading by inspectors of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

For some time past, the fumigation of these bags has kept the fumigation plant, operated by Montreal by the Dominion Plant Protection Division, abnormally busy. It is the only plant available in Eastern Canada to do such work. Already about 140,000 bags used for shipping wheat to Europe have been fumigated at a nominal charge to the owner. It is expected that it will be necessary to fumigate 2,000,000 bags during the next few months at the Montreal plant. Fumigation is done in a special vacuum chamber which has an 8,000 bag capacity. The bags are given a three-hour treatment of methyl bromide applied at a rate of 2½ lb. per 1,000 cubic feet in a 28-inch vacuum at 70 degrees Fahrenheit. This treatment results in a 100 per cent mortality.

Meanwhile the Plant Protection Division keeps a sharp watch on all commodities of every kind entering Canada so as to prevent the introduction of damaging insects and plant diseases.

—The 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Robinson, of Arthur avenue, Essex, is a patient in Grace Hospital, Windsor, with a badly cut and bruised leg, and a broken thigh bone, suffered when hit by L. Robinson's truck, on Thursday afternoon of last week. The child, riding her bicycle, when Mr. Robinson was backing out of his brother's property onto Arthur avenue, was struck when bushes between the sidewalk and the house obstructed her view and she rode in front of the backing truck. The bicycle was a complete wreck, but the frame evidently saved the leg from being crushed.
